About

Get ready for an intensive, nine-week summer experience that challenges you to engage in significant community projects – while receiving F11 credit. Volunteering at a nonprofit organization, you will have the opportunity to use your skills and talents to both make a difference and pursue your passions. Working full-time with community organizations will give you the insider's view about how they operate. You will be among a group of sixteen dedicated, passionate Summer Service Fellows who participate in programs that will help you learn even more about Memphis, service, yourself, and ways to tackle challenges you encounter.

The Summer Service Fellowship, led by Co-Directors Sandi George Tracy, Scott Garner, and Brittney Jackson, is an opportunity for you to work on community issues in Memphis such as education, health care, sustainability, and homelessness, among others. You may already have connections with a Memphis organization, or you may want to explore new local opportunities. If you have an idea you would like to discuss or are unsure about which nonprofit to approach:

- Contact community organizations about volunteering.
- Set up a meeting to discuss ideas with Career Services RSA and past Fellow, Sydney Jones at jonsm-21@rhodes.edu.

Choose a nonprofit that you think would be a good partner for your Summer Service Fellowship. Meet with this group to present your project idea; prepare for this meeting as you would for a professional interview. If the group is a good fit, provide the organization with the Nonprofit Endorsement Form. Keep in mind that this can be a lengthy process, so start as soon as possible.

- The program commitment is 40 hours a week: on average 36 hours per week are devoted to community projects and 4 hours per week are devoted to group programming.
- Fellows are paid $3,492 ($9.70 an hour) and are offered free housing at Rhodes.
- In order to allow participants time and energy to fully engage in the experience, Fellows may not hold another job or attend summer school.
- Fellows must provide their own transportation to community sites.
