Essay Prompt (please attach type-written essay):

In 500-700 words, please write an essay in response to the following:

Teaching is one of the most complex and demanding professions imaginable. As an aspiring teacher, how will you navigate this complexity in ways that will best support your students? In particular, how will you make your classroom an inclusive and culturally relevant space where students of all races, genders, sexual identities, social classes, religions, and abilities will learn in powerful ways?

Focus on the skills and dispositions that you bring to teaching, your commitments to working with young people, and what makes you want to gain certification in this program.

I affirm that all of the above information is accurate and have attached my essay,
