Turner Declares NAACP Will Not Slow Down In '68

In his annual statement as president of the Memphis Branch NAACP, Jesse H. Turner declared, "The NAACP must not lose sight of its goals."

He said the new year should produce organized protests, supported by Negroes and whites.

His complete statement follows: "1967 has been a year of crises and paradoxes for the Negroes in their fight for first class citizenship."

"Having arrived at the crossroads, they must make a choice of the best means to attain their goal. The courts have ruled that their segregated education has been inferior and that the government must remedy this disgrace; the Congress has passed civil rights laws, supposedly providing equality for Negroes in jobs, education, voting, public accommodations; the President, publicly, has continued to call attention to the inequities and indignities which Negroes are forced to suffer; yet, very little is done to alleviate the conditions of the masses of Negroes, whose plight has become worse."

"The promises of hope for a better day remain empty. Negroes have been told to register and vote; to get better education; to love their enemies; to remain loyal. They have done all of these things; yet their conditions have not improved, noticeably."

So, today, Negroes stand, asking: Where shall we turn now? To rioting and the wanton destruction of property? To "Black Power" with the connotation of "black supremacy"? Or shall we regroup and intensify our efforts by more aggressive and unified methods which have been used in the past to secure limited successes?

"Unfortunately, the history of the country has shown that injustices against large segments of its citizens are not corrected by meek requests but by firm and forceful demands, accompanied by spectacular and aggressive actions. Often, these actions require sufferings and sacrifices; they always require dedicated leaders and followers who have confidence in that leadership."

"Well organized protest, appropriately timed, supported by Negroes and those whites who do not fear becoming 'involved' can and will succeed. The NAACP must not lose sight of its goals; it must continue relentlessly and vigorously, to fight racial discrimination at every turn, accepting those suggestions and criticisms which are constructive while, courageously, shunning those proposed solutions, even though popular, which create more problems than they solve."

LeMoyne's Magicians close out a long road trip against Clark at Atlanta this Thursday night and will be back in Memphis in time for a second try at Christian Brothers College on Saturday night, Jan. 20. The game will be played at CBS, starting at 8.

College Pays Tribute To Young Hamilton Graduate Who Died With Mother In Twin Shooting

Police declared this week they still have not determined why a 45-year-old warehouse fork lift operator, Floyd Lee Carr, of 3545 Horn Lake Road, took the lives of his 43-year-old wife and 17-year-old daughter, Sunday, Jan. 7.

Mr. Carr has been denied bond and is being held for action by the grand jury.

Mrs. Chesteen Carr and daughter Vivian Ann, were found on the floor of an apartment they occupied at 227 Ingle. Both had been shot through their heads with 22-caliber bullets.

A touching memorial service was conducted Friday morning at LeMoyne for Vivian Ann who was a freshman at the college.

The service was held in the Little Theatre of the Alma C. Hanson Memorial Student Center.

Miss Carr entered LeMoyne last fall after ranking fifth in the 1967 senior class of 397 at Hamilton. She had completed her high school studies in three years.

A vivid description of Miss Carr was given by one of her classmates at Hamilton and LeMoyne, Miss Lois Williams.

With tears streaming down her face, Miss Williams said Miss Carr was "a loving, ambitious and fun-loving friend of mine."

She said teachers at Hamilton described Miss Carr as "a respectful, obedient, A-student who studied hard."

Miss Williams pointed out that Miss Carr wanted very much to become a teacher and quoted her as saying "Lack of money is not going to stop my ambition from growing to its fullest height. Even though I am without money I feel that if I acquire the right training and pass it on to my fellowman, I will have gained all the joys of having money."

With tears streaming down her face, Miss Williams said "I can say that I shall never forget Vivian. The warm, jolly air that enfolded her wherever she went can never escape my memory. Always filled with jokes, laughter and fun, Vivian never seemed to have a dull moment."

Dr. Edward Ouellette, a member of the LeMoyne faculty, presided at the memorial service. Other LeMoyne faculty on program were Dr. John Charles Mickle and David Dickbernd.

Other students participating were Robert Reed and Mrs. Brenda Sawyer Bell.

Funeral service for the mother and daughter were held last Sunday afternoon from McKeiver Baptist Church in Sardinia, Miss., with the Rev. Harrison Brown officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery. Southern Funeral Home of Memphis was in charge of arrangements.

Hundreds braved snow and cold weather Saturday night to view the bodies at Southern.

J-U-G-S WILL HOLD NATIONAL MEETING IN MARCH

Fourteenth "Living Ad" Ball Will Again Be Given At The Rivermont.

When founders Josephine Bridges and Sarah Chandler first discussed the idea of sending a club in 1953, little did they realize that in the years to come that their club would become national in scope. Of the eight members who were in the first meeting, three are still very active in J-U-G-S, INC., and one of them, Marie Bradford, has been elected as first president of the organization now active in several large cities.

J-U-G-S, INC. got its name through the suggestion of Mrs. Wesley Groves (the former Miss Helen Ann Hayes who was also in attendance at the first meeting). At this point, the letters stood for "Just Us Girls," in many people's suspected. However, as the members continued to meet, community issues were discussed and debated. Out of these discussions, a need for service to the community was felt, along with the realization that J-U-G-S could do something, however small, to alleviate some of the adverse conditions in the community. This caused the members to give deeper thought to what the letters should stand for and the words for the letters were changed so that they would have deeper meaning.

This, the idea of a ball for charity was borne. Copying the "Living Ad" idea from Les Passeees, which seemed to enjoy so much success in the white community, J-U-G-S staged its first ball at the Flamingo Room. If the skeptics were surprised at the success of the ball, you can imagine the surprise and elation of the members who had suffered "first-time" apprehensions, too. That night the club was able to contribute $300.00 to aid mentally retarded children. This amount was, and still is, a healthy contribution to charity.

J-U-G-S, Inc. has enjoyed tremendous success, which has served as one of the many reasons for them to keep on working. They have aided unnumerable charities, some of which include Les Passeees Treatment Center, Zuber-Brynum Council, Easter Seal Society, Family Services, St. Jude's Research Hospital, and many others. More than thirty thousand ($30,000.00) dollars has been contributed to various charities as a result of their efforts.

This year, the idea of providing a swimming pool for Goodwill Homes was suggested and enthusiastically endorsed by J-U-G-S and whose connected with Goodwill Homes.

Members of J-U-G-S are aware that the largest single contribution they have made to charity is $30,000.00. Upon checking the price of swimming pools, it was learned that a first quality pool more than doubles that amount.

Rather than become discouraged or drop that specific project as too difficult, members are determined to work harder than ever to make the dream of a swimming pool possible for these unfortunate children. If proceeds from this, the 14th annual charity ball do not come up to this amount, the money will be held in escrow until the entire amount can be obtained from ensuing charity balls.

JUG Members are the first to praise that the success that they have enjoyed in the past is due to the generosity and charitable spirit of their many friends and supporters who yearly make a contribution to charity by their patronage and those who attend J-U-G-S Annual Ball.

Mr. A. C. Williams, a staunch and supporter of J-U-G-S, will again give his support and talent with the satisfaction of knowing that he is helping others as he has done in the past.

Today, Josephine Bridges, Sarah Chandler and Marie Bradford look with pride and gratitude upon the accomplishments of J-U-G-S. When they think of the support they have given in the past and hope that you will continue to help this year when the Ball is given at Rivermont during the week of a National Meeting that will bring J-U-G-S from all over the nation where there are chapters (as far east as Washington, D. C. They are joined by Hester Miller, Ann Nelson, Helen Cooks, Pearl Gordon, Nedra Smith, Gerri Little, Norma Griffin, Joan Johnson, and Debra Lewis who all invite you to attend their 14th Annual Charity Ball, Friday, March 29 in Holiday Hall at the Holiday Inn Rivermont, Memphis' prettiest spot.

Mrs. Meritis Ewell was hostess to members of the Compatibles Bridge Club Members at her lovely Marjorie Street home last week for the December meeting.

Table decor was in keeping with the theme of Christmas with a beautiful center piece made by the talented little hostess. Meritis served a delicious turkey dinner with all the trimmings and members were especially impressed with the pink frozen "holiday salad" that was also Meritis' own creation.

Bridge prizes were won by Jean Harvey, Joyce Springfield and Earline Moley, guests of the evening. Club prizes were won by Lulah Redgeman, June Latting and Wilma Haley respectively.

Another guest of the evening was Marie Bradford. Other members who enjoyed the festive evening were Grace Donaldson Brown, Frankie Gregory, Wilma Haley, Lillian Hammond, Gwen McEwen Smith, Dorothy T. Alley, Nellie Trotter, Arnette Vangel, Helen Whatum, their reporter and Annette Young.

MRS. ELIZABETH BUTLER LATTING IS BURIED IN HELENA, ARKANSAS

The prominent Mrs. Elizabeth Butler Latting, wife of Mr. Mark Latting, Sr., a planer and leading citizen of Helena, Arkansas, passed away in her sleep at the home of her son, Atty. A. A. Latting, in Memphis, on Tuesday, January 8th, at 5:00 a. m. At her bed side was her daughter, Mrs. Jean Latting Bailey and her son, Atty. A. A. Latting.

Mrs. Latting was borne in Holly Grove, Arkansas, approximately 85 years ago. Her parents died when she was a small child, and she was reared in Helena, Arkansas, in the home of the Bennett family.

When she was 23 years of age, Mrs. Latting was married to Mr. Mark Latting in Helena, and of said union, three children were born, namely, Mark Miller Latting, a Retired Naval Officer, Augustus Asis Latting, a prominent and leading attorney and Civil Service Commissioner of Memphis who is known throughout the nation for his efficiency and Jean Latting Bealey, a teacher in the Public School System of Chicago.

Mrs. Latting had been a member of Carter Chapel A. M. E. Church for over 50 years, and despite her long illness, she contributed to the work and program of the church. Her life was dedicated to the rearing and education of her children, and through her efforts and sacrifice, her son, Mark Miller Latting, graduated from Tennessee State University with a major in automobile engineering, another son A. A. Latting, graduated from Fisk University and Northwestern University Law School, and her daughter, Jean Latting Bailey, graduated from Oberlin Conservatory of Music with a degree of Bachelor of Music Education and from Chicago Musical College with a Master's degree in Music Education.

Also surviving Mrs. Latting are four grand children, Arlys Augustus Latting, a graduate of Fisk University and Detroit University who is now Assistant Chairman of Tel. State Bank of Memphis. Jean Elizabeth Latting, a graduate of Oakwood at Pikesville, New York and Douglas College (sister school of Rutgers University) now a social worker in New York City and Judith Lynn Latting, a high school senior in Houston, Texas and Elizabeth Jean Latting, a high school junior of Helen and many friends and relative who mourn her passing. The last rites were Saturday at 11 a. m. at Mrs. Latting's church in Helena with R. S. Lewis Funeral Home of Memphis in charge, assisted by the Jordan Funeral Home of Helena.

Scores of friends and business associates went to the Latting home in Memphis with many driving over for the funeral service. The many flowers and friends who went showed the esteem in which the lovely little deceased lady and her family are held with calls and flowers coming from all over the nation.

MRS. FENESS BRIGHT BRODY RECEIVES PH.D. DEGREE

GOT FANTASY

The cute and very beautiful MRS. QUINTON GOODWIN (Mercedra), a prominent Chicago matron, came to Memphis last week and showed her "CAT of the Year" at a CAT Show at Hotel King Cotton. The Cats, of rare species were bought by a price far over a thousand dollars and she is the only member of her race registered for Cat Showings in the United States and Canada where she travels every week. However, Mercedra (who has a Spanish look) and is of Spanish decent is married to a prominent Chicago lawyer who plans to run for the Judgeship soon and she was recently appointed principal of a Chicago School in a middle class white neighborhood. She is the daughter of Dr. Bernys De Preatus of Chicago who is well known here. The minute she arrived in Memphis, Mrs. Goodwin called Mrs. Edna Swinger, her mother's close friend whom I also know well on Saturday evening she was guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. Maceo Walker in the cabana that overlooks the swimming pool (where snow was piled up. "CANDY" Walker, the Walker's young daughter, attended three Cat Shows with Mrs. Goodwin on Sunday and was thoroughly fascinated. In fact we learned that the cat fantasy is fantastic. After Edna was ill, I picked her up at the King Cotton and learned much about these rare species (one sent her by her father from Spain).

MRS. GADISON COMPLIMENTS MRS. WESTBROOK AT CHAMPAGNE BRUNCH

The unusual thing about the party given Jan. 9 at 2 p.m. at Holiday Inn on the Bluff is the fact that Mrs. Joe Westbrook (Dorothy) will leave the States Monday of next week for Guatemala City where she has been chosen by the Memphis City Board of Education as an Exchange Teacher along with several others whose names we do not have at the time of this writing.

The brunch was given by Mrs. Ruby Gadison, a close friend, and the event attracted a number of friends in spite of the rain and cold weather.

A private room on the sixth floor was the scene for a colorful event. Tables were arranged into the shape of "U." They were overlaid with white cloths topped by red ones and centered with beautiful vivid colored azaleas flown in from Belgium and greenery was pine roping. Huge Christmas candles were also spaced on all three of the tables.

Seated at the front table was Mrs. Westbrook's tall handsome husband who is secondary supervisor in the Memphis School System his mother, Mrs. J. N. Westbrook Sr. of California and Mrs. Gadison who wore a smart beige knit that featured a black blouse with an accordion pleated skirt and a black underblouse. The honoree wore a handsome lip stick red knit suit.

Pink champagne was served early and all through the meal. Among the guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Thompson (Mrs. Westbrook's principal at Carver High School) Mr. and Mrs. Hanibal Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Booth (a city principal) Mr. and Mrs. Marion Harris, Mr. and Mrs. George Toles, Mr. and Mrs. Ike Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Batts (she a city principal) and Dr. Theophilus Roberts, pathologist at Harlem Hospital and a professor at Columbia University. Incidentally Dr. Roberts is a Memphis and a LeMoyne graduate. While here he was entertained at the University of Tennessee by their Dean of the Medical School. He is just back from a trip "around the world."

And plans to do research in South America this winter at which time he will stop in on Mrs. Westbrook at Guatemala, an old friend.

Ruby brought her TV for the men to see the games. Mostly Indians and Mestizos live in Guatemala.

that you've given your family everything loving care and foresight can provide, EXCEPT THIS ONE THING?

You've given your loved ones every luxury you can afford. You've sought to shield them against any and all of life's hardships and misfortunes. You've made a will and taken life insurance to protect them should anything happen to you. But have you taken the One Step to make sure that, should you be taken from your family, your wife and children will not be faced with one of life's grimmest and most distressing tasks, of such a time — the selection of a burial place?

REMEMBER!

There are only two ways to arrange for Burial Protection — ONE when you are healthy and happy and you and your wife can make the selection together — as you have made so many of life's important decisions — THE OTHER, to wait until an emergency strikes, and leaves the decision to your wife (This happens in two out of three cases) on the worst day of her life.

Vote For Gold.

The recent devaluation of the British pound and the resulting financial and economic reverberations throughout the world have revealed a highly significant fact, at least as far as the layman is concerned. Despite all the rhetoric about the obsolescence of gold as a monetary base, it has suddenly become very much in demand. Perhaps the words of the late George Bernard Shaw, who is renowned as a playwright rather than as an economist, may explain the sudden new respect for gold. He said, "the most important thing about money is to maintain its stability."

"With paper money, this stability has to be maintained by the government. With a gold currency, it tends to maintain itself even when the natural supply of gold is increased by discoveries of new deposits, because of the curious fact that the demand for gold in the world is practically infinite."

"You have to choose — as a voter — between trusting to the stability of gold and the natural stability of the honesty and intelligence of the members of the government. And, with due respect for these gentlemen, I advise you, as long as the capitalist system lasts, to vote for gold."

Timely Action

U.S. Atty. General Ramsey Clark has recently told President Lyndon Johnson that his Department of Justice is establishing a computerized intelligence unit to cope with increasing civil unrest.

In a memo recently Atty. Gen. Clark declared that "extremist activities designed to foment civil disobedience, demonstrations, riots and rebellion in urban ghettos" represented the department's most difficult intelligence problem.

During recent years this riot issue has spread and increased in intensity, but mostly in northern areas.

We see no possible net good results from these riots for our people or anyone, so we urge our leaders in all cities — South and North — to give due concern to this problem and work to prevent further domestic disorder.

We are glad to see the U.S. Department of Justice making plans now to do what it can to prevent or keep to a minimum any possible disorder this year.

The maintenance of law and order with justice is a desired goal which will benefit all citizens.

Squibb Prices

George S. Squibb, great grandson of the founder of E. R. Squibb and Sons, has enlightened a Senate committee with an insider's view of how drug manufacturers price and sell their products. His testimony before elected officials is in the finest American and free-enterprise tradition.

In brief, Squibb believes the major pharmaceutical manufacturers, by their current practices, will force the federal government to regulate the industry — as a public service industry. He explains how the firms (he has thirty years' experience) maintain two prices — one for patients whose drugs are prescribed by doctors and one for institutional buyers who know what prices should be.

Squibb reveals that the companies maintain high and rigid prices in the private market, enabled to do so by existing patent laws which, in effect, bar competition for a long period. Doctors, some owning interests in pharmacies, have little time to bother with prices — and some profit handsomely from prescribing excessively-priced pharmaceutical products from firms they own or partly own.

In other articles and editorials in recent days many examples in which the price of a product is now being sold in some areas for ten or fifteen times what it brings in others, and in foreign countries, have been brought to light.

One is inclined to agree with Squibb that the industry will either promptly be regulated by itself, or permanently by Congress.

If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

don't Capital where Miss Roberta has held several top government positions . . . since her eminent father's death. We asked them out to dinner. They were at Holiday Inn as usual.

THURSDAY we peeped in on Mr. and Mrs. Maceo Walker (Your Columnist and the Robert Lewises). There we ran into Tony Walker's pretty guests, Miss Leslie Word, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Parker Word who often visit Memphis. Miss Word is a student at Boston U. . . Antonio Walker Jr. is a senior at Fisk U. . . and did they look cute together. Tony was sporting a new black Mustang, a Christmas gift from his parents . . . and Candy, keeping right up with them was real cute.

Driving in last week end in his new Mustang with his pretty wife and baby was WALTER HALL, son of Mr. and Mrs. "Bill" Weathers.

MISS CAROL SPRINGER was home from Washington, D. C. where she is in Social Service work for the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Springer.

THE DANCY-HOOKS-ARNOLD HOMES were lively spots. Coming home for Christmas with the three families were MR. and MRS. CHARLES WALLACE and their five youngsters (she, the former little Anita Dancy) and DR. and MRS. LAWRENCE SEYMOUR and their two babies (she the former Janet Arnold). Also here was Mrs. Julia Hooks Gordon, sister to Judge B. L. Hooks.

MRS. ESTHER WASHINGTON WILLIAMS was home from New York for Christmas with her mother, Mrs. Dave Washington on Elston Road.

YOUNG DR. and MRS. LEWIS HAROLD TWIGG JR. came in early with their baby son from Flint, Mich. for the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Twigg Sr. (the president of the Union Protective Insurance Co.

A pretty Toronto matron, the former Miss Lucy Porter was home from Canada with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Porter on Edith . . . and for sure Lucy is good to look at.

MR. and MRS. CHARLES TARP-LEY are a bit sad . . . and rightly so. Their young son, Joey Williams recently commissioned Warrant Officer and helicopter pilot left Memphis Dec. 29 for San Francisco enroute to Viet Nam. "Joey" was formerly stationed at Ft. Rucker, Ala. where he was commissioned. Before leaving the states he visited relatives at Jackson, Miss., Chicago, Detroit, Boston and Houston . . . after which his parents had a party with the college group asked in on the night of Dec. 28, just before he left.

MRS. ANN BARTHOLOMEW HARRIS was all a glitter while home from Iowa State where she works toward the doctorate. She is the pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Coffey Bartholomew.

MISS ELEANOR ADDISON was home from Chicago where she teaches for the holidays with her mother . . . and was seen around with her date, Mr. George Cox.

DR. AND MRS. ROBERT THARPE had as their house guests during the holidays their mother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Eaton (he, arranger for the Ramsey Lewis Trio in Chicago).

DR. FELTON EARLS JR., son of Mr. and Mrs. Felton Harris Sr. and a recent Howard University Medical School graduate, was home for Christmas. Young Dr. Earls is now doing an internship at the University of Wisconsin. Mr. Earls Sr. has a top position at the Main Post Office. Having been sent here several years ago, the Earls have endeared themselves to Memphians.

MRS. J. A. HAYES (Rosalind) had as her house guest last week her sister, MRS. B. W. HARRINGTON (Vivian) who is a beautiful and very soft spoken person. Mr. Harrington, principal of a Chattanooga school, is very well known in Memphis.

MRS. EDNA TAYLOR, the affable mother of Dr. Ike Watson, has returned to her home in Cleveland after her usual New Year's visit with Dr. and Mrs. Watson who usually have their family dinner at that time. This year it was unusually pretty in their Oriental setting with both families and a few close-by friends asked in. Mrs. Taylor was her usual gracious soft mannered self. She wore gold lame and orange hostess pajamas. Out at the Holiday Inn affairs her full length mink coat was the center of attention. Mrs. Taylor recently traveled through Europe.

The large crowd of friends who attended the funeral services of MR. E. A. TEAGUE at T. H. Hayes and Sons Funeral Home Christmas week proved the type of life that he had lived . . . giving service to his community and serving as assistant principal at Manassas for 47 years. Mr. Teague was characterized by his ready smile and quiet manner. He also taught Latin and was loved by all of his students and the teachers throughout the city.

The big little man, who was easy to get along with, came from a line of educators. I personally felt his passing very keenly having worked with him and he was in school with my late mother.

His father, who was founder of a small college at Holly Springs, and my late grandfather were two of the first Negroes to buy farms in the Collierville area soon after the Civil War . . . and the Teague

Subject: "STATE OF THE UNION"
Text: "Watchman, What of the Night?" — Isa. 21:11.
Annually, our National President delivers a message, titled, "State of the Union."

May we Christians meditate upon the state of our union and ourselves.

We are living in the greatest country in the world . . . a rich country, a country prosperous, a beautiful country whose mountains embosom gold and silver, copper and iron, zinc and coal. Her seams are pregnant with natural gas. In her veins are oceans of oil. Her hills are studded with virgin timber. Her fields wave with amber grain and fleecy white gold. Her cattle graze on a thousand hills. Her great cities teem with millions of souls. Her inventions are legion . . . more telephones, automobiles, televisions . . . more modern conveniences than all Europe and Asia and Africa combined. Her churches and school dot very hamlet. Her army and navy are great.

But with all this we are reminded of the song of Moses, Deut. 82.

"God made Israel ride on the high places of the earth that Israel might eat the increase of the fields, and he made Israel to suck honey out of rocks and oil out of flinty rocks. Butter of the cow and milk of the sheep, with fat of the lambs, kidneys of wheat, etc. But Israel waxed fat and kicked, covered with fatness. Then, Israel forsook God who made Israel. Israel provoked God to anger." Then said God, "I will hide my face from Israel. I will spend my arrows on Israel. Israel shall be burned with hunger and devoured with destruction . . . from the sucking babe to the gray-haired man."

America, what of the night? Truly a fat country, a garden spot where the pauper may become a millionaire, the illiterate a Ph.D. America has waxed fat. She has eaten high on the hog. Has America forsaken God? Watchman, what of the night? There are sombre clouds of selfishness, discrimination, prejudice, coupled with the international fogs of Russia, Cuba and Vietnam where our boys are dying, produce a blackness as black as the blackest night.

farm joined the one owned by my family (one that I still have and cherish). His mother was also a school teacher. It was this little school in Holly Springs that my uncles attended. It was about them that Mr. Teague continued to attend church among his childhood friends. It was significant that it was his childhood friend, Rev. A. L. McCargo who also hails from the Collierville-Olive Branch area) gave the Eulogy. Mr. Teague's main virtue was his ability to get along with people from all walks of life.

MEMPHIANS were also shocked over the passing away of another prominent Memphian, MR. WARREN GRIFFIN SR., whose useful life and that of his offsprings stands out in Memphis and all over. Mr. Griffin was a Railway Mail Clerk (an unusual position in those days . . . and was a civic and church leader . . . serving as secretary of St. Andrews AME Church for many years. Coming to Memphis before he passed away at a Memphis hospital was a son, "Jim" Griffin Jr., a Washington, D. C. Counselor in the school system and a daughter, Mrs. Anna G. Morton who is married to a prominent Rochelle, N. Y. physician. Services were at the R.S. Lewis Funeral Home.

The family altars have been overthrown; in their places are private bars. The comics have displaced the Bible. Yes, it is night time. When will this night time depart? Except America repents, it may be God will use the pagan countries as a mighty whip to be laid on our backs.

The white man is guilty. Negroes are guilty. Too many of us hate white people and don't love Negroes. Listen to Jonah as he cries, "Repent." Listen to Jeremiah crying, "Return, you backsliding children."

"Listen to the Lamb of God. 'Except you repent, you shall all perish.' America, don't go the way of Greece who fell to be a 'moulded crust in the garbage can of history.' . . . Rome who forgot God and became a 'mouthful of rotten teeth.' . . . Egypt, who fell to a state of a 'shabby section of a grave yard.' . . . Spain, a drowsy beggar watching a broken clock."

God calls for us to build a better America in 1968. I reply, God, America is so big, so complicated, so ensnared in selfishness and prejudice and I am so little. God repudiate, "Then build a better you."

This we can all do — build a better you.

$100 Million Released For Public Works

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The government Monday released up to $100 million in public works construction funds that were held up last year to ease inflationary pressures on the economy.

The total included $65,999,000 to be used by the U. S. Corps of Engineers. The rest, allocated to the Bureau of Reclamation, was expected to bring the total to between $80 and $100 million, officials said.

The spending embargo was ordered by President Johnson Oct. 5. It affected funds for flood control, dams, beach erosion and water reclamation projects.

There was no breakdown on the number or projects or where they are located.

A spokesman said the Corps of Reclamation money represented three contract levels: $19,374,000 for contracts and work that was to have been advertised between Oct. 5 and Oct. 30; $25,999,000 for bids on work

Atlanta Negro Women Support Jeanette Rankin Peace Brigade

ATLANTA, Ga. — (SNS) — A group of prominent Negro women in Atlanta have begun to organize for unity among black women in support of world peace efforts, including the Jeanette Rankin Bridge, which will hold a peace demonstration in Washington, D. C. on Jan. 15.

Some of the Negro women plan to go with other women to Washington, where a mass gathering of women for peace will join Miss Rankin in a march to Congress and meetings with congressional leaders in which they will demand an end to the war in Vietnam. Miss Rankin was the first woman elected to Congress and cast her first vote as a U. S. Representative against World War I.

In a statement issued today, the black women of Atlanta said: "It is time for black women throughout this nation to unite in a determined effort to oppose the rapidly growing American involvement in a vicious and unjust war in Vietnam."

"We who have worked so hard for freedom for our people in America must do everything possible to stop this war which is draining away the lives of our young men and deepening the problems of poverty and racism. One action we support is the Jeanette Rankin Brigade march for Peace in Washington, Jan. 15-16."

The Atlanta group praised a similar group of black women in Harlem and agreed with Miss Ruby Dee, the noted stage and TV actress, who has said as spokesman for the Harlem group: "Negro mothers must become involved in working to end the war in Vietnam because their sons represent 22 per cent of the dead, of the 'bread'."

The Negro volunteers for the army at a greater rate and enlist for longer stints because opportunity in the army for equality and jobs is greater than in civilian life—what a terrible tragedy for our democracy!"

The Atlanta group urged black women in all other communities to unite in similar local groups against the war.

Mrs. Martin Luther King, Jr., a national co-chairman of the Jeanette Rankin Brigade and member of the Atlanta group of Negro women, said she is contacting other Negro women around the nation about the anti-war campaign.

She added that "the women of America can and should now come together to build a powerful force against this tragic war in Vietnam."

"The American military machine in sending fine young black and white men to kill and be killed without any justification, and at the same time the American political and economic system is neglecting the millions of poverty-stricken families of these same young men. Mrs. King said.

"I believe that Negro and white servicemen should be fighting racism and poverty at home, and that we women must work to bring them home."

She added, "It is just as important for us to march for peace in Washington as it was to march for freedom in Montgomery, Alabama, and so many other places in the course of the civil rights movement. Peace and Freedom are inseparable goals. War and oppression are inseparable evils."

The Atlanta black women who endorsed today's statement include:

Mrs. Martin Luther King, Jr., Mrs. Benjamin E. Mays, Mrs. Xernona Clayton, Miss Bernice Reason, Mrs. Hosea Williams, Mrs. Howard Creech, Mrs. Horace Mann Bond, Mrs. Christine Parra, Mrs. Frances Allison, Mrs. Laura Brown, Miss Jean Jackson, Mrs. Brig Cade, Miss Linda Housch, Miss June Wall, Miss Ruth Mason, Mrs. Lillie Hunter, Mrs. Dorothy Lockhart, Mrs. Ralph D. Abernathy, Mrs. Rosemary Harding, Mrs. Andrew J. Young, Mrs. Dorothy Cotton, Mrs. Martin Luther King, Jr., Dr. Elsie Edmondson, Mrs. B. H. Dorsey, Mrs. Harriet Adams, Mrs. Gertrude E. Anderson, Miss John Billingsley, Mrs. J. W. E. Brown, Miss Dora McDonald, Miss Thelma Hill, Miss Addie Hinson, Mrs. Polly Lyman, Miss Charlotte Mathew, Miss Ruth Hapton.

The Wall Did Not Come Tumbling Down

WARNER ROBINS, Ga. — (UPI) — More than 1,000 persons paraded around City Hall seven times "like the Hebrews did around the walls of Jerico" in an unsuccessful attempt Monday night to get a new beer and wine law revoked.

"This is a spiritual battle between the devil's crowd and God's children," said one of the protesters who led the protesters.

The protest was against a City Council ordinance allowing recently-annexed areas of Warner Robins to sell beer and wine in taverns. The rest of the town, site of a big Air Force base, is dry.

Carrying signs reading "March for Righteousness" and "Protect Our Youth," the demonstrators marched around City Hall while the council was meeting. Then they waited on the City Hall lawn in 31-degree weather to see if the council would revoke the ordinance. It did not.

"The council had already taken action," said Mayor Roger Davis. "The council did not change its mind."

But the demonstrators apparently do not intend to quit.

"It's time for the children of God to come out of hiding and stand up for righteousness," said the Rev. B. S. Webber, pastor of the Southside Church of God, who

'Half Truths' Charges Cast At Johnson Era

PHOENIX, Ariz. UPI — Publisher John S. Knight charged Saturday the Johnson administration "has resorted to distortions of fact and half-truths of history" during the Vietnam war.

Knight, publisher of the Detroit Free Press and head of Knight Newspapers, Inc., made the comment in a speech accepting the annual John Peter Zenger Freedom of the Press award given annually by the University of Arizona.

Calling for a "more aroused press" in guarding the people's right to know, Knight said the President "forgets his responsibility to the people" who elected him.

"He owes them an honest accounting of his stewardship," Knight said.

"It is one thing to hide vital facts which Hanoi, Peking or the Viet Cong don't know and another thing entirely to misinform the people when it serves no security purpose," he said.

"And it is totally inexcusable to lie to the people about matters which are of their utmost concern and about which the enemy already knows the full truth."

"Yet the hard fact is that in trying to put itself in the best possible light, this administration has resorted to distortions of fact and half-truths of history," said Knight.

He said that, as an example, the President "is fond of alluding to the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, which included South Vietnam as a protocol state, as a 'solemn commitment'."

"Yet" Knight said, "the treaty required the parties thereto to refrain . . . from the threat or use of force in any manner inconsistent with the purposes of the United Nations." The United States is in violation of that requirement.

Safeguards To Protect Fairness Issued By VA

New safeguards to assure nondiscrimination in the sale of houses repossessed by the Veterans Administration became effective this month, according to William J. Driver, Administrator of Veterans Affairs.

All sales brokers who receive listings from the VA are now asked to certify or re-certify that they in no manner discriminate in the sale or rental of VA properties. This was the first general certification since 1962, and covers all sales brokers who have entered the program since that date.

Brokers who refuse the certification receive no more listings. Brokers entering the VA program for the first time are now required to file nondiscrimination certifications before they receive any listings.

Another move requires property management brokers to file semi-annual certifications of nondiscrimination. These formerly were required only once a year.

Still another change provides that all offers submitted for the purchase of VA properties be held for three days after public listing as a safeguard against possible preferential treatment, before acceptance of the offer which is most advantageous to the Government.

Several new requirements are involved in the advertising of VA properties. The metal VA "For Sale" signs used at the properties are being altered to include the statements, "No discrimination," "Anyone can buy."

All VA offices are now required to include the following statement in all original and re-run listings of properties for sale:

"VA properties are available to qualified buyers or renters without regard to their race, color, creed or national origin."

A similar statement is included in any media used for listing properties, and appears on placards and in all VA communications to the public regarding sale or rental of properties.

Every advertisement relating to VA owned property — whether placed by the VA or a broker — includes the statement, "VA sells its properties without discrimination."

VA now has on hand about 14,200 houses.

16 Fellow Poets, Friends Claim LeRoi Jones Was "Railroaded"

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Sixteen fellow poets and friends of LeRoi Jones charged that the Negro poet-playwright was railroaded to jail on "phony" gun-carrying charges because of his revolutionary writing.

In a statement issued by the Committee on Poetry, the poets said they believed "that the police beat Jones up and then had to find a reason, thus found phony guns."

The poets, including Allen Ginsberg, Gregory Corso, Lawrence Ferlinghetti, Denise Levertov, Robert Creeley and Charles Olson, called on U.S. and European intellectuals to join in defense of Jones, who faces a two and a half year prison sentence and $10,000 fine. He is free in $25,000 bail at present pending appeal.

Jones, author of the plays "Dutchman," "The Slave" and "The Toilet" — all dealing with conflict between the races — was arrested with two other men during the riots in Newark, N.J., last July. Police said they found no weapons in their car.

Jones denied the charge and claimed he was beaten by police and lost several teeth but was convicted with the other two by an all white jury of illegal possession of the revolvers.

The poets noted that before sentencing Jones to virtually the maximum term Jan. 4, Essex County Judge Leon Kapp read the court "Black People," a poem by Jones. They quoted the judge as saying the poem was a "diabolical prescription to commit murder and steal and loot."

"LeRoi Jones," the poets said, "is not only a black man, a New York man, a revolutionary, he is a conspicuous American artist imprisoned for his poetry during a crisis of authoritarianism in these states."

Other signers of the statement were John Ashbery, Diane Di Prima, Robert Duncan, Kenneth Koch, Michael McClure, Joel Oppenheimer, Peter Orlovsky, Gil Sorentino, Philip Whalen and John Wieners.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK Looking Back to 1868

2-D in a series to continue through the year that could be accounted as 100th anniversary of the opening of the Plastic Era in industrial chemistry. For it was in 1868 that John Wesley Hyatt brought forth a revolutionary, successful synthetic material.

John Hyatt had started tinkering and inventing while working as a printer. He alone or with his brother Isaiah obtained patents on a tool-sharpener; method of filtering impure water for domestic use; machine capable of sewing 50 rows of lock-stitches in one movement; apparatus for cold rolling of iron rods for shafting, and over 200 other devices. Only one, the roller-bearing had an impact in industry comparable to the discovery made in consequence of a search for a substitute for ivory in billiard and bowling balls. (Imports of ivory had been reduced severely by the Civil War, and a prize had been offered for a substitute.)

The resultant patent, No. 105,338, described a method of "Treating and Molding Pyroxyline," that is, combining cellulose (the chief constituent of wood) with nitric acid to form a new substance flexible, semi-transparent, and waterproof. It became better known under the name of Celluloid, on which a trademark was obtained for collars, cuffs, shirtfronts. Many applications were found.

After a method of molding a continuous strip was perfected, it was adapted by George Eastman to photographic strip-films. This in turn fostered Thos. A. Edison's motion-picture machine.

Pitney Bowes Stress Costs Of Postage In New Year

STAMFORD, Conn. — If you're in business, your postage bill for 1968 may be as much as 20 or 25 per cent higher than last year's, because of the increased postal rates in effect Jan. 1. (Your personal postage bill is increasing that much, too.)

Is there any way you can offset this increase in postage? The postal consultants at Pitney-Bowes, the postage meter and business machines company, think so, and they suggest four good mailing rules to follow. In addition, these consultants (1,170 Pitney-Bowes U.S. salesmen) are ready to provide their free postal counseling service to any businessman requesting it. The counseling is based on the company's 47 years of experience in mailroom and postal procedures.

The four rules for mailers (examples follow) are:

1. Choose the rate that gives you maximum value for your postage.

2. Use only the postal service you actually need.

3. Pay the exact, correct postage for the class of mail and kind of material being sent.

4. Wrap and address parcels properly.

A collection of these and other postal economy ideas is available in a free booklet, "99 Timely Mailing Tips," from Pitney-Bowes, Inc., Stamford, Conn., 06904, or any PB office.

Here are some sample ways of using these rules.

Rule No. 1. Choose the rate that gives you maximum value for your postage.

Combine 30 letters to the same address in one envelope, as when sending two 7-ounce letters airmail; separately, they'll cost you 70 cents each, together they'll go for 80 cents, a saving of 60 cents. Get air mail service for first class letters weighing from 14 to 16 ounces; it's the same 80-cent charge for both services in that range.

Because the single-piece, third class rate is 6 cents for the first two ounces, third class mail which weighs under one ounce can be sent first class for the same 6-cent postage.

When mailing a parcel, does it qualify for the special rate for books, film, manuscripts, etc., or the special library rate? You can mail it for as little as 12 cents or 6 cents, if it does.

Rule No. 2. Use only the postal service you actually need.

When mailing a letter over the weekend, don't pay air mail postage if it's going only a few hundred miles; it will get there Monday by first class, too. Do you use special delivery service to a class mail? Test two letters, sending one each way; they'll both get there the next morning, and perhaps the regular carrier will deliver the first class letter before the special carrier reaches the destination on his scheduled route. For parcels, self-insurance or commercial insurance may be cheaper or less time-consuming than postal insurance.

Rule No. 3. Pay the exact, correct postage for the class of mail and kind of material being sent.

If you use gummed stamps, a large assortment always on hand, so you won't have to put a 10-cent stamp on a first class letter when you run out of 6-cent stamps. Better yet, use a postage meter, which gives you the option of printing any denomination you want in one meter-stamp, up to as much as $10.00. Use an accurate, precise postal scale to weigh letters and parcels; at the new higher postage rates, every overpayment will cost you more. And any underpayment created ill-will on the part of the person receiving your "postage due" mail.

If you are charged postage on merchandise parcels sent to you, weigh them on that accurate scale, to make sure you are not being overcharged. Keep a complete set of postage rates handy, to avoid mistakes; Pitney-Bowes offers a free postal rate chart for wall or desk.

Rule No. 4. Wrap and address parcels properly.

A properly prepared parcel will be delivered without delay, making for a happier customer and quicker return of any payment. Fragile contents can be protected with proper material and the parcel marked "fragile" for safer handling. Label the parcel with stickers or large printing if it is to get special services or go other than fourth class. Place only one address label on the outside, to avoid confusion, and place a duplicate label inside in case the outer one is lost. Always include the ZIP Code in the typed address or on the address-printer plate and add the parcel post zone, too, so your mail clerk can quickly select the correct postage.

In sum, postage economies can best be achieved by knowing the postage rates, selecting the most appropriate postal service and doing all you can to get your mail prepared, addressed, labeled and deposited properly.

Motorcyclists seek to improve their image.

Humphrey Condemns Racial Policies In South Africa

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia — In a strongly worded speech before the Organization of African Unity on Saturday, Jan. 6, Vice President Hubert Humphrey condemned the racial policies and practices of Southern Africa.

The Vice President addressed the African leaders after a morning meeting with Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie I.

In his speech, Mr. Humphrey said, "We supported majority rule, human rights and self-determination throughout the world. We will not abandon them in the Southern-south of Africa."

"That commitment dictated our response when a white minority regime seized power in Rhodesia. We strongly condemned that action, refused to recognize the regime and joined with others in the imposition of voluntary economic sanctions."

Speaking in a firm voice, the Vice President said: "When stronger measures were required, we gave full support to the UN policy of mandatory economic sanctions against the illegal regime in South Africa."

"No country in the world has recognized the small minority which denies to the great majority of the Rhodesian population effective participation in the governing process. In the long run, such reactionary behavior cannot succeed either in Southern Rhodesia or in the other parts of Southern Africa where self-determination is still denied."

The Vice President pointed out that on the third anniversary of the OAU, President Johnson set forth America's position by stating: "The foreign policy of the United States is rooted in its life at home. We will not permit human rights to be restricted in our own country, and we will not support policies abroad which are based on the rule of minorities or the discredited notion that men are unequal before the law."

The Vice President also expressed regrets that President Johnson's requests for foreign assistance were reduced last year by the Congress.

"We do not intend to retreat in the face of these reductions," Mr. Humphrey said, "or fall back before those in America who call for new isolationism."

"We intend to take our case before the American people. We intend to let them decide the course we shall follow in the outside world. I know my countrymen. They will not turn away from their responsibility to others, including Africa," Vice President Humphrey said.

Du Pont Company Issue Grants Totalling $187,000

WILMINGTON, Del. — The Du Pont Company's program of aid to education for 1968 includes grants totaling $187,500 for interracial education of which $137,550 is in direct grants to 16 predominantly Negro colleges. The total figure represents an increase of 65 per cent over 1967.

The other $60,000 is being contributed toward various special projects in interracial education. The company is allocating $10,000 for the Faculty Interchange Program of the American Society for Engineering Education which aims to strengthen engineering education in predominantly Negro colleges through faculty interchange with top engineering schools.

Another $25,000 is allocated to the Upward Bound program pioneered at the University of Delaware under a Du Pont grant and subsequently supported also by Federal funds.

A $30,000 contribution will go to a consortium in graduate education in business for Negroes operated by Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind., Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., and the University of Wisconsin, Madison. ## Macy Slayer Suspect Caught

MIAMI, Fla. — Police Saturday charged a 26-year-old journeyman with murder in the robbery-slaying last Sunday of wealthy former tennis star J. H. McEwen.

Daniel R. Chastain of Miami was charged with armed robbery and first degree murder. Others were being sought in the slaying.

Macy, 26, was slain when he reached for a gun after two robbers who had broken into his home began ransacking his wife.

Chastain was the target of the week-long investigation into the slaying and was arrested by a uniformed policeman who stopped his car in a southwest Miami about 9:30 P. M. Friday.

He was officially charged Saturday at an arraignment before Justice of the Peace Ralph Ferguson in the lobby of the Dade County Jail.

Last Sunday night two men battered down the front door of the plush Miami home in south Dade County while Macy and his wife Bary Belle were watching television. The home had been robbed several times in the past.

When the slanders started getting rough with Mrs. Macy, the former tennis pro broke for a pistol in the bedroom shouting you're hurting my wife.

Police found Macy sprawled dead in the bedroom. He had been shot several times. Mrs. Macy, 34, was wounded by a bullet in the chest.

The robbery fled from the home empty handed.

Black Market In Newspapers Reported

SAN FRANCISCO — UPI — A black market reported Saturday as readers of the San Francisco Examiner and Chronicle faced their second weekend without the Sunday newspaper.

A strike by the Mailers Union has halted publication of San Francisco's only two major daily newspapers since Jan. 5.

The Oakland Tribune and other nearby dailies have declined to send more copies into San Francisco than they did before the strike.

The Tribune announced it was trying to stop persons from buying Tribunes in Oakland, selling them in San Francisco "at a premium black market rate."

As a measure to halt unauthorized export of the Tribune to San Francisco, the paper said it would not distribute any of its Sunday edition through coin-operated racks.

No negotiations to end the strike have been held since last Wednesday when they were broken off with the understanding either side could call a meeting.

Wilkins Lauds Record Of Late Judge Waring

NEW YORK — The American people "are immeasurably indebted to" Judge J. Wadsworth Waring for his uncompromising dedication to equal justice under law, NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins said in a telegram of condolence to his widow.

The distinguished South Carolina jurist died here Jan. 11 after a brief illness. He was 67 years old. As United States District Court Judge in South Carolina he handed down two notable decisions which advanced civil rights throughout the country.

First, in 1947, he broke the back of the white Democratic party in the state by ruling that it could not exclude Negroes from participating in the party's primary elections on the claim that it was a private organization limited to whites only.

Judge Waring's 1951 decision declaring segregated public education unconstitutional led to the Supreme Court's historic affirmation of that ruling in the unanimous decision of May 17, 1954.

For his enlightened views and firm decisions Judge Waring and his northern-born wife, equally committed to human rights were ostracized and harassed by the white people of his native Charleston of the entire state, upon his retirement in 1953, he and Mrs. Waring moved to New York City where they continued their interest and activities in civil rights and liberties.

In his telegram to Mrs. Waring, Mr. Wilkins extended on behalf of the officers, members and staff of the NAACP, "heartfelt sympathy." The judge's place in American history is firmly established," he said.

"His landmark decisions in education and voting rights set the country on a new road toward freedom, justice and equality. All who cherish these values will long remember Judge Waring's historic role in bringing them closer to realization for peoples of whatever race, color, faith or national origin."

Another $25,000 is allocated to the Upward Bound program pioneered at the University of Delaware under a Du Pont grant and subsequently supported also by Federal funds.

A $30,000 contribution will go to a consortium in graduate education in business for Negroes operated by Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind., Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., and the University of Wisconsin, Madison. In addition, the company is setting aside $22,000 to fund innovative experiments in interracial education.

There's Gold In Them Thar Dumps

NEW YORK — Need some gold or silver? Try the city dump.

An article in Purchasing Week magazine claims that the Interior Department's Bureau of Mines, looking for ways to use solid wastes, has found as much as $14 worth of silver and gold in a ton of fly ash left after city dumps burn their refuse.

Most of the valuable metals probably come from photographic chemicals and film solder, and plated items such as costume jewelry and flatware.

If economical ways to extract the gold and silver can be developed from the half-million tons of fly ash generated annually it could supply as much as 11 percent of current industrial demand, says Purchasing Week.

What Kind Of Man Is Braves New Manager Luman Harris?

ATLANTA, Ga. — (SNS) — What kind of a man, and a manager, is Luman Harris, the new skipper of the Atlanta Braves?

He is first a family man — three times a father and seven times a grandfather, who will celebrate his 53rd birthday Wednesday. He lives with his wife, Margaret in Birmingham, Ala., where he was born and raised, and where he was pitching amateur baseball in 1937 when Earl Mann, owner of the Atlanta Crackers, signed him to his first professional contract.

Does it have special meaning to him now that he is returning as a big league manager to the city where his long pro career started? "I'd say it has more than just 'special' meaning," he answers. "It's really been a dream of mine to go back to what we call home. Atlanta has always been close to me."

For 21 of the 30 years since "Lum" Harris first arrived in Atlanta to pitch for the Crackers, he has been associated with Paul Richards, now the Braves' Vice-President for Baseball Operations.

It began when they were teammates on the Crackers in 1937. Richards became playing manager the next year and piloted Atlanta to the Southern League pennant. Harris won ten games before he was sidelined by an appendectomy.

In the following two seasons, Luman won 32 games and graduated to the big leagues.

In six years (1941-1946) with the Philadelphia Athletics, Harris pitched for the only manager who would affect his baseball philosophy nearly as much as Richards — Connie Mack.

In 1948, a year away from the end of his playing career, Harris was reunited with Richards at Buffalo in the International League. Richards managed Buffalo to the IL pennant.

When Richards became manager of the Chicago White Sox in 1951, it began a new career for Harris. "He joined us as a batting practice coach," Richards recalls. "Later on he was made the third base coach. He coached third base for me 14 years, at Chicago, Baltimore, and Houston, and he was the best in the big leagues."

Harris' choice for the same job at Atlanta is Jim Busby, a top taserunner for years in the American League, and he rates the position as a very important one.

"About half the time, the third base coach has more to do with winning or losing the ball game than the manager does," Luman says.

His four experiences as a manager have come in the last seven years for Harris. Here is his record:

1964 — Baltimore* 3 17 10
1964 — Houston** 9 5 8
1965 — Houston 9 65 97
1967 — Richmond 1 61 80

His first full season as a manager, then, did not come until 1965. One of his fondest memories is of the Astros' opening game that year. The opponent was New York. Manager Casey Stengel of the Mets greeted him, "You'll do all right," Stengel said. "I know you."

In his second full season as a manager, Harris piloted the Braves top farm team, Richmond, to the IL pennant last summer.

other three fellows in the backfield with you have great reputations. They are named Faith, Hope and Charity. You'll work behind a truly powerful line. End to end. It consists of Honesty, Loyalty, Devotion to Duty, Self-Respect, Study, Cleanliness and Good Behavior."

"The goal posts are the pearly gates of Heaven. God is the Referee and Sole Official. He makes all the rules and there is no appeal from them. There are ten rules. You know them as the Ten Commandments and you play them strictly in accordance with your own religion. There is also an important ground rule. It is — you would that men should to you, do ye also to them likewise."

"Here is the ball. It is your immortal soul. Hold on to it. Now, son get in there and let's see what you can do with it."

Suggesting that the Grambling Braves should like to recruit in Alabama, Dr. Henry mentioned the names of several outstanding local alumni among Alabamians who carved themselves immortal names academically and athletically while attending Grambling.

Outstanding among them, he mentioned the names of Rufus Harris, presently head football coach of A. H. Parker High School, and Julius (Buck) Buchanan, All-Pro tackle with the American Football League's 1966 Champion Kansas City (Mo.) Chiefs.

Of Harris, he said, "He played center for us, was very intelligent, had a social science major and was certified additionally in health and physical education, driver education and water safety."

"Buck Buchanan," Dr. Henry recalled, "was a good student, not as serious as Harris, but was an

At Richmond, he demonstrated that he insists on good defense, he is a skillful handler of pitchers, and he can maintain discipline and still promote morale.

"Hes just a down to earth practical manager, with no frills," says Richards.

Harris says his philosophy of managing, put most simply, is wanting to win.

"At Richmond, I never saw any 'Keeping the players happy and tension on our ball club. We spoke in terms of winning the pennant, not what the other teams were doing."

"We didn't have any of this, 'Well, if so and so had done this or that, we'd have won the ball game. We didn't have it in Richmond, and we won't have it in Atlanta."

Harris says his managing style is "mostly Paul (Richards), but a lot of Connie Mack, too. And I've been influenced by several opposing managers, too."

In general, his style is his own. As Richards says, "Luman doesn't try to copy me. No manager can possibly expect to manage like someone else does."

What are Harris and Richards planning for Spring Training? "Right now I'm talking to Jim Fanning (one of his coaches) and we're trying to put together some statistics on where the ball club was weak last year," the new manager says. "I know one area in which we were weak was base running. With (Felix) Millan and (Sonny) Jackson in there, the base running will improve."

Richards vows, "people thought we did an awful lot of work at Spring Training last year. Well, there's going to be a lot more done this year. I expect Spring Training to be rugged."

academic All-American as a junior, as well as Pittsburgh Courier and NAIA All-American and now All-Pro.

"From Mobile, we have Clarence Powell and Robert Smith who will graduate in January. And we have had Paul Greene, Levi Washington, Fred Marsh, the Siglers, and still have baseball players like Robert Williams currently doing student teaching," Dr. Henry said.

Atty. J. Mason Davis served as toastmaster.

Bernard E. Jackson is program director and banquet coordinator and James W. Bailey Sr. is president of the Grid Forecaster.

Southern University Cagers Pin Grambling Tigers, 93-79

GRAMBLING — Southern University cagers pinned Grambling College tonight in a 93-79 victory over Grambling College in a Saturday night Jaguar all-star game against Junior Wilson and his teammates.

The Loma Jaguar was was to Grambling College by 84-71 in the final of the wintry holiday tournament in Alexandria a week ago.

Wilson continued his assault on the baskets through the second half and walked off the floor with 19 points. High of the game, with Butler getting 13, Stewart and reserve guard Stanley McKain tying with 11 each and Johnson scored 10 points to go with his nine rebounds.

Grambling pulled down 442 rebounds in 37 for the Jaguars, but Southern's overall 55 percent shooting from the floor couldn't be matched by the Tigers.

Grambling Bobby Christian came up with a big 17 point second half output to end up with 26 points. Trevor Howard had 14 for the Tigers and Baton Rouge Freshman Fred Hilton was held to 18 points by Southern's defense. Mind of Jaguars the North Louisiana Tigers were 69-65 victims of Alcorn College in a conference game Wednesday night and are now 0-2 in league play and B-5 overall.

Southern, completes its current road game Monday night when they go to Lorman Miss. for a game with defending conference kinsman Alcorn College.

New Orleans — Once beaten Southern University rode the hot shooting of 48 American candidate Jasper Wilson to a 90-80 triumph over Dillard University here in Lyons Memorial Center Thursday night.

The Jaguar rallied from a 40-38 halftime deficit to carve out their second victory of the season over the new Orleans quintet in what can be a warm up for the Southern with a big SWAC opener with Grambling College tonight at Grambling Saturday night. Four Southern players scored in double digits in the Thursday night win, and the big production came from members of the starting alignment.

Wilson, who started the game with the Dillard Quintet in the first half, but "survived" because of a big team effort in the words of head coach Dick Mack from the opening tip-off. Dillard was off and running as George Johnson pitched a 40-38 lead, and the Blue Devils lead stretched to 7-0 over the Jaguars after a 10-0 over three minutes of play Samuel Butler, Jasper Wilson and freshmen starter Tank Reid piled their fire power to pull Southern to within a field goal of the Dillard quintet after five minutes of play. And it was Reid who rang the bell with a 30-footer to pull Southern into a 40-38 lead one of seven heatmaps in the period Southern felt the wrath of the taller blue devils in the first half of the opening period as they were played constantly by those who and the Jaguars also fell behind the Blue Devils in the first half.

After seven minutes in the second half, Southern had moved from a 40-40 tie with the Blue Devils into a 44-40 lead with 10:00 left in the game it was weaker who started the Jaguar assault with two quick field goals then in the seven minute period of Southern's comeback, the all-American had maddled 10 points. But then Reid, Stewart and Johnson joined forces with Wilson in the Jaguar-rallied comeback, and with nine minutes remaining in the game, Southern led a 62-56 edge on the Blue Devils but all wasn't over for Dillard with 4:06 left in the game they rallied by two points at 74-72 before Reid struck twice from the free throw line to up Southern's advantage to 76-72. Butler fouled out with 55 seconds on the clock with 14 points and Wilson was high point man of the night with 38 points in single game high for the season. Reid and Stewart each had 14 points for Southern while Eugene Clem was up on for the Blue Devils with 22 points.

Dillard's Eugene Johnson missed 13 points and Eric Waters had 18 for the Blue Devils quintet.

Clark Has Best All-Negro Defensive Team In Country

By ALFRED E. JOHNSON

ATLANTA, Ga. — (SNS) — Had you been present in the office of Clark College athletic director Leonard S. Epps Tuesday morning, you would have thought the "pang panther" had just become a millionaire.

Epps, who generally reads his mail with a grimace expression, stumbled upon statistics from the national body (NAIA), basketball ratings that listed Clark seventh in team defense and the only predominantly Negro institution in the country among the top 25-listing.

"Well I'll be darn," spoke Epps in an amazing tone. "We are the only team in the south with a good defense. Wait! There is no other All-Negro team in the country on this list," Epps cracked, checking the list out thoroughly.

The report was the first of the NAIA (released January 19) and included a minimum of six games. Clark, at that time, had played seven games and had allowed opponents to 473 points for a 61.9 average.

Epps said maintain that "to be in shooting 130 points per game and losing, when you can concede on shooting 10 to 20 points and play 50 percent defense, and win."

In the conference, statistics released Monday indicate Clark 19th in team defense, leading down opponents 17 points less than the second defensive team Clark with a 67.8 less than that of Lane College, who placed second with an 84.5 average.

In other national ratings, Clark's James Wells ranked 20th with a 31.4 average and placed tenth in free throw shooting, hitting 27 of 31 for an .870 percentage.

Wells in conference stats, was second in individual scoring with the same average, was first in individual free throw shooting with the same average and teammate Sonny Epps was second in that department with 29 of 38 for an .806 average.

O'Connell said that only four members of Boston's first pennant winner in more than two decades have agreed to terms for 1968.

The four include Most Valuable Player and Triple Crown winner Carl Yastrzemski, 22-game victor and American League Cy Young award winner Jim LeMay, veteran catcher Elton Howard and outfielder Ken Harrelson.

O'Connell said that only four members of Boston's first pennant winner in more than two decades have agreed to terms for 1968.

The Boston vice president, who was chosen American League representative of the Year for 1967, said he was not "worried" about the failure of the players to sign their contracts but admitted "there's a lot of work piled up there" before the scheduled start of spring training next month.

Adair Headed O'Connell declined to identify the players who already had turned down the initial club offer though he noted he had heard from several utility infielder Jerry Adair.

"They practically all want money," O'Connell said, "and I don't blame them. This is the time I guess."

The Red Sox general manager said most of the players who already had returned unsigned contracts had sent along early letters.

"I haven't gotten around to reading most of them yet," he said, "but I'm sure they're all good."

By the blank signature space and asking them in the future, I expect to see a number of the players later this month when they come to Boston for the baseball season.

Jan. 24 and I hope to get a lot of the work done then."

The four include Most Valuable Player and Triple Crown winner Carl Yastrzemski, 22-game victor and American League Cy Young award winner Jim LeMay, veteran catcher Elton Howard and outfielder Ken Harrelson.

O'Connell said that only four members of Boston's first pennant winner in more than two decades have agreed to terms for 1968.

The Boston vice president, who was chosen American League representative of the Year for 1967, said he was not "worried" about the failure of the players to sign their contracts but admitted "there's a lot of work piled up there" before the scheduled start of spring training next month.

Adair Headed O'Connell declined to identify the players who already had turned down the initial club offer though he noted he had heard from several utility infielder Jerry Adair.

"They practically all want money," O'Connell said, "and I don't blame them. This is the time I guess."

Red Sox officials did a collective double take when young outfielder Reggie Smith showed up for the off-season press luncheon in his clothes.

As pitcher Lenobas had his there, wearing a big coat on his left leg following surgery to his creaking injury.

"There's no way I'll go skunk in even skunking," Smith said. "I'll be any slacker by binocular. The jacket is just to keep warm in."

Lenobas, released from the hospital just last week, changed to Fenway roadman from his crutches and began to walk on his left leg and said he hoped to be "downing hard" by late March though the club would be cautious for another six weeks.

19 Atlanta Chiefs To Report For Training, February 1st

Atlanta, Ga. — Nineteen players have been named to report to the Atlanta Chiefs pre-season training on Feb. 1, at Emory University, according to Coach and General Manager Phil Woosnam.

The players include seventeen returnees from 1967 and two new faces. The returning Chiefs are goalkeeper Vic Rouse; full backs John Coking, Howard Mwikuta, Brian Hughes and Henry Largie; half backs Vic Crowe, Willie Evans, Gordon Ferry and Delroy Scott; and forwards Ray Bloomfield, Graham Newton, Emmett Kape-nwe, Peter McParland, Freddie Mwila, Ron Newman, Howard Riley and Everard Cummings. The two new players are forwards Alan Cole and Kaiser Boy-Boy Motaung.

A twentieth player, goalkeeper Sven Lindberg, will report to training in late March or early April. Additional Chiefs to report will be named later. According to North American Soccer League rules, each team may carry twenty-five players for the regular season.

"In finalizing plans for our pre-season training, requests to play exhibition matches in Florida (where many NASL teams are training), on the West Coast in international competition, in the Caribbean and also in and around Atlanta using educational facilities must be considered," Woosnam said. "In making a decision on the matches, we must take into account what is best for the game itself and for its growth and interest in Georgia."

CHIEFS' NOTES — Phil Woosnam commented on the status of the North American Soccer League at this time: "The Chiefs will play a 32 match schedule in 1968. We should play each team in the league at least once, but who the teams will be and where they will be located won't be determined until the strength of the teams is known and a basis of division is set. The league is certain to operate geographically with two or four divisions. It is likely that most of the games will be against the teams nearest to Atlanta."

"I would estimate at this moment that the league will have between 14 and 18 teams operating, but within a few days the exact figure should be determined. The league cities at this time are Atlanta, Baltimore, Washington, Boston (2), Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, Toronto, New York, Philadelphia, Houston, Dallas, Kansas City, St. Louis, Vancouver, Oakland, Los Angeles and San Diego. An announcement that Philadelphia had dropped out may yet be proved premature."

"From the interest and enthusiasm throughout the country, it is obvious that 1968 will be the most momentous soccer season yet played in America. With the World Championships in Mexico in 1970 and soccer being introduced into the educational program of most schools, I foresee fantastic growth in interest and participation in the next two years. The amazing developments in and around Atlanta during the past six months is a good reason of this opinion."

Howard Mwikuta's Determination Wins Second Chance With Chiefs

The Atlanta Chiefs' Coach and General Manager, Phil Woosnam, announced today that full back Howard Mwikuta has arrived in Atlanta to report to the Chiefs' pre-season training camp on Feb. 1 because he wouldn't take "maybe" for an answer.

Mwikuta is a native of Broken Hill, Zambia, and he started 22 games for Atlanta in 1967. Until today, there was some question as to whether he would be invited back by the Chiefs in 1968.

It may not have been in Woosnam's original plans to invite Mwikuta, but all doubt was erased on Christmas morning. Woosnam was awakened early by a phone call. Mwikuta was calling from a downtown Atlanta hotel. On his own initiative, he had obtained a visa and flown 10,000 miles from his native Zambia.

"Howard is one of the players we could not guarantee a place on the club because of league limitations," Woosnam said. "However, such determination and initiative merits further opportunity to prove his worth. He came to this country because he was determined both to further his education and soccer career. He returned from Zambia on his own expense and surprised everyone."

Woosnam continued, "If the Chiefs are unable to include him on the roster, we will do everything possible to find him a club in the North American Soccer League (name of the merged National Professional Soccer League and United Soccer Association)."

The 25-year old Mwikuta has served as the national team captain of Zambia and captain of his team in the national league of Zambia. He has played for his country since 1958 against Rhodesia, South Africa, Kenya, Uganda, Malawi, Tanzania and Madagascar.

While in Atlanta last season he launched his own Chiefs' "Good Neighbor" program, visiting underprivileged areas and introducing the children to soccer. When they responded to his instruction, he rewarded his students with bottles of a popular soft drink.

CHIEFS' NOTES — Chiefs' forward Freddie Mwila has been named captain of the Zambian National Soccer Team. Also on the Zambian team is another Chief forward Emmett Kape-nwe. The Coca Cola bottle in Kitwe, Zambia, has requested baseball equipment from the Chiefs so that he might start a baseball team in Zambia. Each team in the North American Soccer League must have three Americans playing in 1969.

Lincoln (Mo.) Tigers Win Quincy Holiday Tourney

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — The championship trophy of the Quincy Holiday Basketball Tournament is the property of the Lincoln University Tigers of Jefferson City, Missouri after three victories in the event last week.

Lincoln University, coached by Jonathan Stagers, stopped Washburn of Topeka, Kansas 80-77 in the opener, then dumped defending NAIA champion St. Benedict's of Atchison, Kansas 102-86 in the semifinals.

For the title they dropped Western Carolina 110-85, despite 35 points by the Catamounts Henry Logan.

A balanced attack won the title game and the tournament for the Tigers. In the finale, Milton Williams and Larry Howard scored 24 points each, followed by Homer Cavitt with 21 points, Marshall Evans with 20 points and James Brown, who had 17 points.

Williams, 26-1 senior from Chicago, tallied 65 points in the event while Evans had 61, Howard 53 and Brown 42.

Lincoln led by 20 points 54-34 in their smashing win from St. Benedict's a club which had won 33 of its last 36 games. The Ravens pulled to within two points at the midway point in the second half, but Lincoln spurred away from the tired St. Benedict's crew.

Lincoln University was in command all the way against Western Carolina, leading 55-42 at the half.

Williams and Evans were listed on the all-tournament team, along with Logan and Vince DeGreeff and Darryl Jones of St. Benedict's.

"It was a good tournament," said head coach Jonathan Stagers.

"We played some good ball. Each game we had a different player take charge for us."

The Tigers now turn their attention to tough Hiram-Scott College of Scottsbluff, Neb., this Saturday at the Lincoln University gymnasium.

The Scotties feature a fast break attack, triggered by 6-6 Isiah King and 6-6 Billy Stewart. They are coached by Fordy Anderson, former Michigan State and Bradley player and have a 9-2 mark for the year.

After 12 games, Williams is the scoring leader with a 23.3 average, followed by Jackson, Mississippi's Marshall Evans at 19.9. Brown, from Charleston, S. South Carolina, a native, is fourth with 15.9. Cavitt, who had never started previously this season, will probably take over the fifth spot this Saturday. The 8-1 jumper from St. Louis scored 21 points and had 12 rebounds in the Tigers championship victory.

Nat Byrd, Howard Anglin and Odis Raby are other Tigers fighting for starting berths on the well-balanced team.

Cassius Clay's Next Round With Army, Feb. 19th

HOUSTON — (UPI) — Former heavyweight champion Cassius Clay's next round in his bout to stay out of the Army, and out of jail, is set for Feb. 13.

Officials of the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals said the court had set that date to hear Clay's appeal of his conviction for refusing to enter military service.

A three-judge panel of the court will hear arguments from Clay's lawyers and from a member of the U. S. District Attorney's office in Houston. The court will probably take at least a few days to study the arguments before rendering its decision.

The names of the judges will not be revealed until the day of the hearing, in accordance with the policy of the appellate court.

Clay was convicted last June of "failure to accept military service." The former champion was given the maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $50,000 fine.

His appeal is based on the grounds he is a Black Muslim minister.

British plans to make him more attractive.

Judge Roulhac Scores Negro Middle Class

Speaking in Richmond, Va., before the 53rd Anniversary Convocation of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, keynote speaker, Judge Joseph Roulhac of Akron, Ohio, treated his audience of over 800 to a ringing critique of the Negro middle-class.

"We have defaulted on our responsibilities," exclaimed Judge Roulhac, "leaving our less fortunate brothers at the mercy of big city machines and unfulfilled governmental promises."

Roulhac, a successful Ohio Republican, who recently won a heavily contested seat on the Akron Municipal Court Bench, asked the fraternity's 23,000 members to "start providing the necessary leadership that would free Negroes in all walks of life from the continuing and pervasive confinement of racial discrimination in America today."

Most of us assembled here tonight," continued Roulhac, "have made our mark in the world, and against great odds, but that only means that we must work harder to include the millions of unskilled and jobless Negroes in our future plans."

He advised that, "There must be a commitment to involvement on the local level. Start in your household," he urged. At the end of his speech, Judge Roulhac was presented with an award by the Fraternity.

Atlanta Chiefs Signs S. Africa's Willie McIntosh

The Atlanta Chiefs' Coach and General Manager, Phil Woosnam, announced recently the signing of one of the best forwards in South Africa, Willie McIntosh, from the top South African team, Highlands Park.

McIntosh, originally from Scotland, is the third new signer for the Chiefs in 1968 and the second from South Africa. Prior to today Atlanta had acquired 17-year-old Jamaican, Allen Cole, and one of McIntosh's countrymen, Kaiser Boy-Boy Motaung.

The 26-year old McIntosh is a native of Lanhead Midlothian, Scotland, but he moved to Johannesburg in April of 1965 to play for Highlands Park. Before playing in South Africa, he was a member of four Scottish teams — Heart of Midlothian in Edinburgh (1960-60), Cowdenbeath (1960-62), East Stirling of Falkirk (1962-64) and the Aberdeen Football Club (1964-65).

In 1962-64 McIntosh was playing for East Stirling, a second division club in Scotland that is noted for developing some of the world's greatest players. While there, his boss, Jack Steedman, said, "Willie is the best of the bunch."

"Since his return from South Africa to England in November," Woosnam said, "Willie has spent some time with Vic Crowe in Birmingham and scrimmaging with my old team, Aston Villa. The reports I've received would certainly verify the reputation he received in his two seasons in Johannesburg."

McIntosh is now training in England with the Chiefs' Assistant Coach and Captain, Vic Crowe, but he will be in Atlanta for the start of pre-season training on February 1.

BIOGRAPHY — William Peter Hay McIntosh, 5'8", 145, 26 years old, single. Came to the Chiefs from Highlands Park in Johannesburg, South Africa. Born in Loanhead Midlothian, Scotland.

Attended Loanhead Primary School and Loanhead Secondary School. Considered by many as the best forward in South Africa. The great South African soccer star, Malcolm Rufus, named McIntosh to an all-star team of the eleven best players he faced in 17 years of professional soccer.

Played for Heart of Midlothian in Edinburgh, Cowdenbeath, East Stirling in Falkirk and Aberdeen of the Scottish League before going to Highlands Park in 1965. Also worked for a motor cycle firm in Johannesburg.

His 42 years, Moore had a career record of 149-48-13 and was considered the dean of the nation's small college coaches.

Pont's 1967 Indiana team was known for its ability to win the close ones and its coolness under pressure.

The Indiana coach put it best when he said, "This was a loose team. In their own way they would say 'don't worry coach,' then proceed to get the job done."

"This was a very disciplined group and the offense was geared to improvisation. We were finely conditioned and were fortunate in having a minimum of injuries," said Pont in describing his team's rise.

LOSS A BLESSING

The big loss to Minnesota, Pont said, was a blessing in disguise for his clue since it helped the team get ready for Purdue. The Hoosiers upset Purdue 19-14 in the regular season finale to gain a share of the Big 10 title.

Pont indicated "It's the close ones that hurt and since Minnesota beat us with room to spare, our kids couldn't brood and second guess themselves as they might have had the Minnesota game be closer," he said.

Indiana's John Pont Named 1967 Major College Coach

By STEVE SMILANICH
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK — (UPI) — John Pont, who gave up job security at an Ivy League school for an uncertain future at Indiana was named Thursday as major college coach of the year for 1967 by the American Football Coaches Association.

Cecil "Scrappy" Moore, who spent 42 years at the University of Chattanooga, was honored as the small college coach of the year.

The 1967 Indiana team compiled a 9-1 record and dropped a 14-3 decision to national champion Southern California in the Rose Bowl. The Hoosier rise followed a dismal 1966 campaign in which Indiana won only one game.

Moore, who retired from coaching at the close of the 1967 season to devote sole duties to the school's athletic directorship, led his Moccasin team to a 7-3 campaign.

Roger Maris Inks 1967 Pact

ST. LOUIS — Roger Maris, a consistent performer for the Cardinals throughout the 1967 season, and a hero in the World Series triumph over the Boston Red Sox, signed his 1968 contract with the Red Birds today. It was announced by General Manager Bing Devine and Senior Vice President Stan Musial.

Maris agreed to terms with Devine and Musial in Florida. The Cardinals front office executives and Maris are attending the Anheuser-Busch sales meeting in St. Petersburg. Maris is now living in Gainesville, Fla. where he is operating a distributorship for Anheuser-Busch.

The former Yankee home run king reported that he was "extremely happy" with his contract, and said that he was almost completely recovered from an attack of Bell's Palsy. Maris was affected temporarily on the right side of his face.

The 32-year old Maris came to the Cardinals in December, 1966, in a trade that sent third baseman Charley Smith to the Yankees.

Roger hit .261 last year, had 56 runs batted in and drove in the Cardinals' winning run in 18 games. He also combined with Lou Brock and Curt Flood to give the Red Birds one of the finest defensive outfields in baseball.

Against the Red Sox in the World Series, Maris collected 10 hits in 26 at bats for a .385 average and drove in seven runs, a Cardinal series record.

Maris, who was hampered by injuries in both 1965 and 1966, will receive the Bob Bauman physical comeback award at the St. Louis Baseball Writers' Dinner Jan. 25.

MARION JACKSON Views Sports Of The World

Best investment ever for the City of Atlanta is to approve funds for participation in the United States Youth Games scheduled for St. Louis, Mo. I personally know that Atlanta had more goodwill acclaim by its participation in the 1967 games in New York City than all of the magazine pieces written about the Deep South. Miss Virginia Carmichael, head of the Recreation Division of the Atlanta Parks Department, keyed our youngsters to put their best foot forward in Gotham. Atlanta is the only Dixie metropolis invited to the U. S. Games!

Miss Virginia Carmichael demonstrated that she is not only an impressionable leader, but a beyond-the-call-of-duty worker in the play-for-joy guild. It is not easy to take a job as more than a job. In New York City, even with parents, but Miss Carmichael made it look easy along with the aides, who were capable and courteous in every phase of activity.

In New York City, at the Penn Garden Hotel, as guest of Mayor John V. Lindsay, our Atlanta youth showed the fine cultural heritage which is a hallmark of Southern civility, restraint, and dignity.

What the trip to the Mound City meant transcends mere money, but is transmitted to the total profile of Atlanta as the symbol of the New South. It parallels our major league acceptance, hand-in-glove with the Atlanta Braves Atlanta Chiefs and the Atlanta Falcons. Therefore, we can not let someone else tell the cat in financial our youngsters for competition in the United States Youth Games and I hope Buddy Fowlkes, Q. V. Williamson get the message that this competition is vital to our thrust for leadership in all phases of competition in the South. It would be a stark and bleak landscape of challenge, if Atlanta, by default bowed out of the United States Youth Games. I fervently hope that this will never happen, for I can give testimony, on oath, as to the worth of this competition.

One of the stipulations of competition in the U. S. Youth Games, is that the City of Atlanta finance transportation for the kids. It is money well spent because the adventures of many children in New York City last summer, perhaps curbed the excesses of a violent summer which saw riot and strife in major cities of the nation.

Atlanta escaped this, but I believe the tide-turner was the hundreds of phony, New York White, who converted at Atlanta Stadium to see our youth competitors off for the Gotham Games and who so proudly hailed their unscarred return five days later.

MONEY WON'T Buy what we witnessed as Atlanta youngsters combed with kids from as far away as Puerto Rico, San Francisco, Detroit, Baltimore, St. Louis, et. al. It was a memorable experience, one I will never forget, and I hope the poster structure will go to bat to see that the rich experiences can be relived by another emerging group of youths.

A YEAR AGO THE MONEY for the junket came from the General Fund, but the cards are now on the table and the people, that is business professional and civic groups must see to our adventure-minded youngsters walk the streets of happy dreams.

SPORTS BEAT — Marshall S. Cabell, Jr., who was recently employed by the Aetna Life and Casualty Company, is I believe the son of our illustrious, Class '38, Memphis College, Cabinet, Sr.

Evansville Takes Over Top Spot In UPI Cage Ratings

By SANDY PRISANT
(UPI Sports Writer)

NEW YORK — (UPI) — It was Evansville's turn to snare the brass ring Wednesday in the small college basketball ratings merry-go-round as the Purple Aces became the third team to gain the top spot in the last four weeks.

Evansville, 10-1 took the No. 1 spot from Kentucky Wesleyan by downing the Panthers 71-64 last week and United Press International's 33-member Board of Coaches responded by casting 21 first place votes and 336 points for Evansville, which had been second a week ago.

Kentucky Wesleyan 6-7, which dropped to third behind surging Long Island University, had in turn taken the No. 1 ranking away from San Diego State just two weeks ago.

BIGGEST MOVE

The only unbeaten team in the top 10, LIU 11-0 continued to move hand-in-hand with Evansville toward the top. The Blackbirds downed major college foe Seton Hall in their only game of the week and increased their point total by 21 to 268 in the sixth weekly ratings of the season.

LIU also was second in first place votes, garnering nine. Kentucky Wesleyan received three and Seton Hall Southern notched one other two.

The Rebels from Las Vegas made the biggest move of the week, leaping from 18th to eighth after raising their record to 9-3 with an upset triumph over high-scoring Oklahoma City, last week's eighth ranked major college. Nevada Southern, which didn't receive a single vote two weeks ago, rolled up 76 points this week, compared to a mere 10 last week.

Although the Rebels were the only new entry in the top 10, none of the other nine retained the same spot they held a week ago.

MANY CHANGES

Moving up behind Kentucky Wesleyan were Indiana State, Southwest Missouri State, and Trinity Tex., all jumping one spot as San Diego State fell three places to seventh.

Following Nevada Southern was Southwest Louisiana and Cheyney State, who exchanged the positions they held a week ago.

Heading the second 10 was Pan American, which advanced one notch to 11th and moved to within eight points of Cheyney. Akron dropped one place to 12th, followed by Winston-Salem down from eighth a week ago. Illinois State and Los Angeles State tied 14th, Northern Michigan, Eastern New Mexico and St. Cloud State tied for 17th; Oglethorpe, and Fresno State.

The West will have Johnny Unitas of the Colts making his 10th Pro Bowl appearance, and Roman Gabriel of the Rams, playing his first Pro Bowl game, as quarterback.

Quarterbacks for the East will be Fran Tarkenton of New York, in his third Pro Bowl game, and Sonny Jurgensen of Washington, in his fourth Pro Bowl appearance.
