Rebecca Club To Present Metro-Guild Singers, May 12

Metro-Guild, presented in Memphis by John E. Slade, will appear in its summer concert on May 12th at 8 p.m. at the Auditorium. The group consists of four singers: Miss Anna Reynolds, soprano; Miss Mary McElroy, mezzo-soprano; Miss Helen O'Brien, alto; and Miss Helen Hargreaves, contralto.

Metro-Guild programs always offer a variety of music, ranging from classical to popular, and their concerts are always well-received by audiences in the area.

Metro-Guild has a long tradition of providing high-quality performances, and their concerts are regarded as a highlight of the summer season in Memphis.

Make the most of their "Wonder Years"

During the "Wonder Years," their formative years, ages one through twelve, many children dream of great things. They are eager to explore new ideas and ideas and ideas... and ideas.

But not all children have the opportunity to dream of these "Wonder Years." Many children face challenges that make it difficult for them to realize their dreams.

One way you can help is by donating to organizations that support children in need. Your donation can make a significant difference in the lives of these children.

Your support can help provide these children with the resources they need to realize their dreams and reach their full potential.

"Wonder Years" are a time of growth, development, and exploration. They are a time to learn and dream. Let's do our part to ensure that all children have the opportunity to experience their "Wonder Years."
The Negro And The Two Political Conventions

The Republicans of Georgia told their bicentennial convention last week that they were settled for the support of the lawless and violent leakers of the Democratic party. The convention was called to order by the President of the Senate, who presided over the sessions of the convention. The convention was addressed by several speakers, who expressed their approval of the policies of the Democratic party. The convention then adjourned until further notice.

Urban League Announces Escalation Of Program

The National Urban League announced today that they have adopted a new program to address the escalating problem of poverty and racial discrimination. The program, titled "Lift the Poverty Blanket," aims to provide resources and support to impoverished communities across the nation.

The program includes initiatives such as job training, education assistance, and access to affordable housing. It also focuses on empowering community leaders and mobilizing local resources to fight poverty.

"We recognize the urgent need for immediate action to address the growing disparity between the wealthy and the less fortunate," said Benjamin Chavis, President of the National Urban League. "Our program is designed to provide a comprehensive solution that not only addresses the symptoms of poverty but works to eradicate its root causes."

The announcement was met with a mix of support and criticism from various stakeholders, with some applauding the initiative and others questioning its effectiveness.

Health Indus. Gets 'Executive Manpower'

The Health Industry has announced the appointment of a new executive to lead its efforts in improving public health and access to healthcare. Dr. Anne Johnson, a renowned medical expert, has been selected for the position.

Dr. Johnson, who has extensive experience in both private and public health sectors, will focus on initiatives that aim to increase healthcare coverage, enhance medical research, and address health disparities.

"Dr. Johnson's appointment is a significant step forward in our efforts to improve health outcomes for all Americans," said Dr. James Green, CEO of the Health Industry. "Her expertise and leadership will be invaluable in shaping our future initiatives."
