National Urban League Supports Decentralization-Public Schools

The National Urban League has reportedly supported the concept of school decentralization. The program is designed to give schools and school districts more autonomy and flexibility to respond to local needs. The idea is to devolve decision-making power from central administration to the school level, allowing schools to tailor their programs to the specific needs of their communities. This approach is intended to improve educational outcomes by making schools more responsive and accountable to the people they serve.

Atlanta, Ga. — (AP) — Clergymen can play a key role in helping alcoholics, a top hospitals expert told the 7th annual meeting of the National Council of Churches here today.
