Third Victory For LeMoyné-Owen Squad

The LeMoyné-Owen College cross country runners grabbed their third victory in as many starts last Saturday against Tougaloo College College, 23-38, at Tougaloo, Miss.

Previous victories were registered against Lane College, 15-50, and Christian Brothers College, 26-20.

LeMoyné-Owen will face Fisk University this Saturday, Oct. 19, at Nashville.

Russell Floyd set the pace for the Memphians at Tougaloo, coming in second. Harvey Eddings of LeMoyné was third. Other LMO runners were William Oliver, Emerson Willis, Robert Carter, Jesse Chatman and T. W. Hayslett.

Inside Memphis

THE FASTING MINISTER, Bishop P. L. Johnson of Tabernacle Community Church on Cynthia, has lost 15 pounds since beginning the fast two Sundays ago. A large man (250 pounds), he says he will eat nothing as long as city hospital employees are on strike. He says he is for their grievances, but thinks they should return to work and then resume negotiations.

TARGET DATE for opening of the first Mahalia Jackson fried chicken drive-in on South Parkway East is November 18.

BLACK JOURNAL, in color, will be on WKNO-TV (channel 10) again, Wednesday, Oct. 23, at 8:30 p.m., featuring Julian Bond of Georgia, the dilemma of the black policemen, the African and Afro-American art and dance, and the school decentralization struggle in New York's Ocean Hill-Brownsville district.

DARNELL HARRIS, the Booker T. Washington 11th grader who recently won the right to wear his football team's golden shoes, is also a member of the government-sponsored Upward Bound project at LeMoyné-Owen College. Wearers of the golden shoes in past years include Oscar Reed, now with the Minnesota Vikings, Raymond Chapman and Charlie Taylor. To wear these gold-tipped shoes, a BTW player must score four touchdowns in one game or amass a total of 200 yards in a contest. Harris scored his four TDs against Kingsbury.

Husband Held In Wife's Death

Fifty-two-year-old LeRoy Swindle, of Apt. 6, 231 Turley, the husband of murdered Mrs. Cordie V. Swindle 47, is in jail. He is behind bars because he has been accused of killing her.

Mrs. Swindle was killed at 1:50 a.m. Saturday at exactly the same time Johnnie B. Carter, 21, of 2325 Norman, was stabbed to death in another section of the city.

Mrs. Swindle was the victim of a shotgun wound in the back. Mr. Swindle was quoted by police as saying the weapon accidentally discharged while he and his wife were engaged in a scuffle. He called police and told of the shooting.

Robert L. Becton, 20, of 2400 Hubbard was charged with the fatal slaying of Carter. Witnesses said Becton and Carter were involved in a fight at Hollywood and Normandy when the stabbing occurred.

Carter was stabbed over his collarbone and was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Hospital. The victim was lying on the ground when police arrived.

Mrs. Swindle was dead when officers reached the scene.

Honors Day At LeMoyné-Owen

Annual Honors Convocation will be conducted at LeMoyné-Owen College at 10:30 this Friday morning, Oct. 18. The service will be held in Metropolitan Baptist Church, across the street from the campus.

Speaker will be Dr. Francis Ferguson, a professor of comparative literature at Rutgers University. He is coming here under the auspices of the Bryllion and Mary Fagin Lecture in English series which is maintained by a grant established at LeMoyné in 1965 by Dr. Bryllion Fagin and his late wife, Mrs. Mary Fagin. Dr. Fagin a retired Johns Hopkins University professor, taught at LeMoyné in 1959-60.

The convocation is sponsored by three honor societies on the campus, Alpha Kappa Mu, the LeMoyné-Owen Honor Society and Beta Chi.

Recognition will be given to students who "have earned scholarships, made the dean's list and who are eligible for membership in Alpha Kappa Mu, a national honor society.

Mrs. Velma McLemore, chairman of the English Department, is coordinating the program.

Jim Irwin Says He'll Serve All

At the formal opening of his campaign headquarters, 1306 Union, last Thursday, Jim Irwin, a candidate for the United States Congress made it clear that he is supporting all Democratic nominees.

If elected, he said "I will do my best level best to serve all people."

His opponent is the incumbent, Republic Dan Kuykendall.

He said he favors an increase in social security and retirement pension payments and declared that a person drawing social security should be entitled to earn $3,000 a year without losing monthly benefits.

He called on leaders in so-called ghetto areas to join hands with the Democratic leadership and help put to rest the burnings, extortion, obscenities and crime.

Find Evidence Of Arson In Two-Alarm Blaze At Father Bertrand High School

Burnt matches and bits of charred paper were found on the stage of the combination gymnasium and auditorium of Father Bertrand High School, 1169 Kerr, early Sunday after firemen put out a $30,000 blaze that originated in the gym.

The fire was discovered at 12:30 a. m. Sunday and firemen had it under control by 1:05 a. m.

The blaze is believed to have started in a small room off the stage where special items for religious services were kept. Heating apparatus erected over the stage was a total loss. Other damage was caused by water and four holes chopped through the roof by the fire-fighters.

An official of the Catholic school said the roof was only one-year-old and had cost $2,000. He said he thought most of the damage would be covered by insurance.

Members of the school's football team and several parents rushed to the school immediately after the fire and helped mop up water.

The fire broke out about an hour and a half after the end of the weekly Saturday night dance conducted by the school for teenagers. Proceeds from the dances help pay the cost of athletic programs at Father Bertrand.

Classes were not held Monday, mainly because of damage done to the kitchen located near the gym floor.

Police came up with evidence that the principal's office and gymnasium had been broken into shortly after the dance. A window in the

NEW BOYCOTT SEEN!

Threats of another boycott, this time in support of the 1,000 city hospital workers on strike, were heard early this week.

If the proposed boycott gains enough support from the community, it would follow the same pattern as the selective buying movement staged during the sanitation workers' strike. It would be aimed at downtown merchants.

Hospital strike leaders met with several ministers Monday afternoon and it is believed the preachers were asked to support such a boycott.

If a boycott is launched it would not have the backing of all Negroes. Many Negroes believe the striking workers should return to their jobs and then resume negotiations which have been broken off. Another sore spot among many Negroes is the fact that hundreds of the poor are denied medical attention now at John Gaston because of the shortage of hospital workers brought on by the strikers.

Odell Horton, director of city hospitals and health services, has broken off negotiations with the strikers and said talks will not be resumed until the employees return to their jobs.

Meanwhile, two important moves were made by Mr. Horton. He announced Monday that one of the demands of the strikers, Social Security coverage, has been approved. And, in an even stronger move on the weekend, he ordered complete integration of patients and staff at another city hospital, the William F. Bowld Hospital.

The order means that Bowld must open its doors to all patients, including charity cases. The hospital had been reserved for University of Tennessee doctors' private, paying patients.

About 200 of the strikers marched through downtown to City Hall Monday, and more than a thousand marched last Saturday morning over the same route.

St. John Baptist Plans Centennial

The centennial celebration of St. John Baptist Church, 640 Vance, the Rev. A. McEwen Williams pastor, will be held during the month of November with weekly programs featuring national and local personalities.

The church was organized 100 years ago in November 1868, three years after the Proclamation of Emancipation issued by President Abraham Lincoln terminating slavery in the United States of America. The church was organized on the corner of Washington Avenue and Fourth Street under the pastorage and leadership of Rev. George J. Mosby.

In 1881 the church moved to Exchange and High Street under the leadership of Father L. Patterson.

In 1886 Rev. Charles Spratton

Second Church Is Planning Banquet

Second Congregational Church at 764 Walker is observing its 100th anniversary and will celebrate with a centennial banquet Monday, Nov. 11, in the Henson Memorial Student Center on the LeMoyné-Owen College campus.

Banquet speaker will be the Rev. Ben Mohr Herbert of New York City, president of the Two million member United Church of Christ. Second Congregational is an affiliate of United Church of Christ.

The banquet is scheduled to start at 7 p. m. Tickets to the banquet are $5 per person.

The 100th anniversary worship service will be held at the church at 11 a. m. Sunday, Nov. 10. The Rev. John Church Mickle is pastor.

Banquet chairman is Mrs. Charles H. Sholto and co-chairman is Mrs. Alvin K. Smith. Edwin T. Prater is banquet tickets chairman.

'Will Not Vote For Wallace' -- Ingram

Former mayor William B. Ingram Jr., who has agreed to run as a write-in candidate for the U. S. House, made it clear last week that he is not a Wallace supporter.

He told members of the Ministers Alliance of Memphis that: "I will not vote for George Wallace in the Nov. 5 general election, and when I am elected, I will not vote for Wallace if the presidential election is thrown into the House of Representatives."

"As a Democrat," he said, "I will vote for the Democratic nominee, Hubert H. Humphrey, on Nov. 5." Supporters of Mr. Ingram said he has picked up new support among Negroes and liberal whites.

Mr. Ingram's name will not appear on voting machines, but persons wishing to vote for him will be given write-in ballots at the polls.

STATE REPUBLICAN LEADERS MEET — Col. George W. Lee (right) of Memphis, longtime Republican whip in Tennessee and the nation, welcomes to the Bluff City City. William T. Underwood of Chattanooga, assistant campaign director for Richard Nixon in the State. Attorney Underwood addressed a gathering of more than 50 Memphians at the Lorraine Hotel. He and Colonel Lee agreed that "black people must play an important role in rebuilding the Republican Party to suit the aims and goals of black people."

Republicans Seek Tenn. Black Vote

There's a movement across the state of Tennessee and other states directed toward the involvement of more black people in the operation and function of the Republican Party.

Attorney William Pete Underwood, president of the Chattanooga, Tenn. Branch of the NAACP, a former member of the Tennessee Human Development Commission, and assistant director in the campaign for Richard Nixon in the state of Tennessee, met with approximately 50 black citizens for Nixon at the Lorraine Motel, Oct. 8.

These Republicans take the position that the poor are getting poorer and the rich are getting richer under the Democratic Party at the city, county and state levels of government. They claim that black people are not getting a fair share of the city, county and state jobs. They note that this is primarily the fault of black people who put Democrats into office who thereafter completely ignore their pleas for jobs.

The Nixon supporters believe that the only way to erase this form of injustice is for black people to join the Republican Party in large numbers "thereby making it less likely that we will help put Democrats in office who will continue to let things stay as they are."

This group of Nixon supporters firmly believes in a two-party system. However, they state that "if you are satisfied with the conditions locally under the Democratic Party that you should remain with the party. In many interviews and surveys taken across the state of Tennessee it has been

Warren Questions Federal Wiretapping

By ISABELLE McCaIG HALL
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chief Justice Earl Warren questioned Monday whether the government has misrepresented the extent of its wiretapping and whether the Supreme Court shouldn't crack down harder on federal eavesdropping practices.

Warren raised the point as the court finished three hours of oral arguments on the issue of how material obtained through electronic and other wiretap devices should be handled by federal judges.

Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold argued for the government that the judges should be allowed to screen all such data before turning any of the transcripts over to defense attorneys. He said this would safeguard national security by protecting espionage practices as well as third parties who might be mentioned in "bugged" conversations.

ARGUE APPEALS
Attorneys arguing appeals in cases involving a Las Vegas, Nev., gambler and two defendants in a Soviet spy case contended that unrestricted disclosure of the transcripts to the defense should be made mandatory.

Kenneth G. Brown, Jr., argued for the government that the transcripts should be disclosed only to the defense if the government can show that the information is relevant to the case.

Warren, in his dissenting opinion, said that the government has "disputed any bugging or wiretapping except in 20 or 30 national security cases and now we find out that there's been bugging in all types of cases."

He cited cases where eavesdropping led to prosecution of $200 gambling cases and minor income tax violations.

"I don't think we require the government to disclose in all cases to abide by the law," the chief justice asked Griswold.

The chief justice noted that some authorities have predicted there will be serious legal challenges of the wiretapping action of the anti-communism bill passed by Congress this year, which broadened federal authority to eavesdrop.

The court also handed down a series of orders disposing of appeals in cases involving the government's search for the assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

The court ruled that the government's search for the assassin of President John F. Kennedy was constitutional.

90th Congress Adjourns Session

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The 90th Congress finally adjourned Monday after a storm-tossed election year session that saw the final legislative chapter written for President Johnson's five-year tenure in the White House.

House liberals paved the way for the final gavel in both chambers by abandoning their fight for Senate action on a bill to permit free television time for debates among Hubert H. Humphrey, Richard Nixon and George Wallace.

Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., leader of the pro-Humphrey bloc, acknowledged the bill was dead and the battle hopeless. Then both Houses sparsely attended anyway quickly closed up shop for the year.

President Johnson has warned he might call the Senate back after the Nov. 5 election to ratify the nuclear nonproliferation treaty. Like the campaign debate bill it was put aside this month because of political pressures.

If Johnson doesn't call a special session the newly elected 91st Congress will convene Jan. 3. In the meantime all 435 House seats and 34 Senate seats will be contested in the election.

On Jan. 6, both Houses will meet jointly to count the electoral votes for president usually a formality. But if none of the three candidates has a majority the House will tackle the job of electing a president, something that has not happened since 1824.

Monday's business was minor. The House adjourned at 2 p. m. and the Senate 17 minutes later, with Senate President Pro Tempore Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., climbing four steps to the chair to accept the House's adjournment message. Hayden, 91, is retiring this year.

The television debate bill made adjourning one of the Capital's toughest tasks all year. Humphrey and Wallace wanted it but Nixon didn't.

The House passed it after a 27-hour siege which finally broke a Republican filibuster. But Senate Republicans balked out on it and the Senate leadership, with no majority to conduct business abandoned the measure.

College Students Give Wallace's Speech "Silent Treatment"

By MIKE EINSILBER

FARGO, N.D. — (UPI) — George C. Wallace Friday encountered an organized "silent treatment" for the first time in his presidential campaign when thousands of college students refused to clap or boo during a 30-minute speech.

The students from Concordia College in nearby Moorhead Minn., comprised most of the audience of about 4,000 persons who heard Wallace at an outdoor rally in front of Fargo's Civic Center.

The cattlemen claimed, "We shall overcome." Only weak applause from scattered portions of the crowd broke the heavy silence.

Wallace and his campaign party flew into Fargo on a two-stop tour of the nation's northern rural areas. He told farmers that they have not received their share of the farm dollar.

Speaking as the son of a dirt farmer who grew up during the depression, Wallace said the farmer is "probably at the lowest state he's been at since the 1930s." He promised to do something about it.

Wallace was interrupted when he said that the secretary of agriculture should "set parity" at 90 per cent.

"How much did you say," asked a farmer, apparently mindful that farmers have traditionally demanded 100 per cent of parity.

Wallace hesitated momentarily and replied that if elected president he would see that parity is set "as high as the law allows."

Wallace stopped again in his speech when he took note of a sign saying, "We don't want 30,000 troops in Fargo," an allusion to Wallace's earlier pledge that he would put 30,000 men in Washington to keep the peace in the nation's capital.

"Yes, you don't need 30,000 policemen in Fargo, my friend," Wallace told the sign carrier.

"But when your high school children go to visit Washington, I'll see to it they will walk in safety even if it takes 30,000 policemen."

A Concordia student told newsmen later the "silent treatment" had been planned for about a week. He said leaders had been distributed on the campus and notices pinned on bulletin boards urging attendance and mute reaction.

Wallace's speech was interrupted by a sign carrier who held up a sign that read "We don't want 30,000 troops in Fargo."

Humphrey-Muskie Backer Hits American Independent Party

David Vann Vios - Chairman of Alabama Citizens for Humphrey-Muskie, renewed his attack on the American Independent Party candidacy of George Wallace before the Council of Jewish Women, at the Jewish Community Center, on Oct. 8.

Vann said:
"I have been criticized by some for comparing Wallace with a certain European dictator of the thirties. But I think that the time has come to tell it like it is... to remind the voters of the lessons of history. Can we sit silent as thousands of Germans did in the early thirties?"

"Isn't this a man who has said he can't become President of this Nation by winning only 34% of the vote... less than half of the states? Isn't this a man who says he intends to be President even though he recognizes that a majority of the citizens of this great land do not want him? Doesn't he say that he will win by the exploitation of loopholes in the electoral college system? And that when he is elected we can really look forward to a show... a President running over and ex-ecuting people in the streets... even with his own automobile."

"Didn't the dreaded tyrant of the thirties also seek and gain power on the basis of minority support? I remind you that Hitler never got a majority vote of the German people for his third party candidacy. Didn't Hitler rise to power on the basis of anti-Semitism just as Wallace has by exploitation of racial prejudices and fears?"

"I have said, that if Wallace were to be elected he would find that his party could not control either house of the Congress... in fact except for a few mavericks he would have no spokesman at all in either house. He would be relegated to the use of his military powers as Commander-in-Chief, with General LeMay as his advisor, to govern the Nation."

"And Wallace already lights up when he talks about ordering the troops around. He gets special pleasure out of telling how he would line the streets of Washington with troops with fixed bayonets thirty feet apart.

"I ask you what happened when Hitler found he could not control the German Congress... the Reichstag? Is it within your imagination to see Wallace with his troops surrounding the Capitol of this Nation? Can you see him standing in the door of the United States Senate?"

CAN AMERICA AFFORD THIS BISKY CAN YOU?
"We in Alabama have a special responsibility to stop at home this dangerous movement. All of us share... all of us bear part of the responsibility. Democrats who thought the Wallace thing was a good political trick to protect the seats of local and state officeholders against the white backlash... they share responsibility. Republicans who traded with Wallace behind closed doors and plotted to use him to undermine the affections of the people for the great institutions of this free government and who even now seek to share some space on his coat-tails... they share the blame. Newspapers who have traded "objective coverage" for whiskey and to enrich their coffers... they share the blame. Businessmen who have knuckled under to the economic coercion of his campaign... because their duty to their stockholders was more important than their duty to their customers and the public... they share responsibility."

"But most important we can stop him. Stopping him in Alabama is not beyond our ability. There will be a big Negro block vote... while votes young people, old people Democrats, Republicans and Independents can add their votes under the Progress for America Donkey... and beat him in this crazy three way politics he himself devised as a route to power."

BRIDGE GOES AFRICAN WITH MRS. A. W. WILLIS, JR.

Dress plays a vital role in the lives of people of all nations. Members of the Debonaire set and guests of Mrs. A. W. Willis, Jr., were interestingly dressed in African Gabs when the charming and very attractive matron entertained at her Mississippi Ave. residence Saturday of last week.

Saw the picture and popular matrons were most unusually pretty gals. Thanks to Mrs. Willis for asking me as I do have one that I would like to wear once more.

The menu also carried out the Afro theme. Mrs. Andrenetta Jones, who lived several years in Africa where her husband is in foreign service, assisted Mrs. Willis with the menu. She served Chicken Curry and rice African style.

The second course consisted of coconut fresh pineapple-chutney. Main course Chutney. They used the usual chopped peanuts, onions, hot peppers and wine that is always eaten in the Middle and Far East.

Mrs. Bessie Batts won the first prize for the prettiest gal. Mrs. Macie Walker and Mrs. Leon Griffin tied for the second prize. All prizes consisted of African art pieces and hand carved jewelry and Jungle Gardens perfume.

Debonaire Set Members attending were Mrs. Batts, Mrs. Harold Galloway, Mrs. Leon Griffin, Mrs. Larry Wynn, Mrs. Lawrence Westley, Mrs. Theron Northerness, Mrs. Herbert Robinson, Mrs. Edward Reed and Mrs. Thomas Willis.

Guests attending were Mrs. W. Gibson, Mrs. A. A. Brinch of Toulaloo, Memphis and New York.

CALLS WALLACE 'False Prophet Of Fear'

By RAYMOND M. LAHR
WASHINGTON—(UPI)—President Johnson, in his first outright political speech of the campaign, attacked Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon Thursday as a presidential candidate who would pull the country "into another cycle of Republican reaction and inaction."

In a nationally broadcast speech in behalf of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Johnson also assailed third party candidate George C. Wallace as "a false prophet of fear."

The President spoke on a broadcast sponsored by the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union denoting most of his remarks to domestic policy.

Johnson touched briefly on the Vietnam war, which he called a conflict "that we did not invite but from which we could not run."

He said he had done all that he could do March 31 the date he announced he would cut back re-election and would not cut back the bombing of North Vietnam in an effort to get peace negotiations DISMANTLE PROGRAMS.

He said the GOP candidates for president, vice president and congress had promised to dismantle what had been built under Democratic administrations.

"They have proposed nothing more or less than to pull this nation downward and to pull it back into another cycle of Republican reaction and inaction," Johnson said "and in doing so, they really promise to pull America apart."

He led into his comments about Wallace by saying there were harsh political voices trying to divide the American people.

"The man who stood at the school house door, defying the law is now pretending to be the apostle of order," the President said in a reference to Wallace's attempt to prevent integration at the University of Alabama.

He said he doubted that many Americans would be swayed by empty rhetoric and violent appeals to motion.

"Americans are to wise to waste their votes on a false prophet of fear," Johnson said.

Community Club Entertained By Mrs. Rosalie Lee

Mrs. Rosalie Lee was hostess to the Ladies Community Club of Riverside Subdivision recently at her home 336 Person with Mrs. T. J. Colston, president presiding. The devotion was conducted by Mrs. Leila Crawford, chaplain. Various committees made reports.

Mrs. Maylee Avant taught a very interesting Bible lesson. After the business was transacted all enjoyed a delicious buffet service. Visitors were Mrs. B. Ella Kent and Mrs. Emma Brooks. Other members present were Mesdames Rosa Robinson, Jessie Johnson, Hannah Holloway, Matie French, Louise Smith, Ester Lyons, Lila White, Elizabeth Adams, Minnie Gibson, K. W. Green and Margie Arnold who thanked the hostess for her hospitality.

Next meeting is scheduled to be at the home of Mrs. Ester Lyons, 307 Fay Ave. Tuesday, Oct. 22 at 7:30 P. M.

Ban On Negroes Hit By NAACP

The Memphis Branch NAACP is initiating action to eliminate the illegal segregation being practiced at the Rivermont Club located in the Rivermont Holiday Inn. "From complaints filed with the local Branch, it is obvious that exclusion from this so called private club is based solely on race," said Mrs. Maxine Smith, NAACP official.

"The NAACP is therefore requesting Holiday Inns of America, Inc. to take immediate steps to end under its roof this blatant violation of Title II of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The Memphis Branch will also file with the U. S. Department of Justice on behalf of Dr. Aaron Henry, president, Mississippi State Conference of NAACP Branches, and others who have filed complaints in our office," she said.

More Deliberation On The Presidential Election

(From The Atlanta Daily World)

All along this newspaper has recognized the importance and the power of the ballot. The late John Wesley Dobbs, a pioneer leader in civic and political affairs, often referred to the ballot as our "buckle of defense."

As we approach the most important election since 1860, we urge our readers to give most careful thought and consideration of the issues which confront our country and the best available man for the presidency.

The top issues which confront Americans are: the question of ending the war in Vietnam on honorable terms; restoring the economy and stopping runaway inflation which is bringing a hardship to all, especially the aged and those with fixed income; improving the conditions of those who are living in the slum areas of the cities; implementing the Civil Rights laws which have been enacted and reducing crime and restoring order with justice in the cities of this land.

The voters have the duty, the responsibility and the opportunity to decide which nominee of the two major and responsible political parties can best assume the important duties of the presidency.

Considering the general record of the two major nominees — Republican Richard Nixon and Democrat Hubert Humphrey — and also the unity or lack of unity of their respective parties, we have endorsed Mr. Nixon as the candidate who is best able to lead our country for the next four years.

The voters in our state and the South in general have another important fact to take into consideration in making their decision on November 5th.

It is the question raised by the entry of third-party candidate George Wallace. His candidacy reportedly will receive sufficient votes to possibly enable him to carry this and other deep South states and win their electoral votes.

The Negro voters in all the deep South states are sufficiently strong enough to prevent Mr. Wallace from isolating these states from the two major political parties if our leaders will properly analyze the situation and take their stands accordingly in regards to the pending election.

In our opinion Mr. Nixon is stronger than Mr. Humphrey in this election. Mr. Wallace is stronger than either, but with substantial support to Mr. Nixon, he will be stronger than Mr. Wallace.

We urge our readers to think on these facts and this reasoning.

In the 1964 campaign voters in our race in the nation as a whole, and including your editor, gave President Johnson and Mr. Humphrey from 95 to 98 per cent of our votes. We are grateful for the laws which have been enacted during their administration.

But considering all the facts and circumstances surrounding the approaching election, we must agree with those who say: "Nixon is The One."

A Fine Gesture

We commend the recent presentation by Rhett Austell, publisher of Time-Life Books, of $35,000 to the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) Foundation.

This money came from the first net profits on the sale of the book "I Have A Dream," a pictorial biography of the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

The book, apparently published in record time, was issued shortly after the death of Dr. King. The presentation was made to the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, successor to Dr. King, as president of SCLC, at a luncheon at Paschall's Hotel.

Rev. Abernathy expressed appreciation for the generous contribution and declared "every cent of it will be used to advance the whole cause for which Martin Luther King gave his life." This was a very praiseworthy response.

At the time of publication, it was announced that all net profits from the book would be donated to SCLC. The publisher explained that the initial donation represented the book's first accumulation of profits and that over a period of time additional profits would be realized and other payments made to SCLC.

The title of the book, "I Have A Dream," was taken from Dr. King's memorable freedom speech delivered at the Lincoln Memorial at the climax of the massive 1963 March on Washington. Over 300,000 copies of the 96-page book have been published.

This fine gesture deserves full recognition and commendation from all our citizens.

Colds, Crumbs, Lack Of Sleep Hit Astronauts

By EDWARD K. DELONG
UPI Space Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston—UPI The crew of Apollo 7 telecast another segment of their "orbiting road show" Tuesday despite persistent colds, floating cracker crumbs and a commander who got awoken early.

The astronauts highlight the fifth day of their 11 day flight which may lead to a trip around the moon in December with another show from "The lovely polio Room."

"Coming to you live from outer space, the one and only original Apollo orbiting road show," announced Donn Eisele when the astronauts appeared on television screens around the nation. "Starring those great acrobats out of space, Wally Schirra and Walt Cunningham."

GUIDED TOUR

The astronauts provided 11 minutes of humor and education for earth viewers giving a guided tour of the interior of Apollo 7 and gliding gracefully through the weightless atmosphere.

In early five days in space, the Apollo 7 astronauts have:

Run some key tests of their main propulsion rocket, its guidance and navigation systems and its cooling unit.

Performed a mock emergency rendezvous, and a simulated docking maneuver.

Transmitted two line telecasts from outer space and plan a third Wednesday.

And developed the first known colds in outer space.

Early Tuesday afternoon the crew photographer tripped storm Gladys south of Cuba and reported seeing "one big stormy area out here."

If the storm comes up one the Gulf of Mexico, Schirra told communications Jack Swigert at Houston, "you can go down and bail my boat out."

AWAKENED EARLY

By the time the TV show went on at 10:29 a. m. EDT, Schirra evidently had shaken off his grumpiness over being awakened early.

When Houston ground control called him up and hour ahead of schedule with a premature radio test, Schirra left no doubt about his irritation.

"We three have colds," he snapped. "I asked for an hour and a half extra sleep for each last night and that apparently was ignored."

Ground controllers admitted they made an error Schirra didn't want it to happen again.

Let's have the broad get to work on these sleep rest cycles," he said. "We have only five hours per shift scheduled this last night. I want the rest of these work periods worked out . . . and give us a chance to get some sleep."

Word that all three astronauts had colds or at least symptoms of colds came after doctors had insisted for several days that only Schirra had one.

Flight surgeon Dr. John Zieglschmid said it "just goes to show we can't be wrong."

CRACKER CRUMBS

The crew, already coping with troublesome little puddles of water condensing the space craft, reported after the T. V. show that they had another "gripe-the cracker-type-food" such as dehydrated chicken sandwiches.

"They are all crumbly and we have a lot of problems with crumbs all over the cockpit. We have been rejecting a lot of this," they said. The astronauts also reported on the state of their medicine cabinet. Schirra had taken six decongestant pills and 17 aspirin since launch Friday. Eisele had two of each and Cunningham had one decongestant pill.

Republicans Seeking Local Negro Vote

Charles Gregory, formerly with the Boy Scouts and Map-South is now director of the Tennessee Republican Minorities Division. He opened headquarters last week at 948 East McLemore.

Participating in the opening was U. S. Representative Dan Rostenkowski and several other Republican candidates.

Mr. Gregory said a strong effort will be made to woo Negro voters to the Republican side before the November 5 general election.

Football Week-Ends

The autumn season is here and the time for football week-ends has arrived. Not only does fall bring the first harsh weather, but the nights are continually growing longer from now until December 21st, and two factors which work against the automobile driver are entering the picture increasingly as the football season wears on.

The crowds which often travel to football games constitute a menace of their own peculiar variety. Some are too prone to celebrate, and this costs a number of lives each year. Others are in too much of a hurry to get to the game for the opening kickoff—having started late.

This editorial is a request for safe and mature behavior by all readers this football season.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM C. HEATH

June Carolyn Dixon Weds William Charles Heath Here

ATLANTA, Ga. — (SNS) — The marriage of Miss June Carolyn Dixon, daughter of Mrs. C. E. Dixon and William Charles Heath, son of Mr. William Z. Heath and the late Mrs. Willie Amie Heath of Fort Worth, Texas was solemnized Sunday evening, June 30, 1968 in the Wheat Street Baptist Church. Rev. Dr. William Holmes Borders, pastor officiated.

The double ring ceremony was performed before an altar of glowing tapers in wane cathedral candlebrass, green ferns, and Grecian urns of other seasonal flowers.

Prior to the formal ceremony the organist, Dr. Windell Whalum, presented a program of classical music. Dr. Whalum accompanied Billy Hargrove Edmondson who sang "Through the years" and "Ava Maria."

The bride given in marriage by her uncle Mr. Corbin Davis, wore a wedding gown of white silk organza appliqued with chantilly lace featuring a lace scalloped neckline. She wore a cathedral veil that flowed like a majestic halo from the head and extended to the floor as a chapel train.

The bride chose for her something old — a pair of tiny pearl diamond earrings and pendant, for her something new — her elegant gown for her something blue — the garter.

Miss Carol Jenkins of Griffin, Georgia and Mrs. Dessie Robinson of Atlanta, friends of the bride, were maid and matron of honor respectively. Bridal attendants were Miss Ollie Lee, Miss Ruperian Russell, Miss Betty Ferguson, Miss Lonnie Roberts, Miss Janice Williams, Miss Ann Scott, Miss Francis Stinson and Miss Phyllis Lane. Little misses Nikita Adams and Kimula Stinson were flower girls.

The attendants wore headpieces of satin bows and floor length gowns of apricot chiffon. Each carried a cascade of coronations.

The bride's mother wore a Robin blue crepe dress featuring a draped neckline accentuated by jewels and a matching blue veil ornamented with flowers.

Philip Dorsey of Dallas Texas, best friend of the groom, served as best man. The groomsmen were Gabriel Wimberly, Kirby Clements,

PRENUPTIAL PARTIES

Miss June Dixon was feted with a number of lovely prenuptial parties. The first of the series was a Miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Pauline Minnifield. The guest list included friends and former classmates.

On June 22, the Versatile Young Women Club entertained with a Lingerie shower at Mrs. Dessie Robinson's apartment. A Hawaiian motif was carried out in beautiful decor, and attire with corresponding refreshing menus.

Mrs. Shannon White and Mrs. Marion Robinson were hostesses at a kitchen shower honoring the bride.

Mrs. Mana Woods, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Lera Hugley of La-Grange chose the Magnolia Room at Rich's for the scene of a lovely bridal luncheon with the theme as "Tea Time With June."

On June 26, Mrs. Annie Laurie Scott and daughter, Anne, complimented Miss Dixon with a Miscellaneous shower at her home on Pamlico Drive.

The Rehearsal Party was held at the home of Mrs. Brenda Witherspoon on Lynhurst Drive.

Biography Of Langston Hughes, "Black Is Beautiful"

Langston Hughes, widely held to be the poet laureate of black people, is the subject of a biography to be published by Thomas Y. Crowell Company on October 14.

The biography is by Milton Meltzer, who was a close friend of and collaborator with Mr. Hughes. He was working on the biography at the time of the poet's death in 1967.

The biography, which is primarily geared to young readers, gives a full account of Hughes' colorful life. It traces his youthful travels from Kansas to Mexico to Harlem to Paris to Dakar, Africa.

In the thirties, Hughes visited Spain during the civil war and made a film making expedition to Russia. He also journeyed all the way around the world, everywhere gaining a following as a poet for all people.

Langston Hughes' poems radiate the idea that "black is beautiful." They capture the rhythms of jazz and are concerned with pride and freedom. Meltzer's biography includes a selection of Hughes' most loved poetry.

Beside writing eleven volumes of verse, Hughes branched out to write short stories, novels, plays, and books for children. He is widely known for his "Simple" stories, originally published in the Chicago Defender.

He also compiled several collections of Negro lore including A Pictorial History of the Negro in America and Black Magic, dealing with the Negro in entertainment.

On both books he collaborated with Milton Meltzer.

Mr. Meltzer, in addition to editing anthologies, has written biographies of such nineteenth-century antislavery figures as Thaddeus Stevens, Samuel Gridley Howe, and Lydia Mari Child. He has also compiled the award-winning film Their Own Words, a three-volume documentary history of the American Negro also published by Thomas Y. Crowell Company.

"WE MUST NOT HATE"

Text: "But I say unto you which hear, love your enemies. Do good to them which hate you. Bless them that curse you, And pray for them which despitefully use you." LUKE 6:27-28.

We are living in a grand and awful time." The walls of discrimination are crumbling. Soon the walls of segregation will come tumbling down like the walls of Jericho. But with it all there comes hate. So many white people hate negroes and so many negroes hate white people. Too many are unlike Jesus Christ. Too many are unlike the late Booker T. Washington who said, "I will let no man drag my soul down to the level of hatred."

Hate can't win but when all else fails love wins. We can't win with hate. We can win with love. Maybe our first reaction to discrimination and its concomitant cruelties is hate of the oppressor. In these trying days a terrible wave of hate and anger tends to arise but we can't lose our faces. We can't lose our friends, therefore we must love.

In the midst of hate and hot anger the true christian must continue to uphold the teachings of Christ and practice. However hard it may be, To forgive our enemies and pray for them. For "They know not what they do." Christ expects us to love our enemies whether they be black or white. This is the new law of the new testament.

Abraham Lincoln was being inaugurated for his second term. Our country was at war. Thousands in the blue and thousands in the gray had fallen on the nation's battlefields. Thousands from the north. Thousands from the south were in the horrible clutches of stench ridden prisons. Lincoln wearied and worn with four years of war, his cheeks hollowed, his eyes sunk in deep caverns, expressed a Christ-like sentiment when he said, "With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right."

Let us practice that same sentiment: "Malice toward none, with love for all, with firmness in the right."

More than nineteen hundred years ago on a hillside, The holy city of Jerusalem, they crucified three men. Two were robbers, between these two robbers hung a young Galilean prophet A young man who went about doing good. A young man who spoke as never another man had spoken. A jeering mob spat foul epithets like

A GOP spokesman said: "The doors of the Republican Party are open to all persons willing to work and think positively about building black capitalism which the Democratic Party has failed to do in 38 years of leadership. The economic gap continues to widen between the blacks and whites. It is time for us to stop being emotional and face the truth of our economic status."

National School Lunch Week To Be Observed Oct. 13-20

Good nutrition for school children has been, and continues to be, good business for school children—and for food and related industries.

In recognition of the contribution that the School Lunch Program has made to the child, the home, the farm and industry, Gov. Lester Maddox has proclaimed the week beginning Oct. 13 as Georgia School Lunch Week. The week is also designated by Congress as National School Lunch Week, according to Miss Josephine Martin, State Supervisor of School Food Service.

The National School Lunch Act was passed in 1946. Now, 22 years later, the School Lunch Program has grown into a billion dollar food business.

Most of the purchases needed in the operation of a school lunchroom are made locally. School officials buy such items as food, napkins, straws, cleansers, utensils and other equipment from institution al suppliers, wholesalers, processors and retailers in their own communities.

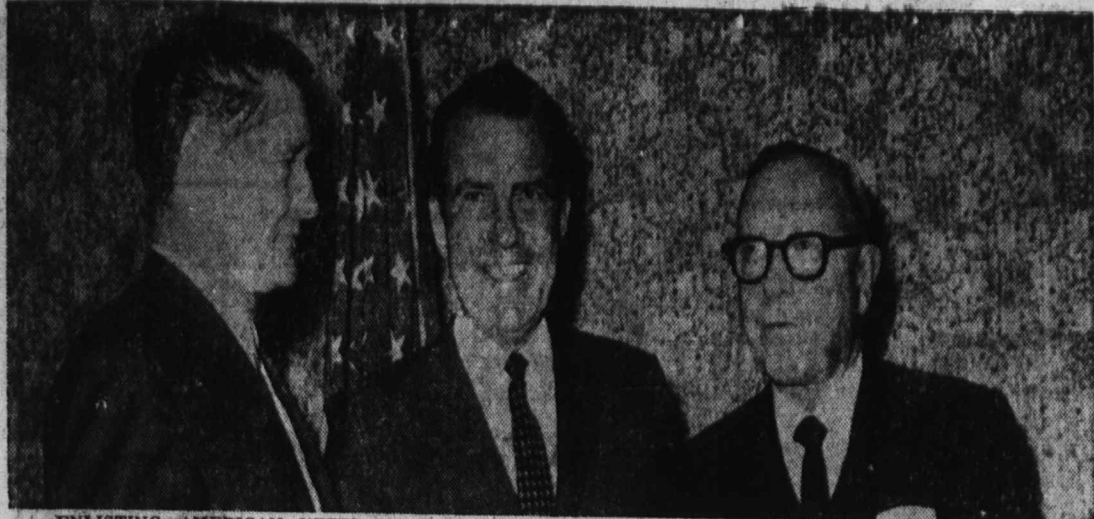

"The School Lunch Program is just another example of how education works" cooperatively with business and industry," State Superintendent of Schools Jack P. Nix commented.

Georgia schools spend 30 million dollars annually with local vendors for food. They buy milk, meat, poultry, egg, fruits and vegetables — all Georgia's agricultural products.

In addition, the U. S. Department of Agriculture distributes Georgia products all over the nation to help meet children's nutritional and financial needs. Children across the United States eat Georgia peanut butter, turkeys, eggs and broilers.

NAACP Seeks To Reinstall School Board In New York

NEW YORK — This city's Board of Education has been ordered by New York State Supreme Court Justice Murray T. Feiden to show why the administration of the schools in the Ocean Hill-Brownsville district in Brooklyn should not be returned to the district's suspended governing board.

Justice Feiden's action was in response to a petition filed, Oct. 9, on behalf of the controversial local board and its members by NAACP General Counsel Robert L. Carter and his associate, Lewis M. Steel, contending that the suspension of the board was in violation of the due process and equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution. The court ordered a hearing on the petition in Kings County, Friday morning, Oct. 11. The petition demanded that the Court order "the Board of Education of the City of New York to reinstate the local board and its members and enjoin the City Board from interfering with the functioning of the local board in any manner which violates the Fourteenth Amendment."

The Ocean Hill-Brownsville board has been the focus of contention since last spring when it sought to get rid of 19 teachers deemed unsatisfactory by the board. The United Federation of Teachers rallied to the defense of its ousted members. The local board, asserting control over the selection of teachers for the district, refused to take them back despite an order from the City Board of Education. Rejection of the City Board's order led to the suspension.

In suspending the local board, allegedly "to avert a strike threatened by the white-dominated UFT," the City Board "invidiously discriminated against" the local board on the basis of race, the petition charged. "Its action, therefore, violates the equal protection of the law clause of the Fourteenth Amendment."

The petition further noted that the local board was suspended without prior notice, without the filing of charges, and without opportunity to answer charges. "Suspension under these circumstances," petition said, denies the board and its members "due process of law as guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment."

Civil Rights Laws Curbing Bias In Job Discrimination In South

CLUBBING JOB (NPI WASHINGTON BUREAU) WASHINGTON — (NPI) — Little by little, the traditional prejudices and discriminatory practices that have kept Negroes out of work or in low paying jobs in the South are being abolished through implementation of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act.

Title VII is the federal law which prohibits job discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex and national origin. As administered by the U. S. Equal Employment Opportunity commission, the law is effecting a revolution for many by opening up new job opportunities and correcting old abuses of black workers that over the years too many people have accepted as inevitable.

Some of the most prevalent abuses, according to the commission, are lower rates of pay for Negroes, dead-end jobs that provide no chance for advancement, underemployment, jobs that are not commensurate with one's training and experience, Jim Crow facilities, the use of unfair tests to screen out Negroes from certain jobs and discriminatory treatment at employment offices.

The big problem in trying to correct these illegal acts is that the commission usually can invoke the law only when the person who is discriminated makes a complaint.

Many don't complain because they don't know their rights under the federal law and others are reluctant for fear of losing their jobs, even though the law makes it illegal for an employer to fire or otherwise punish a worker for complaining about job discrimination.

"One of our biggest and most difficult jobs is informing people of their rights," Clifford L. Alexander Jr., the youthful commission chairman, said.

He said the Urban League and NAACP have been very cooperative in getting information about the law to the people. He also praised a number of disc jockeys on Negro-oriented stations who have been making spot announcements about Title VII.

Alexander noted that a person who is being illegally denied high job rights is like a person who is sick. "Just as the doctor can't help you until you tell him about your illness, we can't help until the victim comes to us with a complaint."

"Once we have the complaint," he said, "the machinery of the commission automatically goes into gear to correct the abuse and to help the victim get what has been unlawfully denied him. Sometimes, it means a worker gets the job denied him; sometimes it means he gets a cash award to compensate him for what he lost by being denied high rights."

Then he cited some examples of the thousands of cases the commission has handled.

In one southern state employment office, where a Negro job hunter was told he could not be served until he got into the Jim Crow waiting line, the commission was able to get the separate waiting lines abolished.

In a case where the job application of a Negro woman was rejected because she refused to address a white receptionist as "Ma'am," the commission got the company to change its employment policy and post a notice stating the requirements of the law that says everyone must have an equal chance for employment regardless of race, color, religion, sex or national origin. And, Alexander noted, the company agreed to make periodic reports to the commission on how many Negroes are being hired and what types of jobs they are offered.

He also cited the case of a Negro soldier who got a check for $1,600 because an employer told him before he was drafted it had no jobs for welders, yet on the same day hired two inexperienced white men as welders. The company has informed the soldier also that it is ready to hire him as soon as he is discharged from the service.

A woman who had been working for a car wash establishment in a southern city complained to the commission that she was skipped over for consideration as a cashier, a job paying more than she was earning as a clerk. After the commission investigated and found she was qualified and had seniority, the company agreed to pay her $750 and give her the cashier's job.

The law administered by the commission applies to not only employers, but employment agencies, unions and job training programs, if more than 25 persons are involved.

For persons wanting to get information about their job rights or to file a complaint about job bias, the commission has 12 regional offices, five of them in the South — Atlanta, Austin (Texas), Birmingham, Kansas City (Missouri), and New Orleans. Their addresses and phone numbers can be found in the telephone directory under "U. S. Government."

Faulty Aircraft Gives Passengers A Scare Here

Emergency operations were put into effect at the Atlanta Airport Sunday night.

A twin engine passenger plane with 44 persons aboard landed safely on a foam covered runway after a mal-functioning warning light indicated the Convair 440's landing gear was not locked down.

The aircraft, Delta Flight 409, left Atlanta for Montgomery, Ala., but when the pilot attempted to lower the wheels to land in Montgomery, Ala., the warning light appeared, an airlines spokesman said. The pilot, a Capt. Fowler, chose to make the 39-minute return flight to Atlanta where the runways are longer and the emergency equipment is more elaborate.

The plane made a low pass by the Atlanta control tower, and operator using powerful floodlights, reported that the landing gear appeared to be locked in position.

However, as a precaution, rescue crews coated the runway with fire-soothing foam, and the propeller-powered plane touched down safely shortly after 11 p. m.

The 44 passengers included a crew of three.

Duke Ellington Featured At S.C. State College

ORANGEBURG, S. C. — "Freedom" is the dominant and recurring theme in Duke Ellington's internationally praised, new Concert of Sacred Music to be presented at S.C. State College, Nov. 11, according to the distinguished composer.

Ellington explores provocatively the many interpretations and facets of the freedom ideal, musically and verbally, in the text of the program, observing with characteristic wit, "Freedom is a great word. It is used around the world — in many languages. It is used for many purposes. Sometimes it is even used in the interest of freedom."

In discussing the Sacred Concert, Ellington continues, "We also talk about forgiveness and heaven and God's angels. It has been said that what we do is deliver lyrical sermons, fire-and-brimstone sermons and reminders of the fact that we live in the promised land of milk and honey, where we have prime beef and 80 percent butter-fat ice cream."

I am sure we appreciate the blessings we enjoy in this country, but it wouldn't hurt if everyone expressed his appreciation more often."

Tickets for the Ellington Sacred Concert, to be performed by the composer, his full orchestra, vocal soloists and the choirs of S. C. State and Claflin Colleges are available at the business offices of both colleges.

Eisenhower Garden Dedication Set For October 19 At Valley F.

VALLEY FORGE, PA. — Eisenhower Garden, in tribute to former President Dwight Eisenhower, will be formally dedicated Saturday afternoon, Oct. 19 at 2 p. m. by Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge.

The garden will be presented by Dr. Kenneth D. Wells, president of Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, and formally accepted by Miss Susan Eisenhower, granddaughter of the General of the Army and former United States president, Susan 16, is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. John S. D. Eisenhower of Phoenixville, Pa.

Located in the Congressional Medal of Honor Grove, the garden flanks Patriot's Path which extends from the Gen. Henry Knox Building to the impressive bronze statue of George Washington at prayer.

The garden contains a variety of flowers and decorative plants. Included are four special roses — the Eisenhower, the Abraham Lincoln, American Heritage and Peace.

On each side of the path, and in the garden, are seven plaques describing various military decorations conferred by the army, navy, air force, marines and coast-guard.

W. C. "Tom" Sawyer, senior vice president of Freedoms Foundation, will preside. The program will begin with invocation by Rev. Dr. Frederick Brown Harris, chaplain of the United States Senate and for Freedoms Foundation; and a welcome to visitors and introduction of distinguished guests.

Gino J. Merli of Peckville, Pa., a World II Medal of Honor recipient and 2nd Regional Vice President of the Congressional Medal of Honor Society, will speak on the grove, a 52-acre tract of prime woodland dedicated to the nation's more than 3,000 Medal of Honor recipients.

A collection of General Eisenhower's most notable quotations dealing with Freedom as a precious heritage will be read by Foundation officials and friends of General Eisenhower.

Benediction, by Rev. Harris will close the program.

No Membership In Biased Groups Says Humphrey

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has informed the American Jewish Committee "that I do not now, never, have, and never will belong to any social club which discriminates against any group."

"This was a matter of principle with me even before I ran for any office," the Democratic nominee said.

The Vice President's statement was made in reply to a telegram from Morris B. Abram, President of the American Jewish Committee which called upon "public figures to exercise leadership by openly disassociating themselves from organizations and social clubs which discriminate on the basis of race, religion, color or national oriprincipals, PTA leaders and civil defense officials at two special conferences called by Dr. Paul D. West, superintendent of the Fulton County school system.

South Fulton County area officials will meet Tuesday, Oct. 15 at Oak Knoll Elementary School, 2626 Hogan Road, East Point. The North Fulton County conference will be held Thursday, Oct. 17, at Ridgeview High School, 5340 Trimble Road, N. E. Conferences will begin at 9 a. m.

Key speakers will be Dr. Paul West and James L. Green of the Fulton County school system and Brigadier General (Ret.) William R. Woodward and Col. (Ret.) W. R. Pershall, of Atlanta Metropolitan Area Civil Defense. A question and answer period will follow the presentations.

gin. The text of Vice President Humphrey's response and of Mr. Abram's telegram follow:

Dear Mr. Abram:

In reply to your telegram of October 1, please be assured that I do not now, never have, and never will belong to any social club which discriminates against any group.

Hence, I find no need to resign from any club during this campaign. This was a matter of principle with me even before I ran for any office. The Democratic National Committee has previously advised all affiliates not to engage any facilities which practice discrimination, but I am requesting our new chairman, Mr. Larry O'Brien, to make sure that this policy is being strictly observed.

I commend the American Jewish Committee for calling this matter to public attention. It is high time individuals asking for public trust should practice what they preach and it is encouraging to note that you have already caused at least one Presidential candidate to change his practices.

MARION JACKSON Views Sports Of The World

(ATLANTA, Ga.—(SBS)—

NEGRO SPORTS TOP WAGE EARNERS

With Chamberlain, who starred at the University of Kansas before moving to a one-season stint with the Harlem Globetrotters, before joining the National Basketball Association, has been picked on the East-West All-Star squad nine consecutive seasons. In this brief career, he has become a millionaire and one of the best business brains in organized competition. . . . Morris Brown College's splendid Wolverine Marching Band has been invited for a repeat performance at Thursday, Nov. 28, Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade, which will be on coast-to-coast NBC-TV.

It is ironic, but NBA basketball has two of the wealthiest performers in organized sports. With Chamberlain of the Los Angeles Lakers and Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics. Chamberlain and Russell are involved in a maze of business enterprises and possess vast real estate holdings.

Chamberlain has invested heavily in apartment complexes and subdivisions, as well as night clubs and glitzy stocks.

Russell's property holds extend into Africa, where he has vowed to retire when his coaching-playing career is finished. Like Chamberlain, the Celtic coaching star has extensive real estate holdings and is an astute analyst of the stock market.

Next best business man to come out of sports is former Brooklyn Dodger star Jackie Robinson, an aide to New York Republican Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, a bank president, insurance company chief, stockholder and vice president of an insurance firm, public relations counselor, radio-TV personality, author and syndicated columnist to name a few of his interests.

Jackie's far-flung business enterprises is staggering and through wise investments through his association with the Rockefeller, he is believed several times a millionaire. Few figures in sports have risen to the eminence that Jackie enjoys in business and public affairs.

There are several Negro sports personalities who have climbed into the $100,000-a-year bracket. Most widely-acclaimed are Willie Mays and Juan Marichal of the San Francisco Giants; Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates; Richie Allen of the Philadelphia Phillies and Frank Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles.

Floyd Patterson is one of the few fighters to emerge from the glamour status of a reigning heavyweight champion still clutching his millions. Patterson is an admitted millionaire, but not so his predecessors — Joe Louis, Ezzard Charles, Jersey Joe Walcott and Sonny Liston.

Louis made millions, which were quickly dissipated through the cronyism system and through the greed of his handlers. The former Brown Bomber and Dusty Destroyer retired virtually broke.

Sugar Ray Robinson, the all-time great welterweight and middleweight, likewise amassed a fortune, but most of his wealth is gone.

You know the story of Hammerin' Hank Armstrong, Beau Jack (nee Sidney Walker), Bob Montgomery, Sandy Saddler, Hurricane Jackson and other tragic figures who waited their earnings and retired embittered. The list is long and the case histories are appalling.

YET A NEW CROP OF ATH-

Eva Thomas Over R. L. Cousins, 23-19

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SBS)— Gary Greer threw three touchdowns passes, one with seven minutes to play and his team trailing, to lead Eva Thomas High over R. L. Cousins, 23-19.

Robert Smith caught all three touchdowns for the winners. Ben Harris scored twice for the losers, who were leading, 19-16 before Greer's final TD toss.

SCORING:

EVA THOMAS — Smith (63-yard pass from Greer), Smith (42-yard pass from Greer), Smith (24-yard pass from Greer). SAFETY — Kemp (end zone tackle). PATS — Washington (3 kicks).

R. L. COUSINS — Harris (2 yard run), Harris (4-yard run), Kemp (1-yard run). PAT — Harris (run).

Turner Blanks W. Fulton, 20-0

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SBS)— Paced by QB Jesse Stephens, the Turner High Trojans continued their undefeated slide by blanking West Fulton High, 20-0 at Cheney Stadium.

Stephens, a pre-season pick for all-region honors, scored one touchdown, passed for two more, and ran one point after.

Turner, now 4-1-0 thus far and West Fulton is 1-4-0.

West Fulton faces Harper Friday night at Cheney Stadium and Turner battles Douglas Saturday night at Herndon Stadium.

SCORING:

TURNER — Stephens (1-yard run), Holiday (7-yard pass from Stephens), Robinson (70-yard pass from Stephens), PATS Jones (pass), Stephens (run).

Price High Bombs Washington, 32-14

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SBS)— Price High racked up its second win of the year by bombing Washington High, 32-14 at Herndon Stadium.

Couch John Merckerson's Wildcats are now sporting a 2-2-0 record and the BTW Bulldogs are 1-4-0 thus far.

QB Alphonso Lee paced the Wildcats offense attack by scoring one touchdown and passed for three others.

SCORING:

PRICE — Lee (1-yard run), Jackson (24-yard pass from Lee), Allen (7-yard pass from Lee), Jackson (60-yard pass from Lee), Clowerson (60-yard run). PATS — Carson (2 kicks).

WASHINGTON — Cleveland (56-yard pass from Bates), Roberts (1-yard run). PATS — Williamson (2 kicks).

Murphy Pins Grady, 34-7

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SBS)— Behind the hard running of full-back Gregory Horne, the Murphy High Eagles pinned the Grady Grey Knights, 34-7 at Grady Stadium.

Horne busted across goal line four times on runs of 4, 7, 29, 5 yards. He also booted three points after.

Murphy plays Southwest Saturday at Cheney Stadium and Grady tackles Fulton Friday evening at Grady Stadium.

SCORING:

MURPHY — Horne (4-yard run), Horne (7-yard run), Horne (89-yard run), Horne (5-yard run), Duncan (1-yard run). PAT — Horne (3 kicks), Harris (kick).

GRADY — Herbert (15-yard pass from Perry), PAT — Perry (kick).

Archer Edges Howard, 7-0

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SBS)— Hallback Larry Crawford paced Archer over Howard 7-0 at Grady Stadium.

It was late in the fourth quarter when Howard was forced to punt and Crawford fielded the ball, picking up blockers, and raced to goal line.

Crawford's TD set the stage for Archer to remain undefeated with a record of 4-0-0. Howard is now 0-5-0.

Howard will play Washington Friday evening at Cheney Stadium and Archer meets Price Saturday evening at Cheney.

SCORING:

ARCHER — Crawford (55-yard punt return). PAT — Nelloms (kick).

Sylvan Downs Carver, 16-13

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SBS)— Sylvan High downed Carver 16-13 in a non-region game at Cheney Stadium.

Carver, last year's runner up in class AA, made an attempt in the third quarter to win the game, holding a 13-10 lead.

But Sylvan scored in the fourth quarter to place the game on ice. Carver will play East Atlanta Thursday night at Cheney Stadium and Sylvan meets Roosevelt Saturday night at Cheney.

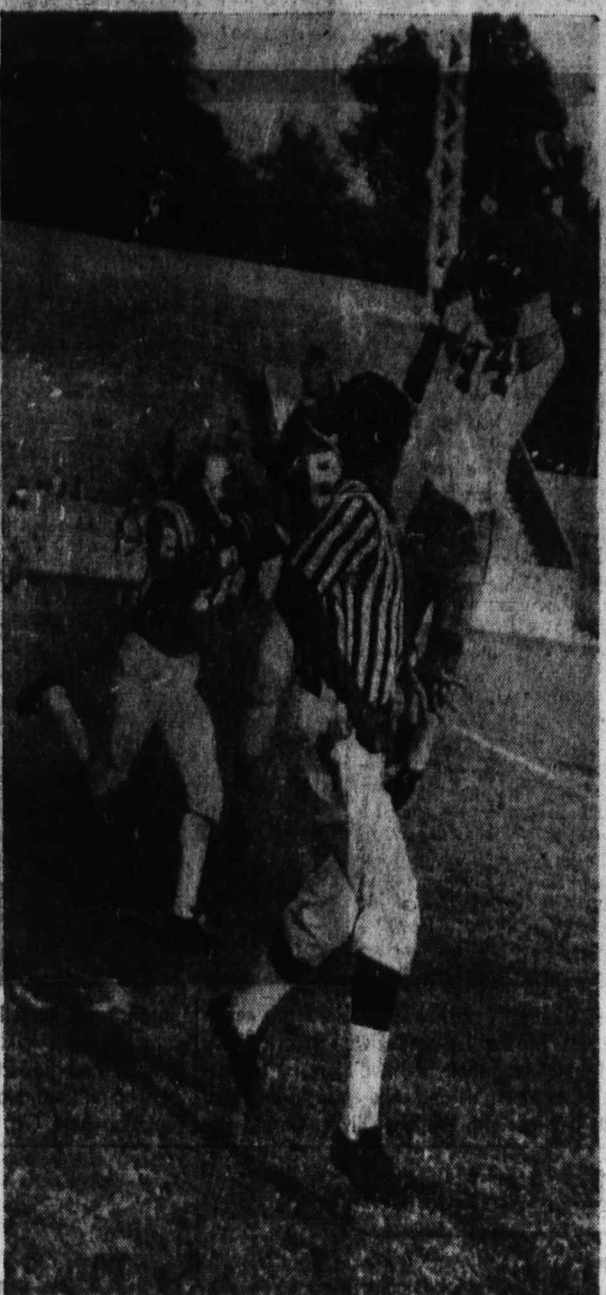

SCORING:

SYLVAN — Murphy (7-yard pass from Steckig), Steckig (1-yard run), FIELD GOAL — Dumas (32-yards), PATS — Dumas (kick).

CARVER — Edwards (2-yard run), Bailey (33-yard run), PAT — Norris (kick).

John C. Smith Dumps Morris Brown, 20-14

By JAMES D. HEATH

(World Sports Staff)

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SBS)— Johnson C. Smith University stated a last minute scoring drive to defeat Morris Brown 20-14 Saturday, Oct. 12 at Herndon Stadium.

It was the annual Wolverines homecoming celebration and a crowd estimated at 500 witnessed the MBC Wolverines make a strong bid for their first victory of the season.

The visiting Golden Bulls increased their won-lost record to 2-1-0, while Morris Brown has been unable to record a win against three straight losses.

Late in the fourth period with 3:12 left in the game, Johnson C. Smith was faced with a 4-3 situation at MBC's 21 yard line, and moved the ball to a first down on a 4-yard run by William Dusenberry to MBC's 17.

Still Morris Brown was leading 14-13 and the clock ticking. With 2:34 showing on the clock, QB Elroy Duncan tossed a 15-yard pass to Derrick Reese, who was standing in the end zone all by himself, for the winning touchdown. John Parker added the point after.

The Golden Bulls started their scoring drive in the first period when Louis Jewell, listed on J. C. Smith roster as a punt return specialist, returned a MBC punt 80-yards to paydirt. Parker added the point after, giving the Bulls a 7-0 lead.

Morris Brown bounced right back with a score in the early minutes of the second period with Duke Bradley crossing goal line from 19-yards out. Larry Henderson booted the point after, and the score was deadlocked, 7-7.

Two minutes after Morris Brown scored, J. C. Smith added another six-points on the scoreboard on another 80-yard play. It was a 3-45 situation at J. C. Smith's 20 yard line and Duncan dropped back and tossed a short flare to Benny Johnson who raced 80-yards for the score. Attempt for point after failed. Again, J. C. Smith was leading 13-7.

But the lead changed again with only 46 left in the first half. Morris Brown's Gregory Thompson connected with Renard McNeil for a 8 yard pass touchdown. Henderson booted the point after and Morris Brown went into the dressing room with a 14-13 lead.

After a beautiful halftime show featuring J. C. Smith and Morris Brown bands, and the presentation of the Wolverines queens, no score was recorded until the last minute score by J. C. Smith in the fourth period.

But Morris Brown received the opening kick off for the second half and dominated the ball. The Wolverines defense was fired up and allowed no running or passing room for the Bulls.

Morris Brown had a chance to score late in the third quarter. The Wolverines marched down to J. C. Smith's 9 yard line and failed to score. On fourth down, MBC attempted a pass but it was intercepted.

Morris Brown will host the Rattlers of Florida A. and M. Friday night at Herndon Stadium for a big SIAC conference battle.

Morehouse Tigersharks Prepare For Swim Season

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SBS)— Bolstered by a group of very promising freshmen, the Morehouse Tigersharks SIAC kimpkins, are getting set for what appears to be the most highly competitive swim season in the history of the conference.

Keener competition is assured by virtue of outstanding talent acquisition by Tuskegee Institute, South Carolina State College, Fort Valley State College, Florida A. and M. University, LeMoyne College, and Alabama State College.

Non-conference foes who have strengthened their already powerful troops include Tennessee A. and I. University, Southern University, Johnson C. Smith University, Hampton Institute, Texas Southern University, Howard University. Again this year local skirmishes are tentatively scheduled with Emory University, Georgia State College, and Georgia Tech.

Newcomers, who, according to press clippings, are destined to earn starting berths with the Tigersharks include Jeffrey Goldson (butterfly-freestyle), Adolpho Sanhago (individual—medley), Rene Davila (freestyle sprints and distance), Harris Sanders (breast-stroke-freestyle sprints), and Ronald Stewart (diver). Unrecruited freshmen who may add to the Tigershark depth include Edward Brown, Clarence Bush, David Mann, Dennard Fobbs, and Robert Vaughn.

Veteran, combat-tested Tigersharks who are working on an unbroken string of thirty-seven victories and three consecutive SIACSD championships include Captain Michael Clark, undefeater Juan Lieba, Charles McEntee, Roberto Garcia, Wigberto Cintron, David Watkins, Lewis Collier, Sidney Brooks, Richard Allen, Joe Rusco, Rafael Francis, Charles Davis, John T. Franks, Samuel Jackson, Clarence Grisham, and Samuel Wilson. Missing will be graduated Isaiah Bruce King and Julio Orlando Roggerio.

The 1966-67 Tigersharks fractured 57 pool and conference records throughout the country. The 1967-68 team broke 46-odd records. Progressively the Tigersharks are finding their records, many noteworthy of national standards, more difficult to break. The current team accepts this as a "meaningful and significant challenge to its determination skill, and mental set."

Confirmed schedule for 1968-69 (other meets are pending) follows: Nov. 30 — Morehouse vs. LeMoyne College at Memphis, Tennessee. Dec. 1 — Morehouse vs. Tus-

Atlanta Falcons Finally Get In Win Column, 24-21

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SBS)— Substitute quarterback Jim Berry picked up the faltering Atlanta Falcons Sunday with a drive that included a pass to Jerry Simmons, carried 61 yards, to lead the Falcons to a 24-21 upset over the New York Giants.

A crowd of more than 49,000—only slightly less than capacity—cheered to see the Falcons hold off the previously unbeaten Giants in the waning seconds and end an 11-game losing streak.

It marked the dramatic turn for Coach Norm Van Brocklin, who took over from Norb Hecker less than two weeks ago, to direct the Falcons to their first victory since Oct. 29, 1967 when they defeated Minnesota 21-20.

The loss also ruined the homecoming of local hero Fran Tarkenton, the New York quarterback who is an Atlanta resident and who starred at the University of Georgia.

Berry, who came in late in the first half with the Falcons trailing 14-7, drove the Falcons 73 yards in 10 plays, the key a 23-yards to Paul Haden at the Giant one-yard-line. Perry Lee Dunn ran over for the score with 49 seconds remaining and Bob Etter tied it at intermission with his second of three extra points.

Etter put the Falcons ahead midway in the third period when he kicked a 37-yard field goal after a 58-yard Atlanta drive stalled at the New York 10.

But Tarkenton, who passed 44 yards to Homer Jones and 28 yards to Aaron Thomas for first half scores, drove the Giants 65 yards in 11 plays early in the fourth period, climaxing the drive with a one-yard scoring loss to Jones. Pete Gogolak's third extra point put the Giants out in front 21-17.

Atlanta returned the following kickoff to its 34. There, on first down, Berry faded back and hurled a strike to Simmons who caught the pass at the New York 17 and dragged a defender 12 yards to the five. Dunn, on fourth down, scored the winning touchdown on a one-foot plunge with 5:59 remaining. New York drove right back, Tarkenton passing the Giants to the Atlanta 13.

On second down Tarkenton threw for Jones in the end zone but defensive back Lee Calland intercepted the pass at the goal line with just over a minute remaining to preserve the upset.

Atlanta's first score came following the opening kickoff when Bobby Johnson, the starting quarterback, led the Falcons 65 yards in 10 plays. Speedy Jim Butler, Atlanta's leading ground gainer, carried on eight of the 10 plays and won the final six yards for the score.

Along The Sports Trail

BY SAM BROWN

The tumult and the shouting lies, the captains and the kings depart," at the writer stated, so the baseball season ends and the World Series comes to a close, which gives the Hot Stove League a running start for the coming months.

Various phases of sports will be given the once over of what might have been, if such and such a thing had or had not happened. There will be plenty of grist for the mill or fuel for the stove as the league season progresses. The effects of the expansion, the protected players, the wealth or lack of wealth of manpower and the late lamented World Series will come in for discussion.

Perhaps a word or so in regard to the 1968 World Series comments heard Along The Trail since that seventh and final game won by the Detroit Tigers for the gold and glory that go with a World Championship might be the first observation.

Some of the die-hard Cardinals fans were shaken up pretty badly by the outcome of the series, noting that Detroit brought home the victory the hard way so to speak, by winning after being three games down on the short end of a 3-1 count after the first four games.

Although, the Cardinals had played brilliantly throughout the first four games, having won the first, third and fourth games, and needing only one more victory to wrap up their second consecutive World's Championship, some feel that a bit more of down to earth or rather "inside" baseball might have won for the Cardinals, particularly in the final game.

The setting: Sixth inning of final game, score zero-zero with the two top pitchers of each club during the series matched in a scoreless duel, and the thought of one run being the deciding run or winning run. Many fans watching on TV and listening on radio were heard to say "One run will just about win this one, and the team that makes the first run will win."

It seemed to some of those Along The Trail, that the Cardinals might have been the first team to make that one run as the sixth inning opened. Lou Brock, star of the series and leading base stealer had not been on base his previous two times, but opened the inning with a single, and was promptly picked off first base by the Detroit pitcher, Mickey Lolich.

Now, one can hear that the Cardinals and Brock might have played it safe and waited for a sacrifice and perhaps one run with Curt Flood and Orlando Cepeda coming up. A run at that time would have put a lot of pressure on the Tigers and the surmise, that the team making the first run would win the game might have proved true.

Then after Brock was out, and also Julian Javier, Flood singled and only a moment later, he too was picked off first base. So the Hot Stove League is going full blast as to what might have been if Brock and Flood had not been trapped off first base. In spots like that just a spark is needed to start a flame, and the outcome could have been different.

All this is only a part of fuel for the Hot Stove as since the beginning of baseball there has always been that supposition of what might have been. True, it is heard that Brock has the green light to steal or run the bases as he sees fit, but in a close game that had the championship going with every action, the whole team should have been the thing of importance.

The ball that got past Flood in the top of the seventh inning when the Tigers scored three runs and runs that proved the game and championship, was so much anti-climax, as the climax had been reached in the sixth in reverse action by the base running of the Cardinals.

No one knows what might have been, but fans Along The Trail are still talking and saying "That's baseball!" Just wait until next year.

40 Students At Northside To Help Mail Xmas Seals

The V.O.E. class of Northside High School is doing a whopping job—a job in which they are rendering a real community service.

These 40-odd youngsters—most of them girls—have agreed to address 15,000 envelopes to be used in the Christmas Seal mailing scheduled to go out early in November.

Bryan Wilson, executive director of the Shelby County Tuberculosis and Health Association (which mails out the seals), had this to say about the work the students are doing: It was thrilling to see the eagerness with which they helped transfer the materials from the car to the typing room. They were all smiles over the prospect of typing something, but just for practice, but something which actually would go out in the mails. To them, this meant achievement; it meant they were approaching the time when they could go out and earn a good living for themselves. It is even more thrilling to see the splendid and accurate job they are doing; this means there soon will be added some good workers to the Memphis job market."

The Christmas Seal fund drive will begin Nov. 12. Jerred Banchard is campaign chairman and William R. Bruce is co-chairman.

Civic Clubs Plan African Program

Bluff City Council of Civic Clubs has scheduled an Afro-American Culture Night for Thursday, Nov. 14, at Greater Middle Baptist Church, 821 Lane.

The works of Negro writers, composers and artists will be featured. High school and college students are invited to participate.

Christian Service Club Entertained

The Christian Service Club held its last meeting at the home of Mrs. Allie B. McQueen, 419 Webster. Her co-hostess was Mrs. Adie Merriweather who assisted in serving a delicious dinner.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Alice Mitchell, 1648 Gill Ave. Sunday, Oct. 20, at 3 p. m.

Mrs. Bettie Dotson is the president, and Mrs. Willie Ada Clark, club reporter.

Cong. Kuykendall To Visit LeMoyné-Owen

The runners will take on Fisk at Nashville, Oct. 19, and meet Tougaloo here Oct. 26.

At Board Of Education:

Better Schools Request Speed-Up Of Integration

By HAROLD C. WARDLAW
Staff Writer
(ATLANTA, Ga.—(SBS)—

Two delegations called for more educational improvements at the monthly meeting of the Atlanta Board of Education Monday night.

Better Schools Atlanta, represented by Chairman Robert F. Tuve, requested that the board speed up the rate of teacher pupil integration and take immediate steps to correct serious racial injustices in the school system.

"We should strive for fully integrated schools with equal opportunity for everyone," he said.

Children are being misled when told they should be taught only by a member of their own race, he stressed.

"Boards have a moral and legal duty to end segregation.

A great deal more needs to be done at a more rapid rate," he added.

Mr. Tuve made the following recommendations:

1. Make immediate revision of the existing pupil and faculty desegregation plan to achieve meaningful desegregation by 1969-70 with specific plans for substantial desegregation at mid year 1968-69.

2. Spell out specific plans for eliminating existing inequalities in class size, Pupil-teacher ratios, number of books—available per child in each school, the quality and quantity of furniture and equipment, the size of school recreation and athletic areas, and the availability of special services.

3. Arrange for a survey to be made of teacher and administrative attitudes about race and poverty administered by an outside agency, to serve as a basis for planning future in-service programs.

4. Spell out the specific plans of the school system to instruct all children at all levels in the culture and history of black Americans and other minority groups and to provide teaching materials representing a desegregated society.

5. Develop a comprehensive system-wide program for in-service training of teachers and subsequent assignment to assure optimum utilization of teacher skills.

6. Publish readable, informative systemwide reporting progress in periodic reports by school and pupil achievement and upgrading of staff, facilities.

J. V. Moncus, representing the South West School for Exceptional Children, asked the board for more support for the mentally retarded children of this area.

Both groups asked board members to study their requests and respond in writing by Oct. 31.

The board voted unanimously to hold a special meeting within the next two weeks and the issue written replies. Dr. Horace E. Tate, board member, said he had received reports that some schools do not have sufficient textbooks and other supplies.

Dr. John W. Letson, Atlanta School System superintendent, said the reported insufficiency would be investigated and school officials would "continue to do our best."

He called for support for the bond issue.

Dr. Letson said that often when a new school is built in a predominantly Negro neighborhood, Negro citizens accuse him of contributing to more segregation and white citizens accuse him of building too many schools for Negroes.

Dr. Tate asked board members to use their influence in combating alleged gerrymandering.

The following college graduates have been recommended for election to first year probation: HIGH SCHOOL

Bob Gibson, Denny McLain Top 1968 UPI All-Star Team

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK UPI—Pitchers Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals and Denny McLain of the Detroit Tigers and National League batting champion Pete Rose of the Cincinnati Reds were the leading vote-getters on the UPI 1968 major league All Star team selected today by 24 baseball experts.

Also named to the team were third baseman Mike Shannon of the Cardinals, catcher Bill Freehan of the Tigers first baseman Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants, second baseman Glenn Beckert of the Chicago Cubs, shortstop Bert Campaneris of the Oakland Athletics and outfielders Carl Yastrzemski of the Boston Red Sox and Frank Howard of the Washington Senators.

Gibson and Rose received 23 of a possible 24 votes each while McLain received 22 in the voting which was completed before the start of the World Series. Two pitching votes went to Luis Tiant of the Cleveland Indians and one went to Juan Marichal of the Giants.

LOLICH IGNORED
Mickey Lolich of the Tigers, whose three victories made him the star of the World Series, did not receive any votes on the basis of somewhat erratic season during which he had a 17-9 record.

Following the top three in the voting were McCovey with a 20, Freehan with 17, Beckert with 16, Campaneris with 15, Yastrzemski with 14, Shannon with 10 and Howard with eight.

Gibson, McLain and Rose were in the headlines all season with brilliant performances. Gibson compiled a 23-9 record with 13 shutouts and an NL record 1.12 earned run average. McLain posted a 31-6 record to become the majors' first 30 game winner since 1934 and Rose hit out Nasty Alvin in one of the tightest finishes for a batting title with a .335 average.

Freehan batted .303 with 26 homers and 84 runs batted in to play a major role in Detroit's march to its first American League championship since 1946.

SCORE HIGH
McCovey who is being championed as a strong candidate for NL most valuable player honors, batted .303, hit 36 homers and drove in 106 runs and Howard batted .274 hit 44 homers and smacked in 116 runs exceptional performances in "the year of the pitchers." Beckert developed rapidly as the Sub second baseman (and although once considered a poor hitter, wound up with a .261 average. Campaneris, the most versatile player in baseball batted .273 and was a key man in the Athletics' surprisingly good showing.

Shannon, who had 16 homers and 79 RBI's to go with a .286 average was considered the Cardinals' most productive hitter during most of the season and Yastrzemski's .301 average was good enough to make him a three-time American League batting champion.

Clifford Douglas earl, was in 7/1st nam forces.
