No Bathtubs In Units
But Rent Is Going Up

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) - Landlords are being forced to raise rents in the face of rising costs, but many are refusing to provide bathtubs in their units.

Several landlords have told tenants that bathtubs are not a requirement in their rental units. Some landlords have even gone so far as to tell tenants that bathtubs are not necessary for a proper rental unit.

The situation has led to a growing number of complaints from tenants, who argue that bathtubs are an important amenity and should be included in rental units.

Landlords, however, argue that the costs of providing bathtubs are too high, and that the tenants should be responsible for providing their own bathtubs if they desire.

The issue has become a hot topic in the rental market, with tenants and landlords alike expressing their opinions.

Some Women Are More Accident-Prone

by TURLEY CRANE

Women in New York City are more accident-prone than those in other cities, according to a recent study. The study found that women in New York are involved in more accidents than those in Los Angeles, Chicago, and Philadelphia. In New York, women are more likely to be involved in car accidents, slips and falls, and other accidents. The study also found that women in New York are more likely to be injured in accidents than those in other cities. This is due to the high density of people in New York City, which increases the likelihood of accidents. The study recommends that more safety measures be taken to reduce the number of accidents involving women in New York City.

Do’s And Don’ts

While we all love food, too much of it can be harmful. Here are some tips to enjoy your meals without overindulging:

1. Eat a balanced diet with a variety of foods.
2. Listen to your body and stop eating when you’re full.
3. Avoid snacking between meals.
4. Drink plenty of water.

And don’t:

1. Skip breakfast.
2. Eat too much at dinner.
3. Eat late at night.
4. Drink alcohol with every meal.

Remember, moderation is key to a healthy lifestyle.
