World Christian Pilgrims Travel To Bethlehem Amid Fears And Trappings Of War

Armed Israeli Soldiers Keep Watch Where Christ Was Born

By GERRY LOUGHMAN

BETHLEHEM — (UPI) — Christian pilgrims from around the world Wednesday celebrated the birthday of the Prince of Peace in this little town of Bethlehem amid the rumble and trappings of war and fears of Arab guerrilla attacks.

Along the Jordan River, whose waters were used to baptize Jesus of Nazareth, Israeli jets flashed across the cease fire line to strafe Arab positions after other modern weapons of war shattered the early morning stillness of Christmas Eve.

Here, where Christ was born in a stable about 2,000 years ago, armed Israeli soldiers kept watch. Arab guerrilla leaders have warned they could not guarantee the safety of pilgrims in the Holy Land during the Christmas holidays.

Military sources said Israeli troops on early morning patrol called in the air strike when they came under bazooka fire from the east bank of the Jordan River, about 15 miles south of the Sea of Galilee. A communique said the Israeli patrol suffered no casualties.

A Jordanian military communique broadcast by Amman radio said four Israeli jet fighters pounded Jordanian positions with rockets and napalm bombs for almost an hour but reported no casualties.

The communique said the latest border incident was triggered by the Israelis who opened fire first with artillery, mortars, tank cannons and machineguns.

The police and greenbereted troops, armed with submachineguns, kept a watchful eye as a column of pilgrims, led by Latin Patriarch Meir.

Alberto Gori, steamed in from nearby Jerusalem for the traditional midnight Mass in the Church of Nativity over the site where Jesus was born.

Strict security precautions were in effect. Troops searched vehicles at roadblocks on the way to Bethlehem and Jerusalem. Those bound for Bethlehem with Israeli non-residents of the town were turned back. Pilgrims were allowed through only in buses provided by the Ministry of Interior.

Blast From Gun Ends Holdup Try

Abraham Coffee of 115 Silverage, a 79-year-old whiskey store clerk, is not happy about shooting a young holdup man Friday night but his act may help slow down a current crime wave that is sweeping the city.

"It was a terrible thing," said Mr. Coffee after he shot a 19-year-old youth identified by police as Arthur Norwood of 1832 Benford.

A shotgun blast ripped the face of Norwood who is reported in fair condition at John Gaston hospital. The shooting took place at Kansas Street Package Store, 1721 Kansas.

R. E. Pepper, 50, another clerk in the store, said Norwood and two companions entered the liquor store and said "This is a holdup."

Mr. Coffee said the holdup men did not see him because he was seated behind a whiskey cabinet. He said he picked up his shotgun and shot the gunman as he climbed upon the counter and reached for the cash register.

The wounded gunman fell to the floor and his two companions fled. Police said he named both men who had been with him.

Arrested later and held for questioning was Richard L. Cabbage, 20, of 234 Ingle. Officers were seeking the third man who was described as an AWOL soldier.

Police said Norwood is a member of The Invaders and Cabbage is the brother of Charles Cabbage, another member of The Invaders.

Booker T. Washington High Students, Faculty Rendering Service To The Community

Booker T. Washington High School, the oldest and largest predominantly Negro secondary institution in Memphis, is a key point in its district serving the educational and many of the social needs of the area.

Emphasis was focused on the variety of the school's services last week, when J. D. Springer, principal of the school, was asked to pinpoint some of the school's many community activities during the Christmas season. Attention had been directed to the school's activities because of the Christmas charity projects and programs featured during the past two weeks.

Mr. Springer pointed out that Washington students and faculty members, through various school clubs, home-room classes, and other groups, have contributed money, goods, and services as a "Christmas gift" to its district and adjacent areas.

He began by noting the work of the school's Hi-Y and Y-Teens clubs. Under the direction of their club sponsors, faculty members William Foster and Mrs. J. C. Thomas, the Hi-Y members and Y-

School Segregation Still Major Issue

By ED ROGERS

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — City traffic routes are becoming key issues in racial segregation controversies involving southern schools.

In a hearing last week concerning desegregation of the Greensboro, N. C., city school system, a key witness was the city traffic engineer, James M. Dawkins.

A recent federal brief concerning school desegregation of the Raleigh, N. C., schools focused on miles and fractions of a mile that pupils travel between schools.

The reason is that the neighborhood school concept is under attack in courts and in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) as one that tends to perpetuate racial segregation. In order to qualify for federal aid, almost all southern school systems adopted the policy of permitting any pupil to attend any school in the area, regardless of race.

NET RESULT

Before the start of the present school term, according to the HEW civil rights office, the net result of this means 86 per cent of the white students are integrated into the 14 per cent of the Negro school pupils.

Negro pupils remain in schools, usually isolated deep within Negro housing areas, which no white child has chosen to attend.

The standard which both HEW and the courts are seeking to achieve is eradication of racial duality in which any school that can be identified as either a "white school" or a "Negro school."

The Supreme Court, in three landmark decisions last fall, refused to rule free choice as basically unacceptable, but held it is acceptable only if it results in a racially unified school system.

President-elect Richard M. Nixon is reported to disagree with this concept.

Patrick Buchanan, recently appointed as a special assistant to Nixon, said the president-elect stands behind a campaign statement made in Norfolk, Va. Nixon at that time said:

"If freedom of choice is implemented in such a way that there is no question of its being used as a subterfuge for perpetuating segregation... then freedom of choice in the civil rights legislation as choice in my view would be with-passed by the Congress of the United States."

But Nixon has not stated whether he will seek to translate his view into official policy.

For the time being, at least,

HEW is demanding that local school authorities transfer pupils between white and Negro neighborhoods in order to attain racially unified school systems.

This has focused attention on traffic routes and street safety, whether the system uses free choice, as in Greensboro, or a neighborhood zoning plan, as in Raleigh.

In the hearing last week Dawkins and other witnesses said the pupil transfer demand of HEW would disrupt traffic if the pupils were bused or be hazardous if they

10 Million Americans Poorly Fed Dr. Mead Tells Congress

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Anthropologist Margaret Mead told Congress Thursday that almost 10 million Americans get inadequate nourishment and "man by these are on the verge of starvation."

"The American people are less well nourished, as a whole, than they were 10 years ago," Dr. Mead told the Senate Select Committee on nutrition and human needs.

Dr. Mead is a professor of anthropology at Columbia University and curator of ethnology at the American Museum of Natural History. She testified before the committee which is investigating the extent of hunger in the United States. She never expanded on her statement that some Americans were on the brink of starvation.

She said most undernourishment is found among persons with the least education and among those who live in poverty areas. "The need is urgent," she said. "The national need is urgent."

Dr. Mead said that 30 years ago the United States was able to tackle the problem of hunger and malnutrition affecting one-third of the nation but "today we seem unable to deal with a 20th of the nation in spite of our greatly increased productivity and far greater technical resources."

By the end of World War II, Dr. Mead said, "enormous progress had been made. The people with the poorest diets, notably in the Southeast, were eating better than they ever had before; reinforced food were commonplace.... it was almost impossible to find a case of pellagra, once one of the characteristic deficiency diseases of the Southeast."

But since the post-war affluence, the United States diverted its attention to feeding starving foreigners and efforts by the Agriculture Department to feed hungry Americans "withered away."

"Floating cities" are urged for U. S. coasts.

'Major Reduction' Called For By Sen. McGovern

WASHINGTON - (UPI) - Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., Saturday called on President Johnson to order a "major reduction" in American troop strength in Vietnam regardless of what is happening at the Paris peace talks.

"I would hope that we would set a target within the next few weeks of cutting our present troop level in half and that we begin working on that this very day," McGovern told a meeting of the National Board of the Americans for Democratic Action. "It should have been done long ago," said McGovern, who unsuccessfully sought his party's presidential nomination on a Vietnam dove platform.

McGovern said the "most significant gift" Johnson could give the incoming administration of President-elect Richard M. Nixon "would be to begin moving now troops in Vietnam without regard for negotiations in Paris. "Those are two different problems as I see it," he said.

He said the burden of the war should be placed on the South Vietnamese government and people "who should have carried it all along."

McGovern also said he intended to "hold" Nixon to his campaign promise of replacing the draft with a voluntary system.

The South Dakota senator also called for "honesty in politics," even if leads to an attack on "sacred cows" such as the defense budget. He said that budget was "double what it needs to be according to a reasonable criterion for military security."

(she the former Mrs. Edna Swingle, are spending the holidays in Chicago with their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Wheeler.

Korean Veterans Eligible For Liberalized G. I. Bill

Veterans separated from service after Jan. 31, 1955, were reminded today by the Veterans Administration that they are now entitled to one and one-half months of educational assistance -- up to a maximum of 36 months -- for each month of military service.

A. W. Tate, manager, Atlanta Veterans Administration Regional Office, said that a law which went into effect Dec. 1 liberalized the previous Post-Korean G. I. bill limit of one month of educational assistance for each month of service for veterans with at least 181 days of service, including some after Jan. 31, 1955.

Another provision of the law which went into effect Dec. 1 grants veterans with at least 18 months of continuous service after Jan. 31, 1955, who have satisfied their military obligation the maximum of 36 months of educational assistance entitlement.

Thus, for example, a veteran who may have entered service before the official end of the Ko-

U.S., North Vietnam Reopen Secret Talks

By LOREN JENKINS

PARIS—(UPI)—U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators reopened secret talks in Paris Tuesday but failed to resolve their deadlock over ground rules for a broadened Vietnam conference. The statement forced indefinite postponement of the opening of the Paris conference.

U. S. deputy delegation leader Cyrus Vance met privately for two hours with his Hanoi counterpart, Col. Ha Van Lau, in a new effort to break the month old procedural deadlock. But U. S. officials said no progress was made in the first such meeting since last Wednesday.

Up until today's private meeting, U. S. officials had been optimistic the stalled conference might get underway this week. The arrival of a South Vietnamese delegation directed by vice President Nguyen Cao Ky during the weekend had completed the roster of negotiators on hand.

An optimistic note was sounded however in Washington. Defense Secretary Clark Clifford said at a news conference he hoped agreement could be reached with Hanoi that would allow mutual withdrawal of troops in Vietnam to begin in the next 40 days.

"I would like to see in the next 40 days the start of the return of American troops from Vietnam and I think there is an opportunity to agree with Hanoi upon the mutual withdrawal of troops in that period," Clifford said.

The defense secretary, however, ruled out a "unilateral withdrawal" by the United States. The 40 day period was cited because that is how much time remains before President Johnson relinquishes the White House Jan. 20 to President elect Richard M. Nixon.

In Paris, South Vietnamese sources revealed that the French government had stepped in to try to mediate the sticky procedural dispute over how the four participants to the conference—Hanoi, Washington, Saigon and the Viet Cong—would be seated.

U. S. officials however refused to confirm or deny the report of the initiative by the French Foreign Ministry.

The Viet Cong's National Liberation Front further bogged down the procedural issue by calling on the United States Tuesday to discard its support for the Saigon government and open direct talks on a Vietnam peace with NLF representatives in Paris.

Duogon Dinh Thao, NLF spokesman at the Paris talks, also warned at a news conference his delegation must be granted equal status at the conference. He demanded the conference table be a square one so as to make it evident the negotiations were four party proceedings.

The Viet Cong demands were in open conflict with American and Southern Vietnamese proposals to convene the Paris conference at a rectangular table with two basic sides facing each other—

FLORENCE, S. C. — The Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) is considering a "don't buy" campaign against a garment manufacturer's products in 16 major cities because the company refuses to sign an agreement with a striking union at two plants here in South Carolina.

Rev. T. Y. Rogers, Jr., Director of SCLC's Ministers Leadership Training Program which has organized Negro ministers in 15 big cities, announced the possible action at a mass rally here last night.

Leaders of the striking International Ladies Garment Workers Union (ILGWU) here, assisted by SCLC Field Organizer Carl Farris, have warned the Wentworth company and local business and political leaders that additional nonviolent techniques, possibly including mass marches and jail-ins, may be necessary if the employer fails to reach an agreement with its workers in Florence and nearby Lake City. Some local leaders in both communities have expressed a willingness to help the union settle the strike, but so far the company has not agreed to a contract.

Southern black and white members of the union have joined in the strike. A feature of last night's rally was singing by an integrated choir.

The strike began several months ago when the company refused to recognize the local ILGWU by signing a collective bargaining agreement, despite past contracts with the union. In effect, union leaders say, the workers are now being denied their right to join in determining both their wages and working conditions and the future existence of the plants and their jobs.

SCLC and union officials have protested against recent police brutality and arrests of strikers. Protest telegrams have been sent to the U. S. Justice Department. One woman striker was seriously injured when a car driven by a deputy sheriff struck her on the picket line. Another striker was beaten when he was arrested, then denied medical attention for three days in jail. Eight women prisoners complained that they were crowded into one cell without proper toilet facilities for almost two days.

One result of the strike is that the sheriff of Florence County met strikers' demands to integrate the county jail.

During the last week, the Negro and white workers has participated together in workshops on nonviolence, which may be escalated if the strike continues.

GLOBAL PORTRAITS

With the month of OCTOBER having given us some special days to remember such as Columbus Day, POETRY DAY — the 15th, and of course Halloween which surely brings Global Portraits to the forefront with "Trick or Treat" for the benefit of UNICEF, we have chosen Poetry Day for our Global Portraits salute. This, because we honestly believe that a poem a day keeps people happy and gay, and more poetry would mean more love and peace among all mankind. Surely at this time we need more LOVE and PEACE in our world, even right here in New York City where strikes seem to have taken over — and some rightfully so. But we'll give you some of the highlights of Poetry Day this year which was celebrated by the Poets group in Baltimore, Maryland with a Luncheon featuring the crowning of the charming of Gail Jackson of Peekskill, N. Y. as the Muse of Poetry and of several other poets as Honorary International Poet Laureates.

The mention of International Poet Laureates brings to the minds of those interested in Poetry the name of the great Dr. Amado M. Yuzon, Founder and President of the United Poet Laureates International and his international magazine of Poetry-Laurel Leaves. The illness of Dr. Yuzon who after starting a tour, which would have brought him to the USA, had to be returned to his home in the Philippines, saddened those in attendance at the Poetry Luncheon in Baltimore. However, Dr. Francis Clark Handler, National Director of National Poetry Day Committee, did the crowning honors at the Luncheon — and Poet Laureate Vincent Godfrey Burns of Annapolis was in charge of the affair.

One thing that will keep us on our toes as to the International Poetry Day — October 15th, is that we received our copy of Laurel Leaves which gave us a wealth of interesting and enjoyable reading about poets all over the world beginning with Voled Contemporary Poets to the International Hall of Fame — Krishna Srinivas, India; Patrick Brian Cox, Australia; William Keap Seymour, England; Johannes Edfelt, Sweden; Ivete Tannus Brazil; and the following poets of our USA — Milford E. Shields Colorado — Elenor Yorke, California — Mildred Breedlove, Nevada — Max Rubin, Maryland.

Bat-Like Satellite Launched To Chart The Stars And Heavens

CAPE KENNEDY—(UPI)—A giant, bat-like satellite wheeled around earth in a lofty orbit Saturday, preparing to chart the heavens and give man an unveiled look at the stars.

The two-ton orbiting astronomical observatory, known as OAO 2, rode into space from Cape Kennedy aboard an Atlas-Centaur rocket at 3:41 a. m. EST and settled into an orbit 467 to 489 miles high.

It passed its first big test by unfolding its 21-foot wide, bat-like wings and then jettisoning its spent booster.

The spacecraft is the heaviest and most complex scientific satellite ever built by the United States and scientists are taking no chances with it. They plan to ease it through all its initial maneuvers before flipping on its 11 telescopes next Wednesday.

If it works, it may rank as important to astronomers as the invention of the telescope itself, since it will give scientists a view of starlight that cannot be seen through the dense atmosphere shrouding earth.

"This observatory is very eagerly awaited by the scientific community," said Dr. Charles Lundquist, assistant director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory.

Starazer will direct its telescopes primarily at the extremely hot, relatively young stars whose ages are measured in terms of thousands of years, compared to the sun, which is five billion years old.

Young stars put forth most of their energy in the form of ultraviolet light, some of which is hidden from ground observatories by earth's atmosphere.

By studying the unveiled ultraviolet light of the younger stars and comparing it with that of stars in later stages of development, scientists expect to learn more about stellar evolution and thus should be able to tell more about the past and future of earth's solar system.

It has taken scientists 15 years and about 40 flights with up-and-down sounding rockets to obtain about three hours of ultraviolet data from 150 stars.

OAO is expected to collect twice as much information as that in a day, and hopefully will continue to function for at least six months.

If you can keep from being envious and jealous of your fellowman, you are approaching the outskirts of civilization.

Whenever you need advice, just remember that anybody can tell you what you ought to do under any circumstances.

Many fans rate the "up-and-at-em" Melrose Golden Wildcats as the top team in these parts, and should go all the way in the play for the championship of the pro league basketball season.

Coach William Collins has assembled a fine team which has been doing great during the early games of the season, a carry-over from last season's effort.

The team has been averaging a hefty 106 points per game and has made an opposition appear to be out of its class. However, last week the Washington Warriors stopped the Wildcats high scoring game, holding it to only 57 points although the Warriors were on the short end of a 57-41 score. The point was proved that the Wildcats could be held to less than 100 points.

Some of the Melrose partisans were critical of the Washington players tactics of failing to shoot when there were obvious opportunities to score, but instead seemingly passed the ball back and forth to keep it away from the Wildcats as much as possible.

If the idea behind the slowdown was to keep the Wildcats from scoring in keeping with its average, it was successful as it stopped all the Wildcats cold, with the exception of redoubtable Larry Finch, who kept up his sensational shooting and play, scoring 36 of his team's 57 points.

Melrose is entered in the Le-Moyne Holiday Tournament and will likely be put to the test to keep its unbeaten record intact. Other teams in the tourney are Douglass, Lester, Washington, Geeter and Ware High of Somerville.

Search Goes On For Successor To Ex-Champ Cassius Clay

Boxing Yearender
By WILLIAM VERIGAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK UPI — The search continued for a suitable successor to "Gypsy" heavyweight champion Cassius Clay in 1968 as the strife torn sport of boxing bade farewell to many former titleholders.

Two fighter Jimmy Ellis and Joe Frazier were needed to fill the throne that was taken away from Clay in 1967 when he refused induction into the Army, Clay, who served a brief sentence in jail for a traffic violation, remained barred from boxing but continued to fight a long term prison term for draft evasion.

A dreary emptiness was created by Clay's absence and the sport lost many champions, including light heavyweight Dick Tiger, middleweight Emilio Griffith and lightweight Carlos Ortiz, in one of the biggest title turnovers in years.

Welterweight Curtis Cokes was the only champion in the seven heaviest divisions to hold his title throughout the year.

The 24 year old Frazier won his five state version of the heavyweight crown with a technical knockout over Memphis Buster Mathis in 11 rounds and successfully defended it by stopping Mexican Manuel Ramos in two rounds and winning a decision over Argentine Oscar Bonavena.

Ellis Beat Quarry for Title Ellis, a former sparring partner of Clay emerged as the World Boxing Association's champion when he beat Jerry Quarry in the final bout of an eight-man tournament. But the Louisville hymn singer ran into trouble in his first defense, squeaking out a highly unpopular decision over boxing's grand old man, Floyd Patterson.

Neither of the newly created champions was impressive at the box office in title defenses, however an there was not much hope of matching them against each other until in 1969. The Frazier-Mathis fight set an indoor record gate with $656,000, but it was part of a title doubleheader which also included Griffith defending against Nino Benvenuti at three new Madison Square Garden.

Tiger, who had two reigns as middleweight champion and two successful light heavy defenses, was knocked out for the first time in title. Both teams, however will have their eyes and play focussed on the Super Bowl later, and all that goes with it. So, another all out effort will be in store for the millions of football fans throughout the country.

Cleveland Browns' Leroy Kelly Unanimous Choice On NFL Team

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK UPI—Leroy Kelly, who emerged from Jimmy Brown's shadow to become the finest runner in pro football, was a near unanimous selection on United Press International's 1968 National Football League 11-Star team.

Kelly, who won both the rushing crown and the scoring title in the NFL this season, received 47 votes in a panel of 48 NFL experts around the nation-three from each league city.

SAYERS JOINS LEROY
Kelly was joined in the backfield by Chicago's Gale Sayers, who made the team even though he missed the final third of the season with a knee injury, and quarterback Earl Morrall, the veteran castoff who took over for the Baltimore Colts when John Unites was injured and replaced Unites on the All-Star squad.

Morrall was one of the five Colts who named to the first teams on offense and defense. Cleveland and Minnesota had three players named.

Paul Warfield of Cleveland and Clifton McNeil of San Francisco were the wide receivers while John Mackey of Baltimore won the tight end spot.

The interior linemen on the squad are Ralph Neeley of Dallas and Bob Vogel of Baltimore at tackle spots, Gene Hickerson of Cleveland and Howard Mudd of San Francisco at guards and Mike Tingelhoff of Minnesota at center.

The defensive unit has Deacon Jones of Los Angeles and Carl Eller of Minnesota at the ends and Merlin Olsen of Los Angeles and Bob Lilly of Dallas at the tackles.

Dick Butkus of Chicago is the middle linebacker with Dave Robinson of Green Bay and Mike Curtis of Baltimore at the line-backing spots. Bob Boyd of Baltimore and Lem Barney of Detroit are the cornerbacks and Larry Wilson of St. Louis and Willie Wood of Green Bay are the safeties.

There were only four repeaters on the offensive team this season—Neeley, Tingelhoff, Kelly and Cayers.

There were six repeaters on the defensive unit—Jones, Olsen, Lilly, Robinson, Butkus, and Wood.

Kelly, a five year veteran from Morgan State, spent the 1964 and 1965 season on the Cleveland bench playing behind Jimmy Brown. But when Brown retired after the 1965 season, Kelly took over the starting job. In the 1966 season and has gained over 1,000 yards in each of his three seasons as a starter.

"Unto Us A Child Is Born"

The trek staged in the Holy land of those who would immediately revive one of the greatest of demonstrations known to civilization, would more appropriately spread the meaning of Christmas to all the world. Newspapers spread across their pages pictures of the grand march back to the Holy City for that annual reunion known to early Christians.

In addition to refreshing anew the sights of joy and hope the "precious promise" sent by grace to mankind of "Peace on Earth, Goodwill to Men" would stand out in its primitive significance.

Down the corridors of the centuries, since the birth of that child to whom the world looked and Christians prayed, "good will to men" has always been glad tidings and good news.

Across the land is still heard the cannon roar, the wail of the sufferings where hunger and disease infest where every kindred and tribe mingle.

It is quite ironical that the great Apostle of goodwill and the peace loving Jesus, himself was rudely dealt with and put to death at the tender age of 33. From Cain, who slew his young brother, on through to the killing of boy children in the first crusade upon the premise that they were boys on to this era in which we are living, when Barbara Jane Mackle was snatched from her mother's presence to be buried alive, lies on a carnage of human casualties which brings wonderment about that goodwill to men.

The devastation of wars and rumors of wars in our own country, from savage bush battle to the flying troops of helicopters and machine guns likewise would cause one to speculate about that utopia "peace on earth."

Princes, priests and prophets and kings longed the glorious dawn of a promise fulfilled with peace on earth.

As this is being written, the mighty Apollo is somewhere soaring in space around the moon, that citadel not before reached by man and with a fixation that was built upon the certain premise that nothing man could contrive would be able to master that unbelievable distance.

Today brings its hoping and that "Joy to the world the Lord is come." That blessed intonation:

"Come all ye faithful,
Joyful and triumphant,
Come, O come ye to Bethel of those unfortunate captives just released from the Pueblo, returning to their homes and loved ones.

The glory of the stride of civil rights, men coming from the boondocks of sorrow, ignorance and shame, to mount top places in civil life and their government.

TRULY, UNTO US A CHILD IS BORN.

food on the last day before the beginning of the Christmas holidays. This food was delivered by members of the clubs to needy families, designated by students in the various home-rooms and clubs. A colorful Christmas program in the school's gymnasium preceded the basket distributions. Miss Sandra Hamilton, a junior, and Lewis Burnett, a senior, are presidents of the Y-Teens and Hi-Y respectively.

As if by pre-arrangement, the Washington High Christmas cheer program was preceded by a Christmas Vesper Service, Sunday afternoon, Dec. 15, in Blair T. Hunt gymnasium. Under direction of veteran music instructor E. L. Pender, the Christmas section and other excerpts from Handel's "Messiah" were featured.

Appearing with the Glee Club were instrumental accompanists from the senior band which is directed by Walter Martin, bandmaster. Robert Phifer, Edward Rucker, Gerald Williams, Alfred Jordan, Paulette Gordon, Phyllis Taylor and Marilyn Wright were the featured soloists.

The Duchess Social Club of Washington High, sponsored by Mrs. Rose Evans and Mrs. Bobbie Hentzel, took as one of its annual projects the rendering of community services to various hospitals and convalescent homes. For this Christmas, the club, whose president is Miss Paulette Gordon, a senior, donated a large fruit basket to the Lynnwood Convalescent Center at 1328 Mississippi Blvd.

The Duchess Social Club was organized in 1967 by a group of senior girl students. The club now has a membership of around 35 seniors.

The annual project of the Barbettes Social Club of Washington High School is entertaining the boys and girls of the Goodwill Homes.

Each month a girl from the home is house guest of a Barbettes member for a week-end. They generally attend school activities, movies and neighborhood dances.

On Friday, Dec. 13, the Barbettes gave its annual Christmas Party at Goodwill. The girls decorated two large Christmas trees and gave presents and refreshments to the girls and boys at the homes, after the trees were decorated. The Barbettes members and their dates danced and chatted with the Goodwill Home residents.

Special recognition is given to the club's business manager, Miss Janette Becton, who directed the successful series of activities.

The Booker T. Washington chapter of the Vocational, Industrial Clubs of America, consisting of students majoring in vocational courses at the school, has added to its program an annual Christmas "Gift Package" to those less fortunate. The VICA Club is founded on the thesis that "we should help our fellow men."

The annual "gift package" project is in its second year. The first year's gifts went to Tobey Hospital. This year, the gifts will go to the Police Community Relations Service Centers.

MY WEEKLY SERMON

By REV. BLAIR T. HUNT,

PASTOR,
MISSISSIPPI BLVD. CHRISTIAN CHURCH
MEMPHIS, TENN.

"CRUSHED IN THE RUSH"

Text: Matthew 25:35-48.

There are two stories conveying a sad, tragic after-Christmas picture. They are true stories.

The first may be titled, "Crushed in the Rush"; the second may be titled, "Putting the Christ Child Away."

There appeared an article in the "Saturday Review." It went like this: "Last night, the night after Christmas, a watchman at the Grand Eagle Department Store, while making his rounds of the bargain basement, found the body of a man lying dead under a counter. He was thin to the point of emaciation, apparently between 30 and 35 years of age. He was shabbily dressed. His pockets were empty. Store officials believe that he was trapped and crushed in the Christmas rush and crawled, before dying, under the counter for protection and shelter. But they are unable to account for what appears to be nail wounds in hands and feet. The police are investigating."

Yes, he was trampled and crushed in the paganistic commercial Christmas rush.

In the Christmas rush many gave the Christ child so little to feed on, therefore He was thin; He was shabbily dressed, nothing in his pockets, only nail wounds in His hand and feet.

The church is the visible body of the Christ child. Is there anything in the church's treasury; is the church shabbily dressed; is the church lean with vacant pews?

This brings to mind the mistreatment of some ministers of Christ. Now for another true story: Years ago there was a preacher who rode a circuit of four churches. He was lean, undernourished, always shabbily dressed. He was poorly paid. But his horse on which he rode his circuit was sleek, well fed, well groomed.

On a beautiful Sunday morning he dismounted his horse before the church door. A group of deacons were watching him. One deacon said, "Brother pastor why is it you are so lean, hungry looking and shabbily dressed and your horse is so sleek and plump, well groomed and well fed?" The good preacher replied, "Well you see it is this way, I take good care of my horse, I feed him well, I shelter him; but as for my church doesn't take good care of me, my church doesn't pay me enough to live on."

Let us not trample and crush the Christ child. In the great rush of life let us not crush the church, the visible body of Jesus the Christ. Let us not trample the ministers of Christ Jesus. Inasmuch as you crush and trample the church you crush and trample the Christ Jesus.

Let us not put Christ away. There was a five-year-old girl who was thrilled beyond measure as she stood before the window of a big department store. In that window was the Nativity Scene. On a bed of straw a large baby doll, representing the Christ Child, lay on Christmas Eve the little girl gazed at this Nativity Scene in mute adoration. The day after Christmas there was an after-Christmas sale. The little girl was so very happy to go with her mother that she may again see the Nativity Scene and the doll baby Christ Jesus. When the little girl with her mother reached the store the window dresser was busy removing the Nativity Scene. In his arm was the beautiful doll. In alarm the little girl cried: "Look mother he is taking away Little Jesus." The mother said "Well he is putting Him away until next Christmas."

Christmas has passed; don't be a window dresser and put away the Christ Child until next Christmas.

Lakeview School News

A talent show emphasizing the lighter side of Christmas was presented Wednesday morning, Dec. 18, to the student body of Lakeview School. The program consisted of a variety of songs and dances. Fifteen selections were presented. Mrs. Toney's first grade sang "O Christmas Tree." Seventh graders danced to the music of "White Christmas." Mrs. Walls' fourth grade sang "We Wish You a Merry Christmas." These are just a few of the numbers rendered.

A program emphasizing the serious side of Christmas given Dec. 19, Mrs. Hines' sixth grade began the program with a pantomime of "We Three Kings." Mrs. Willis' fifth grade presented "Long Ago in Bethlehem" followed by Mrs. Smith's fourth grade singing "Away in a Manger." Mrs. Boyanton's first grade presented "The Friendly Bear." The children in Mrs. Barnes room gave as their number "The Happiness Tree." Mrs. Pope's class sang "Silent Night" and "Jingle Bells."

Mrs. Deschamps' fifth grade sang "Deck the Halls." They were followed by Mr. Green's sixth grade singing "Jag to the World." The program ended with Miss Cotham's children presenting "Come Let Us Adore Him." Mrs. Ruth Hines, sixth-grade teacher, was in charge of both programs.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my darling son, NATHAN WARFORD, who passed away Dec. 23, 1945, while serving in the U. S. Army at Fort McPherson, Georgia.

A precious one from us has gone; a voice we loved is still a place is vacant in our home that never can be filled. Somewhere back of the sunset, where loneliness lies; he lives in a land of glory 'mid the gold and blue of the skies. Not dead to us who loved him, but only gone before; he lives with us in memories, and will forevermore.

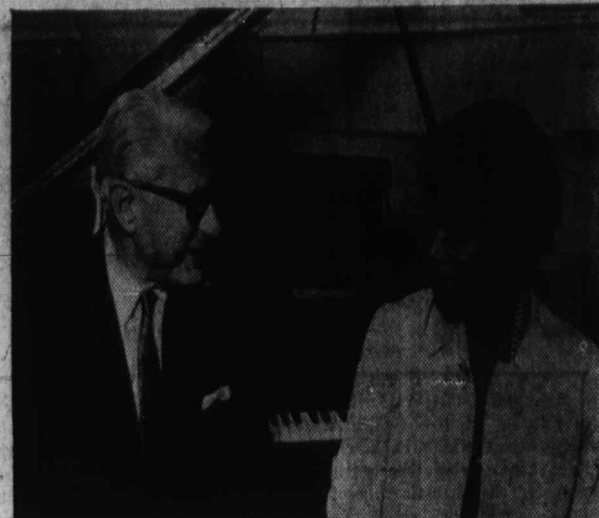

Mrs. Pauline Warford, mother
Mrs. Mary Lee Thomas, sister.

Interbank Selects NDC For Charge Cards System

SAN FRANCISCO — Interbank Card Association has named National Data Corporation of Atlanta Georgia to design and operate the Interbank Authorization System, according to Garrison A. Southard, president of the international bank charge card interchange system.

Interbank currently has 900 banks which are participating in an exchange system permitting its member banks charge cards to be used in 43 states and in several foreign countries. Interbank members currently have 132 million charge card accounts and 340,000 merchant businesses honoring their charge cards.

National Data's existing computer in communications system will be expanded to provide the Interbank Authorization Service. Charge card verification will be possible from any telephone in the United States. In addition, the frequency of use of each charge card will be monitored enabling member banks to detect cases of fraud abuse through NDC's early warning system.

Requests to NDC can be made by member merchants and from local authorization centers to verify charge cards at the point of sale at any time, day or night. The initial system being developed, which is optional for use by Interbank members, will be operational in the spring of 1969.

As a second phase in the program, the system will be expanded so that member banks computer charge card files can be directly accessed by NDC's computer system through leased data communication lines.

NIXON'S SLOGAN — The theme of President-elect Richard M. Nixon's inauguration is being changed from "Bring It Together" to "Forward Together." The original slogan was adopted after Mr. Nixon saw it on a sign at a campaign rally.

GOLD RESERVES UP — The Treasury Department has announced the United States increased its supply of gold by approximately $73 million during the third quarter of 1968. The largest purchase was from France amounting to $40 million.

The results of the election of members of the Board of Directors will also be announced at the annual meeting.

The meeting will be preceded the night before by the annual fellowship dinner to be held at the New York Hilton Hotel. The dinner and the meeting are attended by NAACP leaders and representatives from all sections of the country.
