

'Hamilton' Cats On The Go-Go

There! Here are your "soul sisters," Carolyn Broomfield and Elaine Holmes with the latest news from the Whiskers Den!

PERSONALITY OF THE WEEK

The week our outstanding personality is a very charming and stylish young lady in the Senior Class, Arrolene Curtis. She resides at 2151 Sparks Road, with her mother, Mrs. Doris Boyd. She is a member of Church of Christ (Yonah Ave.) where she sings with the Youth Choir and is representative to the Church of Christ Youth Conference.

On campus, Arrolene is president of the Future Teachers of America, vice president of the National Honor Society and a member of the Dramatics Club. In the community she is an outstanding member of the "Tea Trams Society." Arrolene is a member of the 1967-68 graduating class of Hamilton. She plans to attend Abilene Christian College.

FASHION HAID DO'S

What's the new look pounced upon young ladies today? Well, it's the short and curly look and swirl, sensuously wave or piled high and tumbling hair styles that are really getting the boys' eyes. So, come across now to an even wilder side or prettiness, with the Boss and the most commonly called natural look. The part down the middle of the head is becoming more and more popular. Some of the Hamiltonians seen wearing the new look are: Ronald Harris, Herbert Williams, Ted Marzette, Hattie Hays, Patricia Hayslette, Gregory Siggers, Gregory Johnson and Clarence Robinson.

BAND CONCERT

On April 23, the Hamilton High School Concert Band, the Senior Choir and the Junior High Choir presented their annual Spring Concert. The audience thoroughly enjoyed the wonderful selections rendered by the groups. Teacher conductors for the groups are: Tridomsett, Mrs. Lula Hedgeman and John Clayborne.

CONGRATULATIONS

At this time the Hamilton family wishes to express words of congratulations to Gregory Siggers. On Friday, April 19, Gregory won the city-wide Elk's Oratorical Contest. Good luck in the State Contest and remember we are behind you all the way!

Gunman Holds Up Bank, Escapes With $3,683

LUTHERSVILLE, Ga. — (UPI) — A Negro gunman snatched into a nearby bank in this sleepy town of 280 shortly after noon Monday, tied up a cashier and bookkeeper and escaped with $3,683.

Mrs. Elizabeth Reid, executive vice president and cashier of the Luthersville Banking Company, said the man walked into the bank pointed a 22-caliber target pistol at her and told her to walk to the other end of the office where bookkeeper, Mrs. Margaret Worthan was standing.

He took the cash from Mrs. Worthan, then tied the two women up in the bank's kitchen area, and made his getaway.

Several minutes later the women struggled out of their bindings and sounded an alarm.

This is the third time around for Mrs. Reid — she was present in the bank during a robbery in 1953 and during a $10,000 job in December, 1967.

In fact, she's getting to be an old hand at this business: "You know as long as they tell you what to do and you do it, they won't shoot you," she commented after Monday's episode.

She said the bank robber drove away in what she thought was a gray 66-68 Chevrolet.

Freeman Warns Of Failure In Better Living Conditions

AUGUSTA, Ga. — (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman warned Tuesday that failure to develop better living conditions in small towns and rural areas will "feed the fires" of unrest and violence in the big city ghettos.

Freeman in a speech prepared for delivery to the Association of Georgia County Commissioners, said the nation must make significant improvements in rural areas to halt the drift of people from the countryside to crowded cities.

Freeman speaking one day after meeting in Washington with leaders of the planned poor people's march on the capital said "The creeping decay" which has afflicted many rural areas has contributed to the problems of the cities.

The commissioners closed their annual convention Tuesday with a renewal call for a ceiling on property tax millage and an increase in the state sales tax.

In a resolution proposed by the Dougherty County commissioners, the association asked the Tax Revision Study Commission to consider the idea of limiting the amount of ad valorem tax a local school board can levy and rising the sales tax from 3 to 4 per cent to make up the revenue loss.

The county officials, who have asked the governor and the Governor to do the same thing in the past, urged the commission include their idea in its tax reforming recommendations.

The also called for a new Constitution and a hand in drafting it. A resolution was approved asking that a county spokesman be among those drawing up a new state document.

The commissioners asked Georgians to give policemen "the recognition and support, both morally and financially, which they richly deserve."

Earlier, the commissioners elected Jim L. Collins Jr. of Soperton president of the association.

Rebecca Club To Present Metro-Guild Singers, May 12

This talented musical group is composed of well-known Memphians and directed by Daniel Ward, principal of Grant Elementary School.

The group has performed on numerous occasions and is composed of the following members: Misses Joyce Cochrane and Janice Knight, and Mesdames Lanetha Branch, June Glenn, Cynthia Waters, Bennie Wilson, Hazel Knight, Barbara Cole, Ernestine

Guy, Christine Johnson, Mary Nichols, Juanita Stanback, Nellie Tate, Vera Smith and Elizabeth Romby.

Male members of the aggregation are Kenneth Cole, Carl Johnson, Bennie Jenkins, William Lamar, James Knight, Sr., Harold Brooks, Alfred Motlow, William Cross, Thomas Doggett, Michael Romby, Sr., Oliver Sueting and Harold Winfrey. "Since May 12 will be Mothers Day, bringing a mother to this concert would indeed be a treat," says Mrs. Gladys Webb, chairman of publicity.

Tickets may be secured from any Rebecca Club member, Metro-Guild member, Flora's Flower Shop or Davidson's Grill.

Editor Jackson detailed some of the Birmingham highlights in the Martin Luther King Jr. story. Among them were an early youth day speech, a NAACP speech, the 1963 protest march and a boost position for a savings and loan association.

"The non-violence philosophy and technique is something which requires one to be at his best and to live even above the common practices of Christianity," Jackson said.

Also Mr. Jackson liked the friendship of Dr. King and Ralph D. Abernathy to that of Dabon and Pythias, Boswell and Johnson, and Wilson L. Driver (former editor of the Birmingham World) and Edward A. Brown, Jr., teacher at Parker High School.

Meantime Mr. Jackson suggested that it was a natural development for Dr. King to move into the struggle against poverty, which is part of the struggle for social decency and economic justice.

"A hungry man is a dangerous man," Jackson asserted. "One who is a victim of poverty needs no Ph.D., nor member of Congress, or anybody else to explain to him his horror," he added.

Music was furnished by the East End Baptist Church Movement Choir.

Other speakers included Father Robert of Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church; the Rev. David Singleton, deputy director of the Jefferson County Committee for Economic Opportunity and the Rev. John T. Porter, pastor of Sixth Avenue Baptist Church.

The Rev. Singleton discussed the election plans for the members of the Neighborhood Advisory Councils. The Rev. Porter gave a report

$1,500,000 Joseph F. Drake Memorial Library Dedicated

By EMORY O. JACKSON

NORMAL, Ala. — (SNS) — Speeches, presentations and music highlighted the dedication of the approximately $1,500,000 Joseph F. Drake Memorial Library, Alabama Agricultural and Mechanical College here Friday, April 28.

In the featured speech Alabama's Lt. Gov. Albert P. Brewer, asserted "a better way of life and a better standard of living."

He called the occasion "a happy day for all of us" and recited the legislative battle for the appropriation of $900,000 that was spearheaded by State Senator Roscoe Roberts, of Hartselle. Mr. Brewer explained that there was no opposition to the library funds request but that the legislation became involved in technicalities.

Dr. R. W. Morrison, fifth president of Alabama A. & M. College, who presided, presented Lt. Gov. Brewer. He related the story of the struggle for library funds, one of the two essentials needed for the accreditation of the college.

He pointed out that A. & M. which was organized 93 years ago and which for 78 years has been a Land Grant College, over its entire existence had never before had an adequate library. He said he was able to secure $413,000 in federal funds to go with $900,000 in state funds to complete the library structure.

Dr. Morrison praised the work of State Senator (Atty.) Roberts, Jr., and presented to him a plaque of appreciation for the services rendered. Mr. Roberts in his acceptance remarks recalled a quotation which said, "Ideas won't work unless you work."

President Morrison said the library is the most important building on this campus. He added that it symbolized the spirit of hopeful achievement and was dedicated to an educator who used 35 of his years building up and expanding A. & M. College. He added that the library building was constructed in a way to be "simple and impressive" and to get the most for the money being spent to erect it.

He introduced a long list of honored guests which included members of the "Drake Family."

Mrs. Mamie LaBon Foster, elementary school supervisor for the Jefferson County Public Schools and a distinguished graduate of Alabama A. & M. College, accepted an award for Mrs. Lucile A. Love, of Birmingham, retired and first professional librarian of the college. Mrs. Foster gave the audience a message sent by Mrs. Love in which she included her favorite couple, "tell them for me," Mrs. Foster quoted. Mrs. Love as saying to keep it clean and keep it quiet.

A bouquet of roses was presented to Mrs. J. F. Drake, the widow of the president of Alabama A. & M. College. She went back to "six years ago" when President Drake retired and suggested that those were "35 years of foundation." She on "Operation Breadbasket."

Thomas Wrenn, coordinator of plans for "The Poor People's Crusade," said that over 100 local poor have signed up to make the trip to Washington.

Another mass meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Sunday May 5 at the East End Baptist Church, 2609 6th Ave. So. of which the Rev. Calvin W. Woods is pastor.

Pastor is the local convener of the Ministerial Training Program of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference which sponsored the Memorial Sunday Program in tribute to Dr. King.

A Boast for the Poor Mass meeting is set for Wednesday night, May 8 at the Sixth Avenue Baptist Church.

described the famed President Drake as one who gave "deep service" and saw a deep need for serving mankind.

She described the honoring of Dr. Drake's name in the library as "the finest tribute" which could be paid to him. Mrs. Drake paraphrased a quotation to read, "If you would see his monument look around you."

The Marshall Space Flight Center presented to the library a set of scientific books and a replica of the Man-Lunar Rocket.

Music was furnished by the Clarinet Choir and The Saxophone Choir under the direction of William H. Hamill, the College Concert choir under the direction of Mrs. Nell L. Bradford and the college concert band under the conductorship of Thomas V. Dawson.

Dr. Henry Bradford, Jr., college chaplain, gave the invocation and Ralph H. Lee, Register, made the special presentations. Remarks came from William Cooper, president of the Student Council and Binford H. Conley, College Librarian. The Library was led by Dr. Henry Ponder, Dean of the College.

Mrs. Joseph F. Drake and L. R. Patten, business manager and treasurer, conducted the cutting. As a feature of the program, the audience sang "The College Hymn" written by the late President Drake in 1922.

The ceremony and program was held out-doors in the front-way of the library. A brisk breeze swept through the gathering as they addressed the program.

There was a post-ceremony guided tour of the library.

The spacious building covers 60,000 square feet. It is beautifully furnished and equipped for 50,000 volume. Ultimately the building will seat 1,000 patrons and will house 300,000 volumes.

The Association of Libraries of Alabama was in session at the college. Some of the delegates were reorganized during the program. Some art exhibits were on display.

Hanoi Shows Signs Of Delaying Peace Talks With U.S.

LONDON — (UPI) — Diplomatic sources said Friday North Vietnam is evidently in no hurry to begin talks with the United States despite its loud complaints that its efforts are being frustrated by alleged American foot dragging.

In London, diplomatic observers with knowledge of the Communists' negotiating tactics cited a number of reasons why the North Vietnamese were in a hurry in the matter of fixing a site for preliminary contacts with U.S. representatives.

JEWEL GENTRY

EMPHASIS IN MEMPHIS still centers around Dr. Martin Luther King. It will be for a long time to come with tremendous crowds turning out in passing the Lorraine Motel Sunday (where Dr. King was murdered April 4) lines of cars were seen passing just to get a glimpse of him from the outside. Both Negro and white drove slowly by while another group (who plan to have a Memorial every Sunday for the Civil Rights leader) sang and placed 25 beautiful sprays and pots of fresh flowers at the entrance. Flowers ranged from white Easter lilies to roses.

There ministers, laymen and many out-of-town cars passing by with many stopping to make pictures.

We in Memphis were also shocked over the almost sudden passing of Mrs. Walter Bailey whose husband owns the Lorraine. The shock of Dr. King's murder was too much for the soft-spoken quiet lady whose funeral at Pentecostal Temple (with many flowers and friends) showed the esteem in which she was held.

I could go on and on talking about the King funeral, but most of you saw more than I did even though I was on the Atlanta scene.

But I must mention McCain Reed, Tri-State Defender's editor, who pointed out Gordon Parks, Negro journalist who is with Life Magazine. Later I read his story on the funeral (as many of you did) and saw his life story on TV last week. Mr. Reed looked around a bit for his brother, Judge Reed of Las Vegas who was asked to represent the State of Nevada by the governor of that state... but at the last minute had another assignment.

Two other newsmen who were also kind to me (along with Reed and Stokes) were Webster S. Thompson who is assistant in the State of California of the Miller Brewing Company whom I first met in Memphis last March... then again in Atlanta when we found out who he was... and Betty Killian of the Atlanta Voice.

Of the many other Memphians that we ran into were Barbara Atkins who was with her sister-in-law, Maxine Smith, Ann Strubling, Pearl Clark, Harold Whalum, president of the Union Protective Insurance Company and his wife, Tillie... Dr. Wendell Whalum who was in charge of the music for the funeral (both at the church and at Morehouse where he directed the Glee Club. We say Emma Laws and Laura Sugarman.

Before leaving the Morehouse campus for the different residences (all on Hunter Road), I stopped for a minute at the President's home for a word with Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Gloster (he a Memphian) whose pictures we also got. For sure Ernest Withers and his four sons (and they are smart) are on the scene everywhere these days in their white station wagon... and so are Whitler Sengstacke, Jr. and Harris who are a team. They are real cute.

MRS. ANN STRUBLING IS HOSTESS TO THE NON-PAREIL BRIDGE CLUB
A very pretty Bridge-Dinner party was the one given Saturday by Mrs. Ann Strubling with Mrs. T. L. Mayweathers serving the party at her Greenwood residence. The beautiful dining area was festive with flowers and the exquisite silver that held the food served buffet style immediately took the eye.

Hot Hors d'oeuvres were served during the cocktail hour... after which a prime beef dinner was served in style.

Bridge was played after dinner. Guests winning the first three prizes were Mrs. Elizabeth Cox, Mrs. Floyd Johnson and Mrs. Maggie Coleman. Other guests were Miss J. M. Ella Cotton, Mrs.

Cora Smith, Mrs. Amanda Brown, Mrs. Louise Traylor, Mrs. Georgia Covington and Mrs. Ruby Jackson. Club members won prizes. Mrs. Elizabeth P. Lisco got the first prize. Other members around were Mrs. Louise Westley, Mrs. Belle Pettigrew, Mrs. Mamie Pamphlet, Mrs. Alzona Haste, Mrs. Jennie Tarpley, Mrs. Elise Owen, Mrs. Bessie Burton, Mrs. Emma Braxton and Mrs. Nettie Reeves.

MRS. ERNESTINE GRAY ENTERTAINS ENTRE NOUS CLUB MEMBERS

The Entre Nous Bridge Club met with Mrs. Ernestine Gray who proved a charming hostess. The setting was the spacious den of a friend, Mrs. Essie Shaw, also an Entre Nous member. The menu was "soul food" and the atmosphere jovial and congenial. Lovely and practical spring straw bags were won by Mrs. Ar and Taylor, Mrs. Lillian Wolfe and Mrs. Carrie Scott. Other members partaking of Mrs. Gray's hospitality and vying for bridge prizes were Mrs. Helen Bowen, Mrs. Frances Hassell, Mrs. Alice Helm, Mrs. Gerri Little, Mrs. Nedra Spilgh, Mrs. Essie Shaw. Guests were Mrs. Warlike Horne, Mrs. Lavera Watkins and Mrs. Hannah Iron. Members absent were Mrs. Eloise Flowers, president of the group who has been ill and Mrs. Mollie Long who was out of town.

MRS. H. H. JONES IS HOSTESS TO THE ELITE LITERARY CLUB

Members of the Elite Literary Club held their regular meeting at the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. Claire Jones, son and daughter-in-law of Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Jones (she hostess at the last Elite meeting).

The pretty Crank Street residence was festive with spring flowers... and the evening was a most delightful one with the service last.

Members attending were Mrs. J. A. Beauchamp, Mrs. Ruth Beauchamp, Mrs. H. A. Collins, Mrs. J. W. Ester, Mrs. Walter Guy, Sr., Mrs. Vi Haysbert, Mrs. A. S. Huncutt, Mrs. Lillian Jones, Mrs. J. C. Mickle, Mrs. W. F. Nabors, Mrs. M. J. Owens, Mrs. N. M. Watson, Mrs. George West and Mrs. B. W. Wilson.

Serving with Mrs. H. H. Jones as hostess was Mrs. Lillian Jones.

MRS. JEAN ROBINSON IS HOSTESS TO THE LAS MUJERES

The Effie Road residence of Mrs. George Cain (caterer) was the scene of the early April meeting of the Las Mujeres when Mrs. Jean Robinson entertained with a Cocktail Dinner Bridge.

Members voted to change the name of the club to "The Lively Ones" when they met at the home of Mrs. Frankie Gregory late in March.

Bridge was played after a short meeting. Winning first, second and third club prizes were Bettye S. Washington, Theris Brown and Frankie Gregory. Other members playing were Bettie Jean Powell, Emma Jean Turner, Florine Scullcock, Mae Frances Martin, Lirlee Jones, Eva Chambers and Lillie B. Raynor.

A guest prize went to Millie Tolliver. Mrs. Gregory had as her guests Joyce Weddington who won first prize... Annette Young, Margaret Thompson and Grace Brown.

Of the large group of Alpha Kappa Alpha Members who attended the Alpha Kappa Alpha Regional in Greenville, Miss. were Miss Velma Lois Jones, Regional Director for this area who presided... Mrs. Ethel Perkins who holds a National Office and Mrs. Meris Ewell. One of the noble deeds that the women will be remembered for was the sending of a $1,000-dollar check to Mrs. Martin Luther King who is a long time member of the sorority. Mrs. Perkins accompanied Miss Velma Lois Jones to Nashville last week where she spoke for the undergraduate chapter at Fisk University. Mr. Perkins drove Mrs. Perkins to the Regional.

A CARD last week came from MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR IRONS (former Memphians who now reside in New York City). The couple wrote to me from Accra Ghana. It was a surprise when they called Friday of last week to say that they were here with their relatives... visiting the J. T. Chandler family... spending much time with their nephews and nieces.

Mrs. Helen Shelby, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Chandler and Mr. and Mrs. Bonnie Chandler. The couple flew from Ghana over across the continent to Nairobi, Kenya and back into New York. Their plans were to also visit Ethiopia but were unable to get reservations straight through. The couple said that all they heard in Africa was the death of Dr. Martin Luther King. This is their fourth trip to Africa... They have gone around the world once... spent much time in Europe several times and have made several trips to South America... going as far down as Buenos Aires in Argentina and to Santiago in Chile. They also spent much time in Rio Janeiro and Brasilia. They often send me papers from Africa.

MRS. JOHNETTA KELSO is back after her usual Spring rest in Hot Springs... Got in just in time to have Stanley Scott over for dinner over last week-end when I was also invited over. Stanley, once editor of the Memphis World and a member of the Scott Syndicate who own a chain of papers including a Daily in Atlanta and the Memphis World... But Stanley is a News Editor for a New York Radio Station... He holds a degree in Journalism and a masters in Journalism from the University of Kansas. The top training has definitely paid off for Stanley.

MRS. U. L. MAYFIELD a charming and lovable Ft. Worth matron and mother of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Rivers left Saturday after a month here with the Rivers. Dr. Mayfield, who always comes to Memphis before he goes on to Hot Springs is back home, but sent his driver for Mrs. Mayfield. Dr. and Mrs. Rivers were in Washington, D. C. last week for a round of parties with the Noels. Also going up were Dr. and Mrs. Kilgore from Johnson City.

MRS. B. G. OLIVE is in Jackson with her mother, Mrs. Dansby who is ill.

MR. MACCO WALKER, Chairman of the Board of the Elk Trust Board, went to New York City last week for three days for their annual meeting. Mr. Walker, Banker and Insurance Executive, will go to Jarvis College next month at which time Jarvis will confer a doctor's degree on him. Mr. Walker has had the doctor's degree conferred on him before.

MRS. LUCINDA PHITTIER, a long time friend of ours arrived in Memphis last week from her home in Chicago for her usual visit with her aunt, Mrs. L. F. Harrison on Eaglede.

MRS. HAROLD SHAW (Pat) is back after attending the Spring Conference (as delegate from Memphis) to the Links Regional meeting.

MRS. VASCO SMITH (Maxine) was one of the persons to attend the NAACP in Miami last week.

Creates New Office In Pentagon To Oversee Troops On Riot Duty

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Acting out of "prudence" Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford Friday created a new office in the Pentagon to oversee federal troops on riot control duty in American cities.

Army Lt. Gen. George R. Magher, who was in charge of U. S. troops sent to Chicago on riot duty earlier this month, was put in charge of the "directorate." He is commander of the Army's III Corps at Ft. Hood, Tex.

Clifford said the directorate will operate from a command center in the Pentagon basement which will be fully in operation by July 1. Its job will be "directing, coordinating and supervising all federal military activities related to civil disturbances," the Pentagon said.

"While the basic responsibility for preventing violence and disorders belongs to state and local civilian law enforcement officials, the department takes appropriate measures to assure that prompt and effective supplementary law enforcement assistance will be available if necessary," Clark said in a written announcement.

Since riot duty has involved moving troops by air, Gen. Magher's deputy will be an Air Force officer, Maj. Gen. Joseph A. Cunningham commander of the 22nd Air Force, Military Airlift Command, Travis Air Force Base, Calif.

The center will also include officers from the Navy and Marines. The office will not command troops sent on riot duty. The actual command of them will continue to be in the hands of task

Atlanta U. Holds OEO Conference May 6-7

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SNC)—Atlanta University OEO Multi-Purpose Training Center will hold a New Careers Conference at the Sheraton-Baltimore Hotel in Atlanta on Monday and Tuesday, May 6 and 7. Registration will commence at 10 a. m. on Monday May 6.

A major problem facing the nation, according to the President of the United States and other leading authorities is providing for the unemployment. Several national programs are under way that are seeking solutions and preaches are being made to industry to make efforts to employ members of the poverty class who do not possess the necessary credentials for immediate and profitable employment.

Accordingly, the New Careers Conference has been organized to provide an orientation to the New Careers approach as an alternative strategy for representation from industry and for participation activities from Community Action Agencies in the Southeastern region.

Teaching, Jane Jo An Chessman of Terre Haute, Ind., says: "Teaching is helping a child to understand, wonder and ask. And teaching doesn't end when the last bell rings but continues on to activities and talks with the children."

Medicine, Colette Croze, of Wilmington, Del., is drawn to this career out of a duty to herself and to others. "Medicine lives in men and is therefore constantly changing," she said. "I believe in the worth of each person as a human being."

Research, Mary Ann Varanka, of Meriden, Conn., has an interest in biology and a drive to improve the welfare and well being of fellow humans. "A career in medical research," she said, "would help me comfort the suffering people."

Business, Suzanne E. Driscoll, of Scottsdale, Ariz., expects to find a place in business. "In this country," she said, "people are free to choose the type of career which they can enjoy and which interests them, not what interests the government alone. In this way, a person can enjoy his work while at the same time the government is enjoying the results of his work."

Did she mean taxes? Of the winners, an equal number selected careers in teaching of social work. There was a drop this year in the number expressing interest in science careers.

Generally, teaching has been the most popular career choice in previous contests. Social work moving to the same popularity level as teaching may reflect the nation's flexed muscle in the war on poverty.

Wayne Grimm, Director of the Chrysler Institute, Chrysler Corporation, will be the main speaker on Tuesday, May 7, at 10 a. m. His topic will be "New Careers in Industry." Dr. Noah Langdel, President, Georgia State College, Atlanta, will close the conference with a discussion of "Man's Imperatives in an Urban Revolution, at 4 p. m. on Tuesday.

During the conference, panel discussions and small group meetings will be held. In which, among others, Mark Whitaker, Director for the Elk Dock River Economic Opportunity Program in Fayetteville, Tenn., and Philip Gordon, Assistant Treasurer, Chase Manhattan National Bank, New York City, will participate. At the same time, Mr. Gordon is on leave from the Chase Manhattan Bank to work with the National Alliance of Business and the Urban Coalition in New York City.

May Peace Come To This Warring Land

The settlement of a place for a truce meeting seems now the only holdup in getting talks underway to end this war. The brass apparently are fast getting this objective on the horizon. This is especially good news to the soldier boys on the fronts of foreign lands and desirous of getting it over so they can come home to their loved ones.

It should be fully realized that while this baffling is going on our boys are dying. They, like the average layman, do not know much of what it is all about, and still less about the terms of settlement. They are primarily interested in getting the whole thing over, honorable peace would be a good swap for dying.

Apparently the French capital, Paris, where so much history has been enacted, will be the meeting place agreed upon.

So, it seems that peace is in sight. These who are involved are happy. The boys will be glad to come home and see their wives, parents and babies and here's hoping that Johnny will soon come marching home.

In The Bonds Of Union There Is Strength

News items early last week to the effect that the Methodist Church was in a planning council in Dallas, Texas, to perfect a union between this church and the United Brethren carried the good news of two strong organizations coming together for a more effective agency and more powerful body in Christ. The merger effected a heavy enrollment and that union can speak of its membership now in the term of millions instead of thousands.

This is not the first merger of the Methodist Church in Georgia with other smaller branches. It has gone on to show how the church can work together in unity.

Such a merger, or affiliation as this sets a good example for other churches to follow. In an era in which numbers count, leaders of church bodies would do well to look around and see how best the interest of the churches may be served in strong united bodies.

This not only cuts off heavy overhead, it centralizes departmental bodies, cuts out so much duplication and gives to the public the first principle of church meaning and its philosophy.

In union there is strength. Brotherhood all over the world is calling for the church to lead out on so many fronts of modern practices and principles.

May other religious bodies catch the stride.

Dr. King's Assassins?

During this week we have carried in our edition wire press reports which indicate that the murder of Dr. M. L. King, Jr., was more than a one-man job. Although it is accepted that only one shot was fired, it appears that the man who fired that shot had been stalking the top civil rights leader for some time.

A prison inmate with the man who is being sought for taking Dr. King's life as far back as 1963 when the late President John Kennedy was killed; is reported to have heard James Earl Ray say if he ever got out of prison he would collect what was reported as a "million dollar bounty" for the life of Dr. King.

The sought killer is reported to have a prison record in both state and federal prisons.

The fact that there are reports of a "bounty" on King's life and the fact that the slayer has escaped capture so far indicates that more than one person is involved in this latest national tragedy.

Even before these reports indicating a conspiracy we were of the opinion that the slaying was the work of a paid killer rather than some weak person with a confused and twisted mind. With the prospects of a conspiracy in the King slaying it is doubly important that the motive and persons involved be exposed for what they are.

And the persons responsible should be promptly brought before the bar of justice and punished according to the law. The greatest deterrent to crime is the certainty of punishment.

Graves Has Key Role In Senator Kennedy's Campaign

That's not Bill Cosby traveling with Senator Robert F. Kennedy as he crisscrosses the nation in his race for the Presidency. It's Earl Graves, a 33-year-old staff assistant who looks enough like the TV star and comedian to double for him.

"People are always taking me by Cosby and asking me for autographs," Graves says. "We know each other, and he's backing the Senator, too."

Graves, who has a couple of inches and a few pounds on Cosby, has been on Kennedy's staff for two years, serving as the Senator's regional political coordinator and liaison man for Long Island, Westchester and Brooklyn. He also served as Senator Kennedy's specialist on problems of health, housing and narcotics abuse.

When Senator Kennedy announced for the Presidency, he handed the hard-driving, can-do Graves a major role in his national campaign the task of mobilizing the support of the Black community. To accomplish this, Graves has been working to enlist Black persons at all levels of the campaign in every one of the 50 states. In addition, he travels with Senator Kennedy and advises him on the concerns and aspirations of the Black community.

In the hectic days following Senator Kennedy's announcement that he would run for President, Graves was with him much of the time. And when the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King was felled by an assassin's bullet in Memphis, Tenn., it was Graves who informed Senator Kennedy moments before he was scheduled to address a rally in a Black neighborhood in Indianapolis. Senator Kennedy broke the tragic news of the shooting to the crowd of 2,000.

But first, Senator Kennedy instructed Graves to contact Mrs. King and offer, in his behalf, whatever help she needed. Later, both Senator Kennedy and Graves spoke with Mrs. King in Atlanta, and Senator Kennedy supplied the chartered plane to bring Dr. King's body home to Atlanta.

Senator Kennedy also placed Graves at Mrs. King's disposal to assist with arrangements for the funeral. He flew at once to Atlanta where his services during a 5-day period won the gratitude voiced publicly and privately by Dr. Ralph Abernathy, Dr. King's close friend and successor as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Council.

With the many Black leaders gathered in Atlanta and Senator Kennedy on hand, Graves arranged a series of conferences at which the problems of urban centers were discussed.

In recent weeks, Graves has been conferring with leaders in Black communities all over the country — the militants and the non-militants — and he says: "It's pretty clear to me that they look to Senator Kennedy as their last hope... the last person they can talk to with any degree of trust in dealing with the white establishment."

Born in New York City, Graves attended Erasmus Hall High School in the Flatbush section of Brooklyn and was graduated from Morgan State College in Baltimore. He spent two years in the Army and was discharged with the rank of First Lieutenant. He presently holds the rank of Captain in a Special Forces reserve unit.

After his discharge, Graves became a Federal narcotics agent and later left government service to manage real estate for a Brooklyn firm.

He is vice chairman of the Bedford-Stuyvesant Council of the Boy Scouts of America, a member of the board of directors of the Brooklyn Chapter of the NAACP, and founder of the Stuyvesant Heights Achievement Corporation, an organization of successful Negro businessmen and professionals who have dedicated themselves to improving conditions in their community. All members of the organization agree to remain living in the Bedford-Stuyvesant area a step first-step toward community maintenance.

"We have learned from hard and bitter experience that our government does not move to correct a problem involving race until it is confronted directly and dramatically," he said before his death.

Next Tuesday, May 7, "March Two" and "March Three" will leave Marks for Washington. "March two" will be a mule train composed of about 35 wagons, a laundry truck and a first aid truck. The wagons will be loaded with the poor of Mississippi and are not expected to reach Washington until early June.

The "Freedom Train" will stop in Memphis May 8 and Nashville May 9.

"March Four," considered the major section of the march, will be a bus caravan leaving Edwards, Miss., and making stops in 13 cities before reaching Washington May 19. Churches in the 13 cities have been asked to raise money to pay for the buses and to provide meals and sleeping quarters for the traveling group.

"March Five" is the Midwest caravan, by bus, starting in Chicago May 8 with stops along the way. The caravan is expected to reach Washington May 16.

The educator praised the cooperation of the citizens and colleges of Jackson and said it is this type cooperation which has made America a place where exists the finest educational opportunities found anywhere in the world.

Dr. Patterson pointed to the mounting demands and rising cost on institutions of higher learning. He said Lane College can be justly proud of a building such as Jubilee Hall as it represents sacrifices, planning and dedication.

He said colleges today are facing a period of national crisis which must be met if the high standards of education are to be maintained. He said it is the responsibility of citizens, regardless of race or color, to meet this challenge and to face the responsibility.

Dr. Patterson was introduced by Dr. C. A. Kirkendall, president, who presided over the activities.

Dr. Kirkendall also presented Bishop B. Julian Smith, chairman of the Lane College board of trustees. Bishop Smith said Jackson is fast becoming a "citadel of learning."

He told of the destruction of one of Lane's dormitories for men and praised the citizens of Jackson for their assistance following the fire.

Bishop Smith explained that Jubilee Hall is named in honor of the Young People's Jubilee Movement of the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church with the hope that students residing in the new structure might maintain the high ideals and purposes forwarded by members of the Jubilee Movement.

The declaration at the ceremonies was delivered by Dr. C. D. Coleman, general secretary of the general board of Christian education of the CME Church.

A prayer of dedication was pronounced by the Rev. T. C. Lightfoot of Memphis, 1942 Lane graduate and a member of the board of trustees.

"The Battle Hymn of the Republic" was presented by the Lane Choir, under the direction of Dr. C. D. Newbern, director.

Clarence Weeks, president of the Student Government Association, and Eugene A. Woodson, president of the Student Christian Association, cut the ribbon officially opening the new men's dormitory and the new women's dormitory.

MY WEEKLY SERMON

by
REV. BLAIR T. HUNT,

PASTOR,
MISSISSIPPI BAPTIST CHURCH
MEMPHIS, TENN.

TAG: SERMON WEEK

SUBJECT: "ORDINATION"

TEXT: TIMOTHY 4:1-5

A young man was ordained into the Christian Ministry last week. Here follows excerpts from the ordination sermon:

This church has consented to lay its hands of blessing and approval upon you because after years of observation it has confidence in that you will honor your Holy calling. The church has observed Paul's injunction, "Lay hands suddenly upon no man."

Let this be your motto, "not to be ministered unto, but to minister." You are to preach the word for the Gospel must be preached. Preach Jesus Christ as the world's only Savior, the only one with authority to forgive sin. "For in none other name under Heaven that is given among men, wherein we must be saved."

You are to be living Epistles... The world will watch you... For it is better to see a sermon than to hear one.

Forget not your study habits... linger long and frequently in the field of study. Be a student of people. Keep in touch with the current political, economic, social and religious thoughts. First, last and always study the Bible.

There is a picture in the Old Testament of a young man born to the Purple. Dreaming Dreams

Suggests Overhaul Of Armed Forces Pay System

WASHINGTON—UPI A Pentagon board proposed Monday an overhaul of the armed forces pay system to provide that men in uniform earn the same level of pay as civilians for comparable work.

After a two year study the board concluded that the present military pay system is so complex few can understand it.

It noted for example that a military man receives less than 60 percent of his real pay in cash. The remainder is in the form of complicated tax-free allowances for housing, subsistence and dependents. The group said it is difficult for military men to even compare what they earn with civilians.

The major recommendation was that career military personnel be paid a cash salary "equivalent in all respects" to civilian scales. Out of this they would pay their own housing, both on and off a base. And they would pay income tax on their full salary.

A military man would also pay 6.5 percent of his salary toward retirement. If he quite before 20 years service, he could get his retirement investments back.

The study group headed by Rear Adm. Lester E. Hubbell, passed its conclusions on to Congress for the "information" of lawmakers.

We walk out, jobless, heading and seeing Visions. In a vision, splendid, he sees winged seraphs, and hears them exultantly one to another, "Holy, Holy, Holy is the Lord of Hosts. The whole earth is filled with His Glory." The young man is Isaiah... and singing in his ears is the call to prophetic ministry. In after years describing his experiences, he wrote, "I heard the voice of the Lord saying, Whom shall I send? Who will go for us? Then I said, I, here am I."

"The challenge of the ministry today is just as vibrant and thrilling as when Isaiah saw the 'Lord High and Lifted Up' and answered, 'Here am I.'"

The Christian Ministry offers much... the lure of a majestic fraternity... comradeship, reaching back to the Hebrew Prophets... The witchery of a speaking vocation, that is, the publishing by word, the everlasting gospel... for the Gospel must be preached... the fascination of the Shepherd's task, "Tend My Sheep; feed my lambs" said Jesus. There is no tender relationship than that of a shepherd and his flock.

The ministry does not offer material wealth, neither ease. It offers a field of sacrificial service. It offers joys and blessings of friendship, and rewards far above rubies and gold, far above man and material power. It offers an eternal home with the Great Shepherd of all Shepherds.

My young brother, go preach... for the Gospel must be preached. And, in preaching, read yourself full, think yourself clear, pray yourself hot, and let yourself go. For the Gospel must be preached until "Every knee shall bow and every tongue shall confess." Yes, the Gospel must be preached until God's words cover the land as the waters cover the deep.

Young man, live the life and preach the Christ, so it may be said of you:

"He held the lamp that Sabbath Day... so high as none could miss the way... and yet so high as to bring in sight... the picture frame of Christ the light... that gaze upon the lamp between... the hand that held it scarce was seen."

FORT VALLEY — A special committee was appointed by President Blanchet to make plans and preparations for "Parents Day," Saturday, May 4, for the more than 1,800 students at The Fort Valley State College.

Expansion Of Existing Medical School Needed

CHICAGO — A far-reaching program designed to meet the growing demands for health care is described in a new 22-page Fact Sheet on Physical Population and Medical Education in the U. S.

The program, tailored to provide more physicians now as well as in the years ahead, was developed by the AMA and the Association of American Medical Colleges.

Published by the AMA, the Fact Sheet calls for the immediate expansion of existing medical schools, construction of new schools, and changes in educational programs which could shorten the time required for a medical education and minimize costs.

Asking for immediate expansion of existing schools, the AMA noted that 32 schools graduated fewer or the same number of M. D.'s in 1967 as they did 10 years earlier. Ten schools are graduating fewer physicians today than they did 30 years ago.

The Association said if the deficiencies in physician manpower are not to assume even more alarming proportions and unprecedented increase in physician output is needed, the most rapid way to attend this aim is by expansion of existing schools.

Each medical school should re-examine its objectives, its educational program, and its resources to determine how it can contribute most effectively to the national need for more physicians.

Under provisions of the Health Professions Assistance Act and amendments, medical schools may obtain federal matching funds for replacement, rehabilitation, or expansion of existing facilities if they will agree to increase the size of incoming classes by appropriate amounts.

As of last June expansion grants had been awarded to 32 medical schools. When construction has been completed, there will be an increase of 792 positions in first-year classes.

While expansion of existing schools may provide a partial solution to immediate demands for a long range program for the development of new schools is needed if we are to meet the needs of 1980 and beyond.

Today the Fact Sheet points out we have medical schools, an increase of 17 since World War II. By 1971 an additional 10 schools will be open. Twenty to 30 other schools have been proposed.

Initiative for development of new schools and expansion of the established institutions should be locally determined. Institutions wish to organize new medical schools must assume the responsibility of marshalling the necessary support. Both AMA and the AAMC have pledged their assistance to such efforts.

Femininity Is Intact Following Operation

By LOUISE CHASE
Women's Medical News Service
NEW YORK — (WMSN) Groundless fears are perhaps the most frequent complication of hysterectomy, the operation for removal of the womb that many thousands of women undergo every year. This is what Dr. Arthur V. Greeley, Clinical Associate Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Cornell University Medical College, told Women's Medical News Service.

Among the most common fears, Dr. Greeley said, are that women will lose their femininity, will age rapidly, will become less attractive to their husbands, will lose their pleasure in marital relations. All these fears are based on misunderstanding of precisely what a hysterectomy is, the physician noted.

He explained that removal of the womb or uterus is usually indicated because fibroid tumors, tough muscular growths develop in the organ. These can cause discomfort when they press against the bladder or the rectum as well as excessive bleeding.

Contrary to what most women believe, these fibroids do not lead to cancer. If they cause no discomfort, Dr. Greeley said, they can remain in the uterus for years with no complications. As a matter of fact, he observed, because removal of the whole uterus includes removal of its neck, the cervix, a possible site of cancer is removed as a result of the operation.

In women of child-bearing years, the uterus need not be removed because of fibroids, the gynecologist explained. Instead, only the fibroids themselves can be removed by means of an operation called a myomectomy. Myomectomies can be performed several times if necessary.

Hormones Not Involved
Since the uterus does not produce any hormones, its removal will have no effect on the femininity of a woman. "Following a hysterectomy, a woman will look just as bright-eyed as she ever did," the professor observed. "Her figure will remain as shapely, her skin as unwrinkled, her hair as lustrous, her voice as feminine. Her sexual interest will remain as it was before the operation."

Contrary to the widely held myth removal of the uterus does not cause premature menopause. Menopausal symptoms, the physician explained, are caused in large measure because of the diminished production of certain hormones. These hormones are not produced by the uterus so, its removal has nothing to do with menopause.

Husband's Involvement
When a husband learns that his wife may need a hysterectomy he may be as full of misapprehensions and fears as his wife, Dr. Greeley said. Therefore, it is essential that he be briefed as fully as his spouse. This will not only provide his wife with sensitive understanding and support, but will also relieve his own anxieties.

If a woman understands all the facts about hysterectomy, and still resists having the operation, Dr. Greeley believes he should not be pressured into having it.

"If a patient of mine remains anxious and uneasy about the operation, I will not perform it. Dr. Greeley emphasized. I can give her medication for relief of most of her discomfort. Excessive and erratic bleeding can be controlled in a variety of ways usually hysterectomy is not an urgent procedure. It should actually be performed only when no other treatment is possible.

"In a very real sense, a woman can make the decision whether or not to have the operation. In my experience if the procedure is chosen by her the emotional strain afterward is apt to be far less." The physician cautioned that sometimes a doctor finds a condition that makes a hysterectomy mandatory. In such cases is recommendation should be accepted.

Series Of 60 New Books On "Famous Negro Americans"

EAST LANSING, Mich. — A series of 60 books on "Famous Negro Americans" with a foreword by the late Dr. Martin Luther King is being written by two Michigan State University professors and a faculty member of Miami University (Ohio).

The series for children is authored by Dr. Louis Romano, associate professor of administration at MSU; Dr. Robert L. Green, MSU associate professor of educational psychology, and Dr. Nicholas P. Georgiady, associate professor of curriculum at Miami. (Franklin Publishers of Milwaukee, Wis. are the publishers.)

Already published, the first five books in the series deal with famous Negro scientists in the United States. Other areas to be covered included famous American Negro scholars, statesmen, business, explorers, freedom fighters, inventors, authors, actors, athletes, artists, and musicians.

The books are being published in soft covers for classroom use in public schools and hard covers for libraries.

Dr. King explains in the forward, "The books have been written to provide teachers and students accurate accounts of contributions made by Negro Americans. Used with other instructional materials, he adds, the books should offer a truly balanced picture of the history, growth, and development of the United States."

Dr. King pointed out that it seemed fitting for the series to be written by three men of three different ethnic and religious backgrounds.

Dr. Green worked closely with

Dr. King while serving as Education Director for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference from 1965-1966. He continues to serve as educational consultant to the SCLC. A recognized specialist in teaching the disadvantaged, Dr. Green has been a member of the MSU faculty since 1950.

Dr. Romano, who joined the faculty in 1966, has spent more than 24 years in Shoredwood (Wis.) public schools as a teacher and an administrator. Shoredwood is considered by many educators as one of Wisconsin's finest school systems. Dr. Georgiady serves as assistant chairman of the Department of Curriculum at Miami University and is a former associate superintendent in the Michigan State Department of Education. The two men have coauthored more than 40 children's books in the past eight years.

Clark Panthers Deadlock Morris Brown Wolyerines

ATLANTA, Ga. — (SNS) — The Clark College Panthers baseball team faced an overpowering and determined Morris Brown baseball nine at Atlanta University Field and had to settle for a tie ball game of 3-3 in the end.

James Curb seeking his second win in as many starts, started off for Clark as Lee filed out to Campbell. Pitcher grounded out to Kimball. Davis of Morris Brown hit a scintillating double and Speight struck out for number three.

For Clark, Kimball walked, Johnson grounded out on a first pitch ball to Lee. Campbell singled. Kinnebrew got on by an error, and Kimball scored. Lowe singled. Choice singled and Clark lead 2-0. Victor Shaw filed out to Wiggs for the third out.

James Curb continued his pitching artistry over the big bats of Morris Brown as they pickup only one run and left three stranded on bases. Clark could not score another run until the bottom of the 4th when Mike Choice lead off with a wally Shaw bunted towards Wiggs pushing C Choice to second. Coleman filed out and Choice moved to third. Curb singled and a balk moved the runners up as Harris hit a scorching single driving in two more runs. Johnson filed out and Campbell filed out for out number three. Clark lead 6-4 at the bottom of four.

Morris Brown picked up two more runs in their top of the fifth as Marvin Harris, former brilliant Turner High pitcher, replaced Curb. Harris worked well and retired Jackson, Foster and Davis in order. The Panthers threatened but did not score in the half of the sixth and the score remained deadlocked 6-6.

Speight filed out as Morris Brown's Russell, brilliant at shortstop all day smashed a single and promptly stole second on the next pitch. Rouch hit a home run deep into the hedges on Hunter Street and Morris Brown lead 8-6. After a hastily called mound conference, Coach L. E. Hambrick signalled for his ace left handed John Jones to relieve Harris, who then retired Riles and Wiggs for out number three.

He never say die fight Panthers with the curfew pushing them for their time at bat and trailing 8-6 fought back with Campbell working Wiggs for four straight balls. Campbell went to second on a wild pitch and Kinnebrew walked. Love filed out to Davis. Choice grounded out to Russell. Jackson singled and Clark tied the score 8-8 as time ran out. Clark will play Morehouse on Wednesday May 1, 1968 at Atlanta University Field.

Herman T. Smith, Business Week Speaker At Clark

ATLANTA, Ga. — (SNS) — Negro businessmen and consumers are beginning to supply and buy what they want, not what white society wants, a pioneering Negro businessman said recently.

The keynote speaker during Clark College's "Business Week" for Business Administration and Economics students was Herman T. Smith, president of Jet Food Corporation which has recently established 14 super markets in several of the nation's ghetto areas.

Smith, who has been selling major brand items to Negro consumers for over 30 years, told the Clark students that it is no longer true that Negroes are simply trying to copy white consumers. He said they no longer reject traditionally "Negro items" such as grits or collard greens.

He said that there is a "Negro market" in this country, not only in terms of the kinds of food and other goods Negroes buy, but also in terms of the money they spend and the patterns of their spending. Smith told the students that many positions are available for young men and women in business today for those who know the "Negro market."

As an example of what makes the Negro market different from the white market, Smith pointed to the fact that Negroes, most of whom are poor, tend to buy food in small quantities than whites. Smith said Negroes also buy more name brand products than whites because so many merchants have tricked them in the past by selling them inferior unknown products.

He said that one of the successes of his mushrooming chain market operation is that his company understands the Negro consumer and his problems and doesn't try to trick the customer. One example of the trust Jet Foods has built up in the ghetto areas was the reaction of poor people during the recent Baltimore riots when the Jet store was protected from damage by the ghetto residents themselves, Smith said.

The businessman said there were a lot of misconceptions about Negro consumers in American business circles, including the previously widely held belief that the customers were too ignorant to know when they were being tricked.

Another misconception was that there is more shoplifting in ghetto areas.

Smith said he did a survey to determine the amount of shoplifting and found out that, in fact, many of the managers and employees were doing the pilfering, then blaming it on their customers since that's what most people thought anyway.

As a result of such practices, insurance rates for the stores have been higher and so have prices Smith pointed out.

Another example of faulty business reasoning is the fact that most marketing surveys in neighborhood areas are done between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. when the majority of Negro men and women are working. Thus, survey responses from Negro areas are taken from the elderly, the unemployed and the disabled, distorting the true picture, he said.

Another example of faulty research in the Negro community concerned semantics. A leading shirt company asked Smith to find out why over 90 per cent of Negro men surveyed said they wore "dress shirts" only once a year.

Like the company which made the shirts, Smith too, was puzzled until he discovered that the men who were interviewed thought of dress shirts as formal evening shirts whereas the company was talking about everyday white shirts worn by most businessmen.

In addition to his position with Jet Foods, which now has stores in Baltimore, Mobile, St. Louis, Chicago, Cleveland, Washington and several other cities, Smith is also president of Herman T. Smith Associates a market guidance firm.

Business Week at Clark has been held for five years and attempts to acquaint students with career opportunities in business and industry and to motivate them to find suitable jobs.

During this year's observance, the students had personal conferences with representatives from IBM, Delta Delta Air Lines, Coca-Cola and Jet Foods.

In addition, a Business Machine Show was held where the students were able to learn about the various new machines which are being used throughout the business world today.

Mrs. Gladys W. Collier is acting chairman of the Department of Business Administration and Economics at Clark.

Phillies Carve Winning Knots On Powerless Braves, 4-1, 4-3

Pitcher Rick Wise doubled home batterymate Clay Dalrymple in the ninth inning and got ninth-inning relief help from Dick Farrell Sunday as the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Atlanta Braves 4-3.

Wise was tagged for a home run in the sixth inning when Felipe Alou's drive bounced out of Richie Allen's glove and into the left field stands but sailed along with a four-hitter until the ninth when Alou doubled and Hank Aaron homered cutting the Braves' deficit to one run.

Dalrymple had doubled and scored on Wise's double to give the Phillies a 4-1 lead in the top of the ninth.

The Phillies picked up a run in the first off loser Phil Niekro, 2-2, when Cookie Rojas singled, moved to second on a walk to Allen and scored on Tony Gonzalez's single.

Bill White's third home run of the year with two out in the fourth made it 2-0 and the Phillies regain their two run margin in the eighth when Tony Taylor led off with a single as the Philadelphia Phillies by Rojas, moved to third on a wild pitch by the knuckle balling Niekro, and came home on a single by John Callison.

Wise was removed from the game when Sandy Valdespino singled following Aaron's homer. Farrell's first pitch was wild, enabling Valdespino to go to second but Deane Johnson and Felix Millan struck out to end the game.

Richie Allen belted a three-run homer in the fourth inning and John Callison added a solo blast in the eighth inning Saturday night, powering the Philadelphia Phillies to a 4-1 victory over the Atlanta Braves. The homers were all the help Woody Fryman needed to pick up his third victory against one defeat. Fryman scattered six hits and the only run he allowed in the third inning was unearned.

Allen's homer, his third of the season, came off loser Dick Kelley after Cookie Rojas and Callison led off with back-to-back singles. Callison's homer off Cecil Upshaw, was his first of the season. Kelley is now 1-2 this season.

In the third inning Fryman gave up a double to Felipe Alou with one out. After Alou moved to third on a wild pitch, Sonny Jackson hit a grounder to Bobby Wine and Alou headed for home. Wine appeared to have Alou nailed at the plate but catcher Mike Ryan dropped the ball, enabling Alou to score the only Brave run.

San Diego Chargers To Host Cincinnati Bengale, Sept. 9

SAN DIEGO — The San Diego Chargers will launch their 1968 American Football League season against the new Cincinnati Bengals at San Diego Stadium on Monday night, Sept. 9.

The game will mark the legal debut of the Bengals, the return to pro football of the famed coach, Paul Brown, and their first Monday night game in AFL history. Nationally televised outside of Southern California, it will begin at 6 p. m. San Diego time.

The opener against Cincinnati at what could be a rousing season-ending climax with games against the powerful Kansas City Chiefs, Dec. 8, and defending champion Oakland Raiders, Dec. 15, at San Diego Stadium are among features of a 14-game Charger schedule announced today.

After opening against the Bengals, the Chargers will remain at home for a bye week and a big game against the Eastern Division champion Houston Oilers on Saturday night, Sept. 21.

With three pre-season home games scheduled at night, the Chargers will play five of their 10 home games at night in 1968. The first Sunday afternoon game at San Diego Stadium is not until Oct. 20 against Steve Tensi and the Denver Broncos.

Joe Namath and the high-scoring New York Jets are the only Eastern Division team the Chargers will play twice in 1968. The Chargers visit Shea Stadium on Saturday night Oct. 5; the Jets invade San Diego on Nov. 24.

Of the other Eastern teams, Houston and fast-rising Miami (Nov. 3) have dates at San Diego Stadium; Boston and Buffalo will be road opponents for the Chargers.

San Diego General Manager Coach Sid Gillman called the schedule, "Excellent. What I particularly like is that we are not away from home more than two weeks at one time."

The Chargers do have successive road games at Cincinnati, New York and Oakland, but the team will return home after the New York game.

As for the prospect of meeting Kansas City and Oakland on successive weeks, Gillman said, "It doesn't matter when they play them. They will be tough games."

BOB HAYES WORKS IN JACKSONVILLE JOBS PROGRAM

Bob Hayes, star pass receiver of the Dallas Cowboys, and a double Gold Medal winner in the Olympics, has been selected by Jacksonville, Fla. Mayor Hans Tanzler as a consultant for "Jobs for Jacksonville" program. Professional Negro athletes affiliated with the National Industrial and Economic Union, founded by former Cleveland Browns star Jimmy Brown, has issued a plea for an end to racial unrest in America.

Bob Hayes has undertaken a mission of involvement in the affairs of the people whom he grew up with in Jacksonville, Fla. Hayes, who grew up in the teaming Jacksonville, Fla. slums before going to Florida A. and M. and Olympic stardom, is a flanker for the Dallas Cowboys.

His new role as consultant for the "Jobs for Jacksonville" program will take him directly into community affairs among the people he has prey much known most of his life.

Hayes believes being famous and published is not exactly the total contribution he wants to make so he is going directly to the heart of minority problems in his hometown during the off-season.

For years, he has been associated with the Royal Crown Cola Company, as an public relations associate of former Florida A. and M. PR-man Charles J. Smith III. Learning the inner working of public relations will provide Hayes a lucrative job when his playing career is over and he is alert to the value of picking up trade secrets of how to win friends and influence people.

Acclaimed by Mayor Tanzler as Jacksonville's No. 1 citizen, Hayes insists: "I don't believe in burning down building and I don't believe in stealing."

PRIDE AND DIGNITY are also a contribution of the Negro Industrial and Economic which is emphasizing a plea to end racial unrest. This is a prime obligation not only for our professional athletes, out men of goodwill everywhere. Many of the athletes are making pilgrimages into slum areas to assist youths who have revolted against poverty, ill-housing and other woes of ghetto life.

In a statement which takes note of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the professional athletes note: "We understand the frustration and we understand the shock. However, our move at this time has to be dignity and pride benefiting a man that has carried the torch of pride and love to all mankind," the statement reads.

Dr. E. Walter (Whirlwind) Johnson, Lynchburg, Va., is stepping down as chairman of American Tennis Association National Intercollegiate Championships and will be succeeded by Rufus Gant, coach of Phoenix High School, Hampton, Virginia. The one-time Morris Brown College football coach, inaugurated the tennis meet in 1952 at Virginia Union University in Richmond, Va., to qualify players for the United States Lawn Tennis Association Intercollegiate Championships.

Since 1952 when the original ATA Intercollegiate was held a lot of water has gone over the dam of ATA competition. Such ranking players as Arthur Gibson and Arthur Ashe have gone on to global acclaim.

Looking back through the facts and figures, it is unbelievable but true that Arthur Ashe is the only ATA member to win the championship which Whirlwind initiated.

Budding young players have won many trophies, but only one crown. Some of the performers as a result have gone on to regional and national meets. Each year two finalists move on to the USLTA meet from the ATA Intercollegiate to the USLTA meet which is scheduled for 28 in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Whirlwind's successor Rufus Gant, who has compiled one of the outstanding records in the coaching field, has produced such stars as Henry Livan, Billy Nelson, James Stroud, Thomas Vanni, Suzanne Anselme and many others who received college tennis scholarships.

The National Intercollegiate Championships will be held May 16-17 at Hampton Institute, with Gant as major draw of the meet. He has brilliant credentials for his new job.

In 14 years of Phoenix competition Gant has won 10 V. I. A. State Team Championships; 4 V. I. A. State Team Runner-up; 12 District Championships; 1 Co-Championship with Huntington; Team matches won - 143; Team matches lost - 6; Team matches tied - 2, a most impressive record.

A MAN BEHIND SPORTS - Captain Walter J. Love was a man behind the athletic department, the coaches, the athletes and the officials at Tuskegee Institute. He gave the all-out and unwavering support.

His loyalty to competition at Tuskegee Institute was unquestioned and he was equal as faithful as a booster in the grandstands, a patron saint to the athlete, and a contributor during major sports events.

He was always to be seen when anything athletic was in program on the Tuskegee Institute campus whether the Tuskegee Relays or the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference basketball tournament. He rarely missed a visitation basketball or football game, or dual track and field meet for that matter.

It should be told now that Captain Love has entered Elysian Fields that he saw action with the United States Expeditionary forces in France during World War I. He was honorably discharged in 1919 and entered Tuskegee Institute in 1919, completing his high school work in 1921. Captain Love continued his matriculation later and graduated from the college department in 1934. He did further study in the field of business.

During his working career at the Institute, Captain Love served most efficiently in the following

Cleveland Sellers Of SNCC Gets 5 Years In Prison

ATLANTA, Ga. — (SNS) —

"I am convinced that the courts are designed to destroy Black People. I will fight to my death, regardless of sentence, for the liberation of my people" proclaimed Cleveland Sellers, a leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, as he stood before U. S. District Judge Newell Edenfield, who Friday handed down a five year sentence on a draft evasion conviction.

Sellers' attorney, Howard Moore Jr. then stated to Judge Edenfield, that Sellers was drafted by an all white draft board which is not a true representation of the black-and-white community.

Judge Edenfield then related to Sellers' statements, on draft file, stating he wasn't going to enter the service "regardless of who is serving on the draft board." He also stated that earlier in the case, while Sellers was released on bond, he obtained a visa to travel in Russia, toured Japan and was under three indictments in Orangeburg, S. C. during racial unrest.

Judge Edenfield also told attorney Moore: "I don't care to hear from you anymore if political considerations are to be discussed," but however would listen to anything relevant to the points concerning Sellers' imposed sentence.

Moore then asked Judge Edenfield to establish a bond pending appeal of the case. He then promised in the near future, to hear the matter of the appeal bond, consequently Seller will have to serve time while pending a hearing on the matter.

American League On Record Favoring Six Team Divisions

CHICAGO — (UPI) — The American League went on record Thursday favoring separation into two six team divisions beginning with the 1969 season, but took no final action pending future conferences with the National League.

The special league meeting had been expected to take final vote for division play, and perhaps settle upon the identity of the teams in each division, but the meeting became almost a discussion session after a National League representative requested a delay in its final actions pending joint discussions.

American League President Joe Cronin said action on the length of the 1969 playing schedule and the makeup of the divisions was deferred until the American League can learn of the National League's exact makeup and position on the same points.

Cronin said the American League will meet again in Chicago on May 23 to consider and probably take final action on the 1969 program.

Meanwhile, Cronin and other American League officials will confer with National League President Warren Giles and NL officials on the National League prospects.

The National League has voted to expand to 12 teams in 1969, providing the current owners can agree unanimously on which two teams among five applicants shall be admitted to membership.

Cronin said that the identity of the teams admitted by the National League would have an effect on the schedules since efforts

'Poor People's' Crusade Started Monday In D.C.

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON — UPI — Martin Luther King's successors opened a month - "poor people's crusade" in the nation's capital Monday, presenting a list of demands to Cabinet officials who waited hours to receive them.

The march, which will include erection of a canvas and plywood shantytown and which will end with a Memorial Day march through Washington, began with confusion, delay, denunciation and an almost religious fervor.

Singing "We Shall Overcome" through the halls of federal buildings, antiracial committee of 100 met with top government leaders to demand food, jobs, housing and guaranteed incomes for the nation's needy.

DEMANDS PRESENTED

The committee presented demands to Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz, and Bertram Harding, the acting director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

They had planned to call on Secretary of State Dean Rusk, but were running hours behind schedule and never got to the State Department. Clark was kept waiting five hours to keep his appointment with them.

At all stops they said the 100 were making their demands now but they would return 10 days later with thousands to "demand answers."

They asked Clark to order the Justice Department "take a stronger hand in enforcing the laws." They told Harding, "You have failed us" and demanded more participation by the poor in OEO programs. They insisted that Wirtz vigorously enforce fair employment laws, revise the manpower development training program, and pay trainees more money.

The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, King's successor as chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, led the Committee, which permitted reporters to attend only one confrontation — the OEO meeting with Harding.

Their precisely timed schedule fell apart and a lunch for 100 prepared by the predominantly white First Congregational Church was left untouched. Civil Disobedience Threatened.

Abernathy said plans made by King before his assassination would be adhered to with massive civil disobedience still a tactic to be held in reserve.

"We are determined that we are not going to beg for our rights any longer but will demand them," he said after presenting his demands to Freeman, who waited one hour and 45 minutes to receive him.

"We have made up our minds there will be no new business in this country until it takes care of old business," he said.

Underdog Jimmy Ellis Wins Over Favored Jerry Quarry

By SCOTT BALLIE
UPI SPORTS WRITER

OAKLAND, Calif. UPI — Underdog Jimmy Ellis, never losing his cool, used his sneak right hand Saturday night to score a split 15 round decision over frustrated Jerry Quarry and win the World Boxing Association's heavyweight title.

Ellis weighing 187 pounds to Quarry's 195 and making the most of a four-inch advantage in which was most impressive during the middle rounds when he bombed the Irishman from Bellflower, Calif., with hard rights and lefts to the head after Quarry vainly waited for him to come in.

Referee Elmer Costa voted the fight to the Louisville boxer 7-6 and Judge Fred Apostoli, who is the former world middleweight champion, saw it for Jimmy 10-5. But Judge Rudy Ortega called the bout a draw 6-6. On the UPI card it was 9-5 Ellis.

There were no knockdowns. Each fighter sustained a slight cut in the early going, Ellis bleeding slightly from below the right eyebrow during the first round while Quarry had a cut on the left corner of his right eye in the second. But both wounds were staunch after the session.

Ellis stuck to a perfectly conceived fight plan in the internationally televised bout, which grossed $125,000 for each boxer. Quarry, who likes to lurk along the ropes and then bomb his opponent with counter punches, rarely got a chance as the rangy Ellis skillfully kept just far enough away from the bulky Irishman to stay out of harm.

Then Ellis, a former sparring partner for the deformed Cassius Clay, whose title he now holds, would flick in peaky left jabs then score with a right hand from nowhere which has earned him the title of "The Cobra."

Southwest High Wins 'School Spirit' Award

ATLANTA, Ga. — (SNS) —

Atlanta's Southwest High School is the winner of the 1968 WSB Radio School Spirit Award.

The award goes to the Southwest High students for the success of their project to unify a once-divided student body.

At the beginning of the current school year, Southwest High faced a problem to many of the nation's newly integrated schools—a lack of unity. School spirit was at an all time low.

In accepting the challenges facing their school, the students of Southwest sought to build spirit by developing new pride in the school and by giving all students a sense of unity through purpose.

The contest judges consider the school's efforts to have resulted in a positive, vibrant, cohesive spirit that is being reflected not only in the school, but in the homes and the community at large.

WSB Radio General Manager Elmo Ellis, in announcing the winner of the School Spirit contest said, "The students of Southwest High School have succeeded in their goal of creating a new type of school spirit which binds man to man, regardless of race, creed or color. Their results make the school most deserving of the 1968 School Spirit award."

The students and faculty will be honored in a special award presentation ceremony at the school Tuesday April 30 at 10:30 a. m. The school will receive a championship trophy and $150 in cash from WSB Radio and Georgia Savings Bank and Trust Company, annual sponsor of the School Spirit contest.

All elementary and high schools in metropolitan Atlanta were invited to enter the competition, which is based on any worthwhile project undertaken by the entire school during the year. Last year's winner was E. P. Johnson Elementary School.

Judge report: "an enthusiastic response" to the competition from more than seventy schools entering contest, with many worthwhile projects turned in.

Mayor Carl Stokes Addresses Wilberforce Graduating Class

affable Mayor Stokes said to the graduation seniors:

"Once the credentials which you have earned are placed in your hands, it's time for you to go out into this great nation — out into the world — and put to use the tools you have been given."

"There's a great big nation out there, a wonderful viable system of government, a tool for you to use — to shape, to bend, to mold, and to improve. It is literally true today that a man may determine — to a very large degree, indeed — his own destiny. In America this was not always possible. But it is today. I believe that."

The 41 year-old Mayor also warned the students not to mislead themselves into believing that they know everything because "this is no time for stiff deception."

The Mayor urged the graduates, mostly Negro, to become "intellectual militants" with belief in themselves and democracy. He cited the life of the late Dr. Martin Luther King as example.

SENATORS BROOKE AND SCOTT EVALUATE 'FAIR HOUSING BILL, DR. KING'S WORK'

Scott Praised for Support of Civil Rights

Senator Edward Brooke (R-Mass.) this week praised Senator Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) for his leadership in helping pass the Worker Protection-Fair Housing Act, the 1968 civil rights legislation.

During a television and radio program on which they appeared, Sen. Brooke said, "...you (Sen. Scott) certainly are deserving and entitled to much commendation for the part that you played in the passage of the civil rights legislation in the Senate."

Sen. Brooke commented further on Sen. Scott's efforts to urge prompt passage of the bill in the House of Representatives.

Both Senators then discussed the implications of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Sen. Scott said: "Martin Luther King was an important man, but it was the kind of importance which, if it was not there, would have had better been evaluated and understood."

"John XXIII was an important man. He didn't have much time. Calvin was an important man. Luther was an important man. The work of men on earth—God's work—is done by important men."

Sen. Brooke added: "Hugh, Hugh Scott, you are an important man and I'd like to be as important man myself, and I know you got really filled up about this. You feel so strongly about it and you're grateful we have people like you in

In conclusion, Sen. Scott said: "Somebody said to me the other day, 'Who are the poor in America?' Red Cross Starting "Shop Early--1968"

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Christmas is coming early to the American Red Cross again in 1968.

For the third successive year, its chapters across the country will stage a "Shop Early" program to provide Christmas gift bags for all U. S. servicemen and servicewomen stationed in South Vietnam during the holiday season.

Last year the more than 610,000 gift bags filled with small comfort and recreational articles that were sent to the Asian country for distribution to Americans there brought a flood of "thank-you" letters from men and women of all ranks in the services.

More than half the 3,300 ARC chapters participated in 1967. Co-operating with them in many communities were thousands of local business firms and civic, patriotic, religious and fraternal organizations.

A similar plan will be followed in "Red Cross Shop Early - Vietnam 1968".

Red Cross chapters have been provided with the specifications for the bags themselves and with the list of suggested contents. Those participating will enlist the cooperation of organizations and businesses wishing to make their contributions to the servicemen's Christmas.

The bags, red or green in color will be made of cotton material sturdy enough to withstand the

4 Religious Groups Joins Civil Rights

WASHINGTON — Four national Protestant, Catholic and Jewish organizations have joined a civil rights group in urging the U. S. Supreme Court to outlaw state residency requirements for welfare cases seeking Federally-sponsored relief aid.

The five groups filed a joint amicus curiae (friend-of-the-court) brief supporting lower court decisions invalidating residency requirements enacted by Connecticut, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia.

Submitting the brief were these groups:

- American Jewish Congress
- Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds
- National Conference of Catholic Charities
- National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A.
- Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund for Racial Equality, Inc.

The National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association also supports this argument in the brief it was noted.

'POOR RELIEF IS PART OF BASIC LAW OF THE LAND'

In urging the abolition of state residency requirements under the Federally-supported program of Aid to Families With Dependent Children (AFDC), the five organizations asserted:

"Poor relief is so fundamental and of such long standing as to be regarded as part of the 'basic law of the land' which is incorporated in the due process concept. It would be inconsistent with our system of law to recognize this responsibility while denying those who would benefit from it the right to enforce it."

Regarding the "unconstitutional burden" placed by residency requirements on the right to travel between the states, the brief declares:

"Government cannot bargain with the poor so as to buy up basic rights of citizenship in exchange for the necessities of life."

"Residency requirements in effect take from the poor the right to travel, the right to make the most of job opportunity and freedom to associate with relatives and loved ones."

"The residency requirement punishes not only those who may conceivably move for high welfare payments but also the family looking for work and even the man who comes to the state having a job which ends for reasons beyond his control. The good are thus punished in order to get to the few bad. This blunderbuss technique is not constitutionally permissible, particularly where rights of freedom are involved," Lawyers

INTEREST OF THE AMICI

The American Jewish Congress is a national organization of American Jews formed in part to protect the religious, civil, political and economic rights of Jews, to implement Jewish values and to promote the principles of democracy.

The Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds, Inc. is a national association of 222 central Jewish community organizations serving 800 communities representing 95 per cent of the Jewish population of the United States.

The National Conference of Catholic Charities was established in 1910 and is the coordinating body of the social service program of the Catholic Church in the United States.

The National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. is the co-operative agency of thirty four Protestant and Orthodox religious denominations with an aggregate membership of 42,000,000 throughout the United States.

The Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund for Racial Equality, Inc. is an independent national organization formed in 1962 to assist local community organizations and civil rights groups.

These organizations have entered the case, according to the brief, "because they have become increasingly concerned with the deepening gulf between the great majority of Americans who enjoy the benefits of our unparalleled affluence and the minority who have been denied the opportunity to share in our abundance."

"We believe," the brief states, "that the concepts of human dignity embodied in our Constitution and Bill of Rights must be asserted in this area to prevent this society from abandoning its poor."

A total of 38 states have residency under the Federal AFDC program.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK Looking Back to 1868

14-D in a series. The Lingard Comedy Company from London was a popular success at Theater Comique, New York, in 1868, despite a novel rival attraction on Broadway. Persons who left the Theater Comique humming the song introduced in the United States by the Lingard company, "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines," were attracted by a sign emblazoned, THE GREATEST MECHANICAL EXHIBITION IN THE WORLD.

A craze was developing for bicycling, an outdoor sport that men and women could enjoy together publicly and respectfully. There, at the Exhibition, was a kind of bicycle that promised freedom from pedaling: a steam velocipede, "pronounced a perfect triumph in mechanism. It can be driven up any hill, and will outspeed any horse in the world," it was declared by the exhibitors.

This apparently was the steam-driven motorcycle invented in 1868 by William A. Austin of Wintthrop, Mass. Steam was raised in a boiler suspended between the two wheels and below the rider, who could pedal the front wheel if necessary. It became necessary after relatively short runs because of the small amount of steam that could be generated, but this was a relief for the rider astride the tank streaming hot vapor, and without a braking device.

Incidentally, 1868 was the year George Westinghouse invented the air-brake, one of the most important safety-devices in transportation.

William Lingard, who headed the company at Theater Comique, wrote the words of "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines" to music by T. MacLagan. The "Greatest Mechanical Exhibition in the World" proved much less a counter-attraction to his comedy company than another troupe from England, the Lydia Thompson burlesque, whose production of Ilion, or The Man at the Wheel featured a stunning, statuesque blonde — Miss Thompson herself — who established a fashion. "In less than two years (after 1868) blondes bedazzled the country," it is stated in Variety Music Cavalcade, by Julius Mattfield (pub. by Prentice-Hall).
