

The 2009 Peyton Rhodes Physics Lecture

Dr. Gordon Squires of the Spitzer Space Telescope and the NASA Herschel Science Center at the California Institute of Technology joins Dr. Joannah Hinz of the University of Arizona

A Study in Scarlet: The Spitzer Space Telescope View of the Triangulum Galaxy

Wednesday, April 1, 2009
7 p.m. (reception at 6:30 p.m.)
Hardie Auditorium

A new image of the Triangulum Galaxy from the Spitzer Space Telescope will be unveiled to officially open the Memphis portion of the NASA-sponsored "From the Earth to the Universe" exhibit (showing at the Benjamin Hooks Library during the month of April). Dr. Squires will discuss the exhibit and Spitzer's role as part of the International Year of Astronomy. Dr. Hinz, whose research team is responsible for the new image, will discuss its scientific merit and significance.
