Your professional beautician knows the answer.

Can your hair be damaged from brushing, alone?

No, hair damage from brushing alone is not common. However, brushing can lead to damage if done incorrectly. Brushing should be done gently and with the right type of brush to prevent tangles and breakage. Additionally, brushing can help distribute natural oils in the hair, which can improve its appearance and health. The frequency of brushing should be based on the individual's hair type and condition.

Tan Topics

What is the best way to tan safely?

The best way to tan safely is to use sunscreen with at least SPF 15 and to apply it every two hours or after swimming or sweating. It is also important to avoid overly tanning, as this can increase the risk of skin cancer. Wearing protective clothing and seeking shade during peak sun hours can also help prevent sunburn and protect the skin.

American Indians Express Concerns About Tobacco

American Indians express concern about the effects of tobacco on their communities. The Navajo Nation, for example, has seen a rise in smoking rates among its members, with many young people starting to smoke at a young age.
