Nine Grid Games For State Tigers

NAVARRE - Tennessee State has announced a nine-game football schedule for 1968 that features Furman College of Columbia and San Diego State from California in a Georgia

NAVARRE - The Tigers of Coach John Dockery will meet in Florida Atlantic, Kentucky State, Texas, Iowa, Colorado State, and West Virginia this year. The schedule includes West Virginia, the highest rated team in the SEC, and the Florida Atlantic Owls, who are considered to be one of the top teams in the nation. The Tigers will conclude their season with a home game against Tennessee State.

The Tigers will go back to their home field for the second time this season. They will play their first home game against Arkansas State University on September 21st.

The Tigers are expected to have a strong season, with several returning players. The team is led by quarterback Tom Miller, a senior from Nashville, Tennessee. Miller is expected to have a strong season and lead the Tigers to victory.

NEGRO COUNCILMEN OPPOSE LOEB

Davis, Netters And Patterson Favor Dues Check-Off

Memphis' three Negro City Councilmen -- Fred Davis, the Rev. James A. Turner, and Alex Patterson -- have said they favor a dues check-off system in the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees. The system would allow employees to have a portion of their paychecks deducted for union dues, thereby reducing the financial burden on the union.

The system has been proposed by several labor organizations as a way to increase membership and reduce the amount of cash that is required to be deposited each month. The system would also benefit the employees, as it would provide a more convenient way to pay their dues.

The system has been favored by several local and national labor organizations, and it is expected to be implemented in the near future. The Memphis councilmen believe that it is a good idea, and they support the proposal.

900 At Concert Applaud Artists

The collection of well-known African American artists who performed at the Memphis Coliseum on Saturday was greeted with enthusiastic applause. The artists performed a variety of songs and music, and the audience was captivated by their talent.

The artists included Koko Taylor, B.B. King, and Otis Redding, who were among the first artists to perform at the Coliseum. The audience gave them a standing ovation, and they were thrilled with the response.

The event was organized by the NAACP, and it was held to raise funds for the organization. The proceeds from the event will be used to support the NAACP's programs and initiatives.

The event was a success, and the artists were pleased with the response. They were grateful for the support and the opportunity to perform in front of such a large audience.

HATTIESBURG, Miss. — (UPI) — Defense attorneys said an appeal by the state to uphold the historic conviction of a white man for the 1963 slaying of a Negro lawyer, the late Vernon Dahmer, will be heard by the Supreme Court of Mississippi.

A state appeal,旅途 King was convicted of the slaying during his trial, was granted by Chief Justice Joe H. Thompson, who set the case for March 30 for argument at the court's next session. The court will then rule on the case.

The case was brought before the court by the state's Attorney General, W. N. Gordon, who argued that the conviction was invalid because of a technicality involving the failure to follow state law in the trial.

The case is one of a number of similar cases in the state that have been appealed to the court, including the case of the conviction of the late King in the shooting death of a Negro woman, the late Louise McMillen, in Jackson.
