'BIG 3' SET FOR ACTION!

Democratic Club
Proposes Goal
For City Council

A minimum goal, described as a course of political action during 1968, has been recommended to the newly installed City Council by the Shelby County Democratic Club.

The Club, headed by Dr. Vasco A. Smith Jr., has its headquarters at 313 E. McLemore.

An introduction to the recommendation says: "We, the members of the Shelby County Democratic Club, are firmly committed to do all within our power to reverse the disastrous course of discrimination, prejudice and race hate which threatens our city and nation."

SCDC suggested that a committee be appointed immediately to consider the recommendation.

Here is the Shelby County Democratic Club's recommendation to the City Council:

JOB OPPORTUNITIES

To achieve racial balance at all levels of employment in city government, so that the Negro citizenry will hold no less than one-third of all city jobs on all levels including departmental heads.

To encourage on-the-job training for applicants whose educational background, religious, or economic position would otherwise have eliminated them from acquiring employment.

To refuse to patronize businesses that do not comply with a proposed Equal Employment Opportunities Code for the City of Memphis.

To raise the salaries of all city employees to the maximum federal minimum standard.

HOUSING

To set up a public foundation to investigate, recommend, and promote rehabilitation of slums by utilizing private enterprise and by taking advantage of existing state, federal and local funds.

To rigorously enforce the building code.

To promote open housing.

HEALTH, MEDICAL FACILITIES

To assure that no one shall be denied prompt and courteous hospital service because of racial or economic position.

To devote all city hospitals to the care of indigent patients.

To reform the system of charge at the City of Memphis Hospitals so that those who are unable to pay will not be unjustly charged, harassed, and garnished.

EDUCATION

To encourage the addition of a Negro history course to the curriculum of all city schools.

To promote the adoption of textbooks which reflect the true racial picture of the United States.

To promote standardized city-wide achievement tests for all students, with academic and economic priority being given to those schools whose cumulative test scores are the lowest.

To achieve racial balance of school staffs and personnel on the administrative and professional levels, so that the Negro citizenry will hold no less than one-third of all school jobs on all levels including departmental heads.

To withhold funds from schools until they agree by contract to administer a genuinely non-racial school system.

POLICE-COMMUNITY RELATIONS

To establish a Citizens Review Board.

To assign some policemen to a neighborhood patrol.

To upgrade salaries.

To achieve racial balance at all levels of the Police Department, so that the Negro citizenry will hold no less than one-third of all law enforcement jobs on all levels including departmental heads.

RECREATION

To develop adequate recreational facilities according to population density.

STREETS

To give top priority to street improvements in sections of the city which are below the minimum standard (i.e. those which do not have curbs, gutters, are not well-paved, and do not have adequate lighting).

BOARDS AND COMMISSIONS

To achieve racial balance on all boards and commissions, so that the Negro citizenry will hold no less than one-third of all positions on all levels including departmental heads.

SMALL BUSINESS

To promote businesses in the poorer sections of the inner city to advise and support businesses for

Memphis Girl's
Secret Revealed

NEW YORK -- Admiration for a certain boy and a little arm-chair psychology prompted two overweight Tennessee teens to lose a total of 22 pounds.

As a result Doty Smith, of Milan, and Linda Walton, of Memphis, both 18 years old, are telling 12½ million American teen-agers their diet secrets in a special beauty feature in the January "You the Reader" issue of Seventeen Magazine.

Doty, a freshman at Vanderbilt University, and Linda, a freshman at Siena College, are two of 10 formerly fat teen girls who tell of their motivation, length of dieting time, biggest pitfalls and how their lives changed when they became slim. In an article titled, "We lost 40 Pounds." The girls were chosen from among the many teens who submitted their successful dieting stories to the teen publication.

Doty claims a crush she had on a certain boy prompted her to go from 207 to 135 pounds. "It was a school girl crush, really," says the 5' 9" blonde who went from a size 22½ to size 9. "He was three years older. I never dated him or anything. As a matter of fact, after I lost weight I didn't even like him. But I started dieting for dates. Not the boys I went to school with -- they still treated me like a sister. But boys who didn't know me when I was fat -- well, all at once when I got thin, they started asking me out," exclaims Doty happily.

Linda says, "I think I psyched myself into thinking I wasn't fat. And so long as I wasn't admitting it -- that I even had a problem -- I never did anything about it." She adds that her friends never thought of her as fat, but "just pleasantly plump." They saw her "as a person." They saw her as a person, she says, and not as a person who was fat.

Both girls agree that the best way to diet is to put the emphasis on "good healthy food." "You don't change your eating habits counting calories," says Linda, who adds that "you keep eating the things that made you fat. I'd much rather stick to eating things like meat and vegetables and salads. Once I lost 13 pounds in a month by crash dieting. But it all came right back on. I finally went to a doctor. All I had to do, he told me, was push back from the table, and not eat so many fried and starchy foods," she says. Doty usually has a "small serving of meat or fish for lunch with one or two servings of vegetables," and for dinner she adds a cup of low-calorie fruit cocktail and a large graham cracker.

Doty, a 1967 graduate of Milan High School, was valedictorian of her class, was voted "Wittiest" and "Most Intelligent," won awards in Latin, mathematics and journalism, was editor of the school newspaper, and is attending college on a four-year scholarship. Doty, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith, of 404 North First, enjoys art, sewing, swimming, dancing, music and exercising.

Inside Memphis

TRI-STATE BANK at 222 South Main is moving to temporary headquarters directly across the street from the present site. Permanent headquarters for the bank will be at Main and Beale when the urban renewal project is completed.

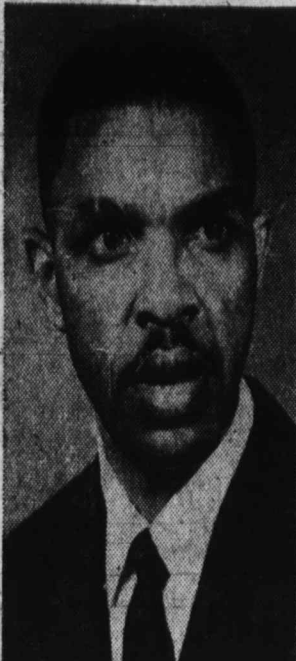

OUTGOING MAYOR William Ingram disappointed some of his followers when he failed to appoint O. Z. Evers to a salaried position before the old city government gave way to the new City Council.

ATTY. C. O. HORTON, JR., Mayor Henry Loeb's choice for Director of City Hospitals, will make three changes at John Gaston (1) a larger pharmacy (2) a new admissions policy and (3) faster service in the emergency room.

AMONG THOSE ABSENT from inaugural ceremonies for city officials New Year's day were "big wheels" who call signals for the Shelby County Democratic Club.

JAMES L. NETTERS

FRED L. DAVIS

J. O. PATTERSON, JR.

Davis, Patterson,
Netters Seated
On City Council

History was made here Monday morning when Fred Davis (District 4), James L. Netters (District 6) and J. O. Patterson Jr. (District 7) took the oath of office with 10 others as City Councilmen in Memphis' new government.

A large crowd was on hand at The Auditorium to witness the New Year's day ceremonies which included swearing in of a new Mayor Henry Loeb, and four city judges.

Davis, Netters and Patterson are the first Negro citizens in history to hold high office in Memphis government.

Each of the three found it necessary to appear in a run-off, but it was Mr. Davis who proved himself an iron man by winning in a district that has slightly more white voters than Negro voters. He is a librarian for the county and a graduate student.

Rev. Mr. Netters, pastor of Mt. Vernon Baptist Church, defeated a close competitor, insurance man Cuba S. Johnson, in the Nov. 2 run off and Attorney Patterson, a member of the State Legislature, bested another insurance man, Charlie F. Morris Sr.

Patterson has been challenged by Morris in a lawsuit filed in Chancery Court and the case is due to come up later this month.

Morris challenged the election of Patterson on two grounds (1) that he did not live in District 7 from which he ran and was elected and (2) that Patterson was already a member of the State Legislature and was not eligible to hold both jobs.

In a similar case, Tracy Rainey, loser to Downing Pryor for Position No. 6 on the City Council, said he has instructed his attorney to proceed this week with a court challenge of Pryor's eligibility to hold the city job. The new city charter forbids dual office holding, Rainey asserted, and Pryor is already a member of the County Court.

Patterson contended throughout his campaign that he resided in the 7th District at 374 Vance with his aunt, Mrs. Robert Lewis. Morris claims Patterson resides at 1584 South Wellington in the 6th District.

Patterson's residence qualification was challenged before the election and the Election Commission ruled he was qualified.

Several sources, including the State Attorney General's office, ruled in advance of the election that Legislators were qualified to run for Council.

Should Morris win the suit to have the election declared void, he would not necessarily go on the Council, attorneys said. It would simply create a vacancy which might be filled by the other 12 Council members or left vacant.

LeMoine Awaits Dillard

LeMoine's Magicians are busy this week shaking holiday memories from their minds and getting ready for the Monday night (Jan. 8) invasion of Dillard University from New Orleans. The game will be played in Bruce Hall, starting at 8.

Jerry Johnson's LeMoynes will appear in three more contests this month in Memphis, engaging Alabama A. and M., Jan. 26, and Clark College of Atlanta, Jan. 29, both on the Bruce Hall floor, and tackling CBC in a cross-town rumble, Jan. 20, at CBC.

LeMoine is at Alabama State at Montgomery this Saturday night, Jan. 6.

After taking on Dillard here Monday, the Magician go on a long road trip. They'll be at Lane in Jackson, Jan. 9; at Tougaloo in Tougaloo, Miss., Jan. 11; at Dillard, Jan. 12; at Alabama A. and M. in Normal, Jan. 15; at Knoxville, Jan. 16, and at Clark, Jan. 18.

LeMoine is 2-1 in SIAC competition, but 3-4 overall.

In conference play, the Magicians defeated Tuskegee, 107-98, and Fisk, 136-100. Alabama State halted LeMoine, 120-103, in another conference battle. All of the contests were played in Bruce Hall.

LeMoine defeated Rust of Holy Springs here, 105-89, but bowed to the Rusts, 120-111, on the Mississippi campus. The Magicians were crushed by Lincoln at Jefferson City, 45-98, and took another licking from CBC, 108-90.

SEVILLE, Spain — (UPI) — Seville's taxi drivers kept their cabs curbed and refused to take passengers Thursday for the second day of a "taxi - in" protesting the city's addition of a new bus route. The cabbies say the new route will hurt their business.

The Magicians will be at Port Valley State in Georgia, Jan. 27.

12 Memphis Ladies Taking
Stab At The Stock Market

Twelve Memphis ladies, including school teachers, one principal and housewives, have organized an investment club and their prime aim is to learn more about the stock market.

New Approach On
LeMoine Campus

LeMoine College's "Interim Semester Program of Independent Study" was underway this week and will continue through most of January.

The program, which requires special reading and research, grew from a desire to extend to students a greater measure of responsibility for their academic work and to encourage widespread participation in independent study.

All students entering LeMoine as freshmen will be required to participate successfully in three Interim Semester periods in order to fulfill all graduation requirements.

Seniors have the option of taking or not taking the program this year.

Freshmen and sophomores have selected special topics to pursue during the month and are being grouped in small classes supervised by faculty members.

Juniors have chosen topics in their major fields and will be in constant contact with their advisors.

Dr. Linonel A. Arnold, dean of the college, said: Purpose of the program is to provide an educational experience substantially different from what is ordinarily encountered in credit courses offered during the regular academic year.

Church News

This is the time of the year when we all sit back and evaluate what happened to us during the past year and how we may improve on the disadvantages in other words, it is a time for resolutions. With so much emphasis on the philosophy that religion is not a meeting our needs, it is well to think about our responsibilities in this area.

As individuals the sun and substance of the churches of our nation? As such we dedicate and determine the focus and direction of the spiritual life of the church. We recognize that the spiritual leader goes great lengths in determining the doctrines, but on the other hand, as participants, we either accept in part or totally the theories and doctrines of our leaders.

It is our belief that acceptance of the Christ and all of his teachings is the most definite way to a real self-fulfilling. The churches in our community have as their basic goal projecting the Christ who is the God of our salvation.

DEACON'S DAY OBSERVED AT NEW SALEM FOURTH STREET

Using the theme, "Using the Office of a Deacon Well," taken from Acts 6:3, the deacons of New Salem observed their Annual Day. Joining in the fellowship and bringing a potent message was the Rev. S. L. Henry and the congregation of the Beautiful Zion Baptist Church of West Memphis, Ark.

The following organization of deacons is most appreciative for the cooperation of the congregation: Chairman, Brother Morris Rogers; Secretary, Brother Charles Patterson; Program Chairman, Brother Alphonso Davis with his workers Brothers R. W. Malone and E. Donelson; Captain and Co-Captains, Brothers L. Mays and B. Marshall; Brothers J. Mountain and A. Davis and E. Donelson; Brothers B. Jefferies, J. Hubbard and David Pearson; Brothers Elijah Lawrence, Frisby Murphy and J. Sadtler; Brothers Charles Patterson, Morris Rogers and Robert Malone the Rev. Willie Williams and Brother C. McPherson. The Chairman and his co-workers want the congregation of Beautiful Zion to know that they appreciate their cooperation.

The Rev. Henry admonished deacons that there is a place or responsibility in Kingdom building. They should be full of the holy ghost, a man who rules well his own household. He challenged deacons not to be bull's noisy and cause confusion, for this is not the church; that he churches need to meet the challenge of this scientific, unsuspecting age. The Rev. G. Williams is pastor.

ZION HILL BAPTIST Church, 1668 Second Street pastored by the Rev. J. Taylor, have very impressive Watch Night services December 31. ### FIRST BAPTIST BEALE STREET ENJOYS MALE CHORUS

First Baptist Church, 379 Beale Street, pastored by the Rev. James A. Jordan presented their Male Chorus and Buest in an afternoon of song December 31. The Rev. Robert L. Holmes of Hill Chapel was the able MC. First Baptist Magnolia was also guest of the Male Chorus as were Mr. and Mrs. Mistes who contributed an outstanding duette. Officers of the first Baptist Male chorus who deserve orchids for their fine presentation are: Brother Emerson Dodson, President; Brother Harry Bridges, Sr., 1st Vice president; Brother Willie Ambrose, 2nd Vice President and Brother Joseph Franklin, Secretary. Because the Sisterhood of First Baptist had completed a more bountiful financial report on their Annual Day earlier in the year, they were feted with a lovely banquet prepared and served by the men. Their menu included turkey and dressing, green beans, corn pudding, sweet potato pie, tea and coffee. The fellowship was very warm and set the tone for the watch Service that followed in the Sanctuary. What a wonderful beginning as God's grace and mercy was petitioned by the members.

1 Killed, 1 Wounded By Tenn. Police

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — UPI — Police killed one burglary suspect and wounded two others before dawn Saturday in a 100 m. p. h. automobile chase and gunbattle through darkened city streets.

Police Capt. William O. Welch said the suspects fit the description of three men sought for the slaying of Herbert Stuchbery, 71, a retired jeweler who was shot to death while he pleaded for his life.

Stuchbery was killed Thursday night by three men, their faces covered with bright ski masks, who forced their way into his home, shot Stuchbery in the back of the head, and fled with $800 in cash and an undetermined amount of jewelry.

Killed in Saturday's 20 minute shootout, which ended when the suspect's car crashed into a tree, was Samuel Hood, 27, of Chattanooga. Robert Hood, 22, of Lupton City, and Jack Lacey, 21, of Chattanooga, were wounded.

Saturday's gunbattle began when authorities noticed an electrical cord hanging out of the door of the trio's car.

Suspecting of stolen goods, county police attempted to stop the vehicle, but the three men opened fire with a shotgun and a pistol and sped away.

The vehicle later careened into some bushes and then struck a tree near Lacey's home. Mrs. Lacey ran from the house, barefooted and in her nightgown, screaming "O, my God. One of them is my husband."

His own shots without consulting Maddox.

Maddox ranks progress the state has made in education since he took office as his proudest achievement. Prison reforms rank second.

"A critical teacher shortage has been eliminated although it was predicted that by now some children would have no teachers," he said. "We're recognized by educators, industrialists and politicians in other states as the pacesetter in education."

His penal improvements in one year have been greater than those made in the 25 previous years.

Whatever Maddox's faults, he is convinced he is on the right track.

"I would hope the few critics we have left will join with this

THE MELROSE GOLDEN WILDCATS AND THE CARVER COBRAS RATED BASKETBALL POWERS

The Melrose Golden Wildcats and the Carver Cobras have been established as teams to beat in the forthcoming Prep League race of the Memphis Interscholastic Athletic Association, as both won Holiday tournaments last week. Melrose won the LeMoine annual Holiday High School tourney, and Carver won the Knights of Columbus meet.

In the championship game of the LeMoine tournament, Melrose turned back a stubborn Barrett's Chapel team 74-63, in a hard fought game that kept the outcome in doubt until near midway the final period, when the Golden Wildcats pulled to a safe margin.

Neil Robinson led the Melrose scoring with 21 points and continued his stellar performance that had carried Melrose to victory in the first round and semi final games. Against Booker T. Washington in the first round game he had a total of 14 points and 10 in the semi-final game against Manassas.

Three other Melrose players hit in double figures with Walter Ayers getting 15, Larry Finch, the little sparkplug and playmaker of the team 11 and Ronnie Robinson hitting 10. Robinson was also a standout on defense.

The Golden Wildcats played a cool deliberate game throughout the tournament featuring a good defense and ball control. In their opening game, they downed the Washington Warriors 71-63, and stopped 58-53 in the semi-finals in reaching the championship game against Barrett's Chapel.

Leon Brown, a pint-sized forward and Fred Garrett paced the Barrett's Chapel Tigers scoring with 18 points each, with Morrell Bolton hitting 14. Brown had a total of 55 points in three games during the tournament. Garrett played a good game at center in helping his mates reach the championship game.

The Barrett's Chapel Tigers trounced Frazier High of Covington 65-41 in the first round, stopped Lester 62-41 in the semi-final, in reaching the championship round.

with Melrose.

The Lester Lions was the only team in the 9-team tourney that was forced to play four games. The Lions downed the Hamilton Wildcats 60-44 in the first round, and stopped Douglass, which had drawn a bye 51-44, lost to Barrett's Chapel 62-41 in semi-finals and dropped a thriller to Manassas 49-47 in the consolation.

Frazier High of Covington, Hamilton, Booker T. Washington, Douglass and Capleville lost in their first round, with Lester eliminating Hamilton, Melrose blocking Washington, Lester stopping Douglass, Manassas downing Capleville, and Barrett's Chapel disposing of Frazier.

Leon Brown, of Barrett's Chapel, Larry Finch of Melrose, Neil Robinson of Melrose, Harold Johnson of Lester and Harold Gray of Manassas were named to the All-Tournament Team. Coach William Collins of Melrose was named Coach of the Tournament.

The Carver Cobras competing in the Knights of Columbus tournament at the Memphis State Fieldhouse upset the No. one team of the state 62-53 to win the tourney championship. Carver had earlier defeated unbeaten Jackson High of Jackson, Tenn., the No. 10 rated team in the state 49-37, and eased past Memphis Overton 48-35 in reaching the finals.

Carver is the defending regional title which competed for the state championship last year. Bartlett has made the top ten of the state all season, while Carver was rated just below the 10th rated team. With a solid victory over the number one team will likely place the Cobras in the top ten in state rating.

The regular prep league season gets under way this week, and many fans are placing Carver and Melrose among the contenders for the MIAA title, or at least are looking for them to win in their divisions.

Williams Charges Gov. Kirk With Delaying "War On Crime"

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — UPI — State Treasurer Broward Williams said Friday he was "sick and tired" of Gov. Calude Kirk's travels and charged that Kirk himself was delaying progress on the "war on crime."

Williams comments come after the Republican Kirk had accused the Democratic cabinet majority of "dilatory action" in fighting crime by refusing to release $96,000 for phasing-out cases begun by the Wachenhut private detective agency and delaying approval of the new Bureau of Law Enforcement budget.

"I'm getting sick and tired of him making wild statements for headlines while we're getting something done," said Williams. He added that Kirk spent most of his time "galivanting around running for vice president."

Williams challenged Kirk to "give just 50 per cent as much cooperation as I've given."

He charged Kirk has yet to appoint a bureau committee on public awareness of the narcotics problem as authorized weeks ago. "It's because he's been out running for vice president," Williams said. "If he'd stay in town and work as hard as I've been working then with our cooperation we could really fight crime."

"It's time he quit yakking for the press," he added.

Polls Show Nixon Heading GOP But Rocky Defeating Johnson

NEW YORK — UPI — Two new polls of political leaders indicated Monday that former Vice President Richard M. Nixon probably would win the 1968 Republican presidential nomination but only Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York could win an election against President Johnson.

Nixon was given a commanding lead in potential delegate strength for the August GOP national convention in a survey by Newsweek Magazine of Republican governors state chairman and leading spokesmen in all 50 states.

The magazine said Nixon would have 561 votes ONLY a few SHORT THE NUMBER.

Needed For Nomination If the convention were held today and if he had won all for primaries he is expected to enter.

Rockefeller trailed with 363 votes in the Newsweek survey while Gov. Ronald Reagan of California had 201 and Gov. George Romney of Michigan the only declared Republican candidate had 89. There was 114 undecided votes.

York Times emerged with Rockefeller as the only republican who clearly could defeat Johnson, at the polls. Rockefeller who lost a bid for the GOP nomination in 1964, has insisted he is not a candidate in 1968 but acknowledged he would accept a draft.

Father Brings In Four 'Dead' Daughters

JONESBORO, Ia. — UPI — A calm Jonesboro man Wednesday drove up to a funeral home with the bodies of his four daughters.

"I've had an accident," he told a director at the funeral home. "I've killed by babies."

Earl Clinton Watson, 13, a former mental patient would not say anything else until police arrived.

The two older Watson daughters, 9-year-old Tina Charmaine and 8-year-old Karen Hope, had been shot to death with a high-powered rifle. Faith Erlene, 3, and Margaret Wendy 5 had been strangled.

A spokesman at the funeral home said Watson waited quietly for police to arrive.

Neighbors and relatives said Watson was discharged from the Central Louisiana State Hospital about six weeks ago after being treated for mental disorders.

They said he recently showed signs of depression.

Arresting officers said Watson was calm until he got to headquarters then he "became all shook up."

Watson was booked on suspicion of the murder of his children.

Neighbors knew Watson as a "quiet and religious man." They recalled his saying once he thought the world was "too wicked" for his children to grow up in.

New Contracts Avert N.Y. Transit Strike

NEW YORK — Negotiators working through the down of the New Year averted the city's second crippling bus and subway strike into two years Monday with agreement on a new contract providing 36,000 transit workers with pay increases and improved pensions at a cost of under $70 million.

Mayor John V. Lindsay promised there would be no immediate rise in the 20 cents fare.

Agreement on a new two-year pact between the city Transit Authority TA and the Transport Workers Union TWU came just two hours after the citywide walk-out. The deadline had been extended until 7 a. m. at the last minute.

The settlement meant uninterrupted service for the 75 million New Yorkers and commuters who ride the subways and buses each day. A 12 day transit strike that began Jan. 1 1966 cost the nation's largest city $1 billion and widespread personal hardship.

Lindsay, who faced that crisis in his first hours in office, announced the agreement which came after 3 hours of straight bargaining between the TA, TWU and a three man mediation panel headed by labor expert Theodore W. Kheel.

"The recommendations were fair equitable and reasonable to the parties and to the public and I concur in them," he told a crowded news conference.

He said the contract would cost "under $70 million," compared with $63 million for the past ending the 1966 strike, and permitted the city to keep the 20-cent fare for the "foreseeable future." The fare rose from 15 to 20 cents after the 1966 settlement.

TWU President Matthew Gulhan later disclosed that the contract would provide pay increase of 55 percent immediately and 66 per cent on July 1, 1968 and half pay pensions after 20 years for workers 50

Magazine Article Accuses FBI Of "Flunking" For Sen. Dodd

WASHINGTON — UPI — A former aide to Sen. Thomas J. Dodd said Monday the Federal Bureau of Investigation made its agents available as chauffeurs and private detectives to the senator.

Writing in the Saturday Evening Post, James Boyd charged that the FBI rendered "unusual services" to the Connecticut Democrat in return for Dadds speeches praising FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

"On at least one occasion, FBI agents in New York City were detailed as chauffeurs to drive Dodd around town on social calls," Boyd said.

"Know too, that the FBI at times made its agents available to Dodd as private detectives to tail members of his staff who had incurred suspicion." He did not say which members of Dodd's staff were tailed.

The FBI had no comment on the article by Boyd.

Boyd, a former administrative assistant to Dodd, worked with columnist Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson on the expose that led to Dodd censure by the Senate June 23.

In an installment from his forthcoming book "Above the Law" he said Dadds closeness with the FBI was one of the reasons he and other Dodd employees took their information to the columnists rather than to the FBI or its parent, the justice department.

Girl Found Alive On Morgue Slab, Reported Dead

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Glenda Gampher, 23-year-old coed who underwent emergency surgery after she was discovered alive and breathing on a slab at the city morgue, died Tuesday at Jewish Hospital.

The girl had been listed in critical condition since she was taken to city hospital from the morgue Friday. She was transferred from City Hospital to Jewish Hospital Monday at the request of her parents.

City Coroner Mrs. Helen Taylor ordered an autopsy, but said she would not release its findings until all laboratory reports were complete. A doctor at City Hospital said Miss Gampher had apparently taken a quantity of sleeping pills before she was found unconscious in a park.

The girl was taken in a police cruiser to city hospital, but reportedly was not taken inside the hospital to the emergency room. The intern who examined her pronounced her "dead" and ordered her taken to the morgue.

At the morgue Miss Gopher was placed on a slab. Coroner Taylor and Police Lt. Olen Bobbs noticed

Predicts Nixon To Win GOP Presidential Nod

Among his predictions Sunday in his national radio-television broadcast, columnist Drew Pearson said the Republicans would nominate former Vice President Richard Nixon to seek the Presidency this year. While saying it was too early to predict who would win in 1968, Pearson said President Lyndon Johnson would be renominated by the Democrats.

Commenting on suggestions that U. S. Senator Robert Kennedy would strengthen the Democrat Ticket if he were on it for vice president with Pres. Johnson, Pearson said the president and Senator Robert Kennedy are not on good terms. Hence Pres. Johnson would name vice-president Humphrey as the former's running mate.

On Friday night world-famous evangelist Billy Graham said he preferred to see former vice-president Nixon as the Republican nominee for president. Dr. Graham said Mr. Nixon is more experienced than any of the other GOP aspirants for the job.

While not even suggesting whom he thought would win the top place in 1968, Dr. Graham is on record of having supported Mr. Nixon in 1960.

Another significant observation made by Pearson is that Stokely Carmichael of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee would make one speech too many this year and the U. S. government would prosecute him for sedition.

The broadcaster also said he saw no chance for victory in Vietnam in 1968. This is really bad news if it provides correct.

He said the big problem in the government in South Vietnam is the lack of honesty and morality. As a result the communists are able to win some of the South Vietnamese people to their side.

First Mississippi Negro To Be Seated

By JAMES L. JONES

JACKSON, Miss.—(UPI)—Rep. Robert G. Clark marched briskly by the statue of late segregationist Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo and into the Mississippi House of Representatives Tuesday to become the first Negro to serve in the body in modern times.

Not only has a Negro not served in the Mississippi House since the turn of the century, but veteran Capitol observers say no Negro visitor has been permitted to walk on the floor of the House in the mercy of anyone now alive.

The 38-year-old coach and educator at an all-Negro junior college in Lexington said he regarded the reception he receive as "very warm." Several lawmakers went to his desk after the session adjourned to shake his hand and introduce themselves.

However, a procedure for allocating seats to legislators left Clark sitting alone. Clark took one seat of a double desk at the front of the chamber.

Formal allotment of seats was made and he was left sitting alone.

Clark won by a narrow margin last November over veteran incumbent J. P. Love of Tchula in the race for the seat from Holmes County, a predominantly Negro county in the Mississippi Delta.

Oak Grove 4-H Club Party Held

The Oak Grove 4-H Club had its annual Christmas party Dec. 22 at the home of its leader, Mrs. Cleora Gibbs, with the members supplying the refreshments, enough and to spare.

The decorations were all hand-made by the members, consisting of wreaths, garlands from pine cones, magnolia leaves, holly, sprayed cotton bolls, sage grass, cattails, and a variety of other materials produced by nature. Even use for the stick bug was found.

The winning wreath was made by Miss Christine Davis from sprayed cotton bolls and Magnolia leaves. Deborah Davis won first place with her garland made from a number of the items mentioned.

Also on hand was a delicious looking candy wreath made by Georgia Etta Gibbs, and a candy house made by Patricia and Mae Ellen Dorsey. Many other decorations of all kinds were made by other members.

Miss Gaines and Mr. Coleman, county agents, were present to enjoy the fun and excitement and the singing of 4-H Club songs and Christmas carols. Games were played and there were music and singing.

Surprise Club Feted

The Ladies Union Surprise Club held its annual "secret pal party" Dec. 20 at the home of Mrs. Rachel Hodge, 1506 S. Wellington. Many lovely gifts were exchanged and a delicious turkey dinner was served.

The president, Mrs. Estelle Rivers, will host the next meeting at her residence, 1031 Latham St.

as he entered the chamber.

Clark said he looked forward to the coming weeks of deliberation by the recently reapportioned legislative body. He admitted that being the only Negro might hamper his effectiveness, but added it would not keep him from introducing bills.

An aunt, uncle and a nephew of Clark were in the visitors' galleries with relatives of other legislators as the secretary of state began administering the oath shortly after noon.

He had entered the capitol, scene of numerous racial demonstrations during the early 60s and stroled briskly through the front entrance past the Bilbo statue. He was accompanied by attorney Marlon Wright of the NAACP Legal Defense Fund.

Love had filed a challenge against Clark's election earlier on grounds he had not technically qualified as an independent candidate, but the challenge was withdrawn last weekend.

Clark apparently became the first Negro to sit in the once all-white legislative halls in Mississippi since the 1890s when Isaiah Montgomery, once the slave of Jefferson Davis, helped draft and sign the 1890 constitution, which remains in effect today.

Clark is a bachelor who wears horn-rimmed glasses and lives with

Dr. J. H. Jackson Tells Atlanta About Confab

By HARMON G. PERRY (World News Staff)

Dr. J. H. Jackson told a welcoming committee of ministers Wednesday night that the new National Baptist Convention will seek to project its goals, ideals, and objectives to the Negro community. The convention will also seek to lay the challenge to Atlanta leadership to join the organization in presenting the ideals of this great country.

Dr. Jackson, head of one of the largest Protestant religious organizations in the world, flew to Atlanta Wednesday night for a one-day commitment of conferences and meetings, in preparation for the big national Baptist convention scheduled here from Sept. 3 through the 8th.

A meeting with Governor Lester Maddox Thursday morning at the state capitol is one of the first stops on his busy schedule. The talk with Maddox will be followed by a meeting with Lt. Gov. George T. Smith, and a question-answer session with the press corps. A luncheon is scheduled for Paschal Brothers at 1 P. M.

Jackson was met at the airport by Dr. L. M. Terrill, president of Georgia Baptist General Missionary Convention, and several other Baptist dignitaries. The eminent churchman was in Atlanta on a similar mission late last summer.

Other activities on Jackson's schedule today include conferring with officials of the Agency, Marriot, and Downtown hotels where convention delegates will be housed. Meetings with both leading Negro and white Baptist ministers of the city, a stop at the office of the Atlanta Convention Bureau.

Later Thursday evening at the Baptist leader will be honored at an autograph party at the Zion Hill Baptist Church where he will personally sign copies of his latest book, "Unholy Shadows and Freedom's Holy Light." A reception in the church's first unit is scheduled to follow.

The 1968 convention will not

"Lie Test" Given To Armored Truck Co. Employees

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio.—UPI—Police gave lie detector tests Saturday to employees of an armored car company in connection with the theft of a truck and $384,000.

Police said the two guards on the truck-owned by the Kane Security Co. were given lie detector tests and passed them.

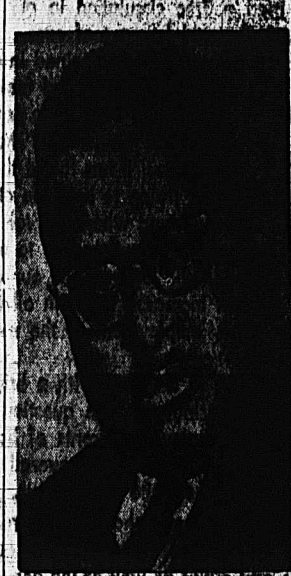

Police said the tests upheld the guards' claim they locked the doors of the truck before it was hijacked.

The thieves abandoned the truck in a park and in their haste left behind $40,000. Boardman Township Police Chief Donald Hawkins said all the firm's 15 employees would receive lie detector tests.

On Dec. 18, his wife Lillian, also began a fast, which she is continuing for a three week period. (ANP) that you've given your family everything loving care and foresight can provide, EXCEPT THIS ONE THING?

Isn't It True....

You've given your loved ones every luxury you can afford. You've sought to shield them against any and all of life's hardships and misfortunes. You've made a will and taken life insurance to protect them should anything happen to you. But have you taken the One Step to make sure that, should you be taken from your family, your wife and children will not be faced with one of life's grimmest and most distressing tasks at such a time — the selection of a burial place?

REMEMBER: There are only two ways to arrange for burial protection — ONE when you are healthy and happy and you and your wife can make the selection together — as you have made so many of life's important decisions — THE OTHER, to wait until an emergency strikes and leaves the decision to your wife. (This happens in two out of three cases) on the very day of her life.

And Now A Glad New Year

When old records fall into discard and new resolutions are needed to arouse all that enthusiasm and native courage to begin anew, nothing can take the place of a New Year. While this might be largely a state of mind and condition, nevertheless there is something more vigorous and determined seizes an individual and there is a new urge to "go on again."

So the Merry Christmas greetings goes the way of the past and the Glad New Year takes up the trek and we find ourselves looking about us to see what can be improved. This is a happy landing and it is ours, here and now, to wish all our customers, friends, fellows and employees this Happy New Year.

In the take off there are many fences to be mended; may things to be done and much stock-taking are in demand.

The old year has been an eventful one. We find ourselves still far from the region of peace on earth and goodwill to men. This has been our main objective because we are engaged in a great conflict foreign to our own soil and as such the expense runs high in operation.

Defense is our first duty and nothing should come to imperil the sacrificial efforts and huge expense involved in the job of the President of the United States and those around him in the prosecution of the effort to safeguard our country and preserve the heritage our fathers purchased at great price.

In our own land the great question of civil liberties hangs in the balance. We have upon the horizon a segment of those who for ages were denied their justice and barred from a free circulation in a commonly supported civil society. This segment has been carried as so many millstones about the necks of those permitted a free circulation in our society and otherwise apparently favored because of race.

This status quo has obtained in our educational facility and commonly we see the effect and feel the impact of those denied equality in the failure to provide equal opportunity.

This nation, still "under God" has come a long way up the road of civil liberties; it has found that to keep one group down is impossible in trying to hold the other up.

In our southland where the toll was heaviest in the denial of freedom to homing, freedom to enjoyment of public utilities, we have seen the upsurge in our economics, our public relations and an increased trade in all those avenues affecting job opportunities, employment of the masses and richer bank deposits.

We look to a future with a brighter promise. The housing clouds are easing; the race question is being somewhat forgotten on the employment fronts of banks, stores, public utilities, police departments and the overall cast of state and city employment on the white collar fronts.

Let it be hoped that first, we realize a lasting peace at the level of nations; let this Union of ours take more seriously the rights and duties as well of the general citizenry; let the general citizenry avail itself first of the privilege to vote. This is the season when the polls are beckoning everybody.

This is an election year from President of the United States on down to the humblest county office in the land.

Be a part of these elections. Enroll your name on the voting list and engage your offices and influence in getting others to do likewise.

Some New Year Resolves

At the ending or beginning of the year is an appropriate time for individuals to reflect on some of the important events of the past year and think about some of the things he would like to see take place in the year just beginning.

We are not going into anything of the past but we would like to list a few things of importance to our community and state as a whole.

First, we're all concerned about the awful cost in lives and money which the Vietnam War is requiring. All normal persons desire an end to that war, but the issue is not that simple. The Communists are on the aggression there and our government policy since 1945 has been to try to check or halt communist aggression when possible. We know there may be risks of spreading the conflict, but we believe the necessary force should be applied to end that war.

On the home front, we should work for better interracial understanding. And we believe it is a disservice for some prominent persons to help suggesting that there will be more race riots in the future. The power of suggestion can be very influential sometimes.

Members of both races — white and black — are on this continent and they all are Americans so it is to the advantage of all concerned to work for goodwill and cooperation. We must bear in mind the possibility of the mass of white persons resenting the term "black power" just as most of us dislike the term "white supremacy." There is no intelligent gain in using obnoxious phrases because phrases alone are not going to get us very far. So we suggest discouraging those who use the term "black power."

For making real progress there are no substitutes for industry, thrift and constructive cooperation. On the other hand, we must work and cooperate with law enforcement to reducing crime. There is simply a disproportionate increase in major crime in our nation and members of our race are further disproportionately involved in this increase in crime.

We suggested early in last year, that one overriding goal for us should be to get active on a day by day basis the Atlanta Negro Voters League. We still strongly believe that the best way to continue our racial progress is for the development of a strong bi-partisan voters league. This instrument could work largely through committees as does the U. S. Congress.

An effective bi-partisan organization based on political influence can solve most of our problems. It would have a grassroots foundation and all officials would take it seriously.

The Voters League has a 17-year record and that record as an organization is good. It should be reactivated and put to work in behalf of our community in general and our racial

Rebuffed By Some Leaders:

Bayard Rustin Campaigning For Johnson In Southern States

By HENRY P. LEIFERMANN

NEW YORK, N.Y. — (UPI) — Bayard Rustin, executive director of the A. Philip Randolph Institute and the civil rights movement's chief philosopher, has begun campaigning openly among Southern Negroes for President Johnson's re-election in 1968.

President already has embarrassed some civil rights groups trying to keep a strict non-partisan stance. Rustin also has been rebuffed in his campaigning by some key Negro leaders including Dr. Martin Luther King.

Urging coalitions between Negroes, poor whites liberals and organized labor, Rustin so far is the only national Negro leader to take a partisan stand in public, although King has come close. Rustin's policking for the Democrats began emerging in public this month. At a meeting last week in Jackson, Miss., attended by most of the state's newly-elected Negro officials, Rustin urged support of the President in 1968.

Bishop Hilliard Opens Meet In Jackson, Miss.

JACKSON, Miss. — Rev. R. M. Richmond, pastor, Greater Blair Street AME Zion Church, that will host the semi-annual meeting of the Board of Bishops and the Ministers' and Laymen's Association, announced here this week that the plans are complete for the meeting, which will be held Jan. 10-13.

Bishop W. A. Hilliard, Detroit, Mich., president of the Board, will preside over the opening session, says that the meeting will cover many phases of the work of the church, preparatory to recommendations to be presented to the General Conference, which will open in Detroit, Mich., May 1, 1968.

The prelate said that even though the program of the church would be the prime work of the assembly, it expected to expand to such immediate issues as the Vietnam War, social security and especially government financing of non-profit organizations.

He felt that the AME Zion Church was intensely interested in better housing not only for its communicants, but for all persons. The matter of open-housing is certainly to be discussed, rather freely.

Bishop Hilliard will preach the opening sermon and Bishop A. G. Dunston, Jr., Philadelphia, Pa., will take over as the presiding officer. The bishops will hear reports of general officers and make recommendations as to the completion of the work for the quadrennium. Bishop C. Eubanks Tucker is the host prelate for the meet.

The next big objective for Atlantans and Georgians should be to persuade some persons in the state legislature to oppose the election of governor by the legislature when on one candidate receives a majority of the votes.

The Democratic caucus recently suggested revision of the law covering the election of the governor so that the people will have a second chance after the regular November election to decide on the governorship. But it would retain the provision for the legislature to do the job if no one received a majority of the votes in the second election. Well, we think this provision for the legislature to elect is outmoded. It was adopted about 100 years ago and we think this provision is now outmoded.

The people or voters only should have the right and power to elect a governor. This is the only way to have true representative government. We believe the voters in Georgia have as much intelligence as the voters in most other American states. In the great majority of the states only the voters can elect their governor.

In our opinion this issue of the governorship is the most important question which confronts the mass of citizens — both white and black — in this state. It deserves top priority and we hope the voters, civic and social groups in the state will see as we do and accept the challenge of this issue.

Rustin's campaign approach to Southern Negroes, in his words, says the Negro and labor "cannot afford a return to conservative at Council, an Atlanta-based research, voter registration and civil rights organization.

Rustin's open support of Johnson upset leaders of the SRC, which is financed by grants from private rule, even in its clean-up, well dressed, broad-grinned, Madison Avenue varieties."

His urgent appeals to the Dixie Negro voter say the idea of replacing Johnson with a Republican "dove" on Vietnam would result in a "more conservative Congress, with the Dixiecrat-Republican coalition even more firmly in control."

Rustin urges Negroes who oppose Johnson on Vietnam to vote for the President anyway, since, Rustin says, the Republican party would bring "four years of substituting cliches about the genius of private enterprise instead of intelligent and vigorous public policy."

Negro voter registration in 11 Southern states from Virginia to Texas totaled about 2,820,000 at the end of the past summer's intensive voter registration drives compared with about 14,774,000 white voters in the region.

Prominent Atlanta Women Meet To Mobilize For Peace March

ATLANTA, Ga. — (SNS) —

Prominent Atlanta women involved in peace activity here will hold a meeting Thursday night, Jan. 4, to discuss the peace movement in Atlanta and the Jeannette Rankin Brigade which will have a mass assembly in Washington, D.C., Jan. 15.

The meeting will begin at 8 P. M. at Ebenezer Baptist Church, 407 Auburn Avenue, N. E. It will be open to the press and public.

Featured speaker will be Miss Jeannette Rankin, the first woman to be elected to the United States Congress. Miss Rankin, who has a winner home in Watkinsville, Ga. was first elected to the U. S. house of representatives from Montana in 1916.

Her first vote was cast against U. S. entry into world war I in 1940 she was again elected to the house and during her term in Washington once again cast a vote against war.

Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., a national sponsor of the Brigade, will also speak at the Thursday meeting. Mrs. King will join Miss Rankin and a 50-woman national delegation to petition house speaker John McCormack and senate leader Mike Mansfield to end the war in Viet Nam. Both Congressmen have agreed to meet with the Brigade leaders.

Other speakers include Linda Housch, a Senior at Spelman College, and Isabel Cerney, founder of the Southern Coordinating Committee to end the war in Vietnam. Bernice Reagan (one of the original SNCC Freedom Singers) will be on hand to entertain with many Peace and Freedom movement songs.

Miss Rankin has, at age 87, brought together the broadest coalition of American women in history. Women young and old of all races and religions, and of various political and social backgrounds will join Miss Rankin on the opening day of the United States Congress, January 15, 1968, to exercise their constitutional right to petition congress for redress of grievances.

Miss Rankin and the women of America, who represent 51 per cent of the voting power in the U. S., will demand that congress, as its first order of business resolve to end the war in Viet Nam and immediately arrange for the withdrawal of all American troops.

Later in the day the brigade will convene a congress or American women to develop programs to meet the crises in America. programs supported by the political power of women.

Parolee Charged With Murder In Death Of Child

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — UPI — A 22 year old parolee, Charles G. Plants, was charged with murder Saturday in the rape slaying death of nine-year-old Helen I. Miller, whose body was found face down in woods near her west side home.

Charleston Police Chief Dallas Bias said Plants, married a week ago, was arrested at his grandmother's home in South Charleston. His actual residence is less than a mile from the Miller home.

The body was found Thursday. Plants appeared before Justice of the Peace H. H. Chalm Saturday. No bond was set and he was remanded to Kanawha County Jail.

Plants had been questioned at the outset of the investigation because "he was an acquaintance of some members of the girls' family," Bias said.

He was taken into custody again Friday to be questioned in connection with a robbery the same day as the murder. Less than six hours later he was charged with the murder.

Plants served time at Moundsville Penitentiary from Sept. 66, 1963 until Jan. 25, 1966, on a breaking and entering sentence.

Georgia Holiday Weekend Death Toll Mounts To 13

By United Press International
Georgias holiday weekend death toll mounted to 13 Monday as the state recorded its first traffic fatalities of the New Year and a Floyd County man burned to death after accidentally igniting himself with kerosene.

The State Patrol has predicted 21 persons would die on Georgia highways before the close of the long '78 hour holiday period at midnight Monday.

Authorities said 87 year old James Edgar Meeks, who lived alone in rural Floyd County near Rome, burned to death some time Sunday when his clothes caught fire while he was pouring kerosene into an open fire.

His body was discovered Monday when he did not show up for work at a local junk yard.

John G. Barnett III, 20, Atlanta, became the state's first reported traffic victim of the New Year shortly after 3 a. m. Monday when his car smashed head-on into a tractor trailer truck in Marietta. Police said Barnett was driving on the wrong side of the street.

A 25 year old Newman man, Michael B. Davis, was killed when he apparently fell asleep at wheel and his car plowed into the back of a tractor trailer early Monday on highspeed Interstate 755. Four others were injured in the wreck.

Four persons were killed Sunday in an accident north of Atlanta between Duluth and Alpharetta.

Authorities said the car in which the four young people was riding careened off Georgia 120 into a grove of trees with such force that the top of the car was screeled off.

The victims were identified as Raymond L. Brownlee, 22, of Buford, Junior C. Baker, 21 of Atlanta, and two Roswell girls, Patay Priest, 19, and Brenda Sue Cook 18. Carlton Reppess Johnson Jr., 10 of Brunswick, was killed Sunday when he was thrown from a car in a two car collision at an intersection south of Rhinco.

An 18 year old Douglasville youth, Richard Dickinson, died Sunday when his car ran off Georgia Highway 55 and plunged into a lake four miles south of Douglasville.

MY WEEKLY SERMON

By REV. BLAIR T. HUNT,

PASTOR, MISSISSIPPI AVE. CHRISTIAN CHURCH MEMPHIS, TENN.

SUBJECT: "God's Repair Shop"
TEXT: "He Restoreth (Repaireth) My Soul." — Psalms 23:3.

Many of us have made New Year Resolutions — Pray that they be not like pie crust. Already many resolutions have been broken. New Year's Day is a good time to make good resolutions, and the other days of 1968 are good times to keep them. We shall need strength, courage, grace and faith in God if we are going to keep those good resolutions.

We made many serious blunders, and spent many unhappy days; but, now 1967 has gone and 1968 nearly one week old, all those mistakes and heartaches are still in our memory.

What are we going to do w/ this disfigured and impaired record? Remember failure in the past does not mean failure in the future. January is a month of beginning — A month named from the two-faced god Janus, looking both into the past and the future. It is fitting in this month that we look back but most fitting that we look forward. Looking back we see an impaired life, a wretched story.

I know of a place where our impaired lives can be repaired. It is God's repair shop, where all the broken things of life can be mended, a place where we can go and be made whole again, and then go out into the world ready to toll for the good of our companions.

God is the great soul restorer. David knew this when he said, "he restoreth my soul." The word restoreth means "repaireth."

I once saw in a shoemaker's window these words: "Old shoes made as good as new." The shoemaker's shop is a place of repair. The real repair shop that I want to tell about is in the presence of God, where Jesus Himself is the great repairer. When Jesus came into this world of ours he came to show man that God could make us whole, however broken by sin we may be.

He came to seek and to save the lost and broken lives of men and women, boys and girls.

Some of us have broken wills, they are like broken propellers, others of us have broken hearts, broken hands of faith, broken resolutions, broken prayer power, broken cisterns, and even broken cords.

God is in his repair shop binding up and repairing all these wounds of time, and helping them to produce once more life's sweetest music.

Tragic, indeed, are men and women who throw themselves away for the play things of life. They break themselves when they hurt themselves against God's commandments. But thanks be to God men and women broken by sin can go to God's repair shop and be mended and made whole again. It is grandly true that "If man be in Christ, he is a new creature."

If we are broken in heart by sin, remember God's repair shop is as near us as the air we breathe for "The Lord is nigh unto them that are of a broken heart; and saveth such as be of a contrite spirit."

Let us take our broken lives to God's repair shop. Jesus will mend and make whole again. It was the poet, Malone, who said: "No shame-faced out-cast ever sank so deep but yet may rise again and be a man." Says Jesus, Revelation 21:6, "Behold I Make All Things New."

Johnson Signs Bills To Increase Benefits

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — (UPI) — President Johnson signed into law Tuesday a bill providing record-increases in Social Security benefits coupled with a tough new program to put welfare mothers to work.

$9.1 billion in school aid over the next two years and $2.3 billion in foreign aid, the smallest foreign and appropriation since the beginning of the program in 1947.

It was the last day the President had under law to sign the three bills, passed just before Congress adjourned last month. Had he delayed longer, they would have died by "pocket veto."

The SOCIAL Security bill gives beneficiaries at 13 per cent boost in their monthly checks starting in March the biggest increase since the program began in 1935.

While Johnson sought the higher benefits he did not ask for the welfare restrictions intended to reduce the five million mothers many of them unwed and children now getting welfare aid.

Under the bill, the federal government will not pay a state starting July 1 for a larger proportion of children on the rolls than it had on Jan. 1. The intention of the provision, demanded by the House, is to get jobs for 1.2 million adults 90 per cent of them mothers, who get welfare funds to care for 3.8 million dependent children.

Supreme Court Ruling Sought On Excessive 'Bail For Poor

WASHINGTON — The NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF) and Mobilization for Youth, Inc. recently asked the U. S. Supreme Court to review the constitutionality of New York State's money bail system.

Although the release of persons charged with crime if they are able to raise bail money has been the subject of criticism in recent years, the Supreme Court has never ruled on the problem.

Specifically, the attorneys seek resolution of the question of whether requiring bail from a poor person violates the Eighth Amendment to the Constitution which states that "excessive bail shall not be required."

The case involves Antonio Gonzalez, a 19-year-old youth who has been in jail since August 23, 1967 charged with assaulting a New York City police officer. The officer was working in an undercover capacity disguised as a drug addict.

The officer was holding a narcotics suspect at gunpoint and was not in uniform. Bail was originally set at $35,000 but was reduced by a criminal court judge to $1,000.

Gonzalez, who works as a clerk for Mobilization, has been able to obtain $100 from relatives and friends, more than the $50 legal premium for a $1,000 bond.

He has been unable to obtain release, however, because bondsmen require collateral amounting to more than one-half of the $1,000. According to LDF attorney

Michael Meltsner, Gonzalez, attorneys "urged the New York Court of Appeals to reduce bail because he had no previous criminal record and because he had roots in the Lower East Side and a social worker, employed by Mobilization for Youth, agreed to supervise him if released."

On December 17, the court of Appeals found that the $1,000 bail was not unreasonable.

The petition filed in the Supreme Court argues that bail is unconstitutionally excessive when an indigent is kept in jail solely because of his poverty when non-financial conditions of release are available which would insure appearance at trial.

In addition to Mr. Meltsner, Gonzalez is represented by Jack Greenberg, director-counsel, of the NAACP; Harold Rothman, legal director of Mobilization for Youth; and Mobilization attorney Martin Spigel.

GLOBAL PORTRAITS

GLOBAL PORTRAITS paints the most charming, most brilliant and most joyous couple your eye has ever seen. Mrs. Roderick Lovell, known as HANNAH WATT and Roderick LOVELL, this interview took place in the beautiful home of the LOVELLS in the Kingsbridge section of LONDON, England where both the Mr. and Mrs. posed they were indeed delightful as host and hostess.

Right now, though, this "Theatre of the World" might be touring our USA intermingling college students and audiences of Women's Clubs, etc. with their superb dramatic presentations.

First, let's take a peek into their personal lives as individual: HANNAH WATT (Mrs. Roderick Lovell) was born in Cumberland, England, acquired her early training with some of the best repertory companies in Great Britain. An actress of remarkable versatility, she has been theatrical experience ranging from Shakespeare to musical comedy.

She has played in many West End productions in London, including two Royal Command Performances, and most recently at Shejla in "A Trip to the Castle" by the distinguished Irish writer, George Bernard Shaw. She appeared as the Countess Spaldini in "Carissima" for eighteen months at the Lancelotti Theatre, a performance she repeated on B. B. C. television with Ginger Rogers.

She has twice appeared at the Edinburgh Festival: in 1957 as Abbie in Joan Morgan's "Square Dance," and in 1959 as Isobel Countess of Buchan in Hugh Rose Williamson's "Heart of Robert Bruce." She has also had considerable dramatic experience on radio and TV in Great Britain.

RODERICK LOVELL, born in London and made his first stage appearance shortly before the war, when he toured Europe in classical drama with The English Players, including a season at the Theatre Michel in Paris, and visiting all the principal cities throughout Germany, Holland, Belgium, Denmark, Austria, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, and Yugoslavia.

After six years in the Army, he made his London debut in John Webster's "The White Devil." Further West End plays followed, interspersed with television and radio engagements, including serials by John Galsworthy and Anthony Trollope, and many of Shakespeare's plays. He is equally at home in modern drama and makes regular appearances as a consultant surgeon, Mr. Powers, in the popular TV serial, "Emergency Ward 10."

From the Town Hall Forum, San Francisco, HANNAH WATT and Roderick LOVELL, "The Lunt and Fontanne of Great Britain." And after enjoying an afternoon with the Lovells, we would say that HANNAH WATT and Roderick LOVELL, the Theatre of - Two, are the greatest and too of the most brilliant performers to tour our U. S. A. in our GLOBAL PORTRAITS HALL OF FAME as a great "Theatre of - Two" but as a wonderful and lovable husband-wife team - host and hostess.

Phenix City Bank Robbed Of $6,000

PHENIX CITY, Ala. — (UPI) — A gunman with a red-lipstick mustache painted on his face robbed a bank of some $6,000 Thursday but was caught at a roadblock waving a pillow case stuffed with the stolen money "as though it was a white flag."

Police held Bush and his wife, Jo Ann, on an open charge. Nolan said Mrs. Bush had been in her husband's car during the holdup, but he let her out after driving away and police arrested her in Phenix City.

Bank Vice - President Dennis Mitchell of the Phenix City branch of the Farmers and Merchants Bank secretly pushed an alarm button sounding an alarm at the police department when the robber entered the bank and pulled a pistol at 12:16 p. m. EST.

The man handed teller George Green a pillow case and told him to "fill it up and make it quick." When the gunman drove off, Mitchell gave chase in his car following him at speeds of 80 to 90 miles per hour through the city before losing him.

A police car sighted Bush's speeding car just north of the city and chased him north on West Point Highway.

Bush had gone about 10 miles out West Point Highway when he suddenly turned around and started back toward the city, Nolan said.

Nolan and another policeman set up a road block on the highway and stopped him.

He and his twin brother Barry Blackstone were the defensive end tandem which helped Fairmont State rate as the NAIA's number one defensive team. Joining Larry Blackstone on the line are repeaters John Peterson, Beauchamp, and Joyner. Rounding out the forward wall is Tom Billotta, a 247 pound tackle who helped end Adams State (Colo.) to a 8-1 season.

FBI To Investigate News Article Of SNCC Field Sect.

By HENRY P. LEIFERMANN (United Press International)

The FBI said on Dec. 28 it was investigating an article in a black power newsletter, advocating violent attacks on President Johnson's limousine as a Vietnam war protest.

The article, appearing in the current issue of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee SNCC Newsletter, advocates the attacks as part of a strategy to make President Johnson "afraid to leave the White House."

An FBI spokesman said federal authorities had been advised of the article, written by Julius Lester, a field secretary for the militant Atlanta-based SNCC, and that it was being "looked into." He declined to elaborate.

Lester, who recently returned from a trip to North Vietnam and Cuba wrote that to "resist is to make the President afraid to leave the White House."

"We will allow him Lester to publish anything he thinks he should and we are not about to stop short in discussing methods of dissent," he said Wednesday.

Wise charged the President was "already" afraid to leave the White House. "The high policy people in this government don't make speaking engagements in large cities. Johnson just talks to military bases," he said.

In the same issue, SNCC said it "reaffirmed its political opposition to Zionism," a charge it made in the last SNCC newsletter in August. The statement drew severe criticism from Jews who said the militant black power organization had become anti-Semitic.

The current newsletter also discounted the resignations from SNCC of actor Theodore Bikel and author Harry Golden, who issued statements shortly after the organization's anti-Israel charges, saying they had pulled out of the organization.

"SNCC in a policy decision of 1966 became an all-black organization," the newsletter said. It said Bikel and Golden, both whites, were removed from membership roles at the time along with all other whites.

Another article in the newsletter, called on Negroes — in the United States — to "prepare yourself psychologically" for guerrilla war in South Africa.

"Those of us who have been trained to fight in Vietnam, for example, and do not want to fight and live in this country, may very soon have to form a Black International and return to Africa to fight or die for the liberation of the mother country," Brown wrote.

American Sailors Seek Political Asylum In Sweden

NEW YORK — (UPI) — The four American sailors who deserted to protest the war in Vietnam said Dec. 31 they hoped their example would show other servicemen "it can be done."

The four appeared in a special CBS television news program taped in Stockholm, where they have been for two days. The sailors said the hope to get political asylum in Sweden.

However, the Communist Party newspaper in Moscow, Pravda, said Sunday that Sweden may expel the sailors. In a dispatch from Helsinki, Pravda quoted "reports" that the Swedish Aliens Commission "plan to demand their expulsion."

The sailors are Richard Bailey, 19, of Jacksonville, Fla.; John Barilla, 20, of Calonsville, Md.; Michael Lindner, 19, of Mount Pocono, Pa.; and Craig Anderson, 20, of San Jose, Calif.

They left the aircraft carrier Intrepid at Yokosuka, Japan, Oct. 23 went to Tokyo and then to Russia. They left Moscow Friday after six weeks as guests of the Soviet government. They have asked for political asylum in Sweden.

On the television broadcast, the four said they had no regrets about deserting and all insisted on using that term. They said they had been discussing desertion for about two months before they jumped ship in Japan.

They also said they had "reviewed all the possibilities" about never being able to return to the United States.

The war in Vietnam, Bailey said, "just shows man's ignorance, a crude way of deciding differences." Barilla said "if we can't solve our differences on the conference table then we might as well be back in the stone age."

Also interviewed on the television special were shipmates on the U. S. S. Intrepid which docked in Norfolk, Va., Saturday.

One airman said he had known the four and liked them. A lieutenant said the four had not "put as much effort into their work as the average sailor." The captain said that to have the fine record of his ship stained by this desertion was a "disappointment."

Psychiatrist Raise Question Medical Magazine On Mentality

"Should we have the authority to forcibly treat... the mentally ill mother who beats her children unmercifully... because she is ill?" asks James R. Harris, MD, in the current issue of The Physician's Panorama.

"We all know of cases of mentally persons in the community who are extremely destructive to others, and the question of their forcible treatment is being hotly debated," Dr. Harris writes.

"Many people are becoming convinced, however, that if we want to maintain the health of the entire community, we must have the authority to intervene in obvious cases where the person does not want to be treated."

But Dr. Harris warns: "This intervention, however, must be done with the utmost caution, so that the authority to intervene is not misused, as it certainly could be."

Dr. Harris is clinical assistant professor of psychiatry at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital and Community Mental Health Center, which he helped establish in Philadelphia.

In his article on community mental health, Dr. Harris states some of the tenets of his philosophy.

"The follow-up and rehabilitation aspects of the treatment of mental illness are as important as, or more important than, the treatment of the acute phases of the illness," he says.

"For many years, we have treated acutely mentally ill patients, and, when they recover... we send them back into the community or into their very unsatisfactory family situations where it is almost inevitable that they will become ill again."

To correct this, Dr. Harris suggests that patients be rehabilitated by "changing their environment, returning them for productive activity, giving them a half-way house in the community... teaching them socialization and helping them develop hobbies, friends and structured way of life."

Other facets of the philosophy are: labeling as mentally ill some persons previously called "criminal or immoral"; studying "the people in the community regardless of their socioeconomic status"; and developing "newer techniques of treating sick people in lower-class communities more rapidly and efficiently."

Dr. Harris concludes his article by outlining the basic requirements for a community mental health center and advising on the most efficient ways of establishing one.

The Physician's Panorama is published for the practicing physician by Sandoz Pharmaceuticals, Hanover, N. J.

Maddox Favors State Supported Kindergarten, But Not in 1968

Although he favors a state-controlled system of public kindergartens, Gov. Lester Maddox said Friday there were just not enough funds available to get such a program rolling at top speed in 1968.

Maddox told a news conference some funds will be available, but "there won't be anything like $1 million" for setting up the public kindergarten program proposed by State School Supt. Jack Nix and others.

"We've got to meet our primary obligations in education first," said Maddox, citing a promised teacher pay raise, construction and other programs as priorities.

"The only thing we could possibly do is set up a pilot program to educate a few teachers."

Maddox's comments came as the House Committee on Care and Training of Pre-School Children held public hearings on whether Georgia should have a state-supported kindergarten system.

The governor said he favored state-supported kindergartens "so long as we stay in the State Department of Education." He said he opposed federally-assisted kindergarten programs, such as pre-school Head start projects. "Where they take three and four-year-olds and form them in the opinion of some bureaucrat in Washington or some socialist in the United Nations."

Sen. McCarthy Chooses Wisconsin To Oppose LBJ

By PATRICK SLOYAN
WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Sen. Eugene McCarthy indicated Saturday he would choose the April 2 primary in Wisconsin, which borders his home state of Minnesota, for the opening round in his battle with President Johnson for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"I think the first real test will come in the first major primary which will be Wisconsin," McCarthy said in an interview.

"At that point I think the implications of the seriousness of my candidacy will become clearer to the administration."

While not completely ruling out entering the nation's first primary in New Hampshire March 12, McCarthy had said earlier the New England contest was "not particularly significant" for his purposes.

Two - MAN BALLOT

Barring any changes in Wisconsin law, the primary would feature the names of McCarthy and Johnson on the Democratic ballot. The names of all potential contenders are placed on the ticket unless the individual enters a formal disclaimer.

Asked about a recent poll indicating substantial "hawk" sentiment in Wisconsin, McCarthy, a peace candidate, said campaigning on the issue of administration policies in Vietnam should not be determined by the polls.

"I think it Vietnam so deeply involves the welfare of the country that if you did nothing more than give 25 to 30 per cent of the people a chance to express their views on it in the political process that in itself would make my effort worthwhile," he said.

But McCarthy added that a poll in Minnesota showed 60 per cent approval of his challenge of Johnson.

POLL RELIABLE

"It doesn't necessarily mean that they approve of my stand on a partner in the law firm of Moore, Lightfoot & Edley in Philadelphia but at least 60 per cent in this was a test that ought to be made on the policy of the administration," he said.

"And that's a reliable public poll and I think much more indicative of the people in the Midwest," McCarthy said he was avoiding a personality contest with the President or a campaign keyed to "loud, emotional challenges."

I intend to give the people an opportunity to make a reasoned and restrained judgment on the war, the morality of it and its implications for domestic policy as well as foreign policy for the rest of this century."

Life Begins In Mid-50's

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Life begins in the mid - 50's not at 40. If you judge happiness in terms of money, that conclusion may be drawn from the January FINANCE FACTS, a monthly newsletter on consumer behavior, published by the National Consumer Finance Association.

The newsletter reported that the average age of the top wealth holders in the United States is the mid - 50's. For married men and women, and single men it is the early 50's, for single women the late 50's and for widowed men and women the late 60's.

Top wealth holders are defined by the Internal Revenue Service as those with gross assets of $60,000 or more. According to the IRS survey made in 1962 there were 4.1 million people in this category.

About 2.5 million were men with average asset holdings of $173,000, while the 1.6 million women were wealthier with an average of $196,000 in assets. A total of 84 per cent of the men were married as compared to only 48 per cent of the women.

Buy Bonds where you work.

They do.

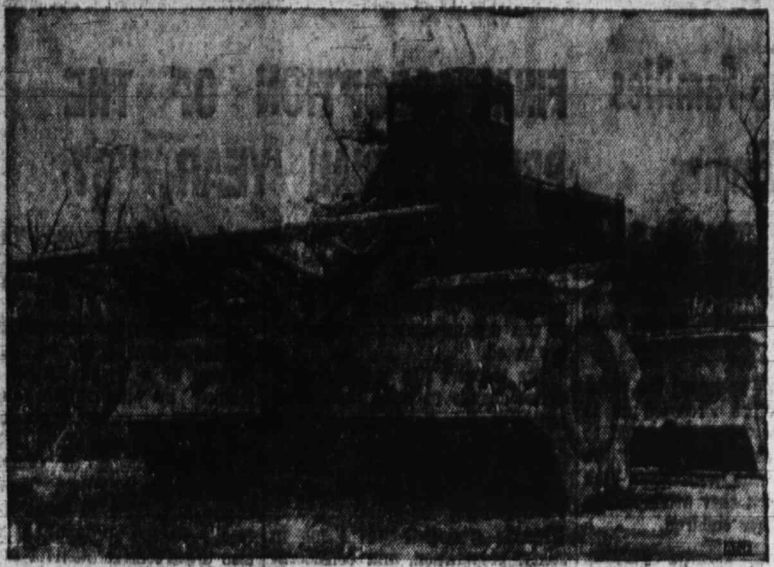

Why do our servicemen buy U.S. Savings Bonds? Their reasons are the same as yours and mine: saving for the future, supporting freedom. And because they're fighting for freedom, too, maybe servicemen see the need more clearly than many of us: Buy Bonds. In more than one way, it makes you feel good.

Now, when you join the Payroll Savings Plan or the Bond-a-Month Plan, you are eligible to purchase the new type U.S. Savings Notes—Freedom Shares—as a bonus.

Princeton Dean Sees New Morality, Teens Free To Choose

Has the "new morality" spearheaded by The Pill and bolstered by a decline in fears that "something will go wrong," freed all teenagers for lives of untrammeled exotic ecstasy? Are virgins as "out" as Edsels and Shirley Temple movies?

While a cursory reading of some youth-oriented roadsigns might give that impression, there is another side to the story of the "new morality," one which its adherents say is being downgraded. The case is expressed by Ernest Gordon, dean of the University Chapel at Princeton University, in a January Reader's Digest article, "The New Case for Chastity."

Says Dean Gordon:

"I am convinced that there is emerging a powerful case, perhaps a new case, for chastity. Simply put, it is this: Sexual freedom, under the so-called 'new morality,' should be regarded by today's youth as a challenge to their freedom of choice. And freedom of choice, in the area of sex as elsewhere, involves the demand to choose for oneself, influenced by neither old - fogey fears nor hipster pressures, the course that will contribute to the richest and fullest life."

In Dean Gordon's view, "choosing for oneself" will often result in the choice of chastity. He points to the Kinsey report, which found that 58 percent of college-bound males had no sex experience, and that 80 percent of unmarried girls aged 16 to 20 were virgins. More recent surveys of both sexes reveal scant change in these figures," he says.

While The Pill may have removed the fear of pregnancy from a sex relationship, it cannot take away the lowered self-esteem that may result from promiscuous behavior, the author writes. "Indeed, near the top of the list of the costs of unchastity is a very much lowered self-esteem—yet the power to love another rests on the ability to respect oneself."

Noting that most young people want a sincere and permanent relationship, Dean Gordon asserts that chastity will help to insure this goal. "Chastity does not mean a denial of sexuality; on the contrary, it implies its fulfillment."

On the other hand, studies of married couples have shown that those who were promiscuous before marriage stand less chance of being happy maritally, says Dean Gordon.

"Form experience," he writes, "I am forced to conclude that chastity and monogamy are twins. They stand for the dignity of both the man and the woman."

Physical Fitness Enthusiast, Girl Friend, Return From Island

By WEBSTER K. NOLAN
HONOLULU — (UPI) — A physical fitness enthusiast and his girl friend who lived a "Robinson Crusoe" life on an uninhabited South Pacific island recounted Saturday how they survived on coconuts and crabs for 40 days.

"It was much more rugged than we expected," said bearded adventurer Bruce Johnson, 42.

"It was a very good experience but not something I'd like to go through again," said his attractive brunette companion, Shari Quam, 22.

They said they were so hungry at times, they came close to eating some of the rats which scurried about the small island.

The couple left Los Angeles last October, ran into complications in Samoa and in late October settled down on an island three miles by five about 200 miles southeast of Suva, Fiji.

NOTHING THERE

"There was just nothing there," said Miss Quam, a former nurse. "It was just a rock," declared Johnson.

They told their story to reporters shortly after arriving on a flight from Tahiti.

The couple took along only swim fins, face masks, swim suits and a 16 mm camera to shoot underwater movies. They lived in a lean to built by Johnson and spent down play.

"We made it. WE made it," Sherman moaned in the Penn State dressing room after the game.

Hammond wasn't the only record-setter in the Gator Bowl Saturday. Flanker Ron Sellers caught 14 of his passes, one more than the previous record set by red Bluetnikoff in the 1964 game, and the crowd of 68,100 topped the old mark by 7,797 thanks to a new end zone addition.

Takes New Post With Ford Foundation

CHRISTOPHER FEDLEY'S
NEW YORK — The Ford Foundation recently announced the appointment of Christopher F. Edley as program officer in charge of the Government and Law section of its National Affairs Division.

In his new post, Mr. Edley will be particularly concerned with the Foundation's efforts to improve the administration of civil and criminal justice, to combat crime and delinquency, and to help solve key problems of government at the national and regional level.

Previously, Mr. Edley was a program officer in the Social Department section of the National Affairs Division, where his work focused on problems of race relations and included efforts to strengthen key organizations and civic and economic self-help groups.

Before joining the Foundation in 1963, Mr. Edley served for two decades as a member of the Philadelphia Commission on Human Relations. He was Assistant District Attorney, City of Philadelphia, from 1954 to 1956. He was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar in 1953 and the Pennsylvania Bar in 1954.

Mr. Edley received his A.B. degree in political science from Harvard University in 1949, and his LL.B. from Harvard University in 1953. He served with the U.S. Army in Japan and Germany in 1946-7 and 1950-1.

Mr. Edley is married to the former Zaida Coles and has two children. Their home is in New Rochelle, New York.

Years with the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency as regional counsel for the Middle Atlantic States, with headquarters in Philadelphia.

In 1960, he served as chief of the Administrative not Justice Division, U. S. Commission on Civil Rights. From 1956 to 1961, he was most of their time looking for something to eat.

The only animals on the island were rats. "We got so hungry we were almost tempted to eat them," said Johnson.

He said their food consisted mainly of coconuts and crabs.

"I didn't tell Shari but I was getting pretty weak from climbing those palm trees."

"Occasionally we ate fish. That was a real treat," he said.

FISHING HARD

"It's as hard as you can imagine to spear a fish with a wooden spear. When you're used to all the modern conveniences and you go out and try to spear a fish by yourself - well, it's almost impossible."

Miss Quam said she enjoyed "the peace and quiet of the island - no motorcycles or cars, and we didn't miss people."

But she conceded, "It is rather frightening to know you're all alone some place."

Asked if he would advise others to spend time on a deserted island to get away from it all, Johnson replied, "No. At least not on that island."

After 40 days on the island, they were able to signal a passing copra boat by building a fire. They were taken to Suva where both underwent medical treatment for swollen legs and coral cuts. Miss Quam's feet were still bruised but both appeared healthy otherwise.

WEDDED BLISS?

MANILA — (UPI) — Relatives of the bride beat the groom-unconscious and reclaimed the bride a few minutes after a wedding in Imus, Cavite, police disclosed Friday. Officers said the incident, involving Rodolfo Ignacion, 25, and Nenita Espiritu, 19, involved a "misunderstanding." Police issued warrants for the relatives' arrest.

Ashe Whips Pillie To Win Sugar Bowl Net Championship

NEW ORLEANS — (UPI) — Arthur Ashe, the first Negro to play in the tournament, defeated Nikola Pilić of Yugoslavia, the world's fourth-ranked amateur, 6-4, 6-10, 6-3, 11-9, 6-3 to win the Sugar Bowl tennis championship Saturday.

The 66 games constituted the longest championship match in Sugar Bowl history. The previous high was 58.

Ashe, sacrificing power to his 6-foot - 3 left-handed opponent, broke Pilić's serve in the ninth game of the fifth set with a series of long accurate backhand shots.

The match game went to deuce three times but then Ashe fired on of his backhand shots past Pilić's left hand. On the next point the Yugoslav failed to return a shot that Ashe hit right at him and the match was over.

Ashe, ranked second among U.S. amateurs, seemed well beaten by the Yugoslav after the second set. But he drove Pilić back to his baseline in the sixth game of the third set, forced his larger opponent into three consecutive errors and broke his serve for a 4-2 lead.

Pilić and Ashe conducted a seesaw battle in the fourth set. Ashe broke the Yugoslav's service early for a 2-0 lead but later went behind 6-7 and 8-9.

Ashe came from behind in the 19th game with a couple of good long backhand shots that whistled past Pilić. Then the Yugoslav champ lost the serve, giving the American a 10-9 lead.

Ashe then won the next fourth set and tie the match at 2-2.

'Blew The Game', Says Paterno

By DAVID M. MOFFITT
UPI Sports Writer
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — UPI — Penn State coach Joe Paterno figures he can forget about that reported job offer from the New York Jets after the way he blew a 17-point lead in Saturday's 17-17 Gator Bowl tie with Florida State.

Coach Bill Peterson is ready to talk business with the San Francisco 49ers.

"After that second half, I won't be mentioned for that job or any other in the country," Paterno said. "I'll be lucky to keep my job now. I lost the ball game," the swarthy Penn State coach said. He was referring to his decision to have the Lions go for a first down on fourth and one at their own 15 late in the third period. "I know better," he said.

"I got carried away it's like playing poker, you're way ahead with 20 minutes to go and you start betting a little wild."

Florida State took advantage of that mental error to crash two quick touchdowns and get close enough on the score board to tie the game in the final 15 seconds with a field goal.

"It was a case of tying or losing and we went for the tie," said Peterson who earlier this year went for a last second 37-37 tie with Alabama.

Florida State moved from its own 32 to the Penn State 8 in the closing minute but then missed two straight passes and called on Grant Guthrie for the tying 28-yard goal on fourth down.

"When you hit them three times and can't do anything you had better go for the tie or lose it," Peterson said.

"The San Francisco 49ers will interview me, but I'm not sure when or where," Peterson said.

"They contacted me twice already. But I told them I wouldn't go for interview before the Gator Bowl game."

The 49ers probably wish Peterson could bring his quarterback Kim Hammond with him. Hammond, No. 2 yardage gainer among major college players this past fall, broke a bundle of Gator Bowl passing records Saturday as he hit on 37 of 53 for 362 yards despite being bothered by the unusual for Florida, cold.

The record Hammond broke were set by another Florida State quarterback, Steve Tensi in the 1964 Gator Bowl against Oklahoma.

Penn State quarterback Tom Sherman had a great first half throwing two touchdown passes and kicking a field goal and two extra points. But any enthusiasm he might have had for that performance was drowned by his sorrow about that controversial fourth

The way he detailed his run made it sound easy, Smith said: "I caught the ball deep in the end zone and we had a 'middle return' on, so I started up the middle. I saw an opening and I knew I could at least get past the 20-yard line. I got through the heavy traffic at the 30, and at that point only the kicker was between me and the goal line."

"I had one blocker in front of me who shielded off the kicker, and I was off and running."

New Assault Bridge Tested at Fort Belvoir

ASSAULT BRIDGE—A new lightweight assault bridge unfolds to span a gully at the U.S. Army Mobility Research and Development Center, Ft. Belvoir, Va. The aluminum alloy bridge weighs 2,700 pounds and can be replaced where heavier bridge equipment would bog down. This will make it useful in the marginal terrain of the Vietnam rice paddy and swamps. The new bridge is capable of supporting 15-ton loads over spans up to 33 feet. It is operated hydraulically and can be replaced in less than two minutes from its mounting on the M-113 armored personnel carrier. After manual hookup of two hydraulic connections, it can be retrieved by reversing the launching procedure.

GUESTS of President Johnson at the ranch in Texas for Jan. 7-8 will be Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol, wife Miriam.

Life Insurance Company Starts New Marketing Program Youths

LOS ANGELES — One of the nation's oldest and largest life insurance companies today (Jan. 2) announced the development of a new marketing program aimed directly at capturing a major share of the nation's youth market.

The plan involves the recruiting of a larger percentage of young men for the sales organization, the development of an extensive line of new policies designed especially for young families and a plan which enables the company to communicate better with young people.

Speaking at a luncheon in observance of his company's 100th anniversary, Stanton G. Hale, president of Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company, said that with the opening of its second century, every move made by the company will be designed to make Pacific Mutual Life not only look young and literally be young.

Gathered at a Centennial Luncheon in Atlanta to their president, Hale spoke was a Pacific Mutual Life group headed by Emory Jenks, Jr., Agency Manager, 2970 Peachtree Street.

They were one of 65 groups throughout the country who heard a specially recorded message by president Hale.

Hale said that the very safety and existence of any business depends upon its ability to keep abreast of change, not in how it resists change.

"Today the importance of keeping attuned to the under-30 group cannot be over emphasized," he said. "This age group comprises half the population of the nation and by 1975 they will control nearly 60 percent of its purchasing power."

Hale said that an intensive program of recruiting young agents is underway. To bolster this, a new plan for agent compensation has been inaugurated, which includes substantial subsidies during the early years of a young man's sales career. He feels such a program will attract able, young men previously lost to areas of industry which traditionally offer higher initial incomes.

At a press conference preceding the luncheon Hale said that an entire new line of policies, designed especially for young families with limited incomes and high risks will be announced shortly. In addition, the company is launching a new advertising campaign especially designed to communicate with youth.

T. S. Burnett, chairman of the board of directors, speaking at the centennial luncheon, told 1,200 Southern California employees of Pacific Mutual Life of the vital part the company has played in the growth of the West.

Sponsored by such early Californians as Leland Stanford, Mark Hopkins, Charles Crocker and James McClatchy, Pacific Mutual Life came into being on January 2, 1868 in Sacramento, Burnett said.

The company originated in the wake of the gold rush and while the first transcontinental railroad was under construction. First insurance policy issued by the new firm was later redeemed on the

7 Of Two Families Die In Flames

WHEELING, W. Va. — UPI — Seven children of two families died Sunday in a fire which wrecked a 2½ story frame duplex house on Wheeling Island in the Ohio River.

A baby-sitter spending the night with the families' rescued an 11 month old boy, the only child to survive the blaze and roused the two mothers, who were driven back by flames when they attempted to rescue the other children.

The dead were Cynthia Gonzales, 7; her sister, Linda, 6, and Debbie, 5, and brother John, 4, children of Mrs. Sandra Gonzales, 24; and Daniel Johnson, 8, Mary Ann Gosyla, 5, and her sister, Rebecca, 4, children of Mrs. Harriet Goszyla, 28.

The Johnson boy was Mrs. Goszyla's child by a previous marriage. Asst. Fire Chief William Mueller said a baby-sitter, Carol Botteri, 21, was awakened about 4 a. m. by glass shattering in a kitchen on the first floor of the duplex, which consisted of three apartment units.

Miss Botteri picked up the infant boy, Kenneth roused the two mothers and then helped wake three members of a third family and their two weekend visitors in the third apartment.

The two mothers climbed onto a porch and broke windows of two front bedrooms where the children were sleeping but the flames drove them back.

Police said Mrs. Gonzales and Goszyla were separated from their husbands.

could compare, some larger and some smaller. The results of these companies over the previous 10 years were averaged as a means of obtaining a yardstick with this. Hale has established goals for the decade to come.

Hale has done considerable restructuring of his executive team at the toplevel in order to get the right combination and balance plus an emphasis on marketing orientation.

From the beginning his efforts have met with enthusiastic response. As a result, there have been improvements in many areas of the company's activities.

PML's new approach to marketing is based on what Hale calls the Growth Acceleration Program — commonly known internally as GAP, and the objective, of course, is to close the gap on other companies.

The Growth Acceleration Program has established goals for the company and a strategy for achieving them. It has also developed a basis against which progress can be measured. GAP was officially inaugurated on November 1, 1966. At the outset, 11 projects were outlined as steps toward achieving the company's marketing objectives. A task force was organized to work on each of these.

As work progressed, two of the projects were postponed and others were added. At the present time, there are over 30 projects underway. Some of these have been completed and others are in process. Each has a specific part to play in the effort to attain accelerated growth.

Arbitrarily, all consumer advertising was stopped for a two year period. The company's advertising agency conducted an exhaustive study. Upon completion and when advertising was resumed, an entirely new approach had been developed.

Next tackled, according to Hale, were projects pertaining to sales promotion, internal communications, training, man power development, and expansion of the group program.

As a typical example of some of the projects now on their way toward successful completion, Hale cites one aimed at reducing operating expenses. When the GAP program was officially launched 11 months ago, one project called for eliminating a minimum of $1 million annual operating expenses by the end of 1968. This program is well on its way.

Economies already have been introduced amounting to more than $60,000 and through improvement of both home office and field efficiency, it is expected that the million dollar goal will be exceeded by the end of 1968.

Coincident with the launching of the program, Hale wanted a means of evaluating results. His solution was to select 23 outstanding companies with which PML

FINAL ADOPTION OF THE PRESBYTERIAN 'YEAR, '67

NEW YORK — Final adoption of the Confession of 1967 was the top national United Presbyterian news story of the year, a panel of the denomination's newswriters has voted.

The church's first major confessional change in more than three centuries, the Confession of 1967 became part of the 3.3 million member denomination's creedal documents with its approval by the 179th General Assembly.

Nearly a decade was spent in study, preparation, and consideration before the new document was approved as a part of a new Book of Confessions for the church. It is based on the theme of reconciliation, and pinpoints the church's responsibility in contemporary problems including war, racism, poverty, and sexual anarchy.

The denomination's involvement in issues mentioned in the Confession of 1967 war reflected in the poll; three of the points specifically noted in the confession was basic to other outstanding news stories. Action on the Vietnam War and the urban crisis ranked second and third among the stories respectively.

Highlighting the church's new making stands on the war were adoption of a Declaration of Conscience by the 179th General Assembly to wider grounds for conscientious objection.

The Declaration of Conscience urged U. S. initiatives "that will create a climate of trust leading finally to the negotiating table" also urged consideration for another bombing pause, renewed attempts to seek settlement of the Vietnam War through the United Nations, and the exploration of other alternatives, such as a purely defensive war.

The Assembly also asked the Congress to grant conscientious objection "on the basis of a sincere and meaningful belief which is the product of profound human conscience," and asked for non-discriminatory draft selection which would, among other provisions, apply the same deferment standards to ministers as are given to persons in other occupations.

Of the church's response to the nation's urban crisis, three stories stood out: the adoption, by the denomination's Board of National Missions, of a set of Metropolitan Guidelines, taking into consideration the changes in urban society and calling congregations to deal with issues as more crucial than matters of property or personnel. It also stresses ecumenical and flexible operations, across the traditional lines dividing urban areas.

The proposal, by the Rev. Kenneth G. Neigh, General Secretary of the Board of National Missions, for a $1 million fund to be used in the denomination's work in the urban crisis, and the General Assembly's endorsement of a statement affirming the value of "Black Power" were among other stories closely linked to metropolitan problems.

Other stories among the "Top Ten" included these:

* The election of the Rev. Eugene Smathers of Big Lick, Tenn. as moderator of the 179th General Assembly, in a surprise victory over the Rev. William H. Hudnut, Jr., national chairman of the denomination's Fifty Million Fund.

* A decline in membership of the denomination, which reported about 10,000 fewer communicants than in 1966.

* Constructive conversations between representatives of Presbyterian — Reformed and Roman Catholic traditions, including a consensus on "mixed marriage" involving Protestants and Roman Catholics, and joint publication of a book based on a series of talks by the two groups.

* The success of the Fifty Million Fund, a campaign for the financing of the church's capital needs, which now is expected to surpass $60 million.

* Involvement of the church, specifically through its Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations, in the problems of racial justice in South Africa, including the Commission's contribution of $10,000 toward the defense of 35 South West Africans being tried under South Africa's "Terrorism Act," the General Assembly's stand in opposition to apartheid.

* Development by the Board of Christian Education and approval by the 179th General Assembly, of a new church education system, called Christian Faith and Action and designed to apply contemporary techniques to the whole field of Christian education.

* The presentation of gifts, in lieu of taxes, by the Board of Christian Education to two governmental agencies where it operates conference centers, specifically the City of Philadelphia where the Krisheim Study Center is situated, and Rio Arriba County, New Mexico, where the Ghost Ranch Study Center is situated.

Parolee Killed By FBI In Brief Battle

RIVERSIDE, Calif. — UPI — A Folsom state prison parolee was shot to death Saturday in a brief gun battle with FBI agents and police in the lobby of the Riverside post office.

A policeman was wounded in the gunfight.

Killed by a single shot in the chest was Robert Lynn Becker, 37, wanted by the FBI in connection with two bank holdups in Oregon that netted more than $55,000 earlier this year.

Riverside police said a posse of peace officers confronted Becker, who had been living in Riverside under the name of Charles Thompson as he and his wife Julie, 30, were leaving the post office with a package.

An officer shouted an order to halt. As Becker did he whirled a handgun from his coat and shot Riverside policeman Jerry Dunn in the leg.

Dunn's fellow officer, Dave Bralley, then shot Becker once in the chest. Becker fell to the floor and was pronounced dead at the scene. Six dumbfounded bystanders in the post office lobby witnessed the brief gun duel. Becker and the officers were only about 10 feet apart when the firing began.

Dunn was taken to Riverside hospital where he was reported in good condition.

Becker accused of a $45,000 holdup of a Portland branch First State Bank of Oregon, the fourth largest bank robbery in Oregon history. He also was charged with a $10,000 holdup of the Wilsonville branch of the Citizens Bank of Oregon.

American May Chase Enemy Into Cambodia, Says Sihanouk

By ARNOLD DIBBLE
TOKYO — (UPI) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodian chief of state, said Sunday American troops could chase Communist forces for a "few miles" inside Cambodia only if they withdrew immediately afterwards.

Sihanouk cabled replies to a list of questions sent him from Tokyo, following the disclosure that he would allow American troops to pursue retreating Viet Cong or North Vietnamese into Cambodia.

"I have not given 'permission' in this regard," Sihanouk said. "I only said I would not send out my infantry, armor and aviation to engage American forces making a short incursion on our territory in pursuit of North Vietnamese or enemy forces illegally penetrating Cambodia."

Four Sailors Jump Ship

NORFOLK, Va. — UPI — Many sailors aboard the aircraft carrier USS Intrepid feel they were "slipped in the face" when four fellow crewmen jumped ship in protest of U. S. policy in Vietnam, the vessel's commanding officer said Saturday.

Most of the 3,200 crewmen and 90 pilots consider the four to be a "big disappointment," said Capt. Williams J. McVey.

The Intrepid returned to its home port at the Norfolk Naval Base Saturday, becoming the only ship in the Atlantic fleet to complete two tours of duty off Vietnam.

The sailors, who left the ship at Yokosuka, Japan, Oct. 22, are Richard Bailey, 19, of Jacksonville, Fla.; John Barilla 20, of Catonsville, Md.; Michael Linder, 19, of Mount Pocono, Pa., and Craig Anderson, 20, of San Jose, Calif.

The young men arrived in Sweden Friday from Moscow where they had spent six weeks as guests of the Soviet Union. Many sailors about the Intrepid consider the actions of the four young men a "slap in the face," McVey said in an interview.

Ronald Hasche, a crewman who had worked with three of the four he is turning into "scumballs," said Bailey was "too damn smart, from what I heard, I think he's got some lofty ideas in his head which he's turning into scumballs."

Dennis Hardestey, a third class petty officer, said Bailey had told him the Vietnam war was "useless."

"I didn't much care for them their views on the war or on the Navy," said Hardestey.

"They were just dissatisfied with the Navy," said James Kerr, another sailor.

treatment for venereal disease several years ago and were thought to be cured the Journal of the American Medical Association reported Monday.

The report cautioned that the suspect organism in victims' eyes has not definitely been identified as related to venereal disease and investigators are not certain that the organism itself causes blurring and partial loss of vision.

The findings pose serious questions about the treatment of venereal disease, the AMA report said. Penicillin has been the main treatment for syphilis for more than 30 years, the AMA reported. When a person contracts syphilis, tiny organisms spread throughout the body and eventually can be found in the eye.

If syphilis is left untreated blindness can result, according to the AMA.

Sihanouk explained that a short incursion "means a penetration of a few miles."

"But if the Americans did not withdraw and occupied the last bit of our territory ... then we would be forced to war despite the uneven matches of forces," Sihanouk said.

NO SOUTH VIETNAMESE

The Cambodian chief of state emphasized he would never allow South Vietnamese troops to pursue fleeing Communists inside his borders.

"Cambodia will never tolerate under any circumstances, at any price, that the American command in Vietnam send Vietnamese Saigon government forces into its territory," Sihanouk said.

"Should that be the case, all our forces would be sent to meet the attack immediately and the irreparable would be done between the United States and Cambodia," he said.

Sihanouk indicated Cambodia would not go immediately to war with the United States if he thought the American troops had overstayed their welcome in pursuing fleeing Communists.

He said Cambodia would go to war if American troops stayed in Cambodia "even after instructions and political and diplomatic action" failed to make them leave.

Sihanouk indicated he would welcome an American envoy to discuss Cambodia's borders, which have long been the subject of dispute between Phnom Penh and Washington.

RESUME RELATIONS

The Cambodian chief of state reiterated he would be willing to resume diplomatic relations with Washington if the United States would recognize Sihanouk's version of Cambodia's frontiers.

"The United States may or may not recognize our border definition," he said. "It is their business. If they do agree, then there will be a reconciliation between us."

"If they disagree, the sending of a personal representative of President Johnson — whom I admit it, always showed proper regards toward us — will not permit the hoped for reconciliation — explicitly the resumption of diplomatic relations," Sihanouk said.

"But it is considered helpful in reducing the present tension and shy away from the specter of a cruel and unnecessary war between us."

Sihanouk said he did not see how anyone could think a "village" composed of Cambodian people, with a Cambodian mayor, administration and paying taxes to the Cambodian government is Vietnamese."
