LeMoyne Grads, Parents Advised

In a down-to-earth commencement address last week, Dr. Clarence Mitchell told LeMoyne College's 128 graduates "You are stepping out into a world of turmoil and danger, but you are going into a world that offers a boundless opportunity to those who have courage, vision and, in some cases, the help of family or great fellow humans who may not be relatives."

Dr. Mitchell, who serves as director of the NAACP's Washington Bureau, threw out a challenge to parents, relatives, faculty members and friends of the graduates. "I must tell all of you that your help, your sacrifices and your obligation to these young people do not end when they take off the graduation garb."

The complexities of the world today require that we continue to assist our children and our young people until we are sure that they have sufficient financial security to avoid becoming the victims of loan sharks and ruthless bill collectors. We must continue to make certain that we have done all that we can to see that they go to graduate schools, get good jobs and live in wholesome environments.

To the graduates, he said "Today, as you receive your diplomas, you do not now whether your life ahead includes a trip to Southeast Asia on Government business or a chance to start on a

Two of her children are dead, but the other two were present to witness the happy moment.

On campus from Germany was Miss Vera Little, a star with the West Berlin Opera Company, and Mrs. Helen Little Rainey of Memphis, a teacher at Carnes Elementary School.

Miss Little had stopped off in Memphis after rendering a concert at her alma mater, Talladega College in Alabama. Mrs. Rainey was graduated from LeMoyne seven years ago.

Mrs. Little said four years of college wasn't all fun. "It was hard," she hopes to get a job teaching.

'Pat' Won't Give Up

Atty. J. O. Patterson, Jr., outspoken City Councilman and also a State Representative, failed last week to get Council's approval to his resolution calling for a memorial to Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Mr. Patterson, who has announced he will run for the State Senate, saw Council vote down his resolution which would have renamed Third Street, "Martin Luther King Boulevard."

After sensing the feeling of most of the Councilmen, Mr. Patterson withdrew two other resolutions and said he would introduce them at a later date.

The latter two called for an appropriation of $25,000 to build a memorial to Dr. King and the appointment of a committee of nine citizens to select a public facility to be named for the noted civil rights leader who was assassinated here at the Lorraine Motel.

Efforts by two Memphis organizations to establish memorials to Dr. King may have fallen by the wayside. The first proposal was made by George Stevens, president of the Memphis chapter of the National Business League. Another effort was made by O. C. Evans of the Unity League through the cooperation of Memphis Cares.

Mr. Patterson made it clear he will not give up on his try for a Memphis-sponsored memorial to Dr. King.

Mayor Loeb Picks Harold J. Whalum

Harold J. Whalum, newly elected president of Union Protective Life Insurance Company, has been appointed to the Memphis Park Commission by Mayor Henry Loeb.

Mr. Whalum, 38, of 1775 Glenview, is the first Negro to serve on the Park Commission. He succeeds E. C. (Chip) Barwick who recently accepted.

6 New Contracts Signed At P. O.

Acting Postmaster Lydel Sims has signed new contracts with six postal employees organizations.

Bargaining at the local level was authorized by the National Agreement which became effective last March. The National Agreement which applies to every post office in the United States, is a broad charter for postal labor relations.

Provisions of the local agreement cover such items as working conditions, vacation scheduling, exercise of seniority rights, and employee bid assignments.

Chief negotiators for the employee organizations were: Frank Smith, Letter Carriers; J. B. Ferguson, Clerks; Turner Gilmore, Mailhandlers; Roscoe Tyler, Vehicle Operators; W. M. Morgan, Maintenance Employees, and Joe Thomas, Jr., Special Delivery Messengers.

It Was Hard, But Mother Of 7 Earns Degree At LeMoyne

One of the graduates receiving a degree last week at LeMoyne College was Mrs. Anastasia Boll Hall of 758 East Georgia who completed her college work "under great handicaps."

Mrs. Hall, who majored in sociology, is a divorcee and the mother of seven children.

She worked her way through college and cared for her large family by working full-time as a licensed practical nurse. She held down two jobs on several occasions.

Her children are enrolled at Booker T. Washington High School, Porter Junior High and Georgia Avenue Elementary School.

"She deserves much credit," said Miss Mariette D. Trigg, professor of sociology at LeMoyne.

"The Baji" by Posner
"The Watusi" by Posner

'Mr. Natural' Is The New Look For Men Of All Ages

NEW YORK, N. Y. -- An entirely new look in men's hair styles emerged recently and it has been eagerly welcomed by men of all ages and in all walks of life. Variations of the Mr. Natural hairstyle are seen everywhere, for its distinguishing characteristics of virile masculinity makes it universally accepted.

The men's hairstyling staff at Posner Laboratories, New York, have just presented to the public a number of exciting new variations of the basic Mr. Natural look. Hamilton Posner, president of the company, first became interested in the "Mr. Natural" style several years ago on a trip to Africa.

"Truly native African hair styles would be too extreme for most Americans," Mr. Posner said, "but there was a look about them that I thought had a definite place in modern male fashion. On my return from Africa, I immediately started working with the men's hairstylists on my staff to determine how this look could be adapted to the American scene."

"Each man," continued Mr. Posner, "can find the style that suits him from the group of distinguished ones that our stylists have created. Some men will prefer a more extreme style; others a more conservative look, but all of the represent fashion's forward look in men's styling. The various styles can be modified to suit a man's personality and facial contour but they all typify the virile masculinity that distinguishes the Mr. Naure look."

In calling attention to "The Watusi" style, Mr. Posner mentioned that is inspired by the tribute of Watusi warriors known for their great height and powerful physiques. Today, "The Watusi" is favored by many college men and other forward thinkers. It is characterized by longer hair and it is shaped rounder and higher at the crown.

Many of the country's leading athletes have adopted "The Swahili" as the perfect style for them. It is close-cropped with definitely defined lines at the temple and ears. It's cool to wear, easy to take care of and handles itself well in the shower, all characteristics which athletes especially appreciate. Its clean-cut Mr. Natural look is the perfect complement to their sleek, muscular appearance.

"It was Sammy Davis," said Mr. Posner, "who really inspired the look of 'The Baji.' Notice its smart, close-cropped, well groomed appearance at the crown and how the hair comes to a quick stop at the temples. It's a real personality cut—one that men in show business feel is truly theirs."

"Even the more conservative young businessmen," remarked Mr. Posner, "will find a variation of the Mr. Natural look to suit their taste in hair styles. 'The Soulin,' for instance is a style that many young, substantial businessmen ask for again and again. Its crisply-cropped look and

2-Day Conference On Human Rights

A two-day Regional Conference on Prejudice and Human Rights will be held at LeMoyne College Friday and Saturday, June 7-8, sponsored by the Memphis Board Office for Human Rights.

Kenote speaker will be Dr. Hollis F. Price, LeMoyne president, who will speak June 8 on "Prejudice in Education and Human Rights." Dr. Price is Vice-Chairman of the Memphis Relations Committee and board chairman of the Memphis Urban League.

The event is expected to draw participants from within a 350-mile radius. Other major speakers will be Dr. Daniel Jordan, director of the Institute for Research in Human Behavior at Indiana State University, Terre Haute, who will talk June 7 at the opening banquet on "Justice for All Peoples" and Fred L. Davis, city councilman, who will speak June 8 on "The Role of Government in Human Rights."

The conference will consist also of five workshops in the following

Senator Robert Kennedy Shot By Youth In California Headquarters

LOS ANGELES, Calif. -- (SNS) Senator Robert Kennedy, Presidential candidate, was shot in the head and upper neck region early Wednesday morning as he and his party attempted to leave the Kennedy headquarters in downtown Los Angeles, California.

The assailant, a young man possibly of Mexican descent, is being held by the Los Angeles Police. At this writing the name of the would be murderer is not known by name, his description by eye witness is that he is perhaps twenty or twenty-one years of age, dark or swarthy complexion, 5' 8" or 5' 10" tall, wearing tennis shoes, a light jacket and dark trousers.

The Police apprehended the youth within five or ten minutes after the crime was committed, the gun or a gun was still in his hands.

In the shooting spree some four or four other persons were hit by wild bullets.

The latest report on Senator Kennedy's condition is that he is still carried on the very critical list. Hospital reports say that the waiting period will be some two or three days.

75-Year-Old Man Shot While Trying To Aid Beaten Lady

CHICAGO (UPI) — A 75-year-old man who came to the aid of a woman in the next apartment when she was attacked in the corridor of their North Side hotel was shot three times by the attacker.

Frank McGuire, who lived in Apartment 708 of the Webster Hotel, was in critical condition at Augustana Hospital with wounds in the neck, chest and right leg.

Mary Rago, 56, who lived in Apartment 708, suffered a broken nose and cuts near the right eye and on the forehead when the attacker beat her.

“As I look toward heaven afar, Tell me Lord, is there for me a golden star?” Rev. Elmer Martin had much to say about Miss Cargill's love and devotion toward her church. He stated that her work had ended at Kansas, but it will continue at her church, and that Kansas' loss was St. Andrew's gain.

“Dear Lord, I Pray to Thee that for some child I may an example be.” Mrs. Mayes is just that for her young granddaughter whom she idolizes. Mrs. Annie M. Greene spoke of her affection and respect for Miss Cargill, who taught her during her early years and encouraged her to become a teacher.

“Look down on me, Lord, as I pray for this is my retirement day.” It was Retirement Day for Miss Cargill and Mrs. Mayes, who were honored at a luncheon at the Luau, Saturday, May 25. Mr. Patterson, toastmaster for the occasion eloquently stated that “Good teachers never die. They just retire.”

Julian Bond Qualifies For Re-Election

State Representative Julian Bond has qualified for reelection to the Georgia House of Representatives.

Bond paid his qualifying fee last week and will seek the Democratic nomination in the September Democratic primary.

This will be the young legislator's fourth race in three years. He was first elected to the Georgia House in 1965, but was prevented from taking his seat. He won reelection in February, 1966 and in November 1966, defeating Democratic and Republican opposition.

He was seated in January, 1967. During the last legislative session, Bond served as a member of the Insurance, Education and State Institution and Property Committees.

He sponsored legislation to increase Negro representation in Atlanta's city government, supported increased salaries for teachers, and helped promote increased workmen's compensation and unemployment insurance in Georgia.

Bond, his wife and four children, live at 162 Euharlee Street, S.W.

A MOTHER'S LOVE

With Love and tenderness, and never a sigh
She cares for her baby every day,
She watches him with a tender eye
To see that no harm shall come his way,
When he cries, she lulls him to sleep
In her arms with a soft lullaby,
While he sleeps a watchful eye she will keep
And when her baby is cross she'll know why
Because that's all in a Mother's love,
She watches him grow from year to year
Teach him to enjoy the beauty in life
Sometimes shedding a silent tear
For she knows this world is a world of strife
That's a mother's love,
Whatever he does, wherever he may go,
His mother's prayers will always follow him,
While at home there'll always be an open door
And a shining light that never grows dim,
For that's a mother's love.

JUGS GIVE MOD MOD KATHOSCOPE BALL AT RIVERFRONT

Popular Young Matrons Present 100th To Goodwill Homes, Payment on Swimming Pool.

Elaborate plans have been taking shape for the past three months for the J.U.G.S. Mod Mod Kathoscope Ball given again at the fabulous Riverfront on the River. This is the young matrons' 14th ball, and one that all party hosts look forward to attending every year. This year, as in the past, proceeds will go to charity, it was pretty Mrs. A. D. Miller (hostess) president of JUGS who made a presentation to Mrs. A. W. Willis, Jr. for six thousand dollars, an initial payment on a swimming pool for the children at Goodwill Homes. Mrs. Willis is a member of the board. After the presentation Mrs. Miller thanked the audience, saying that they have been overwhelmed by the generosity of their advisers, patrons and by their "Living Ads," pretty young high school girls and graduates.

The beauty and costumes worn by Living Ads were simply fantastic and Riverfront is a place where one can have fun-hearty, unselfconscious enjoyment of bright lights, music and restaurants that compare with the finest in the world. But it was Johnnie Landon whose band played and "Hank Crawford and our fanned come out to sing—doing just one number.

A cocktail party preceded the dance and a Champagne party was given after the ball on the fourth floor at the end of all of the suite rented by JUGS. In fact local JUGS their spouses and visiting JUGS who came from Detroit, Washington, D. C., Newark, Nashville, Chicago and visitors from Atlanta, New York and Greenville, Miss., all occupied on the fourth floor of the fashionable Riverfront.

The event climaxed a series of meetings. A national convention for the JUGS with Miss Marie Bradford serving as National President and presiding over the meeting in her calm sweet manner.

Among Who's Who came for the National Meeting and Ball were Mrs. James Cole (Rubby), Miss Millie Jones, Mrs. Earl Cabell (Louise), Mrs. Matthew Kirk (Bonnie), Mrs. Clarence Carter (Ethel) and Miss Etta Hixon all of Detroit. Mrs. Evelyn Holland, Mrs. William Barrow (Jeanette), and Mrs. Etta Hixon of Detroit. Mrs. Winnie Morrison of Newark, New Jersey. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Jackson and Mrs. Jones Patton who came in early from Nashville.

Miss Helen Bradford of Chicago, pretty and popular Mrs. Ed Clayton (Kerona) who presented several books that her late husband wrote on Martin Luther King to the group at the ball. Dr. and Mrs. Edwards of Tyler, Texas who also visited with two brothers-in-law and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Longino Cooks and Dr. and Mrs. Theron Norcross. Mr. William Toles, representative for the Continental Baking who flew in early New York City. Mr. Charles Sterling of New York. Mr. Hosea Martin who came from Coca Cola Bottling Company in Atlanta. Mr. George Brown who came from Pepsi Cola Company in Birmingham. And the charming Mrs. Gloria Yaddell, Mrs. and Mrs. James Smith's guest who came from Greenville, Miss.

Law Student Had Enough Of Gov. Maddox

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SBS)—

(United Press International)—A university law student who decided he had "put up" with Gov. Lester Maddox long enough, stood alone in front of the state capitol Wednesday — his American flag flying at full staff.

Hugh O'Donnell, a 22-year-old Emory University law student was protesting Gov. Maddox's decision Tuesday ordering flags to half staff in mourning over the U. S. Supreme Court's latest decision on school desegregation.

"His Maddox's flag may be at half mast, but mine's not," O'Donnell said.

"You reach a point where you can put up with Lester just so long," he said. "Then you can't put up with him any more. I've decided not to put up with him any longer."

However, state authorities soon decided they were no longer going to put up with the lone demonstrator, and told the bearded student it was against state law to protest on state property without a permit and told him to leave.

Later in the afternoon O'Donnell stood across the street in front of a Presbyterian church off state property, his American flag still flying at full staff.

Mr. And Miss Graduate,

Graduation time is decision time. It is the first crossroad in the lives of the young people whose first ambition has been rewarded. It points the finger of destiny down the road which one must try out after making a decision. Hence, this is the season and the day.

In a college center, we see them all about us. They are heading for the long trail of careers. They feel of themselves that they must do further study and here is the point of decision where they must pause.

On every hand the state is doing much more now for education than in previous years. The trail of the high school transition was always crowded with dropouts. Here is the dropout headquarters for many a fine possibility dropped out at this first station, "to be seen and heard no more" insofar as their ambition for the profession they longed.

On every hand we face a shortage in those professions denied in former years to our group. This gap is now being filled with scholarships, gifts and other means of help. The state is lending money for the equipment of individuals for the avenues of professions in which we find an acute shortage.

Let those who are graduating look about them and find the ways and means by which they may continue their education if they cannot get the right job.

Don't be a drop out at the most critical point of your life. Mr. and Miss Graduate, keep up the good fight. The hour and the day are yours.

Hanoi's Performance

The performance of North Vietnam's delegation in Paris thus far leaves little justification for optimism on this side. The North Vietnamese have stepped up the war, have demanded the United States halt its bombing and have refused to admit they are actively engaged in the fighting in South Vietnam.

It is a standard Communist tactic to slander foes, repeat falsehoods and make impossible demands. Whether behind this initial blarney Hanoi is willing to seriously discuss deescalation of the war is the key question.

When and if it's certain the Communists are not willing to enter into serious discussions, with a genuine desire to work out a deescalation, Washington must then decide upon its course: stronger military action or some kind of effort to turn over to other countries, especially South Vietnam, more of the burden of defense of that country.

If it should be well established that Hanoi has used the negotiation appeal of the President and Paris meeting for propaganda purposes only, and to escalate its military effort, then those who now propose stronger military action against North Vietnam will have gained considerable moral backing for their recommendations, a course Governor Ronald Reagan of California has already proposed.

Clark College Graduates 104 In 99th Commencement

By JOHN L. DAVIS
(World News Staff)

ATLANTA, Ga. — (SNS) — On Monday morning Clark College concluded its 99th Commencement exercises on the traditional "Open air auditorium," the site was the campus quadrangle in the midst of stately buildings and tall shade trees.

Dr. Vivian Henderson, College President was respondent as he introduced the speaker, Dr. Andrew F. Brimmer of the Board of Governors of the U. S. Federal Reserve System.

Dr. Brimmer challenged the graduates to decide for themselves if they were aspiring to be the best Negro teacher, preacher or doctor, or simply one of the best in the field, with a disregard to ethnic background.

The speaker held the audience well as he pointed out the many fields of endeavor available to the prepared person in this age and he stressed the fact the color of one's skin is not on trial for it is the capability of the mind that really holds the interest.

The graduating class embraced 104 students who sat nervously in the bright morning sun, as did the many anxious parents and relatives.

The college honors were won by Ellis M. Alexander, Marion Brock, the Bachelor, Hiram Brando E. Donaldson, Robert H. Jones, Charles P. Sullivan, McKinley G. Little, John, Mary Ann Reed, George A. Simon, Leroy Glade, and Jeannette Turner.

The Magna Cum Laude was won by Patricia Gayle Cobb, the Cum Laude going to Gayle L. Greenwood.

The invocation for the exercise was rendered by Rev. Major J. Jones, TMD; greetings from the trustees was done by A. M. Carter, LL.M. class of '18.

Recognition of honors and fellowships was done by John D. Withers, Ph.D., the degree to the class was done by President Henderson. Benediction was rendered by Cecil Myers, D.D., pastor of the Grace Methodist church, Atlanta, Ga.

The ceremony was due to the music of the "Marching Band," the band was Mrs. Sarah Harris.

Patrick, B. S. L. S.; the total music was rendered by the Clark College philharmonic society, J. deKoven Killingsworth, Mus. D., Director, Bernard Hunter, Mus. B., Organist, Joseph Donald Meeks, M. P. A. Pianist.

"It was a good time, it was a fearful time, but most of all it was a joyful time for the 104 recipients of the long sought after 'sheepskins,' and their tearful happy well-wishers, the scholarly face of President Henderson was a bit tearstained as he indulgently smiled farewell to some of his recent charges.

One mother from Cleveland, Ohio literally did a dance as her daughter proudly strutted from the small rostrum with degree in hand with visible tears streaming down her face, she said an audible prayer, "Thank you Lord."

Laundry Pays $250 Back Wages To Employee

SPECIAL — A. and A. Laundry, Incorporated, and Kemo Owens of Atlanta, have paid $250 in back wages due an employee under the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA), which constitutes full payment for losses sustained by the employee due to her illegal discharge.

The company offered her reinstatement to her prior position on May 13, 1968, she accepted on May 14, and subsequently waived her right to remain in their employ.

The firm and Owens stipulated present and future compliance with applicable provisions of the FLSA, and particularly, that they will not discharge or in any other manner

Hummingbird II Rolled Out By Lockheed-Georgia

MARIETTA, GA. — UPI — The newest version of the vertical takeoff and landing aircraft was rolled out for tests Tuesday by the Air Force and Lockheed-Georgia Co.

The XV-4B Hummingbird II, the only U. S. vertical takeoff craft using direct jet lift, will be used in tests to explore vertical and short takeoff and landing procedures and to develop control systems for future such aircraft.

The two-place jet has four engines and resembles a conventional jet fighter with side by side seating for the crewmen. Its engines are mounted on the fuselage, two of them vertically to provide lifting power.

The plane was developed for the Systems Command Flight Dynamics Laboratory at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio. Its maximum speed is 410 knots.

The Hummingbird II will be tested on the ground then undergo five months of further flight tests before being turned over to the Air Force and North American Rockwell Corp. for research at Edwards AFB, Calif.

Minnesota Congressman Says: Student Action Effective In Areas

ATLANTA, Ga. — (SNS) — The student movement is "a realistic element today," that has meant a tremendous force of good in bringing about effective changes in key areas, Cong. Donald M. Fraser of Minnesota said in his Commencement address at Spelman College Monday morning.

Student action has played "a profound impact upon our government," especially in the areas of foreign policy, civil rights and anti-poverty, he said.

Rep. Fraser of the Fifth Congressional District added that student activism is not new on the American horizon and that its influence today has been felt within the political area as well as in the administrative policies of higher educational institutions.

The Minnesota Congressman, who has been profound in initiating and fighting for open housing legislation, emphasized that such is "a framework for bringing about equal rights and solving the problems of the ghetto."

He added that there must be a nationwide consensus for open housing in order to correct the violence in the low-income areas today. He said that open housing would improve better jobs and training, replace inferior homes and bring about better schools and recreational facilities.

A former State Senator, Congressman Fraser has been instrumental in such legislation as medicare, the war on poverty and civil rights. He serves on several subcommittees, among them the Foreign Operations and the Asia and Special Areas Subcommittees.

President, Albert E. Manley introduced the speaker, praising him as a fine statesman and intellectual. A graduate of the University of Minnesota, Cong. Fraser was a practicing lawyer in Minneapolis a just prior to running for the Senate.

There were 165 seniors taking part in the commencement exercises, marking its 81st services and 87th Anniversary of the founding of the all female college. Out of the class, 61 seniors are going on to graduate school and 53 are taking teacher jobs.

Receiving Magna Cum Laude honors were Misses Patricia King and Cynthia Smith, while Cum Laude honors went to 23 others.

Other speakers on the program were Rev. A. C. Epps of Warren Memorial Church, who gave the Prayer and Rev. Harmon D. Moore, Executive director of Christian Council of Metro Atlanta, who read the Scripture. The Benediction was given by Rev. Norman M. Rates, the college minister.

Special recognition was made to Mrs. Florence Read, former president and Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, former President of Morehouse College.

Before closing President Manley paid tribute to the late civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King, whose body laid in state in Sisters Chapel, where the commencement services were held, for 48 hours. He challenged the graduates to be "women of compassion and women of intelligence," two qualities he stressed that the late Dr. King lived and died for.

Youth Slugged, Tied Up By Burglars

ATLANTA, Ga. — (SNS) — Jeffrey Irwin, Robinson, 15, of 7275 Doncourtney Dr. was knocked unconscious and tied up after apparently surprising burglars breaking into a refreshment stand in a north Fulton County park Sunday afternoon.

The youth was dropped off at Morgan Falls Park Sunday at about 1 p. m. for a baseball game. Realizing that no one had arrived, he walked around waiting for the others. As he walked by a refreshment stand he heard a noise behind him, he informed police, then he was struck on the head.

After regaining consciousness the boy found himself behind a refrigerator where his hands and feet had been tied with an electric cord and an apron. A door leading into the stand had also been forced open.

Morris Brown Graduation Held Wednesday

ATLANTA, Ga. — (SNS) — Morris Brown College held its commencement program Wednesday at 10 a. m. in the college gymnasium with former Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan as speaker. Dr. John A. Middleton, president, will preside at these services.

Participating in the closing program of the year were Bishop E. L. Hickman, chairman of the executive trustee board of Morris Brown, Dr. J. H. Penn, dean of the college; Rev. Walter G. Cook, pastor of Rock Springs Presbyterian Church, Atlanta; Dr. T. P. Flannagan, pastor, Antioch A. M. E. Church, Decatur; and Dr. L. M. Terrill, pastor, Zion Hill Baptist Church, Atlanta and president of the General Missionary Baptist Convention of Georgia.

Music for the program was rendered by the college choir under the direction of Dr. G. Johnson Hubert.

Search Goes On For Scorpion

NORFOLK, VA. — UPI — The Navy kept up its far flung Atlantic search for the missing nuclear submarine Scorpion and 99 crewmembers through a ninth day Tuesday without giving any official hint that it is losing hope.

Although no trace has been found since the Scorpion failed to complete an Atlantic crossing, on schedule May 27, the Navy still officially listed the submarine simply as "missing."

The fact the Navy expects to convene a court of inquiry Wednesday morning does not reflect a change in the official status of the search, the Navy said, since these courts frequently are convened while activity still is in progress.

The Navy continued to focus a part of its search in shallow waters south of the Azores, where the Scorpion had its last radio contact.

Other search ships backtracked over the submarine's intended course toward its Norfolk base.

In the Azores operation, the nuclear submarine Cato and submarine rescue ship Kittiwake shifted operations from the Cruiser and Irving Banks, after completing their search of those mountainous undersea areas, and began searching the Hyeres Banks, 55 miles to the southwest.

The French submarine, Requin, was detached from the search after completing its operation at the Marshalla Banks and resumed its eastward cruise across the Atlantic, the Navy said.

The ammunition ship Shasta has completed a visual search of the Scorpion's projected track across the Atlantic and was detached to resume normal operations in the Mediterranean.

Subject: "THE TEACHER, A BRIDGE BUILDER"
TEXT: "I Will Draw All Men Unto Me." — John 12:32

Our regular school season has ended; it is fitting that we salute our teachers. Like the greatest of all teachers, Jesus, our teachers are bridge builders.

Jesus was a teacher, a teacher came from God. Jesus was a bridge builder, Drawing men across the chasm unto Him. Jesus is a bridge across deep waters.

How Jesus loved to build bridges! The greatest bridge was built by Jesus. It will never break because it is supported by two wooden beams, in the form of a cross, A cross on which he was crucified. A Cross that Bridge Jesus draws all men unto Him.

The school teacher is a Bridge builder. Those dear, traditional figures of our school, the lady teachers, are like beautiful ships bringing their precious cargoes of information, inspiration, and guidance to the plastic minds and hearts of little tots and youths. These lady teachers are building bridges for time and eternity.

Too, the men teachers, who have not been crushed by the calumny of derision voiced by the thoughtless and unappreciative who look with askance upon men as teachers, the men teachers perform a yeoman service in the overall task of building bridges, as they reach and teach tomorrow's adults citizenship, words and numbers.

We need bridges to help span the chasm between childhood and manhood. We need bridges across the chasm of ignorance. We need bridges! We cannot cross over into the full promise of God's blessings until bridges are built for us. The teacher is a bridge builder. The mind of the teacher must cross over the bridge an merge with the mind of the child. Teaching is not a matter of conveying knowledge, but the power to cause a child to develop what power he has hidden within him.

Teaching is not a matter of an adult's dictating to a child, but the meeting and merging on an educational bridge of an enriched and matured mind with a promising and budding mind. A sacred and sweet trust is that on a teacher who is shaping and molding for time and eternity.

One teacher, in recognizing this sacred trust of his dealing in divinely plastic, yet human clay, penned these lines:

"I took a piece of plastic clay And idly fashioned it one day: And as my fingers pressed it still It moved and yielded to my will.

I came again when days were past The bit of clay was hard at last: The form I gave it, it still bore: But I could change that form no more.

I took a piece of living clay And gently formed it, day by day. A young child's soft and yielding heart.

I came again when years were gone— It was a man I looked upon. He still that early impress wore; And I could change him nevermore."

Youth is looking to its teachers.

EDITOR CONVINCED OF THE POWER OF THIS FAMOUS FORTUNE TELLER

By WALTER C. ROBINSON, Editor, The Chattanooga Observer

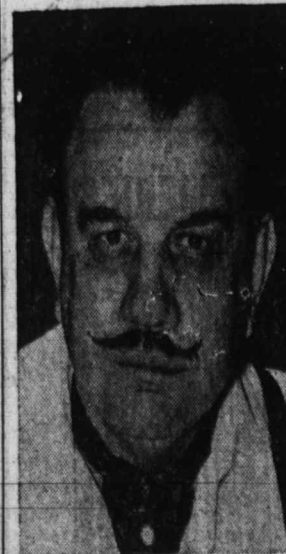

Have you ever wondered about those persons who are gifted by God to see into the future and are able to work miracles on earth through God? When I think of one man I do not think that prophecy ended with the Bible. Through faith and power of God this man — according to their statements — has restored the sight of Mary King, Flint, Mich. and Cleve Corbin, Chattanooga, Tenn., when they were blind.

This man has helped thousands who came from near and far with every kind of problem. Word of mouth has spread untold praise of this remarkable man. People come with heavy hearts and light filled with joy and hope and new faith in their future. Husbands and wives have been brought back home, and a sweetheart was brought back even from Canada through the strange power of this gifted man. I know of a man who spent a great deal to get help to bring his wife back. In despair he came to Doc Anderson, who got results in one day. I smile when I think of the man who came to Doc Anderson to help find his unfaithful wife. Doc told him where to find her and was he surprised! Older men and women tell and marvel at the way he has restored their nature.

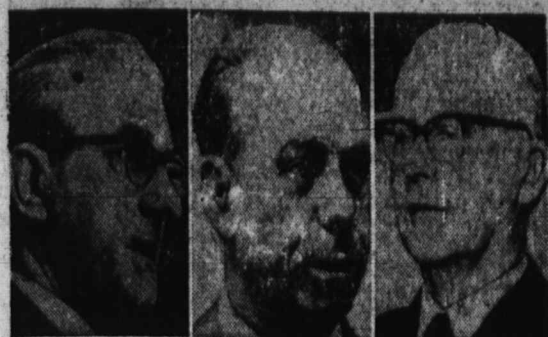

This unusual man — through his mysterious gifts dating back to his boyhood — has pointed out stolen and hidden money — $1,500 — after everybody else failed. The success of his financial blessings is known all over the world. He performs miracles when he removes Evil Spells from people, reclaiming them from the "living dead."

His famous predictions were mentioned on the "Meet the Press" program, Sept. 30, 1966. It is wonderful how he tells your past, present and future without you saying a word. This remarkable man has a drawer full of unsolicited letters from grateful people testifying to their peace of mind, happiness and financial success. Most of them ended with wishes of God's blessings for Doc Anderson.

I could write for hours about his wonderful words and gifts and power, but maybe you would like to see him yourself, so you may write DOC R. C. ANDERSON, 302 W. Gordon Ave., Rossville, Ga. for information about his work or phone 831-1091 Area Code 404 if you wish to make a date to see him in person. He is as close to you as your telephone (Rossville, Ga. joins Chattanooga, Tenn.) I am told you must see him in person to be helped. I understand that he can be seen seven days a week.

Feel Of Worsteds In Washable Knits

At last! A fabric achievement that makes the necessity of wringing a thing of the past for a woman's "good Fall dress" and costume. Now care-free fashions have been extended into the Fall season with Puritan's development of a new, rich breed of knits known as WUSTAREL Knits.

For the first time, a woman can purchase a Puritan Forever Young style in a firm, full-bodied worsted knit, and throw it into her washing machine and dryer with care-free abandon!

The development of this fabric breakthrough came about when experts at the Puritan knitting plant, Winston Mills, located in Bogota, New Jersey joined with Celanese Fibers technicians to develop a substantial "luxury" fabric that would not require luxurious treatment. The result of their combined efforts—a soft, shapely, durable WUSTAREL knit of Celanese Fortrel spun polyester.

Puritan is confident that this achievement will be enthusiastically received by women across the country. Therefore, Forever Young has created a collection of smart, versatile dresses and costumes in the latest silhouettes and colorings to bring this exciting fabric development in Fall's fashion focus.

WQXI-TV Welcomes Jonathan Frid

Jonathan Frid, alias "Barnabas Collins," the 17th-year-old vampire of ABC-TV's "Dark Shadows," winged into Atlanta on May 19th on the first stop of a ten city promotional tour.

After being welcomed by a barrage of screaming teenage fans at the Atlanta Municipal Airport, Frid was guest of honor at a WQXI-TV "Frid on the Wing Press Conference" at the Marriott Motor Hotel.

Approximately sixty editors representing high school and college papers in the Atlanta area were confronted at the door by Atlanta's Eleven Girl Freddie Lee who under hypnosis turned from side to side in a coffin while holding a "Barnabas Collins Press Conference" sign. The candle-lit press room was appropriately adorned with cobwebs, cellophane, and bats. Ethereal music in the background was punctuated by occasional female screams followed by mystical laughter. The studio's Atlanta—Eleven Girls, clad in black, served guests "Frid Fingers," "Eye-or-Pamper," "Barnabas Tongue," and "Collins Cooler." Steaming black ice cream for "cool ghouls" completed the menu.

Guests bombarded the fanged Frid with questions ranging from "How does it feel to be in a coffin?" to "Why are females crazy about Barnabas?" Frid's immediate answer: "There's something about being bitten on the neck."

If Socrates Were Alive He'd Be A Victim Today

If Julius Caesar, Napoleon, Socrates, and St. Paul were alive today, they would probably find themselves restricted by the laws of many states so that they could not easily obtain jobs according to their ability, drive an automobile, perhaps even be forbidden to marry or bear children. They would very possibly have to endure prejudice and rejection by segments of the public because they all shared one characteristic—they all had epilepsy.

Epilepsy, a neurological disorder that affects people of all races and backgrounds, is one of the oldest ailments known to man, but it remains one of the most misunderstood.

Even today, when new advances in medicine technology have made it possible for 75 to 85 percent of all epileptics to achieve significant or complete control of their seizures, misconceptions and unjust "whisperings" of "madness" or "incompetence" still haunt people who have the disorder.

These charges of mental disability, which do not stand up in the face of fact, hurt. Because of them an epileptic child who has occassional spasms may be labeled "crazy" and not allowed to play with the neighborhood kids, or a trained, capable young man may have to apply for welfare simply because employers will not hire an epileptic.

Actually, people with epilepsy have proven to be, if anything, more careful and more conscientious on the job than the average worker. And there are some epileptics who approach genius as well as some who are brain-damaged. Of this latter group epilepsy is only a symptom of the condition, not a cause.

To the fact of the facts, then, epilepsy is not a very frightening disorder at all. What is frightening is the unfounded fears and superstitions that still surround it. These misconceptions are being dispelled slowly by the newly-formed Epilepsy Foundation of America.

For the fact about a disorder that affects an estimated 44,000 Georgians, write the Greater Atlanta Chapter, Epilepsy Foundation of America, 1400 Peachtree St., Atlanta, Ga. 30309.

Sunday School Lesson

MEMORY SELECTION: "Then Job answered the Lord, and said, I know that thou canst do every thing, and that no thought can be withholden from thee." Job 42:1-3.

LESSON TEXT: Job 38-41. Today we live in a world that with the speed of mechanical travel and the thrust into space—becomes increasingly smaller. It is undeniably true that, with knowledge, automatically comes a bias acceptance!

This is not the case in the times in which the Bible is couched. Then as indeed it should be now the people saw, in the greatness of the Creator.

God, in His greatness, gave man a question mark. It is undoubted by a matter of both joy and sorrow to Him that man has used it creatively and destructively; creatively when it is concerned with the advances of medicine, vanquishing an erstwhile deadly disease; destructively when it invents an A-bomb, directed solely at taking and despoiling the life which is God-given.

And, should you question the charge of being "blessed," stop and think a minute. Remember how we walked with bare feet, to see if that gave human beings enclosed in a cage, would return easily to earth? How often, now, do we take the trouble to turn our television sets on to see another launch? We have accepted it as part of the course, we acknowledge that it takes "buts" and we wish we had them! But we do not wait and watch with bated breath for the outcome. We are too busy living in this world we know, dealing with its trials and its frustrations, to be overly concerned with a realm which we do not know, and from which we feel removed!

We do not understand a lot of things while travelling—in passing at their existence. God spoke to Job from out of the midst of a whirlwind, and His voice was symbolic of the mystic and might of the Almighty, and His revelations to mankind.

And still in our quiet, more introspective moments we cannot re-

background was punctuated by occasional female screams followed by mystical laughter. The studio's Atlanta—Eleven Girls, clad in black, served guests "Frid Fingers," "Eye-or-Pamper," "Barnabas Tongue," and "Collins Cooler." Steaming black ice cream for "cool ghouls" completed the menu.

Guests bombarded the fanged Frid with questions ranging from "How does it feel to be in a coffin?" to "Why are females crazy about Barnabas?" Frid's immediate answer: "There's something about being bitten on the neck."

train (at the end of a trying and troublesome day) from looking up at the night sky, marvelling at the stars, and enjoying the quiet peace that lies over familiar surroundings. We cannot—looking at the small perfection of a newborn baby—cease to marvel at the wonders of a Creator, whose ways we do not pretend to comprehend!

In such instances we can only fall back on the words of Job: "I am small account; how can I answer thee?" Man is man, and God is God. Man is limited by time; God knows no such boundaries. He is infinite. Man is limited in knowledge, in comprehension, God is not.

We earthbound creatures, who lack the physical mental and emotional stamina of today's Astronauts, pay the penalty of our cravenness. For we miss out on an experience with God that is known to few. Certain it is that any man who enters outer space, and orbits the earth, must be nearer to God, more humble in spirit, more aware of His wonders, than we earthbound creatures can ever hope to be!

The miracle of God is still around us. It is clearly visible in the carrying of the sky in the song of the birds, and in the cry of a baby newly emerged from its mother's womb.

We do not understand the miracle of birth; we can only be completely awed by it. We do not understand the workings of God; we can only accept them. We must not, as Job slurred, in questioning His ways, Knowledge, mystery deepens—but God's infinitude lives on!

Red Cross Give Safety Tips On Swimming Now

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Sixty per cent of Americans who drove to the water accidentally, the Red Cross said today.

"If they had been able to swim, they could have saved themselves," A. B. Murphy, national director of Red Cross Safety Services, declared.

Mr. Murphy issued safety advice for the 100 million Americans expected to use the water for recreation this summer, on the eve of Memorial Day, official opening date of the swimming season in most of the country.

He said that drownings have increased in each of the last three years for which records are complete, 1964-66—and that the latter year was the first since the early 1920's that water fatalities reached the 7,000 mark.

"Even though that is 3,000 fewer than the 10,000 a year average of 35 years ago, when few people participated in water sports and before the Red Cross and other organizations became active in water safety education, the figure is still too high," he added.

"Hence the first water safety lesson is to learn to swim," Mr. Murphy said. "If you can swim, learn to better swim. Your Red Cross chapter can tell you when swimming classes are scheduled."

Emphasis On Good Look Of Quality

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Helen Ross, the designer whose clothes if not her name, are familiar to nearly a generation of Hollywood moviegoers, introduced a fall collection Wednesday that bore her trademark of dramatic elegance.

Mrs. Ross, twice winner of Academy Awards and 10 times a nominee for her costume designs, had off Wednesday's showing of fall collections by members of the Los Angeles Fashion Guild.

For evening there was the flamboyance of a short gown with brown jersey top, the neck that plunged to a large rhinestone buckle at the waist, and a skirt of wide, horizontal bands of white tulle.

For daytime there was the total look of beautiful, delicate, feminine dress and suit ensembles. These dresses were carefully shared, too, to the body with only a sliver of neckline in the skirt.

From the narrowest of A-lines she often used the high waisted, Georgia Bullock and the theme of her expensive line when she said: "It appears the emblems of the far-out look has run its course and it no longer holds its appeal for a woman of taste. It's the emblem of the far-out look more genteel look of quality."

Her line had just that. It was a collection of quite and tasteful clothes that wear and travel well for today's busy woman. Her style house was slender, too, with only a slight A-line to the skirt.

JACKSON MARION Views

DR. WALTER S. DAVIS RESIGNS AT TENN. STATE
Dr. Walter S. Davis, the all-time, athletic-backed president of Tennessee A & I State University, has resigned. One of the tremendous innovators of competition, Dr. Davis, who has been filling several months made his farewell in a letter to Tennessee Commissioner of Education J. Howard Wolf. It will become effective Sept. 1. A former head football coach, an alumnus of the institution with graduate degrees from Cornell University, the retiring president has been given signal recognition for his support of championship teams in many areas of sports.

National championships and Olympic medals were prominent during Dr. Davis' magnificent years at the helm of the Nashville institution. Two colleges and universities have been guided by such an athletically ambitious president as a way of life with Dr. Davis.

Still fewer college presidents have shared the head duties as was noteworthily a credential of Dr. Davis.

It was his belief that a president should build strong all-around competitive athletic program of which football should be the hub, as a means of augmenting character skills (the will to win and the ability to lose). He saw athletics as a signal end toward the goal of building character and playing field attitudes.

As a head coach, Dr. Davis had a lifetime record, 1933-36, of 18 wins, 6 defeats and 2 ties.

To build the incomparable Tennessee A & I State College Athletic Program, Dr. Davis, assembled a Faculty Athletic Council that included Dr. A.V. Boswell, chairman, Athletic Director Howard C. Gentry, Dr. S. G. Sawyer, Dr. G. M. Sawyer, Sports PR-Man Ed S. Clanton III, Mrs. A. G. H. Sawyer, Mrs. Gladys Adams, Carl Crisfield, Mrs. Nebraska Mary Sawyer, Dr. J. A. Payne, Dr. Calvin Allison, Dr. John Mallette, and Homer B. Wheaton.

FOOTBALL'S MOST EXTRA-VAGANT years at Tennessee State A & I University began, when Dr. Davis, lured Henry Arthur Kean a way from Kentucky State College, Frankfort. When Kean came into Elysian Fields, there was a coaching committee from which Cornell A. Gentry, A. P. Kean, A. A. M. Kean, was chosen to head the athletic program. Dr. Davis, who coached only a single season in the month before winning the mythical national championship, only to be ousted himself by 1945-46 Coach of the Year John A. Merritt, a two-degree holder from Kentucky State and the University of Kentucky.

Merritt was Dr. Davis' personal choice to replace him and he paid a costly price to lure him away from Kentucky State College in Mississippi. Dr. Davis, a 10-year coaching head in Mississippi, Merritt won the National Championship in 1941 and 1942 Coach of the Year, 1943-44, while coaching a 64-25-2 record. Prior to the 1947 campaign, Merritt had a lifetime mark of 101 victories, 21 defeats and 2 ties.

Palmetto, Ky-born Merritt played pro ball under Willie Kean, a brother of Henry Arthur Kean, at Louisville Central High School and collegiate football under the Grand Old Great at Kentucky State and a Kentucky Guard, Merritt won Louisville Defender and All-Midwestern Athletic Association guard honors in 1949.

DR. WALTER S. DAVIS liked to tell that every man on the Tennessee A & I State University coaching staff was a potential head coach. He did this in appreciating the individual merit of J. C. Coffey, Howard W. Green, Samuel R. Whitson, Shannon D. Little, Alvin Coleman, Nelson F. Mitchell and Joe Gilliam.

Prior to 1967, Tennessee A & I State University football teams had won 230, lost 59 and tied 12. In 1967, the Blue and White Tigers had a 30-0 mark.

Is Pete Rose Most Exciting Player Today?

WINTHROP — who is the most exciting player in baseball today? With Mr. Pete Rose, Cincinnati Reds, the answer is obvious. You can probably find valid arguments for each of the stars in this category for the Cincinnati Reds' aggressive young Pete Rose.

He's not a home run hitter or a home run champion, but it's his power to hit the ball that makes him different.

Dubbed "Charlie Hustle" for his famous sprints to first base after receiving a walk, Pete is a definite threat to the ballplayer of yesterday. If there's any doubt, just watch one of the patented "bump" slides into a base sometimes. Rose plays a daring style of baseball, whether he's hitting, coming after a fly ball or running the bases. His mannerisms simply perpetuate excitement and enthusiasm.

No stranger at hitting 300, an average he has reached the past three years (312, 313 and 301), Rose is off to the fastest gateway of his career. With more than a fourth of the season completed, Pete is baseball's top hitter and will be aiming for several marks by the end of the year.

It has been 30 years since the Reds' Ernie Lombardi hit .342 in 1938 to pace National League hitters, and this one feat the 26-year-old Rose would like to accomplish. If he's successful, he'll be the first switch-hitter to turn the trick in the N. L. since Pete Beller led the circuit with a .343 average for the 1941 Dodgers.

Collecting 200 hits in a season is another goal. Twice during his five-year major league career the native Cincinnati has registered 200-or-more hits and when you consider only three players (team-mate Vada Pinson, Roberto Clemente and Hank Aaron) active in baseball have done it three-or-more times, you begin to realize just how great an achievement it is.

Georgia Students Among Winners Of School Contest

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SNS)—The forty-second National High School Contest on the United Nations has just been completed. This competition is designed to provide the student with a basic understanding of the purpose and accomplishments of the United Nations. It is aimed at developing his ability to interpret world events as they happen and as they might affect his future.

The Georgia winners of the contest have been announced by the Area Chairman, Mrs. Sidney Q. Janus.

The winner of the first prize is Paul West, Norcross High School, Atlanta, who received a $150.00 U. S. Savings Bond. His teacher is Mr. Arthur Armstrong.

The second prize winner, Steve Goodman, a student at Columbus High School, Columbus, Ga., receives a $100.00 bond. Miss Evelyn Van Land is his teacher. Timothy Hogan, Chamblee, Georgia, a student at St. Pius X High School, Atlanta, receives the third prize, a $75.00 bond. His teacher is Sister John Francis.

Participation in the contest included students from sixteen schools throughout the state. It is the first time a Georgia winner, Paul West, has been included in the one hundred national finalists from throughout the country.

The following people served as judges for the Georgia Area:

Dr. Donald C. Agnew, President of the Atlanta Chapter, United Nations and Director of the Educational Improvement Project, Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

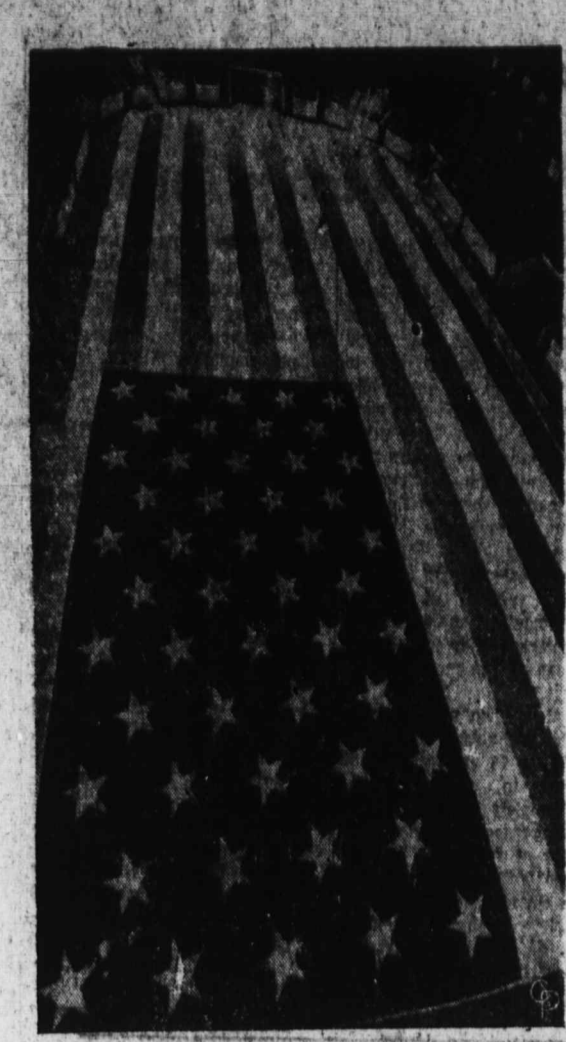

Miss Nora McNeven, Director, Public Relations, Atlanta University. The late Mrs. Jane Martin, formerly in the State Department, more recently associated with the League of Women Voters, Atlanta-Fulton County.

The awards will be made at a dinner of the Atlanta Chapter, United Nations to be held on June 4th at the Progressive Club in Atlanta. Dr. Agnew will preside.

Mr. Herbert Johnson, a well-known lawyer, who is active in the International Association of Jurists, will speak at the World Court.

The public is invited and if you are interested in attending the dinner, reservation may be made by calling the United Nations office, 862-3788.

South Africa Barred From Olympic Competition Now

NEW YORK — There is real justification to the re-exclusion of South Africa from participation in the Olympic Games, according to the International Olympic Committee, which has decided to bar the country from the 1976 Olympic Games in Montreal. The committee's decision is based on the fact that South Africa is a "white-minority" state and that its participation in the Olympics would be a "disgrace to the Olympic ideal."

Maule's report in SI describes the very complex and tragic conditions he found. He concludes that South Africa's agreement to field an integrated Olympic team only appeared to be a significant step in the direction of the Olympic ideal, that in reality the practice of apartheid is escalating and the complete subjugation of the blacks is an unchanging fact of life. He writes:

"By stretching a point, you can imagine the political structure of a nation. But the blatant discrimination in South Africa against the black athlete, who has few playing fields outside the gold mines, where he is an indentured slave, and who has no real freedom, cannot be ignored."

The flare of the match in the black world resembles our own. The flare of the match in the black wilderness is a long way from the ever burning torch of the Olympic Games.

Although South Africa would probably have fielded about 12 black athletes from three sports (and about 70 whites from 17 sports), and they would have met the requirements of traveling and living together while out of their own country, Maule presents evidence that the real discrimination lies in the denial of opportunities for any significant number of black athletes to compete equally for positions on the Olympic team.

But Reginald Hlonwane, a Zulu apartheid refugee athlete now living in London who is secretary of the South African Non-Racial Open Committee, told Maule: "... the government is a major obstacle, but the South African Olympic Committee is hiding behind the government. It is no better to put blacks on the team for show than it is to exclude them."

Ed Charles Is One Ballplayer In A Hundred That Has Adjusted

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK — UPI — Ed Charles, one ball player in a hundred, has accomplished what the other 99 only talk about. He has adjusted.

And if you say so what the answer is so plenty, because most ballplayers are in the same boat with most other people they've got problems.

Ed Charles had one, too. His problem was that he was 35. That made him ancient for the big leagues, particularly for a club like the Mets which is loaded with kids. But Ed Charles fixed the problem in a hurry. He didn't fight the fact he was 35 and was competing in a society where some teenagers wear buttons saying "Don't Trust Anyone Over 30."

All he did was adjust to it. "Let's face it," he laughs, "I realize I'm going to have to move out of the way for the younger fellows pretty soon now. I know I don't have too much time left up here but why not enjoy what time there is. Why be bitter and to around grumbling things like, 'I can still do things those kids never dreamed of.' Who are you fooling? Only myself. When the day comes that they come and tell me, 'Ed you can't cut it any more, I want to be able to accept it and say, 'Well it was fun while it lasted.'"

HAPPY AID
Ed Charles had some of that fun against the Cardinals during the weekend.

On Saturday he homered as a pinch hitter off Joe Hoerner and on Sunday he did the same thing all over again off Bob Gibson. Charles has served homers so far. That's not bad for a partner, much less a 35-year-old partner who still gives the Mets a good dinner of the Atlanta Chapter, United Nations to be held on June 4th at the Progressive Club in Atlanta. Dr. Agnew will preside.

Mr. Herbert Johnson, a well-known lawyer, who is active in the International Association of Jurists, will speak at the World Court.

The public is invited and if you are interested in attending the dinner, reservation may be made by calling the United Nations office, 862-3788.

Bereaved Husband Joins His Wife Who Died Earlier

ORMOND BEACH, Fla.—UPI—"My wife died a short while ago," a retired Army colonel told police over the telephone Saturday, "and now I'm going to join her."

Police rushed to the home of Elliott N. Baldwin, 80, where they found the bodies of Baldwin and his wife, Marjorie, 72, lying side by side on the living room floor. Baldwin had a bullet wound in the head.

Authorities tentatively ruled Baldwin's death suicide and the death of his wife from natural causes.

They have ordered autopsies on both," said Deputy Arthur Jones, but it apparently was a case of her dying and it simply too much for him."

Deeds said that Baldwin apparently lay down next to his wife and put a .38 caliber pistol to his head and pulled the trigger. The gun was on the floor beside the couple.

Take Time To Prepare Tots New Home

If your family is among the hundreds of thousands scheduled to move this year, moving authorities and child psychologists suggest that you start now to prepare your children for the move.

They say most children view moving with some trepidation. In most, packing has an unsettling effect. Moving itself means bidding farewell to familiar neighborhoods, schools, friends. What's ahead is unknown and frightening.

If practical, introduce children to the new community, school, neighborhood and the new home in advance of the move. Children make friends fast so arrange to have them meet a few of their contemporaries in the new neighborhood. This will give them something to anticipate, and banish the unknown.

Of course, if the move is to be to a distant city, this might not be possible. Nonetheless, the moving experts point out, parents can see to it that the children are made to feel that they are involved in the decision-making—that the move is being made with their best interests in mind.

At no time should the children be allowed to feel that the parents are "too busy moving" to pay attention to the children.

On most long-distance moves, the movers come in a day or two before the move to do the packing. Pre-schoolers particularly will be fascinated by the goings-on of the packers, providing the mother will take the time to point out what's taking place.

On moving day itself, Mayflower experts suggest, keep the youngsters out of the way for their own safety. If for no other reason, but don't prevent them from taking a peek into the moving van where all the furniture is being loaded. Let them meet and greet the driver, the man who's going to move their furniture. Let them know that everyone is concerned with their well-being.

A little love and extra attention, a little reassurance, that everything is all right, will go a long way in taking the fear out of moving.

Newton's Goal Wins For Chiefs

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SNS)—Forward Graham Newton shot the lone goal early in the first half Sunday night to give the Atlanta Chiefs a 1-0 soccer win over the Toronto Falcons and a firm grip on the Atlantic Division lead.

The North American Soccer League contest between the Chiefs and the Falcons was a close one, with both teams trading goals in the first half.

Atlanta's seven Linberg made a difficult save in the first half to block a free kick by the Falcons' Peter Cubillas and help keep the visitors scoreless.

Atlanta Chiefs Grants Rematch With Manchester City, June 15

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SNS)—English soccer champions Manchester City humiliated last month by a 3-2 loss to the upstart Atlanta Chiefs, have asked for a rematch.

Atlanta readily accepted the challenge for another game here June 15. "We've beaten them once," said manager Phil Woosnam. "Now we'll see if we can do it again."

Woosnam said such a challenge is "virtually unknown in the world of soccer, but we can never run away from a challenge."

The two-year-old Chiefs, Atlantic Division leaders in the young North American Soccer League, first downed what some call the world's finest soccer team May 27.

The first time we played them, we had something to prove," said Woosnam, who sent a 1-1 tie to the Chiefs in the second half to help A.A. Bry Boy victory while the goal that broke a 1-1 tie and put the Chiefs on the victory trail. "Now they feel like we do. We have even more to prove this time."

Manchester took their first loss with no extras, except to say they were not used to playing soccer on a baseball field.

The exhibition victory was one of nine wins during Atlanta's season for Atlanta. The Chiefs are 8-2-3 in league play.

1968 National Football League Broadcaster Teams Announced

NEW YORK — The 16 broadcasters who will cover National Football League games on the CBS Television Network during the 1968 season have been paired into eight play-by-play and analyst teams. Each has been assigned a schedule of from 12 to 16 regular season games.

The pairings play-by-play men first follow:

Jack Buck and Pat Summerall
Don Criqui and John Sauer
Jack Drees and George Connor
Frank Glier and Eddie LeBaron
Lindsey Nelson and Tom Brookshier
Ray Scott and Paul Christman
Chuck Thompson and Lenny Moore
Jack Whitaker and Frank Gifford

Under a new broadcast procedure to be instituted this year, only one set of announcers will cover a game. In the past, two announcer teams covered a game, each feeding the home area of the team to which they were assigned.

Basic team assignments are: Buc and Summerall will broadcast six Los Angeles away games, one Los Angeles home game, five Washington games — four away and one at home — and three other games.

Criqui and Sauer will broadcast six home and six away games of the New Orleans Saints and two other games.

Drees and Connor will cover seven Dallas road games, three of the Cowboys' home games and three other games.

Nelson and Brookshier will cover seven Green Bay games — four at home and three away — six Philadelphia road games — one of them at Green Bay — and two other contests.

Scott and Christman will cover seven Chicago away games, three of the Bears' home contests, and five other games.

Thompson and Moore will cover six Baltimore road games, one Colt home game and five other contests.

Whitaker and Gifford will broadcast seven New York road games, two Giant home games and five other contests.

7 Million More Need Vaccination To End Blight Of Measles Forever

"About 7 million infants and children remain susceptible to common measles," despite great strides that have been made toward eliminating the disease in the U. S., according to H. Bruce Dull, MD, assistant director of the National Communicable Disease Center.

Reporting at the fifth annual immunization conference of the U. S. Public Health Service, NCDC officials pointed out that reported measles incidence is approximately one-ninth the level of two years ago.

Between 1963 (when the first vaccines became available) and end of 1967, more than 25 million children have been vaccinated against measles.

The administration of some 6.25 million doses of measles vaccine during the first nine months of 1967 was termed a "remarkable achievement." At the beginning of last year, the NCDC estimated there were some 10 million measles-susceptible infants and children in the U. S. Throughout the year, a total of about 6.9 million vaccine doses were administered, but over the same period another 4 million infants reached their first birthday, at which time measles vaccination is recommended.

Playing a key role in this measles effort to eradicate measles is the single shot Schwarz-stein vaccine commonly used in mass immunization projects. According to the Schwarz-stein vaccine made

Hugh Downs, Dr. McKelvey MBC Alumni Speakers

These were the opening lines of Hugh Downs, host of Today Show on NBC-TV, who was guest speaker at the National Alumni Association of Morris Brown College at its annual banquet held at the Regency Hotel Sunday.

Downs spoke before an approximate audience of four hundred alumni and friends on Monday evening, June 3.

"He spoke of the mosaic of our times, our troubles and triumphs, and our possible future. He stated that he sees some lines dividing humans, what looks like major division of humanity."

He further stated that humanity now faces the necessity of learning that further progress, and perhaps even survival, depend desperately on the establishment of real justice for all men. Further, it is on the brink of learning that this justice can be brought about only through a new kind of power yielded by this new of person, which he referred to as those people who are called 'humane' — the power of unyielding moral witness to every man's right of dignity, safety and development potential. He stated that moral power must supplement force as a governing instrument in human affairs if we are to survive.

He spoke of the 'anti-human people' who are anti-human for a variety of reasons. Most are not aware that they serve an anti-human cause.

Downs, who attended Bluffton, Ohio College, Wayne University in Detroit, and more recently Columbia University in New York, said that "contradiction stems from the gulf between the principles on which this nation was founded and some of its legal machinery," he

Boy Snubbed At Unadilla Offered Aid

Roy Lee Hunter, a 17 year old student was the first of his race to be graduated from Unadilla High School. A confederate flag flew over the school during the ceremonies. At Bessie Coleman services held last Sunday, the Negro youth sat on the end, and were two vacant seats between him and the next student. Earlier during the week school officials had visited the home of the youth and informed his mother that it might be best for them to mail the youth his diploma. Principal William Brooks charged that outside agitators were behind the situation.

When word of how this young man had been harassed, reached the ears of the President and faculty at Morris Brown College, the institution felt a necessity to aid the young man in continuing his education. President John A. Middleton said that the school had offered to pay all of his expenses including tuition, living expenses, room, board, and books. President Middleton said that he personally would pay Hunter's insurance if he decided to attend Morris Brown.

The Morris Brown college president said that when he read of the harassment that Hunter had received in the last year he believed it in order for Morris Brown to offer assistance. Officials at the predominantly Negro college have not been able to reach Hunter and therefore do not know if he will accept it or not.

Entry fees for the qualifying class have been sent in by the following capable shot-makers: Dr. Amos Jones, Tom Brown and Ormond Grimes, Jr. of Atlanta; and Larry King of Chamblee.

Charles Harrison, one of the South's leading amateurs, is sure to join young pro Bunky Henry as a special invitee and a number of additional state amateurs are expected to attempt the qualifying.

Both speakers were awarded with plaques for their contributions. Mayor Allen, an awardee for his leadership, stated that Morris Brown College has made many awards but none of them was more gratefully received as the one which he was presented. "This city," he stated, "needs major changes that all of the citizens of Atlanta want it to be." I receive this on behalf of the city and the people."

The greetings on behalf of the city were extended by Gregory Griggs, alderman, who expressed a warm welcome to the guest and alumni speakers.

Two Atlanta Youths Head Albany State Sophomores

ALBANY, Ga. — (SNS) — Calvin Maddox and Carl Sanders were elected as president and vice-president of the sophomore class at Albany State College for the 1968-69 school year.

Maddox, a 1967 graduate of Atlanta's Luther Judson Price High School, was elected president of the second year class, defeating Sanders, who was president of the freshman class.

A music major and featured choir soloist, Maddox was formerly an honors scholar in the Governor's Honors Program at Wesleyan College (Macon). His parents, the Reverend and Mrs. E. J. Maddox, reside at 398 Lincoln Place, S. W., Atlanta.

The sophomore class president has made numerous appearances on the concert stage, among them has been an appearance as guest soloist with the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra.

Sanders, president of the class last year as a freshman, was voted to the vice-president's spot on the

LI. Gov. Smith Opposes Unit Rule In Confab

UPI — Use of the unit-rule by the Georgia Democratic convention delegations this year would be "stifling freedom of choice freedom of speech and freedom of election," Lt. Gov. George T. Smith said Monday.

Smith in an interview with Radio Station WRNG said the unit rule when the entire delegation is bound by the decision of the majority worked well in the past but this year "every delegate should be allowed to be in position where he can vote his own convictions."

"I would like to see unit rule one away with," Smith added.

Smith formerly indicated to party leaders he would rather not become a delegate if use of the unit rule would bind him to the sophomore class officers' slate. A graduate of C. L. Harper High School, he resides with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Evans A. Sanders at 679 Harwell Road, N. W., Atlanta.

The remainder of the sophomore class officers are Miriam Johnson Albany, Ga., secretary; Mildred Booker, Pavo, Ga., assistant secretary; Cecil Marshall, Albany, Ga., treasurer; and Anderson Bentley of Thomaston, Ga., business manager.

Night Call Is New WDIA Feature

WDIA pioneered the first drive-in type program in Negro radio with its "Own America Speaks," heard each Sunday and now going into its 20th year. According to Bert Ferguson, WDIA executive vice president and general manager, the station is offering another first for the Memphis Negro by offering Night Call, a nationwide forum program which began June 3. It will air the program, 10:30 to 11:30 p.m., Mondays and Fridays.

"Night Call" is released by the station's new drive-in type program, "Night Call," which is a nationwide forum program which began June 3. It will air the program, 10:30 to 11:30 p.m., Mondays and Fridays.

The program originates in New York City, broadcasting to an estimated 4,000,000 listeners in major metropolitan areas. It is aired on a network of independent radio stations, which form a nationwide radio network, tying together both Negro and white listeners.

Estimated cost of producing Night Call is $250,000 a year. The program will meet a large portion of this expense, Ferguson said. Radio stations will contribute the balance, with the right of placing a spot announcement within the show.

Sunshine Biscuits Reports On Equal Employment Opportunities

Sunshine Biscuits, Inc. has a policy of providing equal employment opportunity and merit advancement through on-the-job training without regard to race, color, creed or national origin. Employee statistics reflecting the results of this policy over the course of recent years are as follows:

Manufacturing — Minority group representation in the Company's manufacturing operations has increased from 21 per cent in 1954 to 24 per cent of total manufacturing employee in 1968.

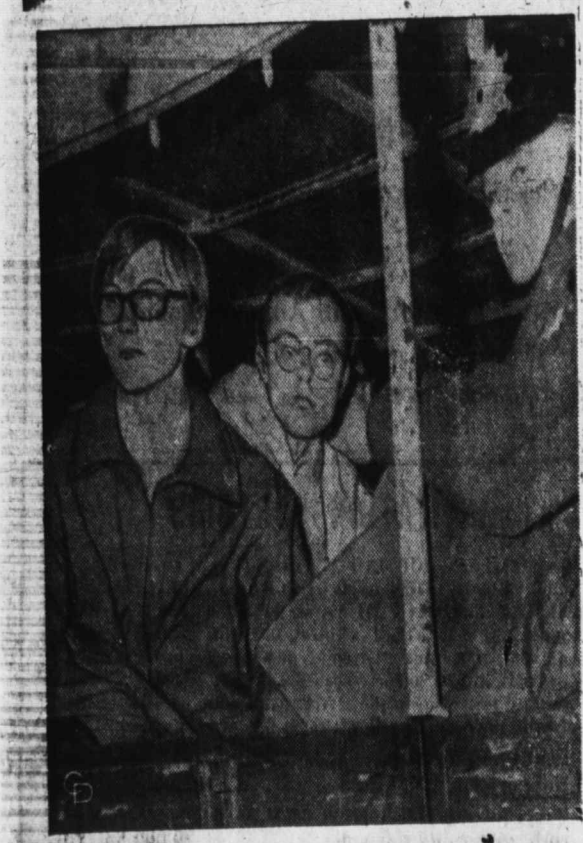

Negroes and other minority groups are employed as officials and managers as well as in office and clerical positions in the Company's manufacturing plants.

Sales Force — Sixty-three Negro and other minority group employees are represented on Sunshine's nationwide sales staff. During the 1954-68 period, minority group representation in the sales force has almost doubled.

Other — Minority group employees have also been hired at the Company's distribution locations and at the Farms.

Sunshine Biscuits' sales message have been carried in predominantly Negro media such as Ebony Magazine, and Negro child actors have been used in the Company's TV commercials. It is the policy of the Company to give proportionate representation to ethnic groups when numbers of consumers are portrayed in its AV commercials.

Approximately 15.3 per cent of the Company's 9,491 employees are members of minority groups.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Should every woman be a blonde?

Blonde hair is beautiful for those women whose natural coloring it flatters. But not everyone should be a blonde.

Expert beauticians know that complexion and hair color must complement each other to glamorize and bring out all the natural beauty that was meant to be. They also know that very coarse and dark hair often is resistant to drastic color changes. However, there's no doubt about slightly lighter hair adding excitement to a woman's appearance. And hairdressers know there is no better product to add a whole new appeal to every woman's look than Miss Clairol® haircoloring—extra-rich Creme Formula or new extra easy Shampoo Formula.

Both Miss Clairol products lighten and color at once, combining vibrant new color with the natural pigment of the hair. So even those shades that look blonde on white hair (as shown on most color selection charts) give a variety of flattering red-to-golden brown shades on women whose hair was black to begin with.

Beauty salons are equipped to answer questions and help with hair color selection. Depend on your hairdresser to have the professional skills and the total family of fine Clairol products to make every woman's experience with haircoloring completely personal and glamorous. Should you be a blonde? If you don't really know, ask your expert hairdresser.

NAACP Seeks Calm In Louisville, Ky.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — The local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, under leadership of the Rev. W. J. Hodge, continued efforts this week to restore calm in riot-torn Louisville.

In appeals for an end to the violence, Mr. Hodge and other NAACP and community leaders have toured the area where rioting erupted on May 27 following reinstatement of a white policeman who had been dismissed on charges of using excessive force in the arrest of a Negro suspect. They have also issued appeals over television and radio.

As of May 31 two Negro youths, aged 14 and 19, had been killed, one by a police officer and the other by a store owner, on charges of looting. Meanwhile, some 2,000 National Guard troops have been patrolling the area. Negro marshals have also helped clear crowds in the area.

Mayor Kenneth A. Schmied has thus far declined an NAACP invitation to tour the riot area had to meet with the people in the street in the manner of Mayor John Lindsay of New York City. Since the rioting began some 350 persons have been arrested. NAACP lawyers are representing many of these victims as their cases are called.

Patterson Church Celebrates 74th Founding Anniversary

PATERSON, N. J. — The 74th anniversary of the founding of St. Augustine Presbyterian Church was here today at special ceremonies honoring area firms and institutions for their "services to church and community."

Awards in the form of laminated plaques were presented by the Rev. John Bagby, pastor of St. Augustine. They were presented to Eastman Kodak Processing Laboratory at nearby Fairlawn; New Jersey Bell Telephone Company Passaic County Vocational School, New Jersey Work Experience Title V and The Paterson News, as well as to several members of the congregation.

The Kodak award was received by C. Everett Moses, manager of the processing laboratory.

"Without the cooperation of Kodak and other concerned employers for literally hundreds of deserving, underprivileged members of our community," the pastor said.

Rev. Bagby, who is 47 and the father of two teenage girls, was prominent in the field of human relations and job training for the underprivileged in northern New Jersey before assuming his pastorate at St. Augustine. His record of achievement over the past six years at the church has been cited several times in the press and by public officials.

Luther Jackson New PR Man For NAACP

NEW YORK — Appointment of Luther P. Jackson as associate director of public relations for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was announced here, June 1, by NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins.

Mr. Jackson will also serve as associate editor of The Crisis, the Association's monthly organ, the nation's oldest Negro magazine, founded in 1910 by the late W. E. B. Du Bois. He will work under direction of Henry Lee Moon, public relations director and editor of The Crisis.

A veteran newsman, Mr. Jackson has worked as reporter for The Washington Post, The Newark News and for two Negro weeklies, the Baltimore Afro-American and The New Jersey Herald News. He specialized in housing and other urban problems.

In addition Mr. Jackson served as director of Communicating Research on the Urban Poor (Cross-Tell), a demonstration project funded by the National Institute of Mental Health and sponsored by the Health and Welfare Council of the National Capital Area, Washington, D. C. The project was established to promote the use of the research findings of the Child Rearing Study of Low Income Families in the District of Columbia.

Publications by Mr. Jackson include "Poverty's Children," a broad overview of CRS findings, and "Telling It Like It Is," a dramatic reading in the exact words of the CRS respondents. He is co-editor of "Perspectives on Poverty," a workshop summary and study manual. He has contributed articles to Good Housekeeping, The Negro History Bulletin and The Columbia Journalism Review.

A graduate of the Virginia State College in Petersburg, Mr. Jackson received his master's degree from the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism. Later, under a Ford Foundation grant, he studied at the Urban Studies Center at Rutgers University in New Jersey. He joined the NAACP staff on May 20 after completion of a years study at Columbia University under a Russell Sage fellowship in the behavioral sciences. During the period, he also served as a teaching assistant in the School of Journalism.

Born in Chicago, March 7, 1925, Mr. Jackson was reared on the campus of Virginia State College where his late father was head of the history department and an active leader of the Virginia State NAACP. He served three years in the U. S. Marine Corps during World War II. He lives in White Plains with his wife and two sons.
